APPENDIX
TO THE LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL
SESSION OF 1939

REASONS FOR PARDONS GRANTED BY GOVERNOR

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 3, 1939.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the reasons for pardons granted by me from July 25, 1938, to date.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Weimer, D-309, No. 3422, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harry Weimer, convicted of sodomy in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Dauphin County on January 17, 1935, be commuted from 4 years to 2 years, 6 months, expiring July 17, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of sodomy in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from four years to eight years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The applicant was never involved in any other trouble, and according to the parole agent's report, the applicant enjoyed an excellent reputation.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states: ".....Authorities of the Dauphin County Jail state that this inmate has a satisfactory institutional record. He attempted to improve himself by attending school while in the Graterford Institution. Since this is a sex case involving a minor, consideration should be based upon the attitude of the convicting authorities.

Applicant has no previous criminal record, and his record while incarcerated has been good. Judging from these facts, his release would probably not jeopardize society."

The trial judge states: "Leniency in this case will probably do more than anything else I can think of to bring about his complete reform."

The district attorney was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The Warden of the Dauphin County Prison recommended clemency, as did the Deputy Warden, Constable who arrested the applicant, and others.

The applicant has served over two and one-half years of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1943. Employment has been assured.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Dominic Barabuco, C-6289, No. 2516, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum on Bill No. 1552 and minimum sentences on Bills No. 1553 and No. 1554 of Dominic Barabuco, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 27, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 1552 from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 7 years, 10 months, expiring April 27, 1938; on Bill No. 1553 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring April 28, 1938; and on Bill No. 1554 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring April 29, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County and was sentenced on the 27th day of June, 1930, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from twenty-five to fifty years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Apparently this boy has benefited by incarceration and from observation of seven years it is felt that he has an honest desire to become a constructive citizen."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "If you feel that prison cures or rehabilitates, this man has had the benefit of both. If it is punishment that he deserves, he has not been there long enough."

Assistant district attorney, Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., stated he was not opposed to this application for commutation.

The Board of Pardons believes that this boy, who was only twenty-one years of age at the time of his imprisonment, has been sufficiently punished and from the penitentiary report he has been rehabilitated, he has indicated by his industry and study, a desire to lead a good life in the future. He will reside, upon his release, in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, and will be employed by his uncle in the tailoring business in Bethlehem.

The applicant will have served seven years and ten months of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until April 29, 1958.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Nicholas Bocchicchio, C-7886, No. 2150, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Nicholas Bocchicchio, convicted of felonious entry, larceny, robbery in the Court of Quarter Sesisons of Lancaster County on April 2, 1932, be commuted from 8½ years to 6 years, 5 months, expiring Sept. 2, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of felonious entering, larceny and robbery and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer Court of Lancaster County to from 8½ to 17 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary and to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and costs of prosecution on the 2nd day of April, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he has shown habits of industry and definite attempts at self-improvement. His future conduct, when released. would probably be greatly influenced by the environment to which he would return and the type of associates he would select.

The trial judge, the Honorable Benjamin C. Atlee, states that the defendant was fairly tried. The district attorney, the Honorable Charles W. Eaby, stated that he had no objection to granting the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant has made a sincere effort at self-improvement and that, upon his release, he will be employed at a satisfactory weekly wage with the Berlin Bakery, Berlin, New Jersey. He will reside with his parents and family in West Berlin, New Jersey, and will be under the sponsorship of Mr. Charles Marcus, owner of the Marcus Department Store, Atlantic City, New Jersey.

The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served six years and five months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until April 2, 1949.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Holt, C-3723, No. 1711, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of William Holt, convicted of murder of the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on December 20, 1926, be commuted from life imprisonment to minimum of 11 years 6 months expiring on June 20, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 20th day of December, 1926, to the Eastern State Penitentiary to imprisonment for the rest of his natural iife.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Judging on the basis of institutional record this man has shown definite habits of industry and has done everything within his power to conduct himself in a cooperative manner. It is felt that he has an honest desire to lead a law-abiding life".

The trial judge, the Honorable James Gay Gordon, Jr., did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of this application. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to the petition for a commutation.

The Board of Pardons investigated this case and have considered numerous petitions in favor of the applicant. The investigation by the Board reveals that there was some question as to the character of his wife and there is some indication that she was sexually perverted. This question was submitted for investigation by the district attorney's office of Philadelphia County and it was indicated that there was some basis of fact for such belief. The applicant states that when he overheard a conversation in which his wife indicated this perversion he procured a gun, shot his wife and tried to kill himself. He was taken to the hospital, seriously wounded from a self-inflicted bullet wound, and recovered. If these facts relative to the wife's character had been put in evidence to the trial it is reasonable to suppose that the crime would not have risen to a greater degree than second degree murder.

The applicant is now 49 years of age and although he is not assured of employment he will return to his old home in North Carolina and will be under the sponsorship of his sister, Miss Mary J. Holt, Burlington, N. C.

The applicant will have served eleven years and six months of his sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the end of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William D. Houston, D-726, No. 3179, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of passing worthless checks and forgery and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 28th day of June, 1935, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of from ten to twenty years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "In terms of his future economic stability, this man presents an unusual case, inasmuch as he has a definite trust fund established for his future support."

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, writes that he feels the application is rather premature. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that he is not opposed to the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man evidently comes from a good family and has established in his favor a spendthrift trust which nets him about one hundred and twenty-five dollars a month. He indulged too freely in alcoholic beverages and when he would exhaust his current cash would, while under the influence of liquor, utter worthless checks. All the money which was thus wrongly acquired has been returned, and the promises have been extended that he will avoid the use of intoxicating beverages.

The applicant will live at home with his wife on South 44th Street, Philadelphia, and they have ample income from the trust fund to provide for their household needs. He is promised employment with the Kay rubber Co., Phila., Pa. Applicant will have served 3 years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 29, 1948.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Owen Leo Joseph Lawler, C-4216. No. 579, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Owen Leo Joseph Lawler, conviected of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 15, 1927, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and entering with intent to rob, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 15th day of November, 1927, to from 40 to 80 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The Board of Pardons commuted this sentence on the 24th day of March, 1932.

The trial judge, the Honorable Howard A. Davis, writes: "I have no recommendation as it is a matter entirely within the discretion of the Board." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was in favor of granting the application. The Supervisor of Paroles states that when he was arrested he was only 19 years of age and this sentence represented his first conviction. "The parolee has maintained a good record on parole and for some time has been working for the Service Laundry Company in Philadelphia. Because of his youth and because of his good record maintained since he was placed under our charge, six years ago, I recommend that he be considered seriously for a pardon.

The applicant was an accomplice of Cecil F. Kane in the robbery of a freight car and grocery stores in 1927. Mr. Kane has applied for a pardon at this session of the Board of Pardons.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant, because of his youth at the time of his conviction, because of his excellent parole record, because of his efforts at self-improvement since his release and because of his evident desire to become a useful and law-abiding citizen, a pardon can well be granted him. He desires a pardon in order that he may accept an advanced position requiring a bond. The Board feels that he has merited this consideration.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Paul Francis Petritus, C-4226 No. 682, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Paul Francis Petritus, convicted of burglary in the Court of Over and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on November 4, 1927, be commuted on Bill 68-3 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 8 months, expiring on July 4, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and was sentenced by the Over and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Lackawanna County on the 4th day of November, 1927, for from 15 to 30 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Judging from this man's institutional record, we have observed no facts that would lead us to believe that he would revert to his criminal habits, if released."

The Honorable Will Leach, states that the applicant was sentenced by the late Honorable E. C. Newcomb, and that "I know nothing to contradict the applicant's statements."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that his accomplice was recommended for commutation and it was granted by the Governor in December, 1934, and that this applicant, although unquestionably guilty of the crime, has made definite efforts at self-improvement and because of his age, namely 33, he will be able to enter society and become a useful member. He has been assured of employment by one, Anthony Runas, who conducts a general store in Scranton. Mr. Runas will act as his sponsor and promised to cooperate in the rehabilitation and supervision of the applicant.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 10 years and 8 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1948.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Donald P. Baxter, C-5004, No. 837, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and entering to steal He was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions and Over and Terminer of Philadelphia County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from five to ten years on the 14th day of December, 1928. The applicant was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence on the 14th day of December, 1933.

In June, 1934, he was arrested in New Hampshire for passing a worthless check and was sentenced in September 1934 for from 1 to 2 years in the State Penitentiary in New Hampshire. He was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 14th day of August, 1935, for this parole violation.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant has a satisfactory institutional record, good employment record, but the presence of a pervious violation of parole prevents any prediction of future behavior."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "I doubt if the man learned a lesson or he would not have gone right out of jail to invite a return trip. I think he should serve his term." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that his opposition depended upon the character of his second offense and relied on the Board in this matter.

The Supervisor of Paroles states: "Although he does not have an enviable record, and since he has been punished approximately three years after his return to the Eastern State Penitentiary, I feel that he is worthy of consideration."

The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for his parole violation, namely, the passing of a worthless check in payment of an automobile, having served for this crime one year in the New Hampshire pentitentiary and nearly three years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, and therefore recommends that a commutation be granted.

The applicant will be employed by William Rabinowitz, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, as a salesman and will be under the sponsorship of Mr. Rabinowitz, a reputable gentleman in the city of Philadelphia.

The applicant will have served seven years and eleven months of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until August, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Cecil Francis Kane, C-4217, No. 1007, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Cecil Francis Kane, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, entering with intent to rob in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 15, 1927, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, entering with intent to rob, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 15th day of November, 1927, on five bills for from forty to eighty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The Board of Pardons commuted the sentence on the 22nd day of July, 1933.

The trial judge, the Honorable Howard D. Davis, states that he has no recommendation to make and relies entirely on the discretion of the Board of Pardons. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated he had no objection to the granting of the application.

The parole office replies as follows: "The applicant has conducted himself in such a cooperative manner and has taken advantage of every opportunity to better himself. It is the firm conviction that the applicant has made an absolute readjustment and feels, therefore, that there is no further need of supervision".

The applicant is now employed in the Engineering Department of the United States Engineers Office on the U. S. Dredge Alabama, operating in the Delaware River, as a fireman and deckhand. The Captain of the Engineers, C. W. Burlin, states that his servicce and conduct have been entirely satisfactory.

The purpose of obtaining a pardon is to permit the applicant to file a civil service application and in the event of attaining an eligible rating he would be afforded the opportunity of having regular employment in the United States Engineering Department.

The previous record of the applicant has been one arrest for vagrancy, from which he was discharged without conviction. He is married and resides with his wife and children in Philadelphia and the Board believes that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Bisman, B-1540, No. 1354, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Bisman, convicted of escaping penitentiary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on August 8, 1929 be commuted from 1 year to 1 month expiring on July 6, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of breaking and entering and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Alleghany County on the 12th day of April, 1928, to from 5 to 10 years in the Western State Penitentiary. On the 14th day of June, 1929, the applicant escaped from the penitentiary and was recaptured the following day. On August 8, 1928, he was sentenced to from 1 to 2 years in the Western State Penitentiary for escape, to begin at the expiration of his original sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that if this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would recommend him (1) he has now completed the maximum of his original sentence of 10 years, which expired on June 6, 1938, (2) excellent institutional record.

The sentencing judge on the original crime, the Honorable Joseph Swearingen, is deceased and the Board received no reply to the letter of inquiry from the Honorable Harry H. Rowand, relative to the escape charge. The assistant district attorney, Russel Adams, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardon indicates that this applicant has been guilty of pervious crimes but for the present incarceration he has served the maximum term. The Board believes that an escape which involved but one day's absence from the penitentiary and for which he has served the maximum term is sufficient punishment.

The applicant is assured of employment by Mr. Harry Orenstein, a grocer in Pittsburgh. Father Thomas A. Sullivan of the Holy Rosary Church, has agreed to counsel and guide the applicant.

The applicant will reside with his mother in Pittsburgh, who is well up in years and in poor health. The Board therefore recommends that the commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served his maximum term of the original sentence, expiring June 6, 1938, and one month of the minimum sentence on the escape charge, and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 6, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of Henry Descano, C-5876. No. 1444, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Henry Descano, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 21, 1930, be commuted from ten years to 8 years 6 months expiring on July 21, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of hold-up and robbery and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County for from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary in January, 1930.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he has had an excellent institutional record and is now employed in the Mail Room and is considered a dependable worker. He has shown habits of industry that are commendable.

The trial judge, the Honorable Edwin O. Lewis, makes no recommendation but left the matter of granting the application entirely to the members of the Board of Pardons.

Assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., of Phalidelphia County was present and stated that he would rely upon the Board.

All the accomplices of the applicant have been released on parole.

The applicant has served eight years and six months of his minimum sentence and we believe that he has been sufficiently punished. He will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until January, 1950.

Employment has been assured and the applicant will reside with his parents in Philadelphia.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward James Nason, B-1480. No. 1601. June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edward James Nason, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, felonious breaking and entering, larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Washington County on June 10, 1929, be commuted on Bill No. 82 (Bills Nos. 84 and 85 concurrent) from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 9 years and 1 month, expiring on July 10, 1938; and on Bill No. 83 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 11, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, felonious breaking and entering, larency. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Washington County on the 10th day of June, 1929, for from 15 to 30 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that if this applicant were eligible to apply for parole they would probably recommend him "(1) good institutional record, (2) has served over nine years of his minimum sentence."

The Trial judge, the Honorable Erwin Cummins, is deceased and the president judge did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The present district attorney, James C. Bane, expressed his opposition to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant became involved in this crime as a young man of 19 years, upon the solicitation of an older man, who first plied him with liquor and unnerved him to such an extent that he yielded to his influence. During all his association with his accomplice he never became wholly sober. The applicant has realized the seriousness of his offense and it is the feeling of the Board that he will not reenter the field of crime.

The Rev. Edward A. Heinrich of St. Marys Church, Pittsburgh, has assured the Board to act as his sponsor and that he will do everything in his power to help this applicant. Employment by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company, Pittsburgh, and he will reside with his mother in Pittsburgh.

The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and therefore recommends that the commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 9 years and 1 month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until July, 1948.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Powers, C-2635, No. 1721, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Powers, convicted of burglary and larceny in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Chester County on October 6, 1924, be commuted on Bill No. 2 from a minimum of 4 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on October 7, 1937, and on Bill No. 3 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on October 8, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Board of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Joseph Dugan, B-3278, No. 1761, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Edward Joseph Dugan, convicted of robbery and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions in the County of Allegheny on September 27, 1926, be commuted on Bill No. 16 from a maximum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 year, 1 month, expiring on July 30, 1938, and a maximum of 10 years (Bill No. 7 March, 1932, concurrent); and on Bill No. 43 from a maximum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 31, 1938, and a maximum of 5 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County on the 27th day of September, 1926, to from 5 to 25 years in the Western State Penitentiary. On the 27th day of September, 1931, he was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence.

On the 30th day of June, 1930, he was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County for the crime of robbery to from 5 to 10 years in the Western State Penitentiary, sentence to run concurrent with the unexpired portion of the original sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that "we would probably recommend him for parole (1) because he has now served 6 years, (2) excellent institutional record.

The trial judge, the Honorable James H. Gray, states: "My opinion is, he should be given another opportunity at liberty under the supervision of a helpful probation officer."

The Honorable William H. McNaugher likewise stated: "If in the judgment of the Pardon Board his sentence can safely be commuted, I would have no objection to such action."

Investigation of the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant has had a criminal record, and likewise, one parole violation. However, it seems to be some question as to his actual guilt of some of the charges against him. Our investigator stated that in the first place there is no question that the applicant received a terrific beating at the hands of the police. The secrecy with which the officer shrouded this case at the time of the arrest was brought out by the local newspapers and there is in the Agent's opinion little doubt but that applicant was thoroughly third degreed. The fact that he took such a terrific beating and refused to admit it, is in the Agent's opinion some grounds to take seriously the applicant's own contentions of innocence. The easiest way out of the beating would have been to admit guilt. The identifications made at the time of the trial were made on the fact that the applicant looked like the man from the thickness of his neck. All of the bandits were masked.

The Supervisor of Paroles states: "Unless the county officials oppose clemency, I feel he is worthy of consideration.

The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and due to the fact that three accomplices have been paroled, a commutation could well be granted.

Employment is assured in the business of Mr. Thomas Dugan, brother of the applicant, in Pittsburgh, and he will reside with his brother in the same city.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of this sentence be granted. The applicant will have served 11 years and 1 month of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1952.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

THOMAS A. LOGUE,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James McDevitt, C-3584, No. 1874, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James McDevitt, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 1, 1926, be commuted on Bill No. 1017 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 year 10 months, expiring on August 1, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 20 to 40 years on the 1st day of October, 1926.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states: "This man was unstable as a juvenile and had difficulty of adjustment when first received in this institution. For the past 6 years he has been amenable to all the rules of discipline and has shown an effort to improve himself."

The trial judge, the Honorable Horace Stern, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that the applicant had been a bad boy and has been imprisoned for a long while. "His environment and sponsorship would be important factors in his rehabilitation," and relies upon the Board for their decision.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons discloses that the applicant has been involved in a series of juvenile offenses and other crimes since he was ten years of age. His present difficulty involved a series of robberies and he was sentenced to the penitentiary for from 20 to 40 years. During his imprisonment he has shown such marked efforts at self-imprisonment that the Board believes that he will, if released, not enter the field of crime. The Big Brothers Association of Philadelphia have undertaken to sponsor him and to see that he is properly employed and living in a good environment. The Board, therefore, believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served eleven years and ten months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1958.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Kulakowski, B-2618, No. 1886, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edward Kulakowski, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on April 16, 1931 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years 3 months expiring on July 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Over and Terminer Court of Allegheny County on the 16th day of April, 1931, to a term of from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The applicant has had a satisfactory penitentiary record and the Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would recommend him for parole, provided he be admitted to a tubercular sanatorium. Dr. J. G. Weixel, Resident Physician, states: "This inmate is suffering from moderately advanced pulmonary tuberculosis and has been in the tubercular ward of the penitentiary since March 6, 1935. It is indicated that the patient is not making any satisfactory response to treatment and that if released he would have to be admitted to a sanitorium for further treatment."

The trial judge, the Honorable George V. Moore, did not respond to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of this application. However, the assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, stated that he would not oppose this application provided he be admitted to a tubercular hospital.

The Board of Pardons investigated the physical condition of this applicant and find that he has an active case of pulmonary tuberculosis; that he is now on a light exercise daily and is a patient in the penitentiary hospital.

The Board has the assurance of the Honorable George J. Sarraf, Doctor of Medicine, and a member of the General Assembly, that he will personally see that the applicant is entered in an institution immediately upon release.

The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that due to the physical condition of the applicant and the assurance of proper hospitalization that a commutation of his sentence be given. The applicant will have served 7 years and 3 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1951.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Leonard W. Greenawalt, No. 2005, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Leonard W. Greenawalt, convicted of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County, on December 10, 1937, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to larceny and felonious entry and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Lancaster County on the 6th day of June, 1931, to from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

On the 6th day of January, 1935, the Board of Pardons commuted the sentence and he was placed under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 6th day of June, 1941.

On the 10th day of December, 1937, the applicant plead guilty to the charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Lancaster County to pay a fine of two hundred dollars and undergo imprisonment for a period of six months.

The trial judge, the Honorable Oliver S. Schaeffer, states: "The applicant has already served about six months in jail for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. To serve, in addition, the unexpired term of his sentence for larceny in 1931, may be drastic." The district attorney, the Honorable Charles W. Eaby, states: "I have no objection to the granting of a pardon. The petitioner has served his sentence, to wit: six months, and so far as I know has been going straight since then."

The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant has served his sentence for the crime of drunken driving and to return him to the penitentiary would be injustice. A pardon will prevent the return and will reinstate the applicant on parole.

Investigation by the Supervisor of Paroles reports as follows: "Our agent, Mr. Weaver, stated that he consulted Judge Schaeffer and that the judge felt that consideration should be given this man on the charge of drunken driving as he feels that six months imprisonment should be sufficient punishment for him and he does not feel that the applicant should be forced to serve approximately six years and seven months. I recommend favorable consideration of this case by granting a full pardon of the new charge in Lancaster County so that we would be able to reinstate the man on parole under our custody.

The Board of Pardons, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted in this case on the above charge.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Philip H. Hawkins, C-4725, No. 2089, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Philip H. Hawkins, convicted of rape and attempted rape in the court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on July 25, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 1019 from 7½ years to a minimum of 2½ years expiring on July 25, 1938; on Bill No. 1020 from 7½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 26, 1938; on Bill No. 1021 from 7½ years to 1 day, expiring on July 27, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to one bill and not guilty to three bills for the crime of assault and battery with intent to ravish and rape, attempted rape, rape, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 30 to 30 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Satisfactory institutional record with the decision in this case probably to be influenced by the amount of time served in light of the sentence imposed."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "I still feel that he should serve his ten years before your board intervenes." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., likewise expressed his opposition.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that these offenses were not upon young women and girls but upon older persons, and it is the feeling of the Board that the facts in the case rose no higher than the crime of fornication. One of the victims, the principal in Bill 1020, stated: "I feel that the Board of Pardons should give consideration to the applicant. I do not object to his release."

It is the feeling of the Board that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for the crime, in view of the fact that there is serious doubt as to whether or not he was actually guilty of rape.

Employment in his home town of Athens, Alabama, where he will reside, is assured. The applicant will have served 10 years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until July, 1953.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Jack Chaffee, C-7593, No. 2118, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been hear upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Jack Chaffee, convicted of burglary and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Monroe County, on December 15, 1931 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and larceny and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Monroe County on the 15th day of December, 1931, to pay a fine of seven hundred and fifty dollars and to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 6½ to 23 years. The Board of Pardons commuted the sentence on the 12th day of March, 1933.

Since that date the applicant has been on parole and the Supervisor of Paroles states that the applicant is residing in New York under the direct supervision of the New York Parole Board. "His reports from New York are favorable. He is employed as a Route Salesman with the Motthaven Laundry of Bronx, New York. This man has been on parole for three years and while he is seeking a full pardon from parole obligations mainly for the purpose of securing an automobile drivers license in New York City, at the same time, he has just completed his original minimum sentence of six years and six months. His mother is interested in his welfare and wants to see him freed from parole. However, it is his first conviction and probably it wuuld be worthy of consideration.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel E. Shull, states that he will rely upon the Board for any action they may take in the case.

The district attorney, Honorable George G. Shafer, states: "I have no objection to a pardon in the above case".

The applicant is employed as a laundry salesman in New York City and resides in New York. He is requesting a pardon of this offense so that he may regain his citizenship and likewise marry the young lady to whom he is engaged without having the shadow of his past cast over them.

The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that a pardon be granted the applicant, believing that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Donald Bensing Schonour, C-6952, No. 2590, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Donald Bensing Schonour, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Berks County on March 25, 1931, be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 4 months, expiring on July 25, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Berks County on the 25th day of March, 1931, to from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "This applicant has been transferred to the Berks County Prison and the authorities have reported a good institutional record, attempts at self-improvement and constructive attitude. In light of this man's previous criminal record, final decision will probably be based on the attitude of the convicting authorities".

The trial judge, the Honorable Paul E. Schaeffer, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The district attorney, John A. Rieser, stated that he was opposed to the application.

The former warden of the Berks County Prison, Mr. George S. Miller, writes: "I believe that the time served by Mr. Schonour has done him a good deal of good and that he can take his place in society with credit, if released.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons indicated that the applicant, with his accomplice, one Alton Hatt, assaulted and robbed a motorist and that the accomplice appears to be the real criminal in the case. The accomplice received only 1½ to 5 years in the Berks County Prison and was released at the expiration of his minimum sentence in June, 1932.

The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for his participation in this crime, in view of the fact that he was not the ring leader. Further, the statements as to his evident efforts at self-improvement and his evident desire to avoid further criminal acts persuades the Board to recommend that the commutation of his sentence be granted. The applicant has been assured of employment with the Hendel Hat Company, Shillington, Pa., and will reside with his parents in Reading, Pa.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 4 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1951.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Bruno P. Praiano, C-3150, No. 2639, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Bruno P. Praiano, convicted of murder, first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Montgomery County on August 2, 1925, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 13 years, expiring on August 1, 1938, for deportation to Italy.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of first degree murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Montgomery County on the 2nd day of August, 1925, to death. On the 28th day of August, 1925, sentence was commuted to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant has no known previous criminal record. A detainer is on file in the form of a deportation warrant to Italy. Judging on the basis of this man's attitude and conduct, we believe that his release would probably not jeopardize society. However, since a deportation warrant is on file the return of this man to his native country would probably be a satisfactory solution".

The trial judge, the Honorable John F. Miller, is dead and the Honorable J. Ambler Williams is no longer on the bench and we did not receive any opinion relative to the merits of this application from the judges. The present district attorney, the Honorable Frederick B. Smillie, opposed clemency.

The Board of Pardons investigated the facts of this crime and feel that although he perpetrated a deliberate killing the deportation to Italy would be a satisfactory solution and would relieve the Commonwealth of the maintenance of this applicant for the rest of his natural life.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted, subject to immediate deportation.

The applicant will have served 13 years of his sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Ritorto, C-6409, No. 2728, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Ritorto, convicted of robbery, being armed with anoffensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 15, 1930, be commuted from (1) Bill No. 393-10 years (2) Bill No. 394-2 years to (1) 7 years, 10 months (2) 1 day expiring on (1) July 15, 1938 (2) July 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 15th day of September, 1930, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 12 to 40 years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has a satisfactory institutional record, good attitude, evidence of habits of industry, and, if released ,there is lodged a deportation warrant to Italy and they believe deportation would be the best solution."

The trial judge, the Honorable James Gay Gordon, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that the applicant has served a substantial time and that deportation would be a happy solution.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant has been involved in other criminal offenses and that the best solution in order to relieve the Commonwealth of the expenses of continued maintainence would be deportation. The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted. subject to his deportation.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 10 months of his minimum sentence and will be deported.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Warren C. Moylan, D-1345, No. 2803, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Warren C. Moylan, convicted of murder, first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 16, 1924 be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 4 years, 3 months (to begin April 16, 1934) expiring on July 16, 1938, and a maximum of life.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to two separate indictments for murder in the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County and was sentenced on the 16th day of April, 1924, to ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary and on the second charge to life imprisonment. He was paroled on the first bill on the 26th day of May, 1926, as of April 16, 1934, to begin sentence on the life imprisonment.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that his institutional record is good and he is employed in the electrical shop. He is suffering from an arrested case of tuberculosis and is at present in a very highly nervous condition.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "Whatever the Board does on the matter has my approval. You are well acquainted with all the facts." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., believes that the application for clemency is merited.

The applicant is a wounded veteran of the World War and receives a disability compensation. He is tubercular and arrangements have been made to move him to the Veterans Hospital at Coatesville, Pennsylvania.

An investigation shows that Mr. Carl L. Paulson, Chairman of the National Veterans Rehabilitation Service, is of the opinion that if the applicant gets his freedom and receives treatment in the Veterans Open Air Hospital it will be a great benefit to him.

Upon the applicant's release the disability compensation will be increased to the full amount of $37.50 per month, which will be sufficient to keep him in comfort at the hospital.

The applicant has served the minimum of ten years on the second degree murder charge and 4 years and 3 months of the sentence on the life imprisonment charge and he will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Christopher Malandrino, D-394, No. 2847, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Christopher Malandrino, convicted of pandering in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County, on February 8, 1935, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of pandering and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Session Court of Luzerne County on the 8th day of February, 1935, to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary from 3½ to 7 years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has been considered for parole and recommended, subject to a detainer. "It is our thought, release for the purpose of deportation would be a reasonable and satisfactory disposition of the case."

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles C. Greer, states that he is opposed to the granting of a pardon in cases of this sort. The district attorney, John H. Dando, stated to the Board that he was not opposed to the granting of a pardon.

The applicant will be released upon the expiration of his minimum sentence on August 8, 1938, and would therefore be deported upon his release. However, the applicant is married, having a child ten years of age, and likewise supporting his aged mother, and a deportation to Italy would throw the burden of support of this family upon the public. The Board feels that although this crime is serious, the conviction was based upon the testimony of a person of ill repute and, in addition, to deport the applicant would place on the public relief rolls three people.

The investigation of the New York Parole Division indicates that the matter of his employment as a tailor in the shop of Anthony Ferrendino is questionable. The family is now receiving public relief assistance. The applicant has had one arrest and no conviction prior to this crime and was employed and supporting his family in a satisfactory manner.

The Board recommends a pardon on the basis of consideration of the family and its hesitation to throw three people on the public relief rolls and to separate the father from his mother, wife and daughter.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert John Joseph Jackson, C-6969, No. 2869, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Robert John Joseph Jackson, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 8, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 71 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 7 years, 3 months, expiring on July 8, 1938; and on Bill No. 73 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 9, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 8th day of April, 1931, for from twenty to forty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "No factors have been noticed in his institutional record which would cause us to believe that he would re-enter the filed of crime if released."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "As between Robert Jackson and his brother, William, I feel that Robert is entitled to more favorable consideration. He has served a trifle more than 7 years and if you see fit to give him a chance I have no objection." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that he would be ordinarily opposed but having served for 7 years he will withhold his judgment and rely upon the Board.

The Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was about 20 years of age, with no prior criminal record, when he and his brother, with two accomplices, became involved in a series of robberies. Two of the accomplices have been paroled. The applicant and his brother, William, have received the favorable recommendation of the Board. The applicant will be employed as a printer by Mr. Frank A. Walsh of Philadelphia and he will reside with his parents in that city. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted the applicant.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 3 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1958.

In re application of George Lester Brown, C-7231, No. 2883, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of George Lester Brown, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Berks County on January 10, 1930, to begin July 10, 1931 be commuted from 5 years on Bill No. 51 to a minimum of 2 years expiring on July 10, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of buglary and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Berks County on the 10th day of January, 1930, to from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant has been transferred to the Berks County Prison and the Warden of that prison cites an exceptional record for this man."

The prison physician, Dr. Harry B. Schaeffer, writes: "I feel that through his fine attitude he has earned the careful consideration of the Board of Pardons to his application for commutation of his sentence."

The trial Judge, the Honorable Paul N. Schaeffer, states: "I personally have been impressed by his apparent sincerity. In my estimation your action in this case must depend upon your being satisfied that there is a reasonable probability that he will, in the future, refrain from unlawful conduct." The assistant district attorney, Marx, stated that he was in favor of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this applicant has been involved in other crimes and that he also broke his parole in 1927. However, it appears that since his present incarceration, he has appeared to have rehabilitated himself and letters from various prominent citizens of Berks County bear testimony to their belief that he will not re-enter the field of crime upon his release, and will be a credit to society.

The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished. He will be given employment by Mr. Henry Hoyer of Temple, Pennsylvania, and will reside with his parents in Reading.

The applicant will have served 7 years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until July 10, 1948.

In re application of Alfred Rodia, C-6934, No. 2935, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Delaware County on the 26th day of March, 1931, to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and to from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states: "He has a satisfactory institutional record, good employment record and has made attempts at self-improvement. The successful adjustment of this man would depend upon the environment and the type of associates."

The trial judge, the Honorable Albert Dutton MacDade, did not reply to our letter of Inquiry as to the merits of the application. Assistant district attorney, Guy DiFuria, stated that he believed a term of 7½ years was enough punishment for the crime.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant is serving his first real prison sentence, although he had been involved in other criminal acts prior to 1931. His institutional record and efforts at self-improvement are factors which can be cited in his favor. The applicant took the complete blame for the robbery which involved several other boys. His accomplices were thereupon discharged and he has been imprisoned for over 7½ years.

The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that upon his release he has been assured of employment by Cimino Brothers, who conduct a retail grocery store in Philadelphia and will reside with his parents in that city.

The Board therefore recommends that a communation of his sentence be granted

The applicant will have served 7 years and 4 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until March, 1951.

In re application of Frank Sparano, B-3690, No. 3003, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Frank Sparano, convicted of robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 1, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 19 from minimum of 2½ years to minimum of 1 month expiring June 1, 1938, on Bill No. 20 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 2 months, expiring on August 1, 1938, and on Bill No. 21 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on August 2, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County on the 1st day of May, 1933, for from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record (3) cooperative inmate (4) has served over 5 years."

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel H. Gardner, stated: "I passed out some rather severe sentences at that time as a deterrent. Under ordinary circumstances I would probably not have given the defendant a sentence of more than 5 years minimum. I have no objection to his pardon at this time." The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, stated that he had no objection to the granting of the petition in view of the fact that the accomplice has been paroled.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that while the applicant was unemployed and badly in need of money to support his wife and three children he embarked on a series of robberies with one, Roy Mauder. The applicant had no prior criminal record and unquestionably economic conditions forced him into the field of crime. The Board feels that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, in view of the fact that the sentencing judge believes that he was given a severe sentence and that a five year minimum would have been adequate. The applicant will be assured of employment as night watchman by the Center Car and Truck Sales Company, Pittsburgh, and he will reside with his family in Pittsburgh.

The applicant will have served 5 years and three months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until August 1, 1943.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.

Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Claude Boddie, A-13496, No. 3026, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Claude Boddie, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on June 9, 1924, be commuted from Bill No. 121 a maximum of 8 years to a minimum of 2 years, 1 month, expiring on July 9, 1938, and a maximum of 8 years and that the minimum sentence of Claude Boddie, convicted of escape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Centre County on September 8, 1930, be commuted from a minimum of 1 year ot a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 10, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of voluntary manslaughter and an attempt to escape. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County on the 9th day of June, 1924, to from 10 to 20 years in the Western State Penitentiary. On the 8th day of September, 1930 he was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Centre County for from 1 to 20 years for attempted escape, to begin at the expiration of the maximum of the original sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state they would probably recommend him for parole (1) he has now served 4 years over the combined minimum of 10 years on his original sentence, (2) he has no prior criminal record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Ambrose B. Reid, states "Whether or not this applicant should not be held for further punishment on account of the escape is a matter for the consideration of the Board." The Honorable M. Ward Fleming, the trial judge on the escape charge, states that he has no reason for opposing the application. The assistant district attorney, Russel Adams, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was unquestionably guilty of the crime of manslaughter, although the circumstances of the crime had some elements of self defense. The applicant, however, has served the full minimum for his original conviction. The escape charge involved his alleged sleeping on the penitentiary grounds. He never left the premises but on roll call he was marked absent and was subsequently found asleep under a wood pile. The Board is of the opinion that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for his original crime and has served nearly 4 years for an alleged attempted escape. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 14 years and 1 month of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until July, 1958.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Joseph Casek, B-2047, No. 3154, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Robert Joseph Casey, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 16, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 9 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 month, expiring June 16, 1938, on Bill No. 10 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 29 days, expiring July 15 1938, Bill No. 12 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 16, 1938; on Bill No. 13 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 17, 1938; and on Bill No. 16 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County on the 16th day of May , 1930, for from 14 to 34 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "The applicant's past history indicates that he is a poor risk. However, in view of his age, length of time served, good institutional record we would probably recommend him for parole, subject to proper sponsorship and definite assurance of employment."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry H. Rowand, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicate that this applicant was involved in juvenile crimes and this sentence involved the most serious of his criminal career. The applicant has served a substantial portion of his minimum sentence and his accomplices have all been released except one, namely Elmer Winters, who was recommended for a commutation of his sentence by the Board of Pardons at its May meeting. The delinquencies of this applicant arose from a home where the father was a heavy drinker and the family were always facing an economic struggle for existence. It is believed that this confinement at the Western State Penitentiary where he has received some schooling and some trade instruction, will be of benefit to him upon his release. The applicant is assured of employment by Mr. Lawrence McCabe, Funeral Director, Pittsburgh, Pa., He will reside with his mother in Pittsburgh and will be of some support to her.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of the sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 8 years and 2 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until July 18, 1948.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Arendas, B-4327, No. 3251, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the minimum sentence of John Arendas, convicted of murder, second degree in the Court of Oyer & Terminor of Allegheny County on Sept. 27, 1934 to begin 4-16-34 be commuted from 6 years to 4 years 5 months expiring on September 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty generally to the charge of murder and was centenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County for the crime of second degree murder to from 6 to 20 years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 16th day of April, 1934.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record. (3) has served over 4 years of his minimum sentence."

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles M. Culver, states that he considered the sentence a fair and reasonable one and believes the minimum should be served. The assistant district attorney, the Honorable Russel Adams, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of this application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this applicant, with a group of four boys, had been drinking and proceeded down Main Street of the borough of Wall, Pa. The deceased, Martin Pluter, a constable, approached them and demanded that they go home. Upon their refusal, he immediately grabbed the applicant and struck him with a blackjack. A struggle ensued and Pluter fell to the ground, dropping his blackjack, and pulled his revolver. While on the ground a shot was fired which went through the applicant's left foot. In the struggle to acquire possession of the gun it was again discharged while both the deceased and the applicant had their hands on the gun. The second bullet killed Pluter.

There is some indication that there was a bad feeling between the father of the applicant and the constable, as the deceased constable had superceded the applicant's father. At the trial, one of the accomplices received a sentence to the Western State Penitentiary and the remaining were discharge. The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished as there is every indication to show that the assault on the applicant by the constable was unprovoked. The question as to who pulled the trigger in the fatal shot cannot be determined as both the applicant and the deceased had their hands on the gun.

The applicant is assured of employment upon his release with Mr. Oblock, contractor, Unity, Pa. and he will reside with his parents in Wall, Pa. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served four years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until September, 1954.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Burdell Thompson, B-4922, No. 3299, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Burdell Thompson, convicted of assault and battery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Mercer County on March 23, 1936, be commuted from 2½ years to a minimum of 2 years, 4 months, expiring on July 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of assault and battery with intent to ravish and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer of Mercer Couny on the 23rd day of March, 1936, to from 2½ to 5 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary, state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first imprisonment (2) excellent institutional record (3) cooperative inmate."

The trial judge, the Honorable George H. Rowley, was non-committal in his reply. The district attorney, Edwin C. Moon, Esquire, states: "We are quite willing to recommend Burdell Thompson for a pardon in the event that his application be presented to you."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons would indicate that the victim was a young lady of good reputation in the community and that the applicant's statement as to his innocence of rape is not well founded. However, the Board felt that there was some element of truth in the applicant's statement and for that reason the Board is willing to recommend a commutation of the sentence, reducing his minimum approximately two months.

The applicant is assured of a position on the farm of his father and will reside with his wife and daughter in Mercer County with the applicant's parents. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 2 years and 4 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until March, 1941.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Boris Miller, C-3474, No. 3306, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Boris Miller, convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lehigh County, on January 8, 1937, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of voluntary manslaughter in the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lehigh County and was sentenced on the 2d day of July, 1926, to from six to twelve years and to pay a fine of five hundred dollars. He was released on parole on the 2d day of July, 1932.

On the 8th day of January, 1927, he plead nolle contendere to the crime of larceny and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced on that day by the Quarter Sessions Court of Lehigh County to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars and to imprisonment in the Lehigh County prison for three months. At the expiration of the county prison term on the 8th day of April, 1937, he was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary as a parole violator to serve the unexpired term of his original sentence.

The trial judge, the Honorable James F. Henninger, states: "This was not a very serious charge and he has, of course, served more than the term of that sentence since his plea was not entered. I believe that otherwise he bore a good record while on parole and I have no objection to his being paroled if your records indicate that he is deserving of it."

The district attorney, the Honorable John L. Gutshall, states that the applicant does not have much regard for an oath as his stories of the crime have varied.

The Supervisor of Paroles states that the applicant maintained a very good parole record, that on December 5, 1936, he became involved in crime again by receiving stolen goods. This new crime of receiving stolen goods really consisted of buying junk from minors and because of this conviction the prisoner is facing a six-year unexpired term. "I feel he is worthy of consideration and recommend a pardon."

The Board of Pardons believes that this man has been punished sufficiently for the crime of buying junk from minors and that a pardon of that offense will reinstate him on parole and that he will continue in our custody until April, 1943.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Crosby M. Dougherty, C-7368, No. 3384, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Crosby M. Dougherty, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on September 26, 1931 be commuted from a maximum of 10 years to a minimum of 4 years, 2 months, expiring on July 17, 1938, and a maximum of 10 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on the 26th day of September, 1931, and was sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and to from 2½ to 10 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. On the 26th day of March, 1934 he was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence.

On the 22nd day of November, 1934, he was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Delaware County, for the larceny of an automobile, to a term of from 2 to 7½ years in the Delaware County Prison. On the 17th day of November, 1936, he was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary for violation of his parole, to serve the unexpired portion of the sentence imposed September 26, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant has a good institutional record and has made attempts at self-improvement."

The trial judge, the Honorable W. Roger Fronefield, states: "The maximum sentence for a first offense was really too much, and inasmuch as he has been in prison for about five years, I recommend that he be given another chance. If he is permitted to go I trust that when he is discharged he will be directed to come and see me." The district attorney stated that he was not opposed to the petition for clemency.

The Supervisor of Paroles states: "While this applicant was only 19 years of age when he went to the penitentiary in 1931, and was only out on parole eight months before he returned to crime similar to the one for which he was originally sentenced, I think a little more than two years in prison would be better punishment for him unless he has a splendid program for parole to offer."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant does not have a definite employment assurance, although the Sun Oil Company, Marcus Hook, Pa., would give him employment if available. His sponsor is Mr. Curtis Hall, Supt. of the Crozer Building in Chester, Pa., who is well acquainted with the applicant and his family and assures our agent he will take a very personal interest in the applicant. Likewise, the President of the Delaware County Board of Prison Inspectors, Mr. Albert R. Granger, expresses his belief that the applicant will not revert to a life of crime.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 4 years and 2 months of his maximum of the original sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until May, 1934.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of William H. Loughman, B-1453, No. 3443, June Sesison, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommends that the minimum sentence of William H. Loughman, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Washington County on May 16, 1929, be commuted from 10 years to 9 years, 2 months, expiring on July 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder of the second degree and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Washington County on the 16th day of May, 1929, to th Western State Penitentiary for from ten to twenty years.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would probably recommend him (1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record (3) cooperative inmaet (4) has served 9 years and 2 months."

The trial judge, the Honorable Irwin Cummins, is deceased, and the president judge did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The district attorney, Warren S. Burchinal,, stated that he was in favor of clemency. The present district attorney, James C. Bane, writes: "We believe that he has been sufficiently punished for his offense and that his application should receive favorable consideration by your Board."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this killing arose from a quarrel involving several boys and a girl and it was one of impulse and passion, with no indication of prior premeditation. The applicant was unquestionably guilty of second degree murder and was properly sentenced. However, the rehabilitation of the applicant together with the situation in the applicant's family, would indicate that mercy could well be extended in this case. The mother of the applicant has died since his imprisonment and the father is in serious health condition. Employment has been assured the applicant by his brother-in-law of Washington, Pennsylvania, and he will reside with his father in the same city. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 9 years and 2 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until May 16, 1949.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Peter P. Soliwoda, B-5548, No. 3468, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open sessions, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Peter P. Soliwoda, convicted of felonious use of explosives and accessory before the fact to felonious use of explosives, and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County August 18, 1936 and February 11, 1938, be commuted on Bill No. 38 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 2 years, expiring on August 18, 1938, and on Bills No. 149 and No. 165 from a minimum of 1 year to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on August 19, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of felonious use of explosives and accessory before the fact to felonious use of explosives and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Lackawanna County on the 18th day of August, 1936, to pay a fine of five hundred dollars and to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from five to ten years and was sentenced by the same court on the 11th day of February, 1938, to from 1 to 2 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary to begin at the expiration of his original sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has no previous criminal record and that he is now imprisoned at Rockview where the authorities have stated that if he was an applicant for parole he would receive favorable consideration.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel Shull, states that whatever action the Board of Pardons may see fit to take under the circumstances will be entirely satisfactory to him. The assistant district attorney states that he was opposed to the application.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this applicant has no prior criminal record and that he became involved in the labor troubles in the anthracite coal region, along with six other men. The jury was twice deadlocked in those trials and eventually brought in a verdict of guilty, acquitting one other accomplice. All of the accomplices have been released from the county jail to which they were sentenced. The applicant maintains his innocence of this crime. The Board believes that the efforts at self-improvment and the necessity for the support of his family, who are in dire need, merits consideration for the case. There are numerous lettres in his behalf from citizens of his community attesting to his good character prior to this offense. Employment has not been assured but he will reside with his wife and daughter at Dickson City, Pennsylvania. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served two years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1946.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Charles Joseph Jackson, C-6968, No. 3476, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open sessions, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Charles Joseph Jackson, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 8, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 69 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 7 years, 3 months, expiring on July 8, 1938; and on Bill No. 70 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 9, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 8th day of April, 1931, to from twenty to forty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Satisfactory institutional record and improvement in attitude are cited in this man's favor. He is intelligent, resourceful, and the possibility of his adjustment when released will depend upon his environment."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "If you think the experiment is worthwhile and you look favorable upon their petitions I would suggest that you parole Robert first, and be guided in the case of William by the conduct of Robert." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he would ordinarily be opposed but due to the fact that they have served 7 years of their sentence he would make no opposition, but rely upon the Board.

The prison chaplain, Reverand Bernard C. Farley, stated that both William and Robert Jackson have made a splendid institutional record and he believes that they will conduct themselves properly upon release.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man has no previous criminal record and the accomplices, except his brother, Robert, have been paroled. Employment has been assured for the applicant as a painter by Mr. William Family of Philadelphia and he will reside with his parents in that city.

The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that a commutation be granted. The applicant will have served 7 years and 3 months of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until 1958.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Peter Yanich, B-1437, No. 3480, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open sessions, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Peter Yanich, convicted of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony in the Court of Over and Terminer of Beaver County on May 11, 1929 be commuted from 8 years to a minimum of 6 years, 5 months, expiring on July 10, 1938, and a maximum of 8 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Beaver County on the 11th day of May, 1920, to from 4 to 8 years in the Western State Penitentiary. The applicant was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence on the 11th day of May, 1933.

On the 19th day of February, 1936, he was returned to the Western State Penitentiary for the violation of his parole, arising out of an assault and battery charge, in which he was sentenced to pay a fine of two hundred dollars and costs and 6 months in the County Jail of Canton, Ohio. There is now lodged against him a warrant for deportation to his native country of Yugoslavia.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would recommend him subject to deportation to Yugoslavia.

The trial judge, the Honorable Frank F. Reader, stated he has no objection to the application, particularly as he is to be deported. The district attorney, Robert E. McCreary, stated that he was not opposed to the application if immediately deported.

The recommendation of the Superviser of Paroles states that this man is of foreign birth and by rights should be deported, but in 1933 after he was released, the immigration authorities could not secure a passport for him. "I do not think he is the type of person that should be permitted to be at large."

The investigation by the Board of Pardon reveals that the United States Department of Labor, Immigration Service, will furnish Peter Yonich with a valid passport to Yugoslavia and that his deportation will take place immediately upon his release from the Western State Penitentiary. The Board therefore recommends that the commutation of his sentence be granted subject to immediate deportation.

The applicant will have served 6 years and 5 months of his maximum sentence.

In re application of Charles W. Ruckert, Jr. C-6348, No. 3535, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reason for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon on one bill and guilty on a second charge. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 20th day of August, 1930, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 20 to 40 years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Constructive attitude towards his parents and definite habits of industry are cited in this man's favor. However, the existence of his previous record prohibits any prediction of future behavior."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states as follows: "If you feel that a man who has been paroled once and shows his lack of appreciation by violating the pardon, should have another chance, I have no objection, but I am making no recommendation." The assistant district atorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that he has served a substantial portion of his sentence but was opposed on account of his prior record.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man was convicted on the testimony of one. Louis Snow, and it has been stated in writing by one, Vincent J. Weston, a detective of the Philadelphia Police Force, that Louis Snow perjured himself and that the hold-up and robbery never did occur and that a grave injustice has been done. It is the belief of the Board that considerable doubt is present as to the actual participation of the applicant in this crime and for that reason they believe that a commutation of the sentence should be granted. The applicant is assured of employment by Mr. Wurfel of Philadelphia and he will reside with his parents in the same city.

The applicant will have served 8 years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until August, 1958.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Barney Allen, C-4087, No. 3580, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommends that the life sentence of Barney Allen, Jr., convicted of murder of the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia

County on September 7, 1927, be commuted from life to a minimum of 10 years, 11 months, expiring on July 7, 1938, and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 7th day of September, 1927, to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penintentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penintentiary state: "Judging entirely on the basis of institutional conduct and attitude, it is felt that this man probably has a desire to refrain from future conflict with the law."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "As a matter of policy it may be unable to pardon murders, but on the theory of rehabilitation and punishment I think he has improved as much as he ever will."

The Board of Pardons conducted a very careful investigation of this case; digested the notes of testimony of the trial and likewise conducted two hearings on the application in order to fully satisfy themselves as to the facts. It appears that Barney Allen killed his wife in an argument over rent money; that the wife had a revolver in her hand; that the applicant and his wife wrestled over the possession of the gun; that the two parties fell to the floor and that the revolver exploded, killing the wife. A Commonwealth witness, Miss Viola Allen, heard this whole affair and her testimony would indicate that the crime rose to no higher degree than second degree murder.

The Board believes that the crime was a murder of the second degree and that the applicant has been imprisoned for nearly eleven years, which is one year more than the minimum sentence of ten years for a second degree murder.

The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for a second degree murder and that upon his release he has been assured of employment with the Center City Garage, Philadelphia, Pa. The applicant had no prior criminal record and had been employed for many years with the Atlantic Refining Company, prior to his arrest, with a splendid employment record.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 11 years and 10 months of his sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Kenneth Reed, B-2081, No. 3603, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of Kenneth Reed, convicted of larceny and breaking and entering in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on June 6, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 95 from a maximum of 4 years to a minimum of 1 year, 10 months and 21 days expiring on July 20, 1938, and a maximum of 4 years; and on Bill No. 98 from a maximum of 8 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 21, 1938, and a maximum of 8 years; and that the minimum sentence of Kenneth Reed, convicted of escaping penitentiary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Center County on September 20, 1937, be commuted from 4 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 22, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny and breaking and entering and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County on the 6th day of June, 1930, for from 4 to 12 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

On the 27th day of June, 1931, the applicant escaped from the penitentiary and was apprehended in Charlotte, N. C., on the 26th day of August, 1937, and returned to the Western State Penitentiary. He was sentenced on the 20th day of September, 1937, to from 4 to 12 years for escape, to begin at the expiration of the maximum term of his original sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "In view of the successful adjustment for a period of over six years following his escape from Rockview, we would probably recommend him for parole to his wife and daughter in Charlotte, N. C.

The Honorable M. Ward Fleming stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application. The trial judge, the Honorable Harry H. Rowland, who sentenced the applicant on the original charge, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application and felt that the applicant was a proper person for release.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant had a prior criminal record but from the time he escaped from Rockview in 1931 until the apprehension in 1937, he had married a fine young girl in North Carolina, settled down and became a law-abiding citizen in that community. He was employed as a painter with various contractors over that period and he has worked diligently making a home for his family. The Chief of Police of Charlotte, N. C., Mr. Frank N. Littlejohn, conducted an extensive investigation of the case and personally stated before the Board that he would give the applicant proper guidance and sponsorship. He is assured of employment by Mr. Walter Rogers, Charlotte, N. C., as a painter.

The report from North Carolina states that the official and community opinion is that the applicant will conduct himself in a law-abiding manner, being a credit to society and his family and that the citizens of his city are ready and willing to accept the applicant back to their confidence if he is released.

The Board therefore believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 1 year, 10 months and 21 days of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1950.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Teofil Stephen Lacodzinski, Jr., B-5307, No. 3658, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the minimum sentence of Toefil Stephen Lacodzinski, Jr., convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on November 27, 1936, be commuted from 4½ years to 2 years expiring on November 27, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on the 27th day of November, 1936, to from 4½ to 9 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state; "We would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable M. A. Musmanno, states, "I believe that justice, humanity and even the strict letter of the law will be served by commuting the sentences of these two defendants." The assistant district attorney, Russel Adams, stated that he was opposed to the application as he believed it was premature.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant together with one, Wojtowics, and an older man by the name of Dende, came east from Chicago on the representation that Dende was to borrow five hundred dollars from some eastern friends. They became involved in a robbery charge in Asheville, N. C. and later a robbery in Pittsburgh in which all three were arrested and sentenced. The applicant was unemployed at the time the older man, Dende, persuaded him to make the trip east. The applicant was about 19 years of age and had no previous criminal record. Unquestionably, if the applicant, as a first offender, had been committed to the Pennsylvania Industrial School, he would now have been released on parole. It would appear from the investigation, that the applicant was under the influence of the older man, Dende, and is not considered a person of criminal tendencies. The Board is informed that the detainer from North Carolina has been lifted.

The applicant is assured of employment with his brother in Chicago, who operates a service station, and he will reside with his parents in that city. The home conditions are satisfactory and he will be under the proper sponsorship.

The Board therefore believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that a commutation of his sentence should be granted.

The applicant will have served 2 years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until November 27, 1945.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Karol Zbigniew Wojtowicz, B-5306, No. 3650, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Karol Zbigniew Wojtowicz, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on November 27, 1936 be commuted from 4½ years to 2 years expiring on November 27, 1938.

Our reason for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County on the 27th day of November, 1936, to from 4½ to 9 years in the Western State Penitentiary. The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) good institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable M. A. Musmanno, writes: "I believe that justice, humanity and even the strict letter of the law will be served by commuting the sentences of these two defendants."

The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, was opposed to the application, believing that it was premature.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this applicant, together with Lagodzinski, came East with an older man by the name of Dende, to borrow five hundred dollars. On their way they became involved in a robbery in Asheville, North Carolina, and at Pittsburgh they were arrested for robbery in that city. The applicant was about 19 years of age at the time of his arrest and was practically unemployed at the time Dende suggested the Eastern trip. The applicant had no previous criminal record and from all accounts had conducted himself as an exemplary young man. If the applicant, as a first offender, had been committed to the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon, he would in all probability have been paroled by this time.

The Board is of the opinion that this applicant is not of the criminal type and that he has been led into these criminal offenses by the older man. Detainer from the Ashville, North Carolina, has been lifted and if released the applicant will be assured of employment in Chicago with the Washington Studio. He will reside with his parents in that city.

The Board therefore recommends that the commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served two years and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until November, 1945.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Reid, D-1769, No. 3700, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that James Reid, convicted of robbery by holdup in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Monroe County, on December 11, 1935, to begin Dec. 7, 1936 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Teminer Court of Monroe County on the 11th day of December, 1935 to the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of from ten to twenty years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary report that he has not shown evidence of constructive industry during the period of his confinement.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel E. Shull, was non-committal in his opinion. The district attorney, Honorable George S. Shafer, writes that the applicant is entitled to clemency and he therefore does not oppose the same.

The Board of Pardons thoroughly investigated this case due to the fact that the applicant maintained his entire innocence of the crime which involved the holdup of a truck loaded with silk on the night of April 7, 1934, about 12:30 A.M. near Tobyhanna, Monroe County, Pennsylvania. Our investigator of this case spent at least six or seven days in a thorough investigation of all parties who had any contact with this holdup. It reveals that the applicant was not on the scene of the crime but was in Scrannton, Pennsylvania, at the Hotel Eastman, drunk. A. Mr. Coleman of Scranton and Mr. Miller of Scranton brought the applicant to the above hotel at about 1:30 in the morning and turned him over to the elevator operator to be put to bed.

The Pennsylvania Motor Police likewise conducted an investigation which recited only the circumstances surrounding the holdup and did not proceed along the line which our investigator conducted as to the matter of the presence of the applicant at the scene of the crime.

The applicant has a lengthy criminal record but the Board is persuaded that this particular offense James Reid was not present in the holdup group but actually was in Scranton, Pennsylvania, in an intoxicated condition. At his trial in Monroe County, Reid became rather violent and unruly and this conduct of the applicant had much to do in creating an unfavorable attitude before the judge and jury. The Board of Pardons recommends the granting of a pardon in this case, believing that this applicant, despite his record, is innocent of this charge and this view of the case is that of the district attorney of Monroe County who assisted our investigator in running down the circumstances of this crime.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank H. Dixon, No. 3714, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Frank H. Dixon, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on February 26, 1919, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows.

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 26th day of February, 1919, to ten years in the Philadelphia County Prison.

The Honorable Harry S. McDevitt states: "In this matter there seems to be no objection on the part of anyone to clear this man's record, since he has not been in trouble since having been paroled a short time after his sentence."

The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant had no prior criminal record and since his release from the Philadelphia County Prison on parole on December 16, 1921, his behavior has been excellent.

The applicant is now the Treasurer and beneficial owner of the Broadway Sherman Garage, Inc., New York City, and resides in New York with his wife and family.

The Board of Pardons is persuaded that the applicant has merited this pardon by his excellent behavior and his ability to manage a business concern in New York. He has taken an active part in the Association of Garage Owners in New York City and is the Vice-President of that organization. Likewise, he is a member of the Board of Directors of the Inwood Chamber of Commerce and on the Committee of the Jewish Memorial Hospital. Numerous letters from prominent citizens of New York State, in business, politics and church, attest to his good character.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James William Parkinson, D-107, No. 3739, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James William Parkinson, convicted of robbery and conspiracy to commit robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on June 18, 1935 be commuted from 3 years on Bills No. 250 and 251 to 3 years, 1 month, expiring on July 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and conspiracy to commit robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Delaware County on the 18th day of June, 1935, to from 5 to 10 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "This man presents an unusual problem on attempt to predict future behavior. He has a satisfactory institutional record, he has attempted to improve himself and he has exceptional mental ability."

The trial judge, the Honorable Albert Dutton MacDade, did not express an opinion as to the merits of this application. The assistant district attorney, Guy DeFurin, stated that he was not opposed to the application and felt that the applicant was entitled to a new chance.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant comes from a fine family in Norfolk, Virginia, and that several citizens of that community have taken a deep interest in the applicant. Father Scannell expressed his interest in sponsorship. Likewise, Mr. John Twohy, II, Esquire, Norfolk, stated that he would make it his duty to guide the applicant and see that employment was procured. A brother of the applicant, Mr. Edward Parkinson, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, has agreed to have his brother live with him and to likewise act as guide and sponsor for the applicant. Employment has been assured him by the Albano Cleaning Company, Norfolk, Va., and he will reside with his brother in that city.

The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for this crime and that during his imprisonment he has made definite efforts at self-improvement. His sponsorship arising from his brother and other interested citizens of his home lead the Board to believe that the applicant will not re-enter the field of crime. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 3 year and 1 month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until July 1945.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Cianfrani, No. 3755,, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that George Cianfrani, convicted of perjury in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on May 18, 1937, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of perjury and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 18th day of May, 1937, to serve six months in the Philadelphia County Prison.

The applicant was involved in the disbarment cases of Samuel W. Salus and Albert Salus, and at the hearing involving those two lawyers, he gave testimony which was untrue. The applicant appears to have been a switchboard operator in the Department of Public Safety in the city of Philadelphia and would advise the above attorneys of traffic accidents in the city.

The trial judge, the Honorable Albert S. C. Millar, states: "I know of no reason why the applicant should not receive favorable consideration at the hands of the Board, if in its judgment it is merited." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, states: "The Commonwealth feels that the petitioner was a dupe under the control of the two disbarred lawyers previously referred to and remained true to a false sense of loyalty rather than to his true convictions. This petitioner served the sentence imposed, has no prior record, and has paid his debt to society."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant has no prior criminal record and that the purposes of the pardon is that he may be reinstated to the Police Force of the City of Philadelphia. The applicant is married and has several married children. He is now employed with the Chain Store Company but desires this pardon so that he may be reinstated in the Philadelphia City Police Force.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Richard J. Kryston, No. 3758, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Richard J. Kryston, convicted of larceny, receiving stolen goods, breaking and entering a freight car in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on April 12, 1935, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of larceny, receiving stolen goods, breaking and entering a freight car, and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 12th day of April, 1933, and placed on probation for three years.

The applicant had been arrested twice on similar charges and had been discharged by the magistrate.

The trial judge, the Honorable Frank Smith writes "This young man, who was only 16 at the time, evidently got into a bad crowd. It seems to me, however, that if this youngster has not gotten into trouble since that time, no harm will be done in granting his request."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons discloses that since his probation he has been in no trouble and has conducted himself in an exemplary manner. He lives in a fine home under splendid environment and is at present employed as a plumber by Frank B. Thorn, Philadelphia, Pa.

The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

The purpose of the application is to acquire a pardon so that he may take advantage of a civil service examination and, if found eligible, will be given permanent employment. The Board of Pardons believes that this young man has conducted himself in such manner that he deserves this consideration and that since his arrest and probation he has made every effort to improve himself so that he may advance in his business career.

A pardon will in part remove the staigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

In re application of Morris Simpson, No. 3759, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Morris Simpson, convicted of unlawful sale and possession of liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 20, 1929, and convicted of setting up an illegal lottery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 20, 1931, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the unlawful sale and possession of liquor and was sentenced on the 20th day of December, 1929, to pay one hundred dollars fine and costs by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County.

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of setting up an illegal lottery and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions court of Philadelphia County to pay a fine of fifty dollars and costs on January 20, 1931.

The Honorable James M. Barnett, states that his personal reaction is the applicant came off very well with a small fine and costs and that he would do well now to forget about it. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that he would rely upon the discretion of the Board and offered no objection.

The petitioner has been in no trouble with the law since 1930 and is endeavoring to have his record cleared.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant has been in no trouble since his arrest in 1930 and he has been employed by his brother in the butchering business since 1930. He is married and has three children and resides in Philadelphia.

The applicant is anxious to receive a pardon so that he may advance himself in business and the Board feels that his good behavior and conduct for the past eight years indicates his desire to maintain an honest and lawful life. The Board therefore recommends that a pardon be granted the applicant, believing that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

In re application of Jack Millano, D-1967, No. 3761, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons, recommend that the minimum sentence of Jack Millano, convicted of conspiracy, sodomy and rape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 18, 1937, be commuted from five years to 1 year, 7 months, expiring on September 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of conspiracy and sodomy and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 18th day of February, 1937, to from 5 to 10 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant has no known criminal record. Although there are no unusual habits of industry or self-improvement can be cited that can cause us to predict future favorable adjustment."

The trial judge, the Honorable James M. Barnett, states that the release of the applicant depends upon the truth of the statements of the prosecutrix. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was opposed to the commutation.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons was conducted in an exhaustive manner, which involved two other accomplices, namely: Decicco and DiValerio, whose applications for commutations were recommended by the Board and approved by the Governor on the 28th day of March, 1938. The applicant was one of seven accomplices who were found guilty on charges of rape and sodomy and assault and battery to commit rape, and the Board, in the DeCicco and DiValerio cases, were of the opinion that the prosecutrix falsely accused the applicant, along with eight or nine others, she has, under date of March 10, 1938, changed her story of the crime. The mother of the girl stated that she was unable to tell the truth. The prosecutrix was examined by Dr. Boyer shortly after the alleged commission of this offense and the medical examination disclosed that she had not been raped. The Board of Pardons is of the opinion that the applicant, along with the others, has been unjustly accused of these crimes and recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted. He is assured of employment by the F. H. White and Company, Philadelphia, and will reside with his parents in the same city.

The applicant will have served one year and seven months of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until February, 1947.

In re application of Andrew Madar, C-4718, No. 3773, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the under signed members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Andrew Madar, convicted of murder, 1st degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on July 11, 1928, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 10 years expiring on July 11, 1938, and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Luzerne County on the 11th day of July, 1928, to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant has no known previous criminal record. He owns property, which demonstrates that he was economically stable prior to incarceration. Since he has no previous criminal record and is now 64 years of age it is felt that his release would probably not jeopardize society."

The trial judge, the Honorable John S. Fine, states that he is opposed to the application. The assistant district attorney, John H. Dando, stated that he will not object to the application for clemency as in his opinion the crime did not rise to a higher degree than second degree murder.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant shot his wife. A lengthy series of circumstances lead up to the fatal shooting. His wife and children were continually pestering him to turn over his property. The applicant at last agreed to transfer his real estate to his wife and to receive in return a thousand dollars. It appears that a check for that amount was given to him by his wife and when he came to deposit it payment had been stopped on the check. He brooded over this situation, realizing that he had been despoiled of his property, drank himself into a state of intoxication, returned to his former home and shot his wife. The Board believes that the applicant was goaded into this crime by these acts of injustice and that he was not of a criminal type. It is firmly believed by the Board that he will not re-enter the field of crime and that he has been sufficiently punished for his wrongdoing. He has sufficient property to maintain himself and he will reside in his home in Swoyersville, Pennsylvania.

The applicant will have served ten years of his sentence and will be under the control of the Board of Pardons until the end of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Mike Geduldio, D-5030, No. 3775, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Mike Geduldio, convicted of felonious rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on June 1, 1936, be commuted from 3 years to 2 years, 2 months, expiring on August 1, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of felonious rape and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on the first day of June, 1936, to from 3 to 8 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable R. H. Smith, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of this application.

The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of this application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant did have carnal knowledge of the victim and a child was born to the victim in April, 1936. The victim is willing to marry the applicant and has so indicated in a letter to the Board. The applicant is about fifty-two years of age and no previous criminal record. It is indicated that the victim willingly submitted and there was no indication that force or brutality or deception was practiced. The applicant has been assured of employment on the farm of his brother and will reside with his brother in Dormont, Pennsylvania. The Board is further assured that he will marry the victim and give legitimacy to the child. The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served two years and two months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June, 1944.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Floyd Jackson, D-1398, No. 3796, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Floyd Jackson, convicted of robbery, larceny, breaking and entering, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on June 3, 1936 be commuted from ten years to 2 years, 1 month, expiring on July 3, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, larceny, breaking and entering and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Luzerne County on the 3rd day of June, 1936, from from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that his prison record has been satisfactory and that he has made some attempts at self-improvement.

The trial judge, the Honorable Clarence A. Coughlin, did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, John H. Dando, stated that he was not opposed to the application as he understood restitution has been made in all cases.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant entered homes in Luzerne County and stole property consisting of jewelry and money. No weapons were used in the crime and restitution has been made in all cases. One of his two accomplices has been paroled upon the recommendation of the Board. The applicant has no prior criminal record and it is believed that he will not re-enter the field of crime. Employment has been assured the applicant with the Mineral Spring Coal Company at Pittston, Pa., and he will reside with the parents at Noxen, Pennsylvania.

The Board therefore recommends that a communtation of his sentence be granted. He will have served 2 years and one month of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until 1956.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Herman J. Ball, No. 3798, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Herman J. Ball, convicted of robbery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Northumberland County, on September 8, 1937, be commuted from 2 years to 10 months expiring on July 8, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Northumberland County on the 8th day of September, 1937, to from 2 to 4 years in the Northumberland County Prison.

The Warden, Robert L. Minnick, of the Northumberland County Prison writes: "The conduct of the applicant has been above reproach and he is one of the most trusted prisoners we have ever had here."

The trial judge, the Honorable C. K. Morganroth, did not express an opinion as to the merits of this application, although he refused a petition for parole for the applicant in December, 1937, The district attorney, Robert N. Fortney, stated that in his opinion the applicant has learned his lesson and he believes that he will not reenter the field of crime, although in the robberies committed the applicant appeared to be the ring leader. Mr. Forntey further stated that he came from a very excellent family in Northumberland County.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant had no prior criminal record and this robbery was the result of a night of drinking, culminating in the robbery of slot machines belonging to the Valley Gun and Country Club at Elysburg, of which the applicant was a member. The applicant is assured of employment in his father's business in Northumberland, Pa., and will reside with his parents in that town. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served ten months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the probation officer of Northumberland County until the 8th day of September, 1941.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Alexander Dipaul, D-1306, No. 3807, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the minimum sentence of Alexander Dipaul, convicted of arson in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Columbia County on December 7, 1935, be commuted from 5 years to 2 years, 7 months expiring on July 7, 1938

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of arson and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Columbia County on the 7th day of December, 1935, to pay a fine of five hundred dollars and to from five to ten years imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Pardons believes that there might be some question as to the complete guilt of the applicant, and having served a substantial portion of his minimum sentence, and further, that he has made some definite efforts at self-improvements, they therefore recommend that the commutation of his sentence be granted.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the man has no known criminal record. He has a satisfactory institutional record and has shown definite habits of industry and attempts at self-improvement.

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles C. Evans, states "I know of no reason why he should be paroled." The district attorney, Harold G. Teel, states: "Please be advised that I will not register my opposition to this man's petition for clemency." The Honorable Charles C. Evans, the trial judge, in a letter to Andrew Hourigan, Esquire, dated June 18, 1938, states that he will not now interpose an objection, basing his opinion on the circumstances of the wife and children of the applicant who appear to be in need.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was involved in this burning of his own premises, although he was not at the scene of the crime, and it appears that the third party was involved in this criminal act. The applicant, although entering a plea of guilty, later withdrew this plea but the Court refused to grant the petition.

The applicant is assured of employment, if released, with the Paulton Silk Corporation, Berwick, Pennsylvania, and he will reside with his wife and two children in Berwick.

The applicant will have served two years and seven months of his minimum sentence and will be under the Supervision of the Board of Pardons until December, 1945.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Gerome, G-5070, No. 3812, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank Gerome, convicted of being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 15, 1929, be commuted on Bill No. 527 from 7 years to 1 year 6 months, expiring on July 15, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of being armed with an offensive weapon and larceny of an automobile and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 15th day of January, 1929, to from fifteen to thirty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states: "Satsifactory institutional record, atempted self-improvement, apparent habit of stability over a period of 9½ years are in his favor. This man's two accomplices have had their sentences commuted. The success of his readjustment will be determined by the type of environment."

The trial judge, the Honorable D. U. Arird, did not reply to our letter of inquiry, but the assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had served a substantial portion of his sentence and believe that he had been rehabilitated.

The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished. The three accomplices of the applicant are released, two being commuted and one having died in prison.

The applicant will receive employment from Mr. Anthony Colucci, Philadelphia, and will reside with his parents in Philadelphia.

The applicant will have served 9 years and 6 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until January, 1951.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Alfred Kasmer, C-8751, No. 3816, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Alfred Kasmer, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Over and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 7, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 3 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 5 years, 4 months, expiring on July 7, 1938; and on Bill No. 4, from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 8, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon. He was sentenced by the Over and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 7th day of March, 1933, for from 15 to 30 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The application has a satisfactory institutional record and his age at commitment and physical condition should be considered in this case."

The trial judge, the Honorable Howard A. Davis, states: "I have no recommendation to make as it is a matter entirely within the discretion of the Board of Pardons." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was opposed to a commutation in this case.

The prison chaplain, Reverend Bernard C. Farley, stated that the applicant has been his office assistant for the past five years and that he considers him rehabilitated in every sense of the word.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was about 17 years of age when he became involved in a series of holdups and although having no previous criminal record his environment and education were not of the best. Since his imprisonment he has applied his time to study to prepare himself for useful employment upon release. The applicant is now suffering from diabetes and must continue this treatment upon his release. Employment is assured the applicant and he will be under the personal supervision of the chaplain of the penitentiary.

The Board therefore believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicants will have served 5 years and 4 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until July, 1958.

In re application of Joseph Terranova, B-5563, D-1969, No. 3821, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Terranova, convicted of conspiracy to commit sodomy and rape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 18, 1937, be commuted from 3 years to a minimum of 1 year 7 months, expiring on September 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of conspiracy to commit sodomy and guilty to the crime of rape. He was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 18th day of February, 1937, to from one to two years in the Eastern State Penitentiary and on the 28th day of February, 1937 was sentenced to from 3 to 6 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary to run concurrent with first sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he has a satisfactory institutional record and that the decision in this case would probably be influenced by the attitude of the convicting authorities.

The trial judge, the Honorable James M. Barnett, states that the release of this applicant should depend on the truth of the statements of the prosecutrix.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons, which involved DeCicco, DiValerio, Nillano, Ricci, Volpe and this applicant, is based on the exhaustive report of our investigator at the time the Board recommended the cases and the Governor granted a commutation of the sentences of DiValerio and DeCicco in March, 1938. This applicant was found guilty on the statements of one, Catherine Highland, whose regard for the truth appears to be very slight. The exhaustive report indicates that this group of boys was probably not involved, as the prosecutrix from time to time changed here story. The applicant has been assured of employment with Mr. Chas. Swartz of Phila. and he will reside with his parents in Phila.

The applicant will have served one year and seven months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until February 18, 1943.

In re application of Charles Volpe, D-1968, No. 3822 June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above applications having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Volpe, convicted of conspiracy, sodomy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 18, 1938, be commuted from 5 years to a minimum of 1 year 7 months, expiring on September 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of conspiracy, sodomy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County and was sentenced to from 5 to 10 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 18th Day of February, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant's institutional record is satisfactory. He has exhibited no sign of sexual degeneracy. His plea is one of innocence and the merits of the case will be based on the facts submitted by the convicting authorities."

The trial judge, the Honorable James H. Barnett, states that his release should depend on the truth of the statements of the prosecutrix. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was opposed to the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons is based on the exhaustive report which involved this applicant, together with Terranova, Ricci, Millano, DeCicco and DeValerio. The Board recommended and the Governor granted a communitation of the sentences in March, 1938, of DeCicco and DiValerio, based on this report.

This applicant was found guilty on the testimony of one, Catherine Highland, whose own mother states has little regard for the truth. The Board feels that this applicant has been sufficiently punished for any alleged participation in this crime. It recommends that a commutation of sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served one year and seven months of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until February, 1947.

In re application of Carlo Ricci, D-1966, No. 3823, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the minimum sentence of Carlo Ricci, convicted of conspiracy to commit sodomy and sodomy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 18, 1937, be commuted from 5 years to 1 year 7 months expiring on September 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of conspiracy to commit sodomy and sodomy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County and was sentenced on the 18th day of February, 1937, to from 5 to 10 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant's institutional record is satisfactory. He has exhibited no sign of sexual degeneracy. His plea is one of innocence and no doubt the merits of the case will be based on the facts submitted by the convicting authorities.

The trial judge, the Honorable James H. Barnett, states that his recommendations depend entirely upon the truth of the statements of the prosecutrix.

The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was opposed to the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons involved this offense which embraced six or seven men, of which two of them, DeCicco and DiValerio were already commuted in March 1938. It is based upon an exhaustive report, leading the Board to believe that the applicants are innocent of the crime. The prosecutrix, Catherine Highland, has no regards for the truth and has from time to time changed her story and likewise her accusations.

The Board has recommended and the Governor has granted commutations to DeCicco and DiValerio, and at this session of the Board the applications of Millano, Ricci, Volpe and Torranova have received favorable approval. These recommendations are based upon the belief that the applicants have been unjustly accused.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served one year and seven months of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until 1947.

In re application of Nicholas Loffredo, D-2658, No. 3837, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Nicholas Loffredo, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 8, 1937, to begin November 27, 1937, be commuted from one year to 10 months, expiring September 27, 1939.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to one bill and nolle centendere on 3 bills to the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County for from 1 to 2 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 8th day of December, 1937, to begin November 27, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "This man has continually claimed innocence since he has been in the institution. He has been recommended for parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence, November 27, 1938."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry Kalodner, did not express his opinion as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that the sentence should not be disturbed.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that there is some question as to the participation of the applicant in the robbery of the restaurant and the proprietor of the restaurant stated that the applicant did not participate in the holdup in any way. However, the applicant was acquainted with the criminals and received a part of the loot some time after the holdup.

The applicant is married and has a small son. Both his wife and child are receiving treatments at the Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia. The applicant has no prior criminal record and he has conducted himself in the penitentiary in a satisfactory manner. The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for whatever part he may have had in the hold-up and they recommend that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served ten months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until November 27, 1939.

In re application of Claude D'Aras, C-4723, No. 4021, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Claude D'Aras, convicted of larceny, entering to steal in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on July 20, 1928, be committed on Bill No. 755 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 20, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny, entering to steal, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 20th day of July, 1928, to from fifteen to thirty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state "Improvement has been noted in this man's attitude and behavior and the fact that he has served approximately ten years are factors which should react in his favor. The statement as to his participation in the crime is rather questionable and it is our thought the merits of the case should be decided on facts submitted by the convicting authorities."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "If you think ten years will cure him as well as fifteen, I have no objection to a pardon but I will not recommend it." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to the granting of a commutation due to the fact that he had served 10 years of his minimum sentence.

The Board of Pardons investigated the case and they find as follows: "The notes of testimony disclose that it was not definitely established that the petitioner or his co-defendants actually broke and entered into the establishments which were burglarized." The two accomplices of the applicant, who received similar sentences, have been commuted and are on parole. The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficinetly punished and that upon his release he will be given employment by a Mr. John Ward of Philadelphia. The home conditions are satisfactory and he will be able to support his aged father and mother.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 10 years of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until July 20, 1948.

In re application of Henry J. Lambert, D-4917, No. 4045, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Henry J. Lambert, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on March 14, 1936, be commuted from 3 years to 2 years, 4 months, expiring on July 14, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on the 14th day of March, 1937, to from 3 to 6 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend him for parole, (1) first imprisonment, (2) excellent institutional record (3) cooperative inmate, (4) progress in self improvement."

The trial judge, Honorable Jesse C. Long, states that he had no recommendations to make, either for or against the petition. The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, states that he is not opposed to the granting of the application.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant i all probability was involved in this robbery, although the applicant denies any participation. The applicant had no prior criminal record and bore a fair reputation in his home town of Sharpsburg, Pa. Many citizens of the borough of Sharpsburg, including pastor of the church, President of the Borough Council, the Burgess, the Chief of Police, and other citizens, attest to the good character that the applicant bore and their belief that he will prove an honest and upright citizen, capable of taking his place in society, if released.

The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for his participation in this crime and that with the care and sponsorship which many of the citizens of Sharpsburg will extend to the young man, he will not re-enter the field of crime. Employment is assured at the hotel of his father and he will reside with his parents in Sharpsburg, Pa.

The Board therefore recommends that the commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served two years and four months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until March 14, 1942.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles B. McCool, D-603, No. 4060, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Charles B. McCool, convicted of fraudulently making a written instrument in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 22, 1935, be paroned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of embezzlement fraudulently making a written instrument. He was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 3 to 10 years by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 22nd day of May, 1935.

The trial judge, the Honorable Otto R. Heiligman, was not opposed to the application and the assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., offered no objections. The Supervisor of Paroles, under whose control the applicant has been since 1936, writes as follows: "He has reported regularly to us and he has maintained a good parole record. He claims at the present time he is endeavoring to take a civil service examination for a position with the city of Philadelphia and a pardon is needed in order to clear his record. He is married and has five children and since this is his first conviction I recommend him for consideration."

The applicant was guilty of embezzling $7,800.00 from dormant accounts in the Germantown Savings Fund Company.

At present the applicant is employed with the WPA as an accountant and resides in Philadelphia with his wife and children. The applicant has taken advantage of every opportunity to improve himself and is making an attempt to get a civil service rating so that he may acquire a permanent position.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted.
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank F. Barbour, C-8148, No. 4063, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank F. Barbour, convicted of forgery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on July 15, 1932, be commuted from 8 years to a minimum of 6 years, expiring on July 15, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of forgery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Dauphin County on the 16th day of July, 1932, for from 8 to 24 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states: "The applicant's previous criminal record includes charges of stealing and forgery but his present institutional record is exceptional and definite habits of industry and self-improvement merits consideration of this case."

The trial judge, the Honorable William H. Hargest, expressed no opinion as to the merits of this case and the district attorney, Honorable Carl B. Shelley, likewise was non-committal.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that he perpetrated about fifteen forgeries in various business houses in Dauphin County and it alleges that these crimes, extending over a period of about two months, sprung from lack of employment. Our investigation further shows that his wife and children, who are living on a 184-acre farm, are badly in need of his assistance and help. The Board has been assured that the applicant has made very definite efforts at self-improvement and that upon his release he will find adequate employment on his farm in Fayette County. In addition to the agricultural proceeds there is an open gas well which brings in a small amount of money.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant is determined to lead a law-abiding life and that he will, upon release, conduct himself in a proper manner and adequately support his wife and children. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 6 years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1956.

Respectfully submitted.
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Arthur Bruno, D-1818, No. 3497, July Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Arthur Bruno, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Schuylkill County on July 13, 1936, to begin November 5, 1934, be commuted from five years to a minimum of three years and eleven months, expiring on October 5, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Schuylkill County on the 13th day of July, 1936 to pay the costs and fine of fifty dollars and to serve from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, sentence to begin as of November 5, 1934.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant's satisfactory institutional record and fair attempt at self-improvement are cited in his favor, together with a constructive attitude. If he were to continue the same type of behavior on the outside he would probably not re-enter the field of crime."

The trial judge, the Honorable B. R. Jones, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The district attorney, the Honorable C. A. Whitehouse, Jr., did not express an opinion as to the merits of the case. One of the specially appointed district attorneys, Mr. M. S. DePierro, stated that the sentence was a light one, although he questioned the actual complicity of the applicant in the crime.

This applicant was one of a number convicted of the crime occurring on the night of November 5, 1934, at Kelayres, Schuylkill County, which resulted in the deaths of five people and the wounding of about twenty others. The applicant was seventeen years of age at the time of the crime was committed. The evidence showed that the applicant was standing outside of his home when the parade came into close view. It was testified that the applicant handed to Anthony Orlando a dark object but there was no testimony absolutely connecting the applicant with any shooting. The applicant ran into the house, his own home, and while in the house there was a series of shots which caused death and injury. However, there was again no testimony indicating that the applicant had a revolver or a gun in his hand or fired any of the shots. The applicant was undoubtedly under the domination of his uncle, Joseph Bruno, and the crimes for which his uncle was guilty should not be born by the nephew. Then too, the nephew was only seventeen years of age and would naturally obey the orders of his uncle.

At the trial, the applicant was jointly tried with his uncle and although there is no record that his attorneys made a request for a separate trial, it is the opinion of the Board that if the applicant had been tried separately he might have been acquitted.

The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, first, because of his youth; second, because there was absolutely no testimony as to his firing any of the fatal shots; third, because there was no testimony that he ever had a gun or a revolver in his hand.

The applicant is assured of employment by Mr. E. J. O'Donnell, McAdoo, Pennsylvania, and will reside with his mother in Kelayres.

The applicant will have served three years and eleven months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until November, 1944.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re Application of Marko George Glad, D-1755, No. 3541, July Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Marko George Glad, convicted of assult and battery and burglary, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on November 30, 1936, be commuted from 4 years to a minimum of 2 years, expiring on November 30, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and aggravated assault and battery, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Dauphin County on the 30th day of November, 1936, to pay a fine of four hundred dollars and to from four to twelve years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Judging solely on the basis of this man's conduct and behavior while in the pentitentiary, his present attitude would warrant a determination to readjust his life."

The district attorney, the Honorable Carl B. Shelley, was noncommittal in his reply to the Board as to the merits of the application. The trial judge, Honorable William M. Hargest, did not reply to our letter of inquiry, but the Honorable Karl E. Richards, President Judge of the Orphans Court of Dauphin County, stated: "It was during my administration as district attorney that his case was disposed of in court. I know little about his conduct since then but have been informed that he has been improving his opportunities, and that his prospects are promising. I therefor will interpose no objections to such action as you may see fit to take."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was unquestionably guilty of the crimes for which he was convicted and that he had been arrested twice but never convicted before the commission of these crimes. Of his former arrests, one was a juvenile charge which was adjusted in court, and on the other he was found not guilty. The applicant's entire trouble has been the result of associating with evil companions. His experience in the penitentiary has made him realize the enormity of his offenses and he has made diligent effort by study and conduct to rehabilitate himself. He has pursued courses of study in shorthad and typewriting and has been working as a secretary in the Social Service Department of the penitentiary. The Board has investigated his home and found it to be a very good one. The reputation of his family is excellent. He has been assured of employment by M. Brenner and Sons, automobile dealers of Harrisburg.

The applicant's two accomplices were sentenced as follows: One was sent to the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon and the other to the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board is persuaded that this young man has rehabilitated himself and will not re-enter the field of crime. It therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served two years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until November, 1948.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY.
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Filomena Apriceno, No. 3841, July Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of Filomena Apriceno, convicted of inciting to riot, being unlawfully concerned in a riot in the Court of Quarter Sessons of Columbia County on December 31, 1937, be commuted from six months to 2 months, 15 days, expiring on August 15, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of inciting to riot and being unlawfully concerned in a riot, and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessons of Columbia County on the 31st day of December, 1937, to pay the costs of prosecution, a fine of one hundred dollars and imprisonment in the Columbia County Jail for a period of six months. The applicant started to serve her sentence on the 31st day of May 1938.

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles C. Evans, now retired, is opposed to the granting of the application. Likewise, the district attorney, the Honorable Harold G. Teel, expressed his definite opposition to the granting of a commutation.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was involved in a strike at the Lady Ester Lingerie Corporation, Berwick, in August of 1937, being one of the striking employees. She was undoubtedly in the picket line and was a member of the group surrounding the entrance to the mill upon the various days on which the strike was conducted. The applicant was arrested when she threw a stone at an automobile. This stone hit the fender or running board of the automobile and did absolutely no damage to person or property. She was arrested and held under ten thousand dollars bail. The case was bitterly contested in the Columbia County Courts and on appeal was taken to the Superior Court, who affirmed the judgment of the Columbia County Court.

The applicant is the mother of four children, ranging in age from eight to fourteen years. Both she and her husband are naturalized citizens of the United States and have been residents of Berwick for the past seventeen years. The applicant has enjoyed a splendid reputation in that community and neither she nor her husband has ever been involved in any crime. The prosecution of the Commonwealth arose out of the strike which engendered bitter feeling in the community. Aproximately one hundred and fifty (150) persons participated in the strike but the applicant appears to have been the only one to be punished.

There were three others arrested at the same time as the applicant, but their cases have not as yet been brought to trial in the Columbia County Court.

One physician claimed that the applicant is not in good health and needs medical care although this was disputed by another physician. It is claimed that the children are in great need of a mother's care. The youngest girl, eight years old, was operated upon for appendicitis several days after the monther's imprisonment and the child requires the attention of a mother. The father is not working and the family are now on the relief rolls of Columbia County. It was stated to the Board that the strike has been settled and the applicant will be given re-employment by the Lady Ester Garment Company upon her release.

It is no crime in Pennsylvania to strike or to picket. Her real offense appears to be throwing a stone which did no damage to person or property. Although she was indicted for inciting to riot of approximately one hundred and fifty (150) persons similarly engaged only four (4) were arrested. The fine and costs amounted to $305.00. On August 15, 1938, she will have served two months and a half and the Board believes she will be sufficiently punished. In view of her family conditions, requiring her presence in her home, any further incarceration after that date will merely impose undue hardship on her children without any compensatory benefit to society.

The Board, therefore, recommends that her sentence be commuted as of August 18, 1938.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Arthur Pane, B-3893, No. 102-A, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel, Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minmum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

In re application of Steve Tomski, B-3047, No. 103-A, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

796 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on November 28, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Steve Ferko, A-12232, No. 538, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Steve Ferko, convicted of murder of the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Termer of Allegheny County on May 27, 1920, and commuted to life imprisonment on April 26, 1922, be commuted to a minimum of sixteen years and six months, expiring on October 26, 1938, and a maximum of life.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder of the first degree in the Oyer and Termer Court of Allegheny County and was sentenced on the 27th day of May, 1920, to death by electrocution. His sentence was commuted to life imprisonment on the 26th day of April, 1922.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that "we would probably recommed him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record (3) very cooperative and trustworthy inmate, (4) has been in prison for over 19 years."

The applicant is now employed in the penitentiary library as a librarian. His employment record is excellent and his conduct record is excellent.

The trial judge, the Honorable John C. Haymaker, is now deceased. The Honorable A. B. Reid was non-commital and writes as follows:

"Your board has before it all the facts in connection with this case including applicant's record in the penitentiary. I have nothing further, therefore, to offer."

The assistant district attorney, Honorable Russell Adams, Esquire, states that this is a good case for clemency as there has been a complete rehabilitation.

The Reverend Clarence Edward McCartney, Minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, writes as follows: "I am convinced that he has undergone a radical change since his conviction, and that there are years of useful life before him should you see fit to extend clemency."

The Reverend William Fargo Bayle of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, writes: "I firmly believe that it would not be a mistake to give him a parole or pardon. I have no doubt that he would live as a law-abiding citizen."

Numerous letters are on file from citizens of Allegheny County testifying as to the man's complete rehabilitation and their utmost confidence that he will live a law-abiding life in the future.

The Board of Pardons investigation indicates that there is no question that the applicant killed Mrs. Brass in the perpetration of a felony, but his excellent record during the 19 years that he has been in the Western State Penitentiary would indicate that this man has employed every facility available to improve himself so that he may live a useful and beneficial life in the future. There is no question that the applicant is not a habitual criminal and the Warden of the Western State Penitentiary states that there is no danger that his man will ever be in trouble again. Employment has been assured for this applicant with the Superior Engraving Company of Pittsburgh, a well-known firm in Pittsburgh for many years, where his wages will be adequate and sufficient to support him.

He will live with his sister who is an invalid in a good section of the city and will be under the sponsorship of William S. Girdwood of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

The applicant will have served nearly twenty years in prison, having been originally incarcerated in November of 1918. He will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

In re application of Jasper Lykes, C-3387, No. 561, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Montgomery County for from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentary on the 21st day of April, 1926. He was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence on the 29th day of April, 1936. He was convicted of the crime of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and was sentenced to serve six months in the Montgomery County Jail on the 24th day of September, 1937. He was released from the County Prison on the 24th day of March, 1938 and returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary for violation of his parole.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant was steadily employed from the date of his release to the time of his arrest. He has served six months in the Montgomery County Prison and was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary and served approximately six months here. It is our thought that he has served sufficient time for the type of crime committed and is deserving of consideration.

The trial judge, the Honorable J. Ambler Williams, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The district attorney, Fred B. Smillie, states: "It is the opinion of this office that serving the balance of the term of the defendant was rather severe for the crime committed, and it will be entirely satisfactory to us to have commutation granted."

It is the opinion of the Board of Pardons that this applicant having served six months in the County Prison and six months in the Eastern State Penitentiary for drunken driving has been sufficiently punished for his violation of parole. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted. The applicant will have served ten years and seven months of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until March 24, 1948.

The applicant is assured of employment as a gardener and handyman at the home of Judge William F. Dannehower, Norristown. Mr. Kenneth Moore of Norristown will be his sponsor and he will reside with his wife in the same city.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Ligons, C-1982, No. 629, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the maximum sentence of Charles Ligons, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 15, 1923, be commuted from twenty years to a minimum of 10 years and 6 months, expiring on October 5, 1938, and a maximum of 20 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 15th day of February, 1923. He was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence in February, 1933, and was returned for a parole violation, namely, operating a lottery, on the 5th day of April, 1938.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "This man's record in the institution was satisfactory and his record while on parole was good. He conducted his own barber shop during the time on parole. This conviction while on parole resulted from finding a lottery ticket in his barber shop. The serving of a four month sentence in the Washington, D. C. jail, and his return to the Eastern State Penitentiary for about six months, in our opinion, is sufficient punishment for the type of crime committed.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt stated that he believed the applicant had served enough time for this offense.

The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted. The applicant is offered employment in a barber shop in Washington, D. C., and will reside with his wife in that city.

The applicant will have served ten years and six months of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1948.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Endrukat, B-6078, No. 939, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Frank Endrukat, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on January 11, 1911 be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 26 years 8 months, expiring on October 24, 1938, and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder, committed in April, 1907. On the 24th day of February, 1908, the applicant was declared insane and was committed to the Norristown State Hospital. Upon discharge from the hospital the applicant was then tried for the crime of murder on December 2, 1910, and was sentenced to be hanged by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on January 11, 1911. His sentence was commuted to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 24th day of February, 1912.

The trial judge, the Honorable W. W. Carr, is deceased and the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt states that there has been no lapse in the applicant's sanity for twenty-five years. He has served about twenty-seven years and has been employed in the Penitentiary where his work has always been satisfactory. "If in your good judgment you see fit to commute his sentence or pardon him I do not think there is any who would say he has not paid his debt to society." The assistant district attorney, Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man is about sixty years of age and has spent the greater portion of his active life behind prison walls. His mental condition has been thoroughly examined and he is found to be of sound mind. His health is good and he may have some years of useful life before him. Colonel F. D. Shaw of Philadelphia personnally appeared before the Board and agreed to act as the applicant's sponsor and to arrange for his employment.

The Board believes that the aims of justice have been served and that there is no good reason why this man should longer be kept in prison for a crime of passion which occurred thirty-one years ago.

The Board therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted and he will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Rose Getz, B-3419, No. 1564, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Rose Getz, convicted of arson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on September 23, 1932, be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 1 month, expiring on October 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of arson and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County for from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 23rd day of September, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that if this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would probably recommend her (1) first conviction (2) favorable report from Muncy concerning her record at that institution.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel L. Reed, is deceased, but a letter from the President Judge, Honorable Ambrose B. Reid, states that "without assenting to the parole or urging my opposition, I again say that I submit my opinion to that of your Board and shall be satisfied with any disposition you make of the case." The Honorable Thomas M. Marshall states under date of July 15, 1938, that it is recommended to the Board of Pardons that the application of Mrs. Getz be reconsidered and that her commutation be granted. The assistant district attorney, Honorable Russell Adams, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant together with four accomplices, was sentenced for the crime of arson for a varying number of years. Two of the accomplices are out on probation. There is no doubt that the applicant was properly convicted of the offense but she has satisfactorily conducted herself while in the Muncy home and has made every effort to rehabilitate herself. As stated, her conduct has been such as to qualify her for residence in the Honor Cottage at the Muncy home. She is the mother of three children, who now reside with friends in Etna, Pa.

The Board believes that she has rehabilitated herself and will not reenter the field of crime. We therefore recommend that her sentence be commuted. The applicant will have served 6 years and 1 month of her sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1952.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Randazzo, No. 1725, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Anthony Randazzo, convicted of rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on December 21, 1931, sentence to begin December 12, 1931, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of rape and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from six to fifteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 21st day of December, 1931. His sentence was commuted and he was released on parole on the 21st day of December, 1935.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that since this man has been on parole since December of 1935 the decision of the case should be based on the report of the Supervisor of Paroles.

The trial judge, the Honorable James Gay Gordon, Jr., did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was non-commital and relied on the Board, stating that any action of the Board would be satisfactory to him.

The Supervisor of Paroles reports that he has been under their supervision for about three years and his record is most satisfactory. The applicant has had irregular employment and desires to seek a position as a truck driver or chauffer. He is desirous of obtaining a full pardon so that he may obtain a bond, permitting him to accept a satisfactory job. The applicant is unmarried and lives with his father, a contractor in Brooklyn, New York.

The Board believes that this man has satisfactorily conducted himself and for his own personal advancement a pardon is necessary. The Board therefore recommends that a pardon be granted as it will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance in his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Abe Slain, B-2619, No. 1994, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Abe Slain, convicted of robbery, receiving stolen goods, aggravated assault and battery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on April 17, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 5 from a maximum of 12 years to a maximum of 7 years and 6 months, expiring on October 17, 1938; and on Bill No. 4 from a minimum of 4 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring October 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to a charge of highway robbery, not guilty to a charge of receiving stolen goods and nolle contendere to a charge of aggravated assault and battery. He was found guilty by a jury and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on the 17th day of April, 1931, to from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend him for parole, (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record, (3) he has served almost seven years of his minimum sentence.

The trial judge, the Honorable A. B. Reid, is opposed to the granting of the application. However, the assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, Esquire, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency to this applicant.

An investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was but eighteen years of age at the time of his incarceration and had never been confined in a penal institution. His previous arrest on the matter of uttering counterfeit money involved a brother and there was some question as to the guilt of the applicant. Likewise, on the series of crimes for which he is now serving a sentence, two of his three accomplices have been paroled. In none of the crimes did the applicant use offensive weapons.

The Jewish Social Service Bureau of Pittsburgh, Gertrude A. Glick, Executive Director, writes that the committee of this organization have carefully reviwed the facts and strongly urges a commutation of his sentence.

The applicant will live with his mother in Pittsburgh, and will be under the sponsorship of and given employment by one, Mr. Perry Caplan of Pittsburgh, who conducts a grocery business.

The applicant will have served seven years and six months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1946.

In re application of Edward Napierkowski, B-2605, No. 2254, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of Edward Napierkowsky convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on April 16, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 13 from a maximum of twenty years to a maximum of 7 years and 6 months, expiring on October 16, 1938; and on Bill No. 12 from a minimum of 2 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on October 17, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to two bills charging robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County to from twelve to sixty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 16th day of April, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would probably recommend him, notwithstanding his prior record, (1) excellent institutional record, (2) has learned a trade, (3) has promised employment, (4) has served almost 7½ years, (5) sentences of two accomplices have been commuted.

The trial judge, the Honorable George V. Moore, did not reply to our letter inquiring as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney, Honorable Russell Adams, stated that he was not opposed to this application, provided the mental state of the applicant is satisfactory.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this applicant, together with three accomplices, was involved in a series of robberies in Western Pennsylvania. Unquestionably the group were guilty of the offenses. The applicant had been involved in other crimes prior to his imprisonment. Since his incarceration he has made definite efforts at self-improvement. He is now employed in the printing department of the penitentiary. His mental state has been examined and the result as reported is that he has made splendid adjustment in the institution, although he appears to lack maturity of judgment.

The applicant is assured of a job as a printer, under the direction of Rev. F. J. Huber, Pittsburgh, and will reside with and be under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Buczkowski, Pittsburgh.

The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that the commutation of the sentence be granted. The applicant will have served seven years and six months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until October 17, 1978.

In re application of Alex Palm, B-3364, No. 2296, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Alex Palm, convicted of breaking and escaping penitentiary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Centre County on September 14, 1932, to begin at expiration of 4 years, 2 months and 3 days, backtime, be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year and 11 months, expiring on October 17, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of felonious entering and larceny and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Clearfield County for from 2½ to 5 years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 2nd day of November, 1931. The applicant escaped from the Rockview Farm Prison and was recaptured and sentenced on the 14th day of September, 1932, for breaking and escaping penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Centre County to from 2½ to 5 years to start at the expiration of the original maximum sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would probably recommend him for parole, first because he has served almost seven years, or two years over his original maximum sentence, (2) excellent institutional record.

The Board of Pardons did not receive any word from the Honorable A. R. Chase of Clearfield County. The trial judge, Honorable Ward M. Fleming, stated that if the officials of the institution felt that the applicant deserves consideration, he has no objection. The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant has, by his industry and efforts at rehabilitation merited consideration. He has served more than two years beyond the maximum term of the orginal sentence and the Board believes that he has paid the penalty of the law for his misdoings. The Board therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served one year and eleven months of the sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until November 17, 1941.

In re application of Jesse James Steele, B-4929, C-9595, No. 2467, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Jesse James Steele, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lycoming County on March 17, 1934 be commuted from 5 years to 4 years, 7 months, expiring on October 17, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced to from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary from the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Lycoming County on the 17th day of March, 1934.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has attempted to improve himself by taking correspondence courses. He likewise sends a large part of his savings home. His previous arrests are of a miscellaneous type, consisting largely of liquor violations. The Rockview authorities state they recommend his case.

The trial judge, the Honorable B. M. Metzger, is deceased, and Judge D. M. Larrabee writes as follows: "I have taken the matter up with the district attorney and I am informed that there is no intention on his part to openly oppose the granting of the prayer of the petition. I am informed that local officials are content to let this matter rest wholly in the hands of the Board."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that through over indulgence in liquor he held up the cashier of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for the purpose of acquiring funds to feed his starving family. It is unquestionably a fact that his family were in distress at the time of his arrest. The family consists of five children and they have been living through the help and assistance of the neighbors. The applicant has been assured of employment on the farm of Mr. C. S. Bosworth at Wyalusing, Pa., and will reside under the care and sponsorship of Mr. Bosworth.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted this applicant. He will have served four years and seven months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until March 17, 1944.

In re application of William Schwartz, A-14865, No. 2672, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of William Schwartz, convicted of larceny (12) in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on November 24, 1926, be commuted on Bill No. 89 from a minimum of 1 year to 1 day, expiring Nov. 19, 1938; on Bill No. 90 from minimum of 1 year to 1 day, expiring Nov. 20, 1938; on Bill No. 91 from a minimum of 1 year to 1 day, expiring Nov. 21, 1938; on Bill No. 92 from a minimum of 1 year to 1 day, expiring Nov. 22, 1938; on Bill No. 93 from minimum of 1 year to 1 day, expiring Nov. 23, 1938; and on Bill No. 98 from minimum of 1 year to 1 day, expiring Nov. 24, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Cohen, C-2942, No. 2724, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of Harry Cohen, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on May 29, 1925, be commuted on Bill No. 1 from a maximum of 18 years to a maximum of 13 years and 5 months, expiring on October 29, 1938; and on Bill No. 9 from a minimum of 9 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on October 30, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, on two bills and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 29th day of May, 1925, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 18 to 36 years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states: "This man has served over thirteen years and for the past ten years his conduct and work have been satisfactory." The trial judge, the Honorable John Monaghan, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney, the Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that if the authorities believe he has learned his lesson it is agreeable to him to have him released.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was arrested with two accomplices on the charge of robbery of two stores in Philadelphia. All of the accomplices have been released on parole. The applicant denies that he was implicated in only one of the robberies. The Board holds an affidavit from one, Jane P. Matlack, who was a witness to one of the robberies that she was unable to identify the applicant as being involved in that crime. If this statement is true then the applicant should have been sentenced only on one of the bills, involving a term of from 9 to 18 years. He therefore would have served more than his minimum sentence. The applicant is assured of employment by one, Albert Horwitz of Darby, Pa., and will reside with Mr. Horwitz, who conducts a general store.

The Board believes that the ends of justice have been met and he will not reenter the field of crime. The applicant will have served 13 years and 5 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1956.

Respectfully submitted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Ritorto, C-6409, No. 2728, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph Ritorto, convicted of larceny of an automobile in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 2, 1925; and convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 15, 1930, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County for the crime of larceny of an automobile and was sentenced to the Philadelphia County Prison for from four to eight years on the 2d day of July, 1925. He was released on parole by the Court on the 14th of September, 1926.

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 15th day of September, 1930, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 12 to 40 years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that applicant has a satisfactory institutional record, good attitude, evidence of habits of industry.

The trial judge, the Honorable James Gay Gordon, Jr., did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application, and the assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that the facts as related to the Board by the applicant's council, Mr. Adrian Bonnelly, puts new light on the entire situation.

It was stated to the Board that the applicant came to this country as a five year old child and under loose parental discipline, he was reared in the Italian section of South Philadelphia. All his relatives, both collateral and lineal, are now residents in the United States. The applicant is now thirty-one years of age and if returned to his native land he would be among strangers and out of employment.

The Board felt that in this particular instance an injustice would be done to the applicant and they believe that he should be pardoned on two of his three offenses, thereby permitting him to remain in the United States.

The Board therefore recommends that a pardon be granted to the applicant.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Emil Farese, D-161, No. 2865, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Emil Farese, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 18, 1934, be commuted from 5 years to a min. of 4 years, expiring on November 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 18th day of November, 1934, for from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The trial judge, the Honorable Horace Stern, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracy, Jr., stated that he was opposed to clemency at this time.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this man accompanied a woman from Newark to Philadelphia and on the outskirts of Philadelphia this woman was found badly beaten. The applicant claims that they were attacked by robbers and the woman was abused by these robbers and robbed. The police report a contrary story. The applicant maintains his innocence and his wife appeared before the Board and stated that he had always been a good husband and she believes that he was innocent of the crime.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has no known previous record and judging from his behavior in the institution, and his attitude towards his family, it is felt that he has an honest desire to assume his responsibility in society and establish a home.

The Board of Pardons believes that this man has been rehabilitated and that he will not reenter the field of crime. He has been assured of a position as a janitor in a building owned by Mary Lynch in Newark, New Jersey, and will reside in New Jersey. He will have served 4 years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1944.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edna Mumbulo, B-2205, No. 3065, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edna Mumbulo, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Erie County on July 31, 1930, be commuted from ten years to 8 years and 3 months, expiring on October 31, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Erie County for from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 31st day of July, 1930.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Peniteniary state: "We would probably recommend her for parole (1) first conviction (2) favorable report from the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy, Pa. The Supt. at Muncy, Miss Franklin R. Wilson, states: "Edna has definitely improved in her attitude and outlook during the time she has been in Muncy. She is cooperative and is an efficient, willing worker. We feel that Edna is ready and capable of earning her living if granted a commutation at this time."

The prosecuting district attorney, Otto Herbst, Esquire, recommends clemency.

The Board of Pardons carefully considered this application involving the death of a child. The facts are of such a nature that it is a question whether the flaming gasoline was accidentally or deliberately thrown on this child. From the reports received from Muncy, it would appear that she made serious attempt to rehabilitate herself and to acquire a trade. She is employed as a cutter in the sewing department and has developed into a good cook and housekeeper. She will reside with her sister at Niagara Falls, New York, where she proposes to support herself by dressmaking.

The Board believes that she has paid the penalty for her crime and she will no longer violate the law. She will have served 8 years and 3 months of her minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until July 31, 1950.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John King, B-3862, No. 3150, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John King, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on October 26, 1933, be commuted from 7 years to 5 years expiring on October 26, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced on the 26th day of October, 1933, by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County for from seven to fifteen years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record (3) very cooperative inmate.

The trial judge the Honorable Elder W. Marshall, states: "I am of the opinion that King can now be safely released upon parole and that there is little reason to believe he will ever be in trouble again." The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, says that he is not opposed to the granting of the application. The Superintendent of Rockview Farm Prison states that the applicant has had an excellent record and has held responsible and trusted positions while in the institution.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that there is some question as to whether or not the applicant did not shoot in self-defense. However, every indication points to the fact that the prisoner has rehabilitated himself in every way. He has attempted to educate himself by taking courses both at the institution and by correspondence. He is assured of employment by the Pittsburgh Coke and Iron Company, Neville Island, Pittsburgh, and will reside with friends in Pittsburgh.

The Board believes that he has paid the penalty for his crime and that he will not reenter the field of criminal activities again. It therefore recommends that a commutation be granted.

The applicant will have served five years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until October 26, 1948.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Herman Krause, D-1255, No. 3448, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum of Bill No. 375 and minimum of Bill No. 375A of the sentences of Herman Krause, convicted of breaking and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on April 17, 1936, be commuted on Bill No. 375 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 2 years and 6 months, expiring on October 17, 1938; and on Bill No. 375 A from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on Oct. 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to larceny and breaking and entering and was sentenced for from ten to twenty years by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Luzerne County to the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 17th day of April, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he has attended school for 14 months and received his diploma for correspondence course in bricklaying. Judging solely on the basis of this boy's institutional performance we feel that with proper guidance when released he will probably readjust successfully.

The trial judge, the Honorable John S. Fine, did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, John H. Dando, stated that at the prior hearing on this application he expressed his approval but now is awaiting a report from the Kingston, Pennsylvania, Police Department.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was about 17 years of age when he committed these crimes for which he is now incarcerated.

The applicant protests his innocence and alleges that he signed a confession only upon pressure from the police. Unquestionably this young man is in need of proper guidance and employment. It is felt that a well thought out parole program would be the best method to rehabilitate this young man, rather than being confined among criminals. His uncle, has assured the Board that he will be employed in his company, namely the Superior Building and Cleaning Corporation, Rochester, New York. He will be placed under the sponsorship of his uncle and reside with him in Rochester, New York.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted. The applicant will have served two years and six months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until October 18, 1948.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Michael Warren, B-5169, No. 3451,

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Michael Warren, convicted of fraudulently making a written instrument, uttering and publishing same in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 9, 1936, be commuted from 3 years to 2 years, 3 months, expiring on October 9, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to fraudulently making a written instrument and uttering and publishing same, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County for from three to seven years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, on the 9th day of July, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that since this man has no previous record and has a good institutional record, final decision will probably be influenced by the attitude of the convicting authorities.

The trial judge, the Honorable Robert E. Lamberton, stated that in his opinion clemency should not be granted. The assistant district attorney, the Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was opposed but would leave the matter to the discretion of the Board.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant together with his wife and one, Samuel Perlman, were involved in the fraudulent bail bond racket in Philadelphia County. They were unquestionably guilty, although the sentences meted out varied considerably. The applicant alleges that he became innocently involved in these offenses and that upon the arrest he gave every possible aid to the Commonwealth to enable the State to properly dispose of the cases before them.

The applicant had an excellent war record with the 28th Division and received a Silver Star for gallantry. The Board of Pardons believes that this man has been sufficiently punished for this crime, and that his splendid attitude in the penitentiary indicates that he has made every effort to rehabilitate himself. He will be assured of employment with the Standard Card and Paper Company of Philadelphia, and will reside with his wife and two daughters in Philadelphia.

The applicant has served two years and three months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until July 9, 1943.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John E. Humphrey, D-2467, No. 3698, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John E. Humphrey, convicted of breaking and larceny, larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on September 20, 1937, be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year and 1 month, expiring on October 20, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of breaking and entering and larceny and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Luzerne County for from 18 months to 3 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 20th day of September, 1937.

The applicant has no known previous criminal record and his conduct in the institution has been satisfactory. The trial judge, the Honorable W. A. Valentine, stated that the defendant should not be released until the expiration of his minimum term. The assistant district attorney, John H. Dando, stated that he was not opposed to the application but was rather in favor of it.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant, together with several accomplices, after indulging in liquor, broke into gas stations, filled their tanks with the necessary oil and gas. The applicant and accomplices were unquestionably guilty of the crime. However, this applicant has attempted to improve himself by attending school at the institution. It is believed that he will not violate the law in the future. He does not possess any criminal tendencies and his offenses have been largely caused by his over-indulgence in alcoholic beverages. The applicant is the sole support of his father and mother and sister. He has been assured of employment by the Susquehanna Colleries Company at Glen Lyon, Pennsylvania, and he will reside with his parents. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted this applicant.

He will have served one year and one month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until September 20, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Cesare Della Valle, No. 3707, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the death sentence of Cesare Della Valle, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on February 26, 1938 be commuted from death to imprisonment for life.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 26th day of February, 1938, to death by electrocution.

The applicant had been living in the home of Mrs. Felicia Massari, for some time and when he enrolled in the Civilian Conservation Corps there was allotted to her twenty-five dollars a month out of his salary. When, finally upon returning from the camp, he was told that he was no longer wanted at the Massari home, he became very much upset and for several days preceding the shooting he did considerable drinking. On July 18, 1937, he went to the Massari home and shot and killed one of the daughters of Mrs. Massari, Augustine. The applicant, at the trial, offered testimony that the deceased advanced towards him with a pair of scissors. This, however, was not corroborated. It was shown, however, that the applicant was under the influence of liquor at the time of this murder. The facts of the case were of such a character that the defense attorney, Mr. Thomas J. Minnick, Jr., Esquire, in talking over the facts of the case with the assistant district attorney of Philadelphia County, the Honorable Harry Felix, before the applicant took his plea, Mr. Felix stated to him that the Commonwealth would not ask for the death sentence. It likewise transpired that when the court heard the evidence in order to fix the degree of guilt Mr. Felix did not press for the death penalty and faithfully carried out his expression of opinion to Mr. Minnick that he (Felix) felt that it was not a case which would warrant the death penalty.

The Quarter Sessions Court No. 2, which heard the evidence to fix the degree and penalty en banc, believe that the penalty fixed by them was in accordance with the facts, and, likewise, the assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that the facts warranted the death penalty.

The dismissal from a home where Della Valle had lived for years combined with his monthly contribution for the support and maintenance of the home, must certainly have unbalanced him. Then too, his drinking in an attempt to forget the alleged injustice he suffered, conspired to upset his reason and to perpetrate this terrible crime. These facts must certainly have persuaded the assistant district attorney to forego the request that the penalty for the crime be death.

The Board of Pardons is of the opinion that where the Commonwealth does not honestly believe that the facts warrant the extreme penalty of the law, mercy can well be extended. The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that the sentence of death be commuted to life imprisonmnt.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Archibald J. Cook, B-5652, No. 3721, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of Harry Archibald J. Cook, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Somerset County on July 21, 1937, be commuted on Bill No. 11 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 1 year and 3 months, expiring on October 21, 1938; on Bill No. 12 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on October 22, 1938; on Bill No. 14 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on October 23, 1938; on Bill No. 15 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 1 day expiring on October 24, 1938; and on Bill No. 15 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on October 25, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of breaking and entering and larceny in the Oyer and Terminer Court of Somerset County and was sentenced on five indictments to a total of from twenty-five to fifty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 21st day of July, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that because of the length of the sentence they believe this application to be premature.

The trial judge, the Honorable Norman T. Boose, states that if the applicant had not misrepresented his age when called for sentence upon his plea of guilty, these sentences would not have been imposed. Instead, he would probably have been committed to the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon. "The applicant had participated in a number of crimes but it is my belief that he was not the master mind in planning these crimes, but was the victim of criminal companions, and probably under their complete domination. I would respectfully recommend that his application for clemency receive favorable consideration."

The prosecuting district attorney, Honorable Archibald M. Matthews, states that in view of the fact that this man was the least guilty of the group, I do not see any serious objections to his receiving clemency.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was about seventeen and a half years of age when he, together with his older brother, age 27, committed a series of offenses in Western Pennsylvania. The applicant plead guilty to the crimes and misrepresented his age to the judge at the time of the sentence. It was further revealed that the applicant was very much under the domination of his older brother and there was evidence to show that the older brother abused the applicant on many accasions. If the applicant had revealed his age undoubtedly he would have been committed to the Pennsylvania Industrial School.

The Board believes that a youth of this age should not be confined in a penal institution but should rather be under the care and directions of capable sponsors and constructive employment. The Board has carefully investigated his sponsorship and he will be looked after by Mrs. John Benson of Pittsburgh. Employment will be assured him by the Sable Motor Company, Pittsburgh, at sixty dollars per month. The Board therefore recommends the granting of clemency.

The applicant will have served one year and three months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until October 25, 1948.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Young, D-1602, No. 3747, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Young, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 24, 1936, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of voluntary manslaughter was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from five to twelve years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 24th day of September, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant's record in the Institution is satisfactory. He has a good attitude and associates with few men of the religious type. He is employed as a block tailor and is considered a willing worker.

The trial judge, the Honorable Otto R. Heiligman, stated that the sentence was justified and lenient in view of the seriousness of the offense. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., made, upon the request of the Board of Pardons, a very careful investigation of this crime and he submitted his written report thereof under date of July 13, 1938. Mr. Tracey carefully reviewed all the evidence and he came to a conclusion in the following words: "Under the circumstances of the case, and after a very careful consideration of all the factors, we believe that the Board of Pardons would be justified in commuting the sentence of this petitioner." Mr. Tracey further stated verbally before the Board that if the case had gone to a jury it might well be considered that his act was one of self-defense and the applicant would have been acquitted.

The Board of Pardons believes that if this man is innocent of the crime of murder and the facts as investigated by the Commonwealth indicate self-defense, he should be pardoned and the Board therefore recommends that a pardon be granted to the applicant.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Max Zuckerman, No. 3760, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Max Zuckerman, convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on May 1, 1925, and June 2, 1925, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of receiving stolen goods and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to the Holmesburg County Prison of Philadelphia County for from 7 to 14 years on the first day of May, 1925. On June 2, 1925, he was sentenced for the charge of receiving stolen goods for an additional one to two years in the Philadelphia County Prison. The applicant was paroled on June 1, 1928.

The trial judge, the Honorable Howard A. Davis, states that he has no recommendation to make personally but believes that this is a matter entirely for discussion by the Board of Pardons and that any disposition of the case will be satisfactory to him. The assistant district attorney stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

The three accomplices of the applicant have been released on probation. Since the applicant's release, he has been connected with an insurance brokerage office and has acted in his capacity as agent for several widely known insurance companies. The applicant owns his own home located on S. 4th Street, Philadelphia, and is married. It is necessary that in order to conduct his business he receive a pardon.

The applicant has conducted himself splendidly since his release and has kept completely clear of any criminal acts. The Board believes that he is deserving of a prdon so that he may advance himself in business. The Board therefore recommends that a pardon be granted, which will in part remove the stigma of the crime from his family and will be of material assistance in his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of Thomas J. Kehoe, C-9298, No. 3811, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Thomas J. Kehoe, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Clinton County on November 3, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 29 from 1 year to 11 months, expiring on October 3, 1938; on Bill No. 30 from 1 year to 1 day, expiring on October 4, 1938; on Bill No. 31 from 1 year to 1 day, expiring on October 5, 1938; on Bill No. 32, from 1 year to 1 day, expiring on October 6, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of breaking and entering and larceny. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Clinton County to from six to twelve years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 3rd day of November, 1933.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he was transferred to the Eastern State Penitentiary because of his youth. On his one previous arrest for robbery he was discharged thereon. His conduct and work records are satisfactory. If permanent employment and sponsorship are provided, his chances for adjustment will probably be good.

The associate judges of Clinton County stated that they are not opposed to the granting of this application for clemency and they feel that if he were given the proper guidance he may develop into a useful citizen. The district attorney, Honorable B. L. Haag, states: "In my opinion the Board would be justified in granting clemency to this applicant.

The Board of Pardons has investigated this application and learn that the applicant was but twenty years of age when he was arrested for the series of crimes for which he is now serving a prison sentence. He assisted the arresting officers in the apprehension of his accomplices and the discovery of the stolen property. The applicant is without criminal tendencies and has been denied the proper guidance and encouragement which a young man should receive. The applicant is assured of employment by one, Peter J. Leone, Coal and Ice Distributor, Philadelphia. He will reside with Mr. Leone and our investigation indicates that his sponsor is a very high type citizen. The Board therefore recommends that the applicant's sentence be commuted.

He will have served four years and eleven months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until October 8, 1946.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Pollock, D-2302, No. 3832, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Pollock, convicted of receiving stolen goods, larceny, accessory before the fact to breaking and entering in the Court of Oyer and Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on May 28, 1937, from 2½ years to 1 year and 5 months, expiring on October 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of receiving stolen goods, larceny, accessory before the fact to breaking and entering. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Lackawanna County for from 2½ to 5 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 28th day of May, 1937. The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "He is employed in the butcher shop and is considered a good worker. He has a satisfactory institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable T. L. Hoban, states: "I think the action of the Board of Pardons should be guided by the Trustees attitude of this man's present apparent ability to adjust himself. The assistant district attorney, H. R. Edwards, stated that in his opinion a year and a half is sufficient time to serve as a penalty for this crime.

The Board of Pardons investigated this application and undoubtedly the applicant is guilty of the crimes charged. He has dependent upon him a wife and two small children. The children are now in the Jewish Home of the Friendless at Scranton and the wife receives a small amount from the Department of Assistance. The applicant's venture into crime was probably caused by adverse economic conditions and there is every reason to believe that with a satisfactory parole system he will not again violate the law. He is assured of employment by the Jackson Street Cash Store, Scranton, Pa., as a butcher, which is his trade, and he will reestablish a home.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted. The applicant will have served one year and 5 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1942.

In re application of Robert Murray, D-1156, No. 3835, September Sessions, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert Murray, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 13, 1936, be commuted from 2½ years to 2 years, 5 months and 15 days, expiring on September 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 2½ to 5 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 13th day of April, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this applicant has taken several correspondence courses and has a satisfactory institutional record. The expiration of his minimum sentence occurs on the 13th day of October, 1938, and the Board of Trustees of the institution have recommended him for release on that date.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states that he should serve his minimum sentence. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not entitled to a pardon.

The Board of Pardons recommends that his sentence be commuted for the reason that the family of the applicant has been broken up over the arrest and imprisonment of this young man and the father of the applicant is in a serious physical condition, caused by worry over his son. There is some question as to whether or not the applicant was a member of the group who were guilty of these robberies. The applicant maintains his innocence, although the police authorities are strongly of the opinion that he was guilty. It is probable that his prior record influenced the authorities in believing him guilty of this particular offense.

The applicant will have served two years, five months and fifteen days of his minimum sentence, and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1941.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas Perlman, D-2810, No. 3836,

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undesigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Thomas Perlman, convicted of receiving stolen goods, larceny, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Wyoming County on January 19, 1938, be commuted from 1 year to 9 months, expiring on October 19, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of receiving stolen goods and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Wyoming County for from one to two years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 19th day of January, 1938.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The absence of serious previous criminal record and the fact that this man has a good institutional record, leads us to believe he would probably readjust in society."

The trial judge, the Honorable Edward B. Farr, states that he believed the sentence was too lenient. The district attorney did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that of his three accomplices, only one is now serving a sentence. The applicant was undoubtedly guilty but it is believed that, from the numerous letters received from persons acquainted with the applicant, he will conduct himself in a law-abiding manner in the future.

The Board believes that he has been sufficiently punished and will not re-enter the field of crime. The applicant is married and is the father of seven children. They are in need of his support and guidance. He has been assured of employment by Karnofsky Brothers, Commercial agents, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and he will reside in Wilkes-Barre with his wife and children.

The applicant will have served nine months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until January 19, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ralph Corry, C-9404, No. 3839, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of Ralph Corry, convicted of breaking and entering with intent to steal, larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 9, 1932, be commuted on Bill No. 16 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 6 years, expiring on November 9, 1938; and on Bill No. 17 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on November 10, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of breaking and entering with intent to steal and larceny. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County for from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 9th day of November, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that his efforts at self-improvement and good institutional record are cited in this man's favor.

The trial judge, the Honorable Howard A. Davis, stated that he was opposed to any clemency at this time. The assistant district attorney, Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., stated before the Board that he was not opposed to clemency if the authorities reported that he has rehabilitated himself.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man has conducted himself very well in the institution and that he has enrolled for classess in show card and sign lettering. The applicant is assured of employment with Mr. George Slater of Philadelphia and he will reside with his mother in Philadelphia.

The Board believes that the applicant has paid the penalty for this crime and will conduct himself in a law-abiding manner in the future. The Board therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served six years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1948.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of David B. Bevier, No. 3840, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that David B. Bevier, convicted of embezzlement and conspiracy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on April 5, 1934, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crimes of embezzlement and conspiracy and was sentenced to one year on probation by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on the 5th day of April, 1934.

The applicant had no previous record of crime and because of his reputation the court placed him on probation.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel Gardner, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that although this man did embezzle funds belonging to his employer, it was the practice of the collectors of a long standing period of time with that company to use company money in the payment of their traveling expenses. In this particular instance the applicant so used funds upon a trip to Philadelphia in behalf of his company. His employer requested accounting upon his return from the trip because of his inability to do so was arrested and found guilty. It is alleged that his arrest arose from a personal dislike existing between the applicant and his employer.

Since the release on probation, he has been employed in the Pittsburgh district as a salesman and he is living with his brother in Pittsburgh, Pa. The Board believes that because of his excellent behavior that a pardon can well be granted in this case to the applicant, who needs this assistance in his business advancement.

The Board therefore recommends that a pardon be granted to the applicant.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter Carl Przybysz, No. 3044, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Walter Carl Przybysz, convicted of larceny, entering a building, robbery and burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on April 6, 1937, be paroned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, burglary, larceny and entering. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County to three years on probation on the 6th day of April, 1937.

The trial judge, the Honorable James H. Gray, states that if the facts in the application are true he is in favor of the pardon clearing the man's record. The report of the parole investigator indicates that this man was involved in a series of robberies in Western Pennsylvania, but since his arrest and release on probation, he has lived a good and upright life. The applicant is anxious to join the United States Navy and it is necessary that he be pardoned in order to qualify for enlistment.

The Board of Pardons believes that this young man is entitled to a chance to advance himself and that if he carries out his intention to enlist in the United States Navy the Board is anxious to assist him and recommends that a pardon be granted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re applcation of Joseph Mogilewsky, B-6145, No. 3845, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Mogilewsky, convicted of malicious mischief to railroad cars in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on October 16, 1937, be commuted from 2 years to 1 year, expiring on October 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of malicious mischief and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Lackawanna County to from two to four years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 16th day of October, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states that he is employed in the prison farm at Graterford and is considered a good worker. His institutional record is satisfactory and his attempts at self-improvement are cited in his favor.

The trial judge, the Honorable T. L. Hoban, states that the court was under the impression that the applicant was the moving spirit of the enterprise. He apparently has a model prison record and if in the opinion of the prison psychiatrist a general reformation of character has occurred he would have no objection to a commutation. The assistant district attorney, H. R. Edwards, stated that in his opinion the sentence was a bit severe and he felt that one year was enough time to serve. The applicant was unquestionably guilty of his offenses but as his record would indicate that his arrests were largely for terspassing, it might well be that his year spent in the penitentiary has shown him the error in a criminal life.

The applicant is assured of employment at the Broadwood Hotel, Philadelphia, and will be under the sponsorship of Mr. William Clark Oisteicher, Director of the Broadwood Athletic Club. This Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted this applicant.

He will have served one year of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until October 16, 1941.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Rose Marie Dingman, No. 3846, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Rose Marie Dingman, convicted of robbery in the Court of Quarter Session of Lancaster County, on April 16, 1929, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Lancaster County for from 8 to 16 years in the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy on the 16th day of April, 1929.

The applicant was released on parole at the expiration of her minimum sentence on the 2nd day of March, 1937.

The Superintendent of the State Industrial Home for Women, Miss Franklin R. Wilson, states: "She is a good capable worker and I believe will be able to provide for herself and be an honest and respectable citizen."

The trial judge, the Honorable Landis, is deceased. The Honorable Benjamin C. Atlee, was non-committal as to the merits of the application. The district attorney, the Honorable Charles W. Eaby, was opposed to the granting of her application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was unquestionably guilty of the crimes for which she was convicted and sentenced. However, during her term of imprisonment she made evident efforts at rehabilitation. She took a course in nursing and since her release she has been employed in a family in Sunbury, Pennsylvania, as a practical nurse and housekeeper. She has proved herself to be most capable and her employers speak in the highest terms of her conduct and behavior. It is her intention to pursue her course in nursing and in order to be successful in her chosen profession it is necessary that her criminal record be forgiven by the State. Likewise, it is her intention to assume her own name and to acknowledge her own daughter. The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant is genuinely sincere and will not enter the field of crime. She is most anxious to advance herself and the Board believes that the clemency of the State will materially assist her.

The Board therefore recommends that a pardon be granted, which will in part remove the stigma of the crime and will be of material assistance to her advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Joseph Poland, No. 3847, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Joseph Poland, convicted of robbery and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on March 4, 1927, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County for from two to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 4th day of March, 1927. He was released at the expiration of his minimum sentence on the 4th day of March, 1929.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that since his release on parole in March 1929 he has satisfactorily complied with the parole regulations.

The trial judge, the Honorable James H. Gray, stated that he has had a sufficient test and that if he has lived up to his obligation to the present time he would probably continue to be a law-abiding citizen. The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, stated that he was not opposed to the grantng of the application.

The applicant, since his release, has worked steadily up until July of 1937, for the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation. He was compelled to quit at that time because of an injury to his leg. Since his recovery he has attempted to acquire a satisfactory position but has not been successful because of his parole supervision. He has conducted himself in an excellent manner and our investigator reports that during the period of eight years on parole he has not been involved in any misconduct and his reputation is good.

The applicant is married and resides in Pittsburgh, and the Board recommends that a pardon be granted, believing that it will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of Ralph Vescera, No. 3849, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Ralph Vescera, convicted of burglary and robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of McKean County, on February 26, 1923, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows.

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and robbery and was sentenced by the Quarter Sesions Court of McKean County on two bills of from four to seven years and for from five to seven years to run concurrently in the Western State Penitentiary on the 26th day of February, 1923. The applicant was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence on the 26th day of February, 1928.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that he was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence and has successfully completed his parole, being granted a final discharge at the expiration of his maximum term in February, 1930.

The trial judge, Honorable Joseph Bouton, or the district attorney did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of this application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this man has conducted himself above reproach during the period of his parole and he has for the last several years conducted his own business in Utica, New York, as a manufacturer of brooms. He resides in Utica, New York, with his wife and three children and bears a very excellent reputation among his business associates.

The applicant was only about 16 years of age when he committed the crimes for which he paid the full penalty of the law. The Board believes that his splendid conduct and his evident rehabilitation merits the clemency of the Commonwealth. The Board therefore recommends that a pardon be granted to the applicant.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Kultoniak, D-1709, No. 3851, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Anthony Kultoniak, convicted of statutory rape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Chester County on November 9, 1936, be commuted from 2½ years to 2 years, expiring on November 9, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of statutory rape and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Chester County for from 2½ to 5 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 9th day of November, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this applicant is employed as a blacksmith and is considered a willing worker, although he has had three previous arrests of a minor nature involving liquor. If this man should continue the same type of habits of industry after his release and would abstain from liquor, he would probably have a good possibility of readjustment.

The trial judge, the Honorable W. Butler Windle, states: "I, therefore, have nothing helpful to advance to the Board at this time, knowing that the Board will investigate the situation and take appropriate action." The district attorney, the Honorable Raymond B. Reid, did not reply to our letter of inquiry in regard to the merits of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons would indicate that this applicant was accused of assault upon two minor females. Although stoutly maintaining his innocence, it is alleged that he signed a confession admitting familiarity with these young girls. The applicant was about 57 years of age at the time of his sentence and it was evident that he was the butt of many youthful pranks played by the children of his neighforhood. It is the belief of the Board that this man has been sufficiently punished for this crime and he will not again violate the law.

The applicant will have served two years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until November 9, 1947.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Clarence Thoman, D-208, No. 3853, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of John Clarence Thoman, convicted of Intimi-

ition by printed communication in the Court of Quarter essions of Columbia County on June 20, 1932, be com-uted on Bill No. 39 to 4 months, Bill No. 40 to 1 day, piring on October 21, 1938; Bill No. 41 to 1 day, expir-g on October 22, 1938; and Bill No. 42 to 1 day, expir-g on October 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as llows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of intimidation printed communication and was sentenced by the Court Quarter Sessions of Columbia County to imprisonment the Columbia County Jail for eighteen years on the th day of June, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary ate that this applicant was transferred to the Eastern ate Penitentiary in December 1934, from the Columbia unty Jail, although still under the jurisdiction of the lumbia County Court. During the period of his in-rceration in the penitentiary he has taken advantage every opportunity to improve himself. He is a teacher the show card printing classes and has performed a ry conscientious job as a teacher. He has no previous iminal record and judging on the basis of habits and titudes in the institution, we feel that his release would obably not jeopardize society.

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles C. Evans, did t reply to our letter of inquiry. The district attorney, e Honorable Harold G. Teel, states: "I have no recom-endation to make in this matter, inasmuch as I feel is is a matter for the Board of Pardons in its discretion."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that is applicant sent five or more letters to Mr. Harry agee of Bloomsburg, demanding a large sum of money. e was prompted to this desperate act because of his treme financial position, whereby he was about to lose s home and all his accumulations of the years. He was erworked and had reached a point of nervous exhaut-n because of worry from his financial condition.

The Board believes that this applicant, with no prior iminal record, will not enter the field of crime. Under e strain of worry he succumbed to temptation and it the opinion of the Board that this man has paid the nalty for his offense. His wife owns a small home and veral acres of land at Beaver Springs, Pa., and it is his ention to reside on this place and to enter some busi-ss as soon as it is possible.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation granted this applicant.

He will have served six years and four months of his ntence.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Elmer Curtis Mains, B-5816, No. 60, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due blic notice, in open session, the undersigned members the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum ntence of Elmer Curtis Mains, convicted of voluntary anslaughter in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Law-nce County on October 16, 1937, effective June 30, 1937. commuted from 3 years to 1 year and 4 months, ex-ring on October 30, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as llows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lawrence County for from three to six years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 16th day of October, 1937. The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We will probably recommend him for parole, (1) first conviction for a felony, (2) excellent institutional record, (3) reliable inmate.

The trial judge, the Honorable H. Walter Braham, states: "I do not consider the defendant a menacing character and believe he could adapt himself to life without resorting to further criminal conduct." The district attorney, the Honorable John G. Lamoree, stated: "We are of the opinion that the defendant ought to serve the minimum of his sentence."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant met the deceased and in an altercation over an alleged debt of twenty-two dollars the applicant was struck with a bag of groceries, and in turn the applicant hit the deceased with his fist knocking him down. The deceased evidently suffered a brain concussion and died several days later. It appears to the Board that this was a street altercation in which the deceased took the offensive and the blow struck by the applicant indirectly caused the death.

The Board believes that this applicant is not of a criminal type and that the killing was purely accidental and it therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served one year and four months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 30, 1943.

In re application of Charles Daniel Westbrook, D-2387, No. 3861, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Daniel Westbrook, convicted of larceny and burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Bradford County on August 23, 1937, be commuted from five years to one year and two months, expiring on October 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Bradford County to from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, on the 23rd day of August, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this applicant has no previous criminal record and his institutional record is satisfactory, with exceptional efforts at self-improvement. Judging on the basis of his activities while in the institution it is felt that he will probably readjust when released into society.

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles M. Culver, expressed opposition to the granting of this application. The district attorney, Honorable Edwin P. Young, stated that he had no objection to the sentence of Charles Westbrook being commuted.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant, together with his father, were fishing, and during a downpour of rain they broke into four summer cottages. They removed blankets to cover them, and as the blankets became wet they exchanged them for dry blankets. The number of blankets they stole were only two, as they left the wet blankets in the cottages. The sentence of the father was commuted by the Board at the last session and the Board recommends that the sentence of this applicant, the son, be likewise commuted.

The Board believes that this applicant will not reenter the field of crime. The applicant will have served one year and two months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1947.

In re application of Frank J. Gammache, Jr., No. 3865, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Frank J. Gammache, Jr., convicted of violating the liquor laws in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County, on May 17, 1932, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of violating the liquor laws and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Lancaster County to pay a fine of five thousand dollars and imprisonment in the Lancaster County Prison for 2½ years. The applicant was released on parole on the 12th day of May ,1933.

The trial judge, the Honorable Benjamin C. Atlee, states: "I have no objection to the granting of a pardon." The district attorney, the Honorable Charles W. Eaby, states: "I see no reason why a pardon should not be granted. He is no longer a resident of the State and feels that the lack of a pardon somewhat handicaps him in his business."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this man became involved by the ownership of a building in which possesison and manufacture of illicit liquor was conducted on the premises. The applicant alleged that he was ignorant of the fact that his building was being used for illegal purposes. The applicant's conduct since his release on parole has been excellent and he is now employed by the Ajax Coal Company of West Virginia, of which concern he is the Treasurer and General Manager. Numerous letters from individuals and banking institutions attest to his good character and from every indication he has proved to be dependable, honest and of good reputation.

The applicant resides in the State of Maryland with his wife and young son. The Board believes that this applicant is worthy of the clemency of the Commonwealth and recommends that a pardon be granted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Mike De Martini, B-5398, No. 3873, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Mike De Martini, convicted of arson with intent to defraud insurer in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Indiana County on September 21, 1936, effective Feburary 15, 1937, be commuted from 3 years to 1 year, 8 months, expiring on October 15, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of arson, burning a building, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Indiana County to from 3 to 6 years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 21st day of September, 1936, effective February 15, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction, (2) very good institutional record. The trial judge, the Honorable E. E. Creps, nor the district attorney, replied to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that although the applicant maintains his innocence the strong circumstantial evidence persuaded the jurors of his guilt. During his incarceration the applicant has made serious attempts to improve himself. His crime was one motivated by economic circumstances and it is unlikely that he will again commit a crime. The applicant and his family have borne an excellent reputation in the neighborhood. The applicant will open a shoe repair shop and will reside with his wife and family in Johnstown, Pa.

The applicant will have completed one year and eight months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until February 15, 1943.

'o His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due ublic notice, in open session, the undersigned members f the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum entences on Bills No. 1168, 1164, 1275,1144, 1146, and 1160, nd minimum sentence on Bill No.552 of William Joseph upkosky, convicted of assault, being armed with an ofensive weapon with intent to rob and robbery, being rmed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter essions of Philadelphia County on December 23, 1929, e commuted on Bill No. 1168 to a maximum of 8 years, 0 months, expiring on October 23, 1938; on Bill No. 1164 o a maximum of 1 day, expiring on October 24, 1938, on Bill No. 1275 to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on October 5, 1938; on Bill No. 1144 to a maximum of 1 day, expiring n October 26, 1938; on Bill No. 1146 to a maximum of 1 ay, expiring on October 27, 1938; on Bill No. 1160 to a naximum of 1 day, expiring on October 28, 1938; and on Bill No. 552 from a minimum of ten years to a minimum f 1 day, expiring on October 29, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as ollows:

The applicant plead not guilty to three bills and guilty to our bills of the crime of robbery, being armed with an ffensive weapon and assault with intent to rob and being rmed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer nd Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia ounty. He was sentenced for from seventy to one hunred and forty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary n the 23rd day of December, 1929.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary tate: "The applicant, according to the observation of he prison officials, has made a complete change in his ttitude and mode of behavior. When he was first received at the institution he was an unruly youth, but for the past seven years his behavior has been above reproach. He has learned to type and at the present time is employed as a clerk in the Welfare office. He has worked there for over six years and is considered a conscientious worker. A long period of constructive behavior leads us to believe that there is a good possibility of this man adjusting successfully if released. The fact that he has an exceptional sponsor would undoubtedly influence his future conduct.

The trial judge, the Honorable Howard A Davis, states: "If, in the opinion of the Board, this defendant has sufficiently paid the penalty for his violations of the law, the question of pardon or commutation rests entirely with the Board. As I have said, I have had very good reports as to the defendant's reformation." The assistant district attorney, the Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., was opposed to the application.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this applicant has rehabilitated himself. He entered the institution practically an illiterate and today he operates a typewriter and acts as a clerk in the prison welfare office. During the prison riots of a few years ago he was a decided assistance to the authorities. This young man is a splendid example of prison rehabilitation. He entered the institution illiterate, with a record of desperate deeds and today he is well behaved and educated.

The applicant will be under the sponsorship of Mr. Paul Costello of Philadelphia and he is assured of employment by the Hemberger Bros. Coal Company in Philadelphia. The Board believes he has been sufficiently punished and will not reenter the field of crime.

The applicant will have served 8 years and 10 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1958.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY.

In re application of Joseph O'Terry, C-3838, No. 3880, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Joseph O'Terry, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 25, 1927, be commuted from ten years to a minimum of five years and ten months, expiring on October 23, 1928, and a maximum of ten years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from three to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 25th day of February, 1927. He was paroled on the 25th day of February, 1930, and was returned for a violation of parole, namely, robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, conspiracy and larceny, on the 23rd day of December, 1935.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has a history of juvenile delinquency but he has demonstrated constructive habits of industry since he has been in this institution.

The trial judge, the Honorable Horace Stern did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney, the Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to the granting of the application for a commutation.

The Supervisor of Paroles states that unless he has an exceptionally good parole program outlined and his conduct record in the penitentiary has been good it might not be wise to release him at this time.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons discloses that this applicant, since his incarceration in 1935, has made definite efforts to rehabilitate himself, and he is now employed as a plumber at the penitentiary and is considered a willing worker and works without being closely supervised. He will be sponsored by Mr. John Diener, Superintendent of the Shoe Shop at the Holmesburg Prison. He has been assured of employment under Mr. Diener at the prison.

The Board believes that he has an excellent parole program under a most capable sponsor and they believe that the applicant will not reenter the field of crime. He will have served five years and ten months of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1942.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harrison Duke, convicted of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Northumberland County on October 4, 1937, to begin June 8, 1937, be commuted from 2 years to 1 year and 4 months, expiring on October 8, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Northumberland County to from two to four years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 4th day of October, 1937, to begin June 8, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man's institutional record and his excellent work record causes us to believe that he has an honest desire to return to society and lead a law-abiding life.

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles K. Morganroth had no recommendations to submit to the Board in regard to this application. The district attorney, the Honorable Robert M. Fortney, stated that he was opposed generally to this application but if the applicant will behave himself in the future we have no objection to clemency.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man has dependent upon him a wife and twelve children. The family is in needy circumstances and require the attention and care of the father. The applicant has been assured of employment by the Mifflinburg Body Company at Mifflinburg and the sponsor, Mr. Sterling, will undertake to properly advise and counsel him.

The Board of Pardons believes that this arrest and incarceration has taught the applicant a salutary lesson and he will not re-enter the field of crime, but on the other hand will become an industrious person and properly support his large family.

The applicant will have served one year and four months of his two year sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 8, 1941.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth o Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are a follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of as sault and batery to ravish and assault and battery. He wa sentenced by the Quarter Sesisons Court of Somerset Count for from 2 to 4 years in the Western State Penitentiary o the 12th day of January, 1938, effective as of December 4 1937.

The Board of Trustees state that although he has had previous conviction for this offense, his institutional recor is excellent and he is a cooperative inmate.

The trial judge, the Honorable Norman T. Boose, state that he had no recommendations to make for or agains the granting of this application. The district attorney Honorable Archibald M. Matthews, states: "I have no recom mendations to make on this case, one way or the other. The assistant district attorney, at the hearing, stated tha it was a question that if the case had gone to trial whethe there would have been a conviction, and he further agree that the sentence was somewhat excessive, in view of th facts.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Elmer Nichols, C-7064, No. 3893, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Elmer Nichols, convicted of felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County on May 8, 1931 be commuted from 7 years to a minimum of 3 years 7 months, and a maximum of 7 years, expiring on October 25, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of felonious entry, and larceny and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Montgomery County for from 3 to 7 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 8th day of May, 1931. He was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence on March 8, 1934. The applicant plead guilty to the crime of drunken driving and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Chester County on the 14th day of March, 1938, to one month in the Chester County Prison. At the expiration of his prison sentence he was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary on March 25, 1938.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant had remained on parole for three years and ten months and seventeen days, having almost completed his parole period. Since the applicant's return to the penitentiary he has served approximately seven months. In view of sentences imposed by courts in similar cases our thought that he has served sufficient time for his violation and that he will benefit if he has been granted another chance.

The trial judge, the Honorable George C. Carson, states that if you should see fit to parole this applicant, I feel sure that Mr. Gumpert will make a conscientious effort to see that he does not offend in the future.

The district attorney ,the Honorable Fred B. Smillie, stated we feel that society is benefited by having this man incarcerated. We therefore do not feel that he should be paroled at this time.

The Board of Pardons is of the opinion that this applicant having successfully maintained a good parole record up until two months before the expiration of his maximum sentence, has been sufficiently punished for this offense. He has served thirty days in the Chester County Jail and seven months in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The applicant is assured of employment through Mr. Paul Gumpert of Pottstown, Pa. Mr. Gumpert, who is a very splendid citizen of that borough, will act as his sponsor. The Board believes that this applicant will not commit another offense and therefore recommends that a commutation be granted.

The applicant will have served three years and seven months of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until March 25, 1942.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Vincent Poska, C-9137, No. 3895, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Anthony Vincent Poska, convicted of assault and battery with intent to rob, pointing firearms, breaking and entering, larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Susquehanna County on August 19, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 32 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 5 years, 2 months, expiring on October 19, 1938; on Bill No. 31 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on October 20, 1938; on Bill No. 30 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on October 21, 1938; and on Bill No. 28 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on October 22, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to assault and battery, He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer nd Quarter Sesisons Court of Susquehanna County for from sixteen to thirty-two years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 19th day of August, 1933.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he attended school in the institution for one year and studied typing and shorthand. For the past three years he has been employed as a clerk in the psychological department. He is considered trustworthy and capable. Definite efforts at self-improvement have been demonstrated by this man and judging on the basis of his attitude and behavior, it is felt that he has an honest desire to readjust in society. The Department of Neuropsychiatry, Dr. Philip Roche, reports that this man suffered a brain injury from a bullet. It is their opinion that he does not require an operation for the removal of the bullet and from a psychiatric standpoint the inmate is not mentally disordered.

The trial judge, the Honorable Andrew B. Smith, states that his facts are not correct in the application, "other than this I have no objection to the granting of clemency the Board." The district attorney, the Honorable Joseph L. Carrigg, states: "It was my thought that the sentence was somewhat severe in view of all of the surrounding circumstances. I believe the facts set forth in his application are correct."

The applicant was unquestionably guilty and the accomplices received jail sentences which they have completed. The Board of Pardons is of the opinion that this man has made a definite effort at rehabilitation. He followed courses of study to equip himself to fill a position as a clerk in the institution and has proved himself to be a capable and efficient assistant in the offices. It is felt by the Board that he will not reenter the field of crime. He has been assured of employment by Mr. Joseph Miluszusky, Forest City, Pa., who operates a feed and grain mill, and he will reside with his parents in Forest City.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted. The applicant will have served five years and two months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until August 19, 1953.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles S. Thrower, D-2764. No. 3897, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles S. Thrower. convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 11, 1938, to begin April 19, 1937, be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year and 6 months, expiring on October 19. 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 2½ to 5 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 11th day of January. 1938.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has no known previous criminal record. His institutional conduct is satisfactory and he has made attempts at self-improvement. His physical condition is not of the best, as he is suffering from tuberculosis. Dr. H. B. Rowell, Chief Resident Physician of the Eastern State Penitentiary writes: "Charles Thrower has advanced pulmonary tuberculosis. His sputum is heavily loaded with tubercle bacilli. He has a massive pleural effusion on the right side which requires repeated tapping. The outlook of this man is not good. He should be hospitalized if discharged."

The trial judge. the Honorable Albert S. C. Millar, stated that he saw no reason why the application should not receive favorable consideration at the hands of the Board. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that his attitude would depend upon the physical condition of the prisoner. Dr. Linn Bowman, Restoration Director of the Eastern State Penitentiary. stated that arrangements had been made to admit this prisoner to the Douglass Hospital in Philadelphia for the necessary treatment.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this applicant is suffering from an advanced case of tuberculosis and the arrangements have been made for his admittance to the Douglass Hospital. The Board of Pardons therefore recommend that due to the physical condition of this applicant and the necessity for hospital treatment, that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served one year and six months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until April, 1942.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of James Amato, No. 3901, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that James Amato, convicted of setting up and maintaining an illegal lottery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 30, 1934, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of setting up and maintaining an illegal lottery. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison on the 30th day of July, 1934, for seven years. He was released on probation on the 21st day of May, 1937.

The Board of Pardons received no response from the sentencing Judge. the Honorable James Gay Gordon, Jr., as to the merits of the application. The assistant district attorney. James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was oposed to the granting of the application because he did not divulge all that he knew as to the higher ups in the lottery racket of Philadelphia County.

It developed that the applicant was a clerk at one of the offices of the Lottery racket and held this minor positition for about a week prior to his arrest. Four accomplices were arrested with him and they all received the same sentence. The applicant could not very well disclose the names of the higher ups because of his short association with this gang. Since his release he has been steadily employed as a truck driver and he is anxious to advance in the business world. He desires to enter his own business and in order to finance himself it is necessary to borrow additional funds. It is necessary that he receive a pardon for this offense in order that he may satisfactorily meet the requirements of the creditor.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant has paid the full penalty for this misbehavior and a pardon will be of material assistance to his business career and will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family.

In re application of Frank Ejsmont, D-1956, No. 3905, September Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank Ejsmont, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on February 8, 1937, be commuted from three years to one year and eight months, expiring on October 8, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of breaking and larceny and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Luzerne County for from three to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 8th day of February, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has charge of the masonry work which is being done outside the prison and he is considered a good worker. He has a satisfactory institutional record and the apparent ability as a mason are cited in this man's favor. The applicant was transferred to the Luzerne County Prison and Warden William B. Healey writes: "In my opinion, if allowed his commutation he will return to society and prove himself a law-abiding citizen.

The assistant district attorney, John H. Dando, states that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant, together with three accomplices, broke into a store and stole a cigarette vending machine. The applicant had evidently been drinking prior to the commission of this offense. It is believed that his present prison sentence has been of value in teaching him the error of misbehavior and that he will in the future obey the law and make of himself a useful citizen.

The applicant is assured of employment by the Hudson Coal Company and he will reside in Wilkes-Barre with his wife and son. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of this man's sentence be granted.

He will have served 1 year and 8 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until February 8, 1947.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Erie County for from four to eight years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 16th day of February, 1935. The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend him for parole (1) first imprisonment (2) good institutional record, (3) trustworthy inmate.

The trial judge, the Honorable William E. Hirt, approved of the application. The assistant district attorney of Erie County stated that he had no objection to the granting of this application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the killing was accidental, although the parties involved all had been drinking. The group had returned from a short hunting trip and therefore had their guns handy. The applicant had a steady employment record and his former employers have indicated that he was a good worker. He has a wife and three children dependent upon him and they are in need of his care and support.

The applicant has been assured of employment by the Schaffner Brothers Company, Erie, Pa., and Dr. Heber E. Wharton has consented to serve as his sponsor. The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant has paid the penalty for this crime, and not being of a criminal tendency, he will not again offend the law. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted.

He will have served three years and eight months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until February 16, 1943.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Beaver County to imprisonment for from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 29th day of September, 1934

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would probably recommend him for parole (1) excellent work and conduct record (2) commendable progress in self-improvement, both academically and vocationally. The trial judge, the Honorable Frank E. Reader, states that he is in favor of a commutation, provided the boy is released under the sponsorship of his brother, Edmund. The district attorney, the Honorable R. E. McCreary, states that he is not opposed to the application, and recommends that he leave the state and reside with his brother.

The Board of Pardons has investigated this application and they are persuaded that this man has made definite and serious attempts at rehabilitation. His brother, Mr. Edmund Loiselle, Providence, R. I., personally appeared before the Board and assured the Board that the applicant, upon his release, would live with him in Providence, R. I. The applicant will be employed in the manufacturing plant of Edmund Loiselle, who is a brother of the applicant, and the wife and children of the applicant will move from Pittsburgh to Providence. The Board believes that the parole program for this young man is an excellent one and recommends that his sentence be commuted. The applicant will have served four years and one month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1954.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Elvin L. Williams, C-6634, No. 106A, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been effected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Lewis Richardson, C-4657, No. 107A, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned member of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Lewis Richardson, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 19, 1938, be commuted on Bill No. 764 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 19, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. In re application of Robert Mattox, B-3017, No. 108A, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of Robert Mattox, convicted of entering a building in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on December 22, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 551 from a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 2 years, 11 months, 28 days, expiring December 20, 1938, on Bill No. 552 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring December 21, 1938; on Bill No. 553 from a minimum of 1 year to a minimum of 1 day, expiring December 22, 1938, (Bills 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 760 and 761 concurrent.)

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Jacobs, C-8354, No. 390, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harry Jacobs, convicted of murder, second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on November 11, 1919, be commuted from 10 years to 6 years and 1 month, expiring on November 21, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation as as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Luzerne County for from ten to twenty years on the 11th day of November, 1919.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "This man is an old type prisoner who has a very good record in the institution. He is in good physical condition and has saved over six hundred dollars."

The trial judge, Honorable John M. Garman, is deceased. The assistant district attorney, John Dando, stated that the applicant, if released, needs close care.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this applicant is now seventy-one years of age, and although he was committed to the Farview Mental Hospital in 1920, he has been returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary and his mental condition is of such a character that his release depends largely upon the reliability of his sponsorship. The Board has very carefully investigated this phase of his parole program and the Board is assured that he will live on a farm owned by his sister, Mrs. Anna Rupp, Ickesburg, Pa. He will be employed on the farm consisting of eighty acres and will reside there. His sponsor will be Mr. Andrew Jacobs, a farmer living near Newport, Pa.

The Board is of the opinion that this man, who is aged beyond his years, has been sufficiently punished and will not re-enter the field of crime. The Board believes that mercy should be extended to this applicant in his declining years and they therefore recommend that his sentence be commuted.

He will have served 6 years and 1 month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until October, 1952.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Herman Lebowitz, C-1564, No. 1648, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of Herman Lebowitz, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 18, 1929, be commuted on Bill No. 716 from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 9 years and 9 months, expiring on November 18, 1938; on Bill No. 718 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on November 19, 1938; and on Bill No. 721 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on November 20, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 25 to 50 years on the 18th day of February, 1929.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that "His record is satisfactory and he has shown definite improvement in attitude and to prepare himself for release. He is considered a good worker and has attempted to improve himself by taking a correspondence course in the electrical work. The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "I am fearful that he is one of those who will show his resentment towards society by trying to get even." The assistant district attorney James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Officer C. G. Tice, connected with the electrical department of the Eastern State Penitentiary, writes that "from his personal experience and observation of prisoners these many years, I have no hesitancy in saying that I have every reason to believe that this boy will do right and make good, as indications seem to point to a complete reformation."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this young man has so conducted himself in the institution to have gained the approval of the authorities. He has been assured of a job as a pipe-fitter by the American Pipe Supply and Manufacturing Company of Philadelphia. The President of that Company, Mr. Jacob Goldberg, personally stated to the Board that he would sponsor the applicant and assure him of a position. The Board therefore recommends that the applicant be granted a commutation, believing the applicant will not re-enter the field of crime and that he will become a law-abiding citizen.

The applicant will have served 9 years and 9 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1958.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William E. McMullen, No. 1708, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William E. McMullen, convicted of rape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on December 16, 1932, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of rape and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County for from 6 to 15 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 16th day of December, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that since this man has been on parole since December, 1935, their decision would be based upon the report of his activities since released by the Supervisor of Paroles.

The trial judge, the Honorable James Gay Gordon, Jr., did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to the granting of the application as the applicant has conducted himself lawfully since his release. The Supervisor of Paroles, Mr. Courtland Butler, stated that he has been reporting regularly each month since his release and has conducted himself satisfactorily. "He is in business for himself in the City of Philadelphia and appears to be progressing fairly well. He asked to be pardoned from parole so he would be free to travel and I recommend him for consideration."

The applicant operates his own business as a merchant in Philadelphia and resides in that city with his parents. The Board recommends that a pardon be granted, believing that the applicant has so conducted himself in the past few years as to merit that consideration.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance in his business advancement.

In re application of Manuel Vieiro Rodriguez, B-5075, No. 1796, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Manuel Vieiro Rodriguez, convicted of murder of the second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on April 2, 1930, be commuted from ten years to eight years and seven months, expiring on November 2, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder of the second degree and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Delaware County for from ten to twenty years on the 2nd day of April, 1930.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant has no known previous criminal record. His satisfactory institutional record, attempts at self-improvement, and good employment record are cited in this man's favor. He has taken correspondence courses in poultry husbandry and is now employed as a cook in the Superintendent's residence.

The trial judge, the Honorable Albert D. McDade, stated: "The Board is perfectly familiar with the facts of this case and it is entirely up to them to dispose of the matter but I cannot make a recommendation, one way or the other." The assistant district attorney, Guy DeFuria, stated: "We do not oppose the application."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was unquestionably guilty of the crime, although he had some justification for his action in view of the surrounding circumstances. The applicant is a Puerto Rican and has been connected with the Sinclair Oil Refining Steamship Lines for many years. The Board believes that this man has been sufficiently punished for his crime and we believe that he will not re-enter the field of crime but will live a law-abiding life.

The applicant is assured of employment by Mr. Peter Olea of Marcus Hook, who conducts a restaurant in that town.

The applicant has served 8 years and 7 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1950.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,

In re application of Edward J. Walter, C-2415, No. 1896, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bills No. 1024 and No. 1022 and minimum sentence on Bill No. 1020 of Edward J. Walter, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 11, 1924, be commuted on Bill No. 1024 from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 14 years, 7 months, expiring November 11, 1938; on Bill No. 1022 from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring November 12, 1938; and on Bill No. 1020 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring November 13, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and entering to commit a felony and guilty to the crime of carrying concealed deadly weapons. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 25 to 60 years on the 11th day of April, 1924.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant has shown definite improvement and he has maintained a constant interest in studying agricultural work. The possibility of this man's adjustment will be greatly influenced by his environment.

The trial judge, the Honorable James Gay Gordon, Jr., did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that the applicant has been sufficiently punished in his opinion, but his recommendation would depend on the attitude of the prison authorities.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant is unquestionably guilty of these crimes and his accomplices have now been released on parole. The applicant is now assured of a job on the farm of Arthur Lowande, Doylestown, Pa., and will reside in the farmhouse adjoining that of Mr. Lowande. Arrangements have been made that the mother of the applicant will move to the farm with the son and a very desirable and pleasant surroundings have been arranged so that the environment of the applicant will be totally different from that of his past life.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted to the applicant. He will have served 14 years and 7 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1958.

In re application of Frank Norman Haughey, C-7046, No. 2026, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill No. 1278 and minimum sentence on Bill No. 1277 of Frank Norman Haughey, convicted of attempted rape and robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 30, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 1278 from a maximum of 15 years to a maximum of 7 years and 7 months, expiring on November 30, 1938; and on Bill No. 1277 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 1, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to attempted rape and robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 10 to 20 years on the 30th day of April, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Judging on the basis of this man's conduct and attitude in the institution, his actions indicate that at this time he has a desire to become a law-abiding citizen. Since he now has a trade the possibilities of his economic adjustment has been improved. During the disturbances at Graterford he cooperated with the authorities which was contrary to the general attitude of the prison body.

The trial judges, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "Having served 7½ years, which is the sentence on the rape bill, I will be satisfied with whatever action the Board takes." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, stated that he was opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this crime was the result of a party, in which liquor drinking was predominant, in the apartment of the applicant.

The applicant is assured of employment as his sister, Mrs. Margaret Lakates of Philadelphia has agreed to set him up in the barbering business. He will reside with his parents in Philadelphia.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 7 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1943.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Michael Feeney, A-14568, No. 2029, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Frank Michael Fenney, convicted of murder, 1st degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Fayette County on April 16, 1926, be commuted from life to a minimum of 12 years, 7 months, expiring on November 16, 1938, and a maximum of life.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Fayette County to imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for life on the 16th day of April, 1926.

The Board of Trustees of the Western Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would probably recommend him (1) excellent institutional record, (2) has served over 12½ years.

The trial judge, Honorable Davis W. Henderson, writes: "If it is true that he has been changed into a good law-abiding citizen and has been completely cured of the dope habit, which I believe was the real cause of his connection with this case, I think that it would be perfectly safe to accord him freedom." The present district attorney, James Reilly, states: "I am of the opinion that under all the circumstances the applicant has served sufficient time. Therefore I am pleased to recommend to your honorable body favorable action on this application."

The resident physician of the Western State Penitentiary, Dr. J. G. Weixel, submitted a medical report which indicates that he is now suffering from ordinary complaints of indigestion. The penitentiary report states that the applicant is confident that he has cured himself of the habits of dope and alcoholism.

The Board of Pardons investigation indicates that this applicant has been involved in a number of crimes which were induced by his addiction to morphine and alcohol and he was guilty of the crime for which he is now serving a sentence. The Agent of the Board reports that Judge Henderson feels that the applicant has served sufficient time and that he will be placed under the care of his sister, Miss Margaret Feeney, a registered nurse of Uniontown, Pa. Father Huber, Chaplain of the Western State Penitentiary, states that the applicant can safely be returned to society. He has been assured of employment in the Lemont Mines, Fayette County, and will reside with his sister, Miss Feeney, in Uniontown, Pa.

The Board believes that this applicant has been sufficiently punished for this crime and that he will in the future be a law-abiding citizen. They recommend that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served twelve years and seven months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William J. Bishop, C-3289, No. 2054, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of William J. Bishop, convicted of murder, 1st degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lebanon County on March 23, 1925, be commuted from life, commuted to life, February 18, 1926, to a minimum of 12 years, 9 months, expiring on November 18, 1938 and a maximum of life.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lebanon County to death on the 23rd day of March, 1925. His sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by the Board of Pardons on the 18th day of February, 1926. The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Definite habits of industry, good attitude and sincere interest in his family have been manifested by this man since he has been in the institution. If he would continue the same behavior when released, it is felt that he would probably adjust successfully."

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles V. Henry, did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The present district attorney, Earl A. Brubaker, states that neither the Court of Lebanon County or the district attorney are in this matter going to oppose nor recommend clemency. This, I believe, is likewise the feeling of the former district attorney, who prosecuted William J. Bishop.

The applicant was convicted of this crime which involved the slaying of a young girl in Palmyra, Pa. The evidence surrounding the whole case raised many doubts as to the actual complicity of the applicant. It would appear that the Commonwealth relied greatly on letters which the applicant wrote his mother that indicated his guilt. The applicant, however, offered other explanations for such admissions. The sponsor of the applicant is Reverend P. B. Gibble of Palmyra, and he has assured the Board that the community no longer felt resentment towards the applicant and the community was of the general opinion that William Bishop had been sufficiently punished. The applicant will be under the personal sponsorship of Reverend Gibble, and he has been assured of employment at Hershey, Pa.

The Board therefore recommends that the sentence be commuted, believing that he has been sufficiently punished and that he has shown, by his behavior in the institution, that he has rehabilitated himself. The Board is of the opinion that he will not violate the law again, but will live a law-abiding life.

The applicant will have served 13 years and 8 months of his sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Bernard J. Otten, B-3717, No. 2238, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill No. 26 and minimum sentence on Bill

No. 27 of Bernard J. Otten, convicted of robbery and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 5, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 26 from a maximum of 5 years to a maximum of 5 months, expiring on November 5, 1938; and on Bill No. 27 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on November 6, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County to imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for from 7½ to 15 years on the 5th day of June, 1933. The Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that if this applicant were eligible to apply for parole "we would probably recommend him (1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record, (3) cooperative inmate, (4) has served 5 years and 4 months of his term.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel H. Gardner, states: "At the time I sentenced the applicant there was an epidemic of robberies in Allegheny County. Had it not been for this epidemic I probably would not have given them more than 5 to 10 years. As these men have already served more than five years I therefore recommend that they be pardoned at this time." The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, stated that he was opposed to the granting of clemency.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant had never been convicted of any crime prior to the present one and that the robberies which he and his brother, Lawrence, perpetrated arose primarily from economic conditions.

The applicant is married and has two children. He was compelled to break up his home because of lack of funds. Our investigation discloses that the applicant has the endorsement of many public officials in Western Pennsylvania and they all believe that if he is released he will conduct himself in a law-abiding manner. He is assured of a position with the E. E. Sanctics Company of Pittsburgh. He will reside with his wife and children at the home of his parents in Pittsburgh.

The applicant will have served 5 years and 5 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1943.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY.
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Luigi Quaranta, No. 2593, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Luigi Quaranta, convicted of murder, 1st degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County, on July 11, 1928, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of murder of the first degree in 1927. He was sentenced to serve a term of life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on July 11, 1928. In 1935 a commutation of sentence was granted on our recommendation to a minimum term of 7 years and 5 months and a maximum term of twenty years. At that time we were of the opinion that there was more than a reasonable doubt of the applicant's guilt. The confession of the person who actually committed the crime was the reason for a commutation in 1935. The Board feels that the least they can do for a man unjustly imprisoned for a crime he did not commit, is to extend to him a pardon. We did not recommend a full pardon at that time because we wanted to see how the applicant conducted himself while on parole.

The district attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session joined in the application for a pardon.

Since the applicant's release he has been leading an exemplary life. Because of the conviction he is having considerable difficulty in securing employment, and likewise he desires to become naturalized.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY.
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Luther Matthews, B-1104, No. 2616, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Luther Matthews, convicted of statutory rape and felonious assault and battery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions on November 15, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 98 to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on November 15, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

In re application of James Grierson, B-3577, No. 2621, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of James Grierson, convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on December 16, 1932, be commuted on Bill No. 10 from a maximum of 3 years to a maximum of 2 years 11 months and 28 days, expiring on December 14, 1938; on Bill No. 67 from a maximum of 3 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on Dec. 15, 1938; and on Bill No. 66 from a minimum of 1½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John C. Tomasic, No. 2659, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John C. Tomasic, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County, on May 19, 1933, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County for from fifteen to thirty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 19th day of May, 1933. The applicant's sentence was commuted by the Board of Pardons on the 30th day of June, 1936. Since June of 1936, the applicant has been on parole.

The Supervisor of Paroles states that he has reported regularly and has been contacted as often as possible by our agents. "He has been at liberty two years and three months, and unless the officials object to clemency, I feel he should be given some consideration."

His sponsor, Mr. Elbert R. Tingley, states to the Board that the applicant has had an excellent record and believes him worthy of a full pardon. The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel H. Gardner, did not reply to our letters of inquiry. The district attorney, (assistant) Russell Adams, stated that he had no objection to the granting of a pardon to this applicant.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant at the age of 18, accompanied by one Joseph Vargo, became involved in a series of robberies, springing out of stern economic conditions at the time of their arrest. Both the applicant and his accomplice have been commuted and the applicant has been steadily employed in a trustworthy and dependable position as Office Supervisor with the Rankin Christian Center. He has progressed in his studies and has put himself through school and is planning to enter business for himself. The applicant has the endorsement of Congressman James L. Quinn and the President of the Borough Council, Edward F. Mc-

Donough, Braddock, Pa., who indicate that this young man has, by his efforts, rehabilitated himself to an exceptional degree.

The Board believes that this young applicant has earned the confidence of his friends and associates and that he merits a full pardon for the crime which he committed as a young man.

The Board therefore recommends that a full pardon be granted, believing that it will in part remove the stagima of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Mazur, C-8460, No. 2752, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Frank Mazur, convicted of rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on November 29, 1932 be commuted from 10 years to a minimum of 5 years, 4 months and 6 days expiring on November 28, 1939 and a maximum of 10 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of rape and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from four to ten years by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Luzerne County on the 29th day of November, 1932. The applicant was paroled on the 5th day of December, 1936, and was returned for a violation of his parole on the 28th day of February, 1937, for drunken driving.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the institutional record is satisfactory and his attempts at self-improvement are cited in this man's favor. "If satisfactory employment and sponsorship are provided for this man he will probably not repeat this performance."

The trial judge, Honorable Benjamin R. Jones, did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, John Dando, stated that he was not opposed to this application and he believed that the applicant under the sponsorship of Gabriel Klimkevich would be satisfactory.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant has been sufficiently punished for his parole violation. He has spent five months in the Luzerne County Prison and over a year in the Eastern State Penitentiary for parole violation. The applicant is assured of employment under the direction of his sponsor, who operates a gas station in Larksville, Pa. He will reside with his parents in Larksville.

The applicant will have served 5 years, 4 months and 6 days of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1943.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Klinitski, No. 2872, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph Klinitski, convicted of illegal use of explosives in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County, on April 23, 1935, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows.

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of illegal use of explosives and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Luzerne County to pay a fine of one thousand dollars and imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from five to ten years on the 23rd day of April, 1935.

The trial judge, the Honorable William S. McLean, Jr., did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, John Dando, stated that his office joins heartily in the prayer of the application. The Supervisor of Paroles states that since the applicant's release he has been under the supervision of the New York State Parole Bureau and they have sent in a very splendid report on this man's behavior. "Unless there is opposition from the county officials of Luzerne County I think this man is entitled to consideration as he has been on parole for 2½ years and has made good."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man had no prior criminal record and since his release on parole he has conducted himself in an exemplary fashion. He is now employed by Horn and Hardart Restaurant Company and because of his ability, he is being considered by that corporation for an advanced position. He will require a fidelity bond and it is necessary that his prior record be cleared in order to obtain this bond. The Board therefore recommends that a full pardon be granted this applicant, believing that his excellent conduct merits this consideration, and that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Philip J. Oxman, B-5694, No. 2994, October, Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Philip J. Oxman, convicted of forgery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 23, 1934 be commuted from 5 years to 4 years expiring on November 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of forgery and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 5 to 10 years by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 23rd day of November, 1934.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states that his institutional record has been satisfactory and that his attempts at self-improvement are cited in his favor. He has taken a correspondence course in salesmanship, in which he earned a diploma.

The trial judge, the Honorable Horace Stern did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant became involved with two accomplices in a scheme to defraud insurance companies on fake death claims. His accomplices in the crime have been released. Investigation indicates that the applicant had a good reputation prior to the commission of this crime and the arrest and conviction, together with a prior arrest, are a part of the same plan and scheme for which he is now serving a sentence. The applicant is assured of employment as a salesman with Mr. Harry Horn, Electrical Supply House in Philadelphia. He will reside with his wife and child in Philadelphia.

It is the belief of the Board that this applicant realizes the enormity of his offense and that he will not reenter the field of crime, but on the other hand, will become a law-abiding citizen.

The appicant will have served 4 years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1944.

In re application of Lawrence J. Otten, B-3718, No. 2998, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill No. 26 and minimum sentence on Bill No. 27 of Lawrence J. Otten, convicted of robbery and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 5, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 26 from a maximum of 5 years to a maximum of 5 months, expiring on November 5, 1938; and on Bill No. 27 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on November 6, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Treminer of Allegheny County to imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for from 7½ to 15 years on the 5th day of June, 1933.

The trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state if this applicant were eligible for parole we would probably recommend him for parole "(1) excellent institutional record, (2) cooperative inmate (3) has served 5 years and 4 months of his sentence."

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel H. Gardner, states: "At the time I sentenced the applicant there was an epidemic of robberies in Allegheny County. Had it not been for this epidemic I probably would not have given them more than 5 to 10 years. As these men have already served more than five years I therefore recommend that they be pardoned at this time." The assistant district attorney, Russell Adams, stated that he was opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the appicant had one previous conviction and that the robberies which he and his brother, Bernard, perpetrated arose primarily from economic conditions. Our investigation also discloses that the applicant has the endorsement of many public officials in Western Pennsylvania and they all believe that if he is released he will conduct himself in a law-abiding manner. The applicant is assured of a position with Guy W. Tuttle, Excavating Contractor, of Pittsburgh. He will reside with his parents in Pittsburgh.

The applicant will have served 5 years and 5 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1943.

In re application of Joseph Edward Boljonis, C-6794, No. 3149, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill No. 413 and minimum sentence on Bill No. 415 of Joseph Edward Boljonis, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on January 27, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 413 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 7 years and 10 months, expiring on November 27, 1938 ;and on Bill No. 415 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on November 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Luzerne County to from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 27th day of January, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has indicated efforts at self-improvement and has a satisfactory employment and conduct record. If he will continue his present habits of industry and refrain from bad companions he would probably adjust under normal economic conditions.

The trial judge, the Honorable W. Alfred Valentine states: "I am inclined to the opinion that there is reasonable probability that if placed on parole the petitioner may rehabilitate himself." The assistant district attorney, John Dando, was opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant and an accomplice were involved in a series of robberies in Luzerne County and from all indications they were unquestionably guilty. The accomplice is now an inmate of the Farview Mental Hospital. The Board is of the opinion that the applicant, by his study and industry at the Eastern State Penitentiary, has made definite efforts towards rehabilitation.

The Board is of the opinion that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that he will not re-enter the field of crime. He will be assured of employment by his brother-in-law, Mr. M. S. Klatt, Pittston, Pa., and will reside with his brother-in-law in that city.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 10 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until November 28, 1948.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Bellosi, C-6183, No. 3290, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentences on Bills No. 622 and No. 624 and minimum sentence on Bill No. 626 of Harry Bellosi, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on May 19, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 622 from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 8 years and 6 months, expiring on November 19, 1938; and on Bill No. 624 from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on November 20, 1938; and on Bill No. 624 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on November 21, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 20 to 60 years on the 14th day of May, 1930.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Judging from this man's attitude and habits that have been demonstrated in the institution, we feel that he has an honest desire to adjust in society."

The trial judge, the Honorable Frank Smith, states in substance that if the applicant has reformed he has no objections to the granting of the application. He states that Father Farley, Chaplain of the Eastern State Penitentiary, believes that Bellosi has reformed and those who contact him daily in the prison should be best able to observe that. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that the question in his mind is, Will the applicant be law-abiding if released? If the prison authorities and the Board believe that he will, the district attorney's office has no objection.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant, as a young man, was involved in several robberies and the one that he is now serving was the most serious. The accomplices of the applicant are now on parole, having their sentences commuted by the Board. The real criminal who influenced this young man is a fugitive from justice. The applicant assisted the authorities in the prosecution and made a clean breast of all his crimes. During the prison riots the applicant was employed in the Engine Room and during the disturbances remained at his post, contrary to the general attitude of the rest of the institution.

The applicant will be employed by his step-father who has agreed to look after him. He will reside with his parents in Philadelphia. The Board believes that this applicant will conduct himself in a law-abiding manner in the future and therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served 8 years and 6 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1978.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Michael Bruaw, C-7085, No. 3368, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Michael Bruaw, convicted of murder, 1st degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Cumberland County on May 16, 1931, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 7 years, 6 months, expiring on November 16, 1938, and a maximum of life.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Cumberland County to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for life on the 16th day of May, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The application has no previous criminal record. He has a good institutional record and employment record at the penitentiary and is now employed in the storeroom of the Machine Shop."

The trial judge, Honorable Edwin M. Biddle, Jr., did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The district attorney, J. Boyd Landis, stated that the question at issue was first, the age of the man, and second, the amount of time that he had served.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant, during an altercation with his housekeeper over his drinking and money matters, picked up a twelve gauge shot gun and fired at the victim. The applicant then attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself with the same gun. The applicant was about sixty years of age when he committed this crime and has spent over seven years in the penitentiary. The applicant, although unquestionably guilty, is considerably advanced in years and it is the opinion of the authorities that he does not have many more years of life ahead of him. His daughters have agreed to make a home for him. They reside on a farm near Lewisberry, Pa. His daughter and son-in-law bear an excellent reputation in the neighborhood and unquestionably his declining years will be made comfortable. It is the opinion of the Board of Pardons that mercy can well be extended to this aged prisoner. They therefore recommend that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have spent seven years and six months in prison and will be under supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of Richard Zielinski, C-5972, No. 3520, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Richard Zielinski, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 21, 1930, be commuted from eight years to a minimum of five years, nine months, expiring on November 17, 1938, and a maximum of eight years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 4 to 8 years by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 21st day of February, 1930.

The applicant was paroled at the expiration of his minimum term on the 21st day of February, 1934. He was returned to the penitentiary on the 17th day of February, 1937, for a violation of parole, being found guilty of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and receiving a suspended sentence so he could be returned to the penitentiary for violating the parole agreement.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he has a satisfactory institutional record and has made attempts at self-improvement. It is felt that the amount of time served since his return from parole will be the determining factor in deciding whether or not he is entitled to further clemency. The sentencing judge, the Honorable Raymond MacNeille, states that he relies on the prison authorities as to his present disposition. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to the applicaion but relied entirely upon the judgment of the Board of Pardons.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant has had a criminal record including robberies and larcenies but since his release from the Eastern plication but relief entirely upon the judgment of the except in this matter of intoxication.

The Supervisor of Paroles, Mr. Courtland Butler, stated that he had a fairly good record as a parolee and that he has now spent well over one and one-half years in the penitentiary for this violation and "I feel he should be given some consideration by a commutation so he could be paroled."

The Board of Pardons believes that he has been punished sufficiently for the violation of his parole agreement and therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted so that he may be returned to the supervision of the parole officers. The applicant will have served 5 years and 9 months of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until February, 1941.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re appplicaion of John Lalley, No. 3592, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Lalley, convicted of larceny in the Municipal Court of Philadelphia County, on March 10, 1930, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny and was placed on one year's probation by the Municipal Court of Philadelphia County on the 10th day of March, 1930.

The trial judge, the Honorable Utley E. Crane, did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man under the influence of intoxicating liquor stole some furniture from a home of one Patrick Maloney, where the liquor had been served. The furniture was recovered and full restitution has been made. The applicant has no criminal record and was never involved in any crime before or since his arrest. The applicant is employed as a salesman by William Good of Philadelphia and resides with his wife in a well furnished home in North Philadelphia. The Board is advised that the applicant is highly respected in his community and is noted for his honesty and integrity.

The Board therefore recommends that a full pardon be granted the applicant, believing that his apparent conduct since his arrest merits this consideration.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his personal advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Wilbur C. Murr, D-1689, No. 3604, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Wilbur C. Murr, convicted of felonious entry and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lancaster County on June 5, 1936, be commuted from 4½ years to 2 years, 5 months, expiring on November 5, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of felonious entry and larceny. He was sentenced to from 4½ to 10 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Lancaster County on the 5th day of June, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant's conduct while in the penitentiary was satisfactory and the Rockview authorities likewise state that if the applicant were eligible to apply for parole he probably would receive favorable consideration. The applicant is employed in the blacksmith shop and has been used as an instructor in the schools. He has earned a diploma in Live Stock and Dairying.

The trial judge, Honorable Benjamin C. Atlee, states that the matter is entirely in the hands of the Board of Pardons to take such action as they see fit. The district attorney, Charles W. Eaby, states: "Knowing the family and the circumstances, and in view of Murr's prior good record, I now join in the petition for a commutation of his sentence."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this applicant, together with an accomplice, stole chickens in Lancaster County. This was his first conviction. The applicant owns two farms in Lancaster County and resides thereon with his wife. It is the belief of the Board that this man has been sufficiently punished for his crime and that upon release he will not violate the law, but will live a law-abiding life. He is assured of employment on his own farm and will be under the sponsorship of Mr. Clayton M. Worth of Lancaster County, Pa.

The applicant will have served two years and five months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 5, 1946.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Arthur Gabriel, No. 3646, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Arthur Gabriel, convicted of setting up an illegal lottery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on October 27, 1937, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of setting up an illegal lottery and was sentenced by the Quarter Sesions Court of Philadelphia County to six months in the Philadelphia County Prison on the 27th day of October, 1937.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Otto R. Heligman states: "He has no comment to make on this case and leaves it to the discretion of your Honorable Board." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that he was opposed to granting the petition.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that there is a grave question whether the applicant was really the operator and owner of this illegal lottery. A digest of the notes of testimony would indicate that the applicant was visiting the house to sell an automobile and while there, the doors were broken in by the police and the applicant arrested. The owner of the premises stated in Court that the applicant did not rent any portion of her premises and that the owner did not know the applicant.

The applicant is married and has two children attending the public schools in Philadelphia. He sides in a well furnished home in Upper Darby, Pennsylvania, and conducts his own restaurant in Philadelphia, which provides a satisfactory income. The applicant has not been involved in any criminal offense since his arrest and conviction and from the letters in his behalf written by many citizens of the city of Philadelphia, the Board is assured that he will conduct his future life in a trustworthy and law-abiding fashion.

The Board therefore recommends that a full pardon be granted, believing that it will in part remove the stigma of the crime from himself and family and will be of material assistance to him in his business career.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Pacropis, D-1165, No. 3675, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Pacropis, convicted of murder, 2nd degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on February 28, 1936, to begin September 28, 1935 be commuted from 5 years to 3 years 2 months, expiring on November 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Luzerne County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from five to ten years on the 28th day of February, 1936. Sentence to begin as of September 28, 1935.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has served practically his entire sentence at Rockview and the authorities there give him a favorable recommendation. He is employed in the Boiler House as a water tender and is considered a reliable worker.

The trial judge, the Honorable Clarence D. Coughlin, did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, John Dando, stated that he did not oppose the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was attending a Labor Day Picnic where many of the participants became intoxicated. It did appear that a fight ensued among three men and the victim was badly beaten with fists, feet and clubs, from which injuries he subsequently died. The applicant's previous record consisted only of one arrest and conviction for assault and battery. This unfortunate occurrence arose from a drunken picnic party wherein the participants engaged in a general fight, common to picnics in that region. The applicant has been assured of employment at the Truesdale Colliery and will reside with his wife and child in the home of his father at Lynwood, Pennsylvania.

The Board of Pardons is of the opinion that this man and his companions did not intend to kill the victim, for prior to the picnic all participants, including the victim, were friendly. This unfortunate occurrence arose from over-indulgence in alcoholic beverages. The Board therefore believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punised and that he will not re-enter the field of crime, but on the other hand will live a law-abiding life.

The applicant will have served three years and two months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until September, 1945.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles I. Kamerer, No. 3797, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice. in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of Charles I. Kamerer, convicted of fraudulent conversion in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on August 5, 1937, be commuted from five years to 1 year, 3 months and 15 days, expiring on November 20, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of fraudulent conversion and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Erie County to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and imprisonment in the Allegheny County Work House for five years, on the 5th day of August, 1937.

The trial judge, the Honorable William E. Hirt, stated that in his opinion the application was without sufficient merit. Likewise, the district attorney of Erie County expressed his opposition in a letter dated June 7, 1938.

At the hearing before the Board it was set forth that the applicant is suffering from tuberculosis. The district attorney, Honorable M. E. Graham, requested that a doctor's certificate, who examined Mr. Kamerer, be submitted to him and to the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, the private prosecutor in this case. The examination was made by a reputable physician of Erie, Pennsylvania, and the district attorney, under date of October 24, 1938, states: "There is nothing which I can do in view of Dr. Boughton's certificate, except to state that I have no objection to his parole if granted on the basis of his suffering from the ailment described in the certificate." Likewise, the Honorable Colley S. Baker, Chairman of the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, stated: "Relative to the physical condition of Charles S. Kamerer, the commission, while not agreeing to Mr. Kamerer's petition, will raise no objection to the commutation of his sentence."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was involved in fraudulent conversion of many thousands of dollars while he was official of the Kamerer and Company, dealers in securities. Many of the victims have written to the Board expressing their agreement that the applicant be commuted. Likewise, a petition has been forwarded to the Board signed by many of the leading citizens of Erie, asking that the sentence be commuted.

The Board believes that the applicant was guilty of the crime and but for the fact that he is suffering from tuberculosis of the lungs and in the opinion of a reputable physician that his further confinement is detrimental to his health, and also to the people that surround him, the Board recommends that the sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served 1 year, 3 months and 15 days of his sentence.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Ciccone, No. 3899, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Ciccone, convicted of keeping a bawdy house and keeping a disorderly house in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lawrence County, on June 22, 1929, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of keeping a bawdy house and keeping a disorderly house and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lawrence County to pay a fine of five hundred dollars and undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny County Work House for a term of eighteen months on the 22nd day of June, 1929.

The present district attorney, Honorable John G. Lamoree, states that the district attorney's office neither opposes or recommends. The trial judge, Honorable R. Lawrence Hildebrand, states: "I am of the opinion that deportation now, because of this particular offense, would impose upon him an altogether too harsh and too severe a penalty. For this reason, and this reason alone, I believe there is merit in this man's application for a pardon and I would respectfully recommend favorable action upon it by your honorable Board." The Honorable W. Walter Braham of Lawrence County writes: "This man has made mistakes but it is my belief that if given favorable consideration in this application, that he, if permitted to do so, will become a good citizen since his former infractions were of a minor nature and he has paid the legal penalty."

Letters of recommendation were received by the Board from the chief of police of the city of New Castle, the Honorable William H. Dunlap, City Commissioner, the Honorable Joseph D. Alexander, City Commissioner, Mr. Harry Elder, President of Mahoning Finance and Loan Association and from other prominent business and professional men of the city of New Castle, Pa.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant nearly ten years ago may have been involved in this crime. The facts surrounding his conviction indicates that he may have been innocent of operating a disorderly house. The applicant is now engaged in operating his own confectionary store and lives at the Liberty Hotel, New Castle, Pa. Inquiry reveals that he is a widower and has four children, and that his general reputation is satisfactory. Since his arrest and conviction in 1929 he has not been involved in any crime.

The Board believes that this applicant has conducted himself satisfactorily and it would be an injustice to return a man of his years to his native land. He has acquired property and a family which require his attention and therefore justice and mercy would indicate that these relationships be not disturbed.

The Board therefor recommends a full pardon which will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business career.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Manley Swetland, D-2353, No. 3913, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Manley Swetland, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Wyoming County on August 2, 1937, be commuted from 2 years to 1 year and 3 months, expiring on November 2, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Wyoming County to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from two to four years on the 2nd day of August, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has been transferred to the Wyoming County Prison in May, 1938, and that his record has thus far been satisfactory. They further state that since this man does not have a serious criminal record and any consideration should be based on the attitude of the convicting authorities.

The trial judge, Honorable Edward B. Farr. States that he believes the applicant has learned his lesson and will live an honest and decent life if given an opportunity, and therefore "I do not oppose the application." The district attorney, Joseph F. Ogden, did not reply to our letter of inquiry.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was undoubtedly guilty of the crime and that it arose largely from bad companions and heavy drinking. The applicant has not had a good reputation up to this arrest but it is believed that his present imprisonment has been beneficial to him and that he will not be found guilty in the future of transgressing the law. The applicant is married and has one son living with his divorced wife and a daughter residing in New York State. The applicant is assured of work as a Clerk in his father's store in Mehoopany, Pa., and his sponsor will be his father, who has assured the Board that he wil give his son close supervision.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted.

The applicant will have served one year and three months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until August 3, 1941.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of Paul William Hart, D-2059, No. 3917, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Paul William Hart, convicted of larceny of an automobile in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 23, 1937, to begin on March 16, 1937, be commuted from 3 years to 1 year 8 months, expiring on November 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny of an automobile and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 3 to 9 years on the 23rd day of March, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Constructive habits of industry and a sincere interest in self-improvement are cited in this man's favor. His future adjustments will probably depend upon the selection of his companions."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states that he should not be paroled at the expiration of one year. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he would have no objection to the application if we believed the applicant has now realized the enormity of his acts and had been taught a lesson.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this applicant, as soon as he would get under the influence of liquor, would invariably take an automobile without the consent of the owner. His crimes did not consist of attempting to dispose of these automobiles, but revolved around operation without consent. All this sprung from his tendency to overindulge in alcoholic beverages.

The applicant has been assured of a job by Mr. Joseph McCann who conducts a Coal and Ice business in Philadelphia. The applicant will reside at the home of his parents in Philadelphia.

The Board believes that his present sentence has awakened in him a feeling of responsibility and that he will no longer offend against the law. It therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served one year and eight months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until March 16, 1946.

The applicant was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 20th day of August, 1935, for the larceny of an automobile and reckless driving to five years probation. On the 2nd day of April, 1937, the probation was rescinded and the applicant was remanded to the Eastern State Penitentiary for the balance of the unexpired term, to run concurrent with his present imprisonment.

In re application of John V. Cassidy, No. 3920, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John V. Cassidy, convicted of larceny of auto, assault and battery, operating an auto while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on February 26, 1923, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of larceny of an automobile and guilty to the crime of assault and battery and operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was sentenced to one years probation by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 26th day of February, 1923.

The trial judge, Honorable Judge McCullum, is deceased and Honarable Harry S. McDevitt states: "No one has any objection to this man cleaning up his record." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., is not opposed to the granting of this application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant when about 20 years of age, became involved in the crimes of larceny of an automobile and operating said automobile while under the influence of liquor. Since his arrest and probation he has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner. He is employed by the Hires Company in Philadelphia and resides with his sister. The applicant has an opportunity of being appointed to the Fire Department of the City of Philadelphia and is desirous of having his record cleared in order to accept such an appointment. The Board therefore recommends that a full pardon be granted the applicant as his conduct since his arrest in 1923 has been above criticism.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his personal advancement.

In re application of John Owens, C-6632, No. 3926, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Owens, convicted of murder, second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Franklin County on December 6, 1930, be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 11 months, expiring on November 6, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from ten to twenty years by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Frankiin County on the 6th day of December, 1930.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant's previous record consists of one arrest of a minor nature, being drunk and disorderly. His exceptional record is cited in this man's case. He has shown unusual habits of industry. Since this man made an outstanding record and has a history of economic stability prior to this crime and also the fact that his previous employer is willing to give him work, we feel that this case deserves favorable consideration."

The trial judge, the Honorable Watson R. Davison, states: "We feel that the sentence was a proper one but if your Board feels that the punishment has been sufficient, under the circumstances, and his conduct in the penitentiary, is satisfactory, I would not, in any way, oppose action of the Board.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that applicant had a prior good reputation in the vicinity of Waynesboro, Pennsylvania. Likewise, our agent reports that Judge Davison and District Attorney Glenn Benedict have no objections to the applicant being commuted. The applicant is assured of employment by his former employer, Mr. Hoffman, who conducts an automobile business in Waynesboro. He will reside in Waynesboro and will be under the sponsorship of Mr. Hoffman.

The Board of Pardons believes that this man has served sufficient time and has been adequately punished for his crime. The Board believes that he will not reenter the field of crime upon release, but will conduct himself in a law-abiding manner as he previously has done.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 11 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until December 6, 1950.

In re application of Martin McCarthy, No. 3932, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Martin McCarthy, convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 30, 1932, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows.

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of larceny and receiving stolen goods. He was placed on probation by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 30th day of November, 1932, for two years.

The trial judge, the Honorable Wm. L. Darr, is deceased. Judge Harry S. McDevitt stated as follows: "So far as I can ascertain, this man has not been in trouble since his conviction in 1932. The court officials have no objection to a pardon." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to the granting of a pardon.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was undoubtedly guilty of stealing articles from Sears Roebuck and Company. However, since his arrest and conviction, he has conducted himself in a very excellent manner and has not disobeyed the law in any particular. The applicant is married and has three children. He is at present employed as a warehouse man for the Quaker City Rubber Company. He has taken the Civil Service Examination for a position in the Fire Department of the City of Philadelphia and has a good opportunity of being appointed, provided his record is cleared.

The Board believes that this applicant has so conducted himself during the past six years as to merit this consideration and the Board therefore recommends that a full pardon be granted to the applicant.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter J. Mayer, D-2406, No. 3938, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons, recommend that the minimum sentence of Walter J. Mayer, convicted of burglary, felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of York County on August 28, 1937, be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year and 3 months, expiring on November 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of burglary, felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of York County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 2½ to 5 years on the 28th day of August, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant was transferred to the York County Prison in March, 1938. An exceptional prison record is cited by the Warden of the York County Prison. He also states that this man comes from a good family and that he will return to good environment.

The trial judge, Honorable Ray P. Sherwood, states: "I have no objection to his release at the expiration of his minimum sentence if his conduct in prison warrants it. The trial district attorney, Walter I. Anderson, did not reply to our letter of inquiry.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the surrounding circumstances of this trial were confused. It was indicated that one of the jurymen had been approached by the private prosecutor and the attorneys for the private prosecutor withdrew from the trial and the case was heard and tried by eleven jurymen. The Warden of the York County Jail, Mr. Harry Cromwell, assures the Board that the applicant fully realizes the enormity of his offense and he believes that the applicant will not cause any more trouble. Letters of recommendation were received from the pastor of his church and from his family physician.

The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Mike Sholtas, B-5773, No. 3943, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session,, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Mike Sholtas, convicted of larceny of auto and larceny from person, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Somerset County on September 20, 1937, effective July 15, 1937, be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year, 4 months, expiring on November 15, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of larceny of an automobile and robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Somerset County to the Western State Penitentiary for from 1½ to 3 years on the 20th day of September, 1937, to begin July 15, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that if this inmate were eligible to apply for parole "we would probably recommend him (1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record, (3) cooperative and trustworthy inmate."

The trial judge, Honorable Norman T. Boose, states: "It is my belief that he was properly convicted in both offenses, but, inasmuch as he has served almost the minimum sentence, I have no recommendation to make for or against the granting of his application." The district attorney, Archibald M. Matthews, states: "We will oppose any commutation of the sentence in this case."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant has been arrested on several minor charges prior to this conviction. His reputation has been satisfactory and he has been employed as a coal miner by the Berwind White Coal Company. The applicant has contended that he was not involved in this larceny of the automobile, although the circumstances would indicate that he was guilty as charged. The applicant is unmarried and will reside with his parents in Windber, Pa., and will be employed in the mines of the Berwind White Coal Company. Mr. Andrew King of Scalp Level, will be his sponsor.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant has been sufficiently punished and that he will not re-enter the field of crime if released.

The applicant will have served one year and four months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Wilbur P. Brenneman, D-2243, No. 3947, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Wilbur P. Brenneman, convicted of felonious entry and robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Chester County on June 7, 1937, be commuted from 2 years to 1 year and 5 months, expiring on November 7, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of felonious entry and robbery. He was sentenced to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from two to four years by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Chester County on the 7th day of June, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has no known criminal record. "Judging from his habits and attitude which he has demonstrated while in prison, it is believed that his release would react favorably and he would make an honest effort to adjust."

The trial judge, the Honorable W. Butler Windle, states: "I think this matter is one for the exercise of discretion by the Board." The district attorney, Raymond B. Reid, states: "From what we know of Mr. Brenneman and all the information that is available we are of the opinion that his sentence should be commuted."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant is guaranteed employment on the farm of Mr. Harvey Kunkle, Malvern, Pa. Mr. Kunkle will furnish him with room, board and salary, in exchange for his services as a farmer. The applicant has never been convicted of any crime and it is believed that he will not re-enter the criminal field. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be extended to the applicant.

He will have served one year and five months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1941.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Petrus, B-5427, No. 3954, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Petrus, convicted of felonious assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Butler County on March 13, 1937, be commuted from 2 years to 1 year and 8 months, expiring on November 13, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to felonious assault and pointing firearms and was sentenced to the Western State Penitentiary for from two to four years by the Quarter Sessions Court of Butler County on the 13th day of March, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they believe that the applicant should complete the minimum sentence.

The trial judge, the Honorable John H. Wilson, states: "I have no objection to his release if the pardon Board desires to accept the responsibility." The district attorney, Lee C. McCandless, states: "We are not adverse to any commutation which may be extended."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this man, coming home, became involved in a family quarrel, evidently induced by drinking. This quarrel progressed until he chased his family from the home and fired a shot gun over their heads. The wife of the applicant appeared before the Board and stated that she was not in fear of her husband and that they had always gotten along satisfactorily. He is the owner of two farms and is badly needed to help operate the farms. The applicant is married and has three young children and the wife contends that without his assistance they cannot properly manage the farms. The applicant bore a good reputation in the neighborhood and had, up to this occurrence, been a law-abiding citizen.

The Board believes that he has been sufficiently punished for this outburst of temper and recommends that a commutation be granted.

The applicant will have served one year and eight months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until March 13, 1941.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Merrill Melvin McCreight, C-9118, No. 3955, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Merrill Melvin McCreight, convicted of kidnapping, robbery and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Cumberland County on August 8, 1933, be commuted from 10 years to 5 years and 3 months, expiring on November 8, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to kidnapping, robbery and larceny, and was sentenced to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from ten to twenty years by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Cumberland County of the 8th day of August, 1933.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the man's previous record consists of one charge of violation of the National Motor Vehicle Act. This charge was a Federal sentence which is a part of the current case. The applicant's institutional record, his habits of industry and the constructive attitude that he has maintained are all factors that indicate that he would react favorably if released.

The trial judge, the Honorable Fred S. Reese, did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The district attorney, J. Boyd Landis, stated that he was not opposed to the application and that the applicant was not guilty of kidnapping and should be set free.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant did take an automobile which was returned, but is not guilty of the crime of kidnapping. The trial district attorney, Frederick J. Templeton, in an extenuating letter which outlined the entire case, recommended that the applicant have his sentence commuted.

The applicant is assured of a job in the mill of Mr. Morris M. Satinsky, Philadelphia. The applicant will have served 5 years and 3 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the Supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1953.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Louis Giano, D-1604, No. 3965, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Louis Giano, convicted of statutory rape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bucks County on September 24, 1936 be commuted from 6 years to 2 years, 2 months, expiring on November 24, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of statutory rape and was sentenced to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from six to twelve years by the Quarter Sessions Court of Bucks County on the 24th day of September, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man's conduct record is satisfactory although he assumes an indifferent attitude.

The trial judge, the Honorable Calvin S. Boyer states: "I feel that it would be a great mistake to pardon this applicant and I am emphatically opposed to the same." The district attorney, Edward G. Biester, likewise expressed the opinion that no pardon should be granted at this time.

Investigation by the Board of Pardon reveals that the applicant invited a girl four days short of her sixteenth birthday, on an automobile ride and had intercourse with her. They returned to Bristol and invited two young men to accompany them. These accomplices likewise had intercourse with the girl. The accomplices have been released from prison and are now on probation.

Our investigation further indicates that the victim appeared to be older than her age and that she willingly consented to the intercourse both by the applicant and the accomplices.

The Board of Pardons believes that under the circumstances the applicant has been sufficiently punished. The applicant will be assured of employment by friends in Bristol and will reside with his parents in that city. The applicant is engaged to be married to a young lady who will wed him upon his release. This young lady bears a very good reputation and will readily cooperate with this department in the supervision of the applicant. The Board therefore recommends that the sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served 2 years and 2 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until September, 1948.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Evan H. Evans, D-1397, No. 3969, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Evan H. Evans, convicted of burglary, larceny and breaking and entering, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on June 3, 1936, be commuted from 10 years to 2 years, 5 months, expiring on November 3, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary, larceny and breaking and entering. He was sentenced to the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Luzerne County on the 3rd day of June, 1936, to from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has a very good work record and his conduct record is above reproach. He is employed as a fireman at the power house in the penitentiary.

The trial judge, the Honorable Clarence A. Coughlin, did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, John Dando, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was unquestionably guilty of entering a number of homes in Luzerne County, together with four accomplices have been paroled and one is one probation. The fourth accomplice is still in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The applicant did not use weapons or commit any violence, and assisted the authorities in restoring the stolen property whenever possible. His mother, a widow, lives in poverty and the Board was assured that the son would make his home with his mother and support her. Letters of recommendation were received from a number of people in Luzerne County, business men, ministers, and other persons who are acquainted with the family. Employment has been assured the applicant by Mr. H. S. Draon, Luzerne, Pa., who is engaged in the contracting business.

The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for these crimes and he will not re-enter the field of crime if released. He will have served 2 years and 5 months of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until 1956.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Landolfi, No. 3974, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice. in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph Landolfi, convicted of knowingly having motor vehicle with altered and changed numbers; false pretenses in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 8, 1926 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of knowingly having motor vehicle with altered and changed numbers and false pretense and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County to three years in the Philadelphia County Prison on the 8th day of November, 1926. The sentence was reduced to two years in the Philadelphia County Prison on the 12th day of November, 1926.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states that he is unable to know "if he has been in any difficulty since leaving Philadelphia, but if he has not, and simply wants to clear his record, I have no objection to his application." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states to the Board that he had no objection to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant, together with accomplices, was engaged in the unlawful practice of selling stolen automobiles. Since his arrest and discharge on this crime he was involved in two minor offenses in Los Angeles, California, and now has lodged against him an order for deportation.

The applicant now resides in Los Angeles, California, and is employed by the Moving Picture Industry as a stage hand in the various studios. The Board believes that the applicant, who is married and has three children, is deserving of the mercy of the Commonwealth and therefore recommends that a pardon be extended to him.

The Board believes that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of Eugene Francis Reilly, C-5642, No. 4058, October Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice. in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Eugene Francis Reilly, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 1, 1929 be commuted from 10 years to 9 years and 1 month expiring on November 1, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from ten to twenty years on the 1st day of October, 1929.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Pententiary state that if this man will continue the same type of behavior, habits of industry and attitude that he has shown in the institution and if he will refrain from associating with undesirable companions after released, he can probably adjust successfully in society. This man has sent home over eighteen hundred dollars to his mother which accrued from bonuses, insurance policies and earnings.

The trial judge, the Honorable Francis Shunk Brown, Jr., states that he is opposed to the applicant't being released from prison until he has served his minimum sentence. The assstant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that inasmuch as he has served about 90 per cent of his minimum term, his attitude was neutral and largely depended upon the opinion of the prison authorities. Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this applicant has conducted himself in the institution so well that he is permitted to work both inside and outside of the walls and he has never violated his trust. The applicant is assured of a job as a laborer on the highways in Schuylkill County, under the control of Mr. C. L. Scholl, Superintendent. He will reside with his mother in Forestville, Pa.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant has been punished sufficiently and that his prison term has taught him the value of living a law-abiding life. The Board therefore believes that he will not re-enter the field of crime.

The applicant will have served 9 years and 1 month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1949.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James W. Reynolds, C-6307, No. 109A, November Sesson, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice. in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 197 of James W. Reynolds, convicted of rape, entering with intent to commit a felony in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on October 11, 1928, to begin July 8, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 197 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on January 9. 1939.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommedations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

In re application of James Crane, C-6982, No. 110A, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences on Bills No. 21, 22, 23, 26, 27 and 28 of James Crane, convicted of felonious entry and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Cumberland County on January 26, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 21, to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on January 26, 1939; on Bill No. 22 to a minimum of 1 day, expiring January 27, 1939, on Bill No. 23 to a minimum of 1 day, expiring January 28, 1939; on Bill No. 26, expiring January 29, 1939; on Bill No. 27, expiring January 30, 1939; and on Bill No. 28, to a minimum of 1 day, expiring January 31, 1939.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Wilbur Durand, C-6781, No. 111A, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Owens on Bill No 48, convicted of felonious entry and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Franklin County on January 27, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 48 from a minimum of 4 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on January 28, 1939.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Del Vaccio, C-7476, No. 276, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Frank De Vaccio, convicted of murder, 1st degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on October 21, 1931 be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 7 years, 2 months, expiring on December 21, 1938, and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 6th day of December, 1929, to death by electrocution. The Board of Pardons commuted his sentence of death to life imprisonment on the 21st day of October, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Applicant's previous record is lengthy and of a miscellaneous type. He was discharged on 14 arrests, sent to Glen Mills once and to Philadelphia County Prison twice. Applicant has served 7 years and is now seeking clemency from a life sentence. This man's previous criminal record is the best indication of his attitude towards society."

The trial judge, Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "Shortly after the commission of the crime of which he was convicted, I interviewed a number of American residents in the neighborhood of Tenth and Federal streets. They came to me in chambers and told me very frankly that they were afraid to testify in the Jacobs matter because of the prevalence of dangerous Americans in the neighborhood. They corroborated everything that Del Vaccio and Del Giorno had stated; and, while neither of them show symptoms of sprouting wings, I believe Jacobs was killed in self-defense.

When this application was first made, I wrote a letter; and, subsequently, when the application of Del Giorno was made. All of the information I then possessed is contained therein.

If this man is being punished for the murder of Jacobs, I think he should be commuted.

The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that this case is on all fours with the Del Giorno (Danny Day) case and he should receive the same treatment. Reverend Bernard C. Farley, Chaplain of the Eastern State Penitentiary, says that it is his opinion that the applicant will not re-enter the field of crime.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the facts in this case are identical with those of the Del Giorno (Danny Day) case in which one Samuel Jacobs opened fire with two revolvers and the applicant, together with his accomplices, returned the fire, acting in self-defense. Del Giorno's sentence was commuted by the Board in 1935 and he was released on parole in July, 1938. The other accomplice, Anthony Piccarelli, was commuted in July, 1933. The Board of Pardons recommends that the sentence of the applicant be commuted, believeing that he will not re-enter the field of crime and that he is deserving of the same degree of clemency which his accomplices received.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 2 months of his sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Fink, C-3796, No. 940, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Harry Fink, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on February 4, 1927, be commuted from a maximum of 15 years to a minimum of 11 years and 10 months, expiring on December 4, 1938, and a maximum of 15 years, and convicted of breaking and escaping penitentiary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Centre County on September 17, 1928, be commuted from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 5, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 5 to 10 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 4th day of February, 1927. He escaped from the Rockview Farm Prison and was sentenced on the 17th day of September, 1928, on the charge of escaping for from 5 to 15 years, sentence to begin at the expiration of the sentence on robbery imposed on February 4, 1927.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Applicant received a sentence of 5 to 15 years and would have been released on parole several years ago had he not escaped from the Rockview institution. His escape was a deliberate act on his part, therefore, a favorable recommendation would be putting our stamp of approval on this type of behavior. This we cannot do, regardless of time served and his good prison record."

The trial judge, Honorable James Gay Gordon, Jr., did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The trial judge on the escape charge, Honorable M. Ward Fleming, stated that he had no objection if the penitentiary morale was not disturbed and the institution authorities had been satisfied. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he would rely on the action of the Board.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this man has spent over ten years in the penitentiary. He already has served his minimum sentence for the original charge and his minimum for the escape charge. It is the belief of the Board of Pardons that this applicant has been sufficiently punished. The applicant was entitled to parole at the end of five years on the original charge and he started his new sentence of five years, which has been completed. It is the thought of the Board that these sentences should be considered as though made at the same time.

His sponsor is Mr. William Portner of Philadelphia and a tentative offer of employment has been extended by the Frankford Clothing Mills in Philadelphia.

The applicant will have served 11 years and 10 months of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until February, 1953.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Clyde Shaulis, B-2710, No. 1022, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Clyde Shaulis, convicted of murder, 2nd degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Somerset County on April 13, 1931 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years and 8 months expiring on December 13, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of second degree murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Somerset County on the 13th day of April, 1931, for from 10 to 20 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first imprisonment (2) excellent institutional record (3) very cooperative inmate (4) has served 7 years and 7 months.

The trial judge, Honorable Norman T. Boose, states: "I beg to state that in view of the fact that the applicant will soon have completed four-fifths of his minimum sentence, it would seem to me that he should now be eligible for favorable consideration by the Board." The district attorney, Archibald M. Matthews, states: "I do not think this is a proper case for clemency and the application should be dismissed."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the father of the applicant was shot and killed by the son in mistake for an intruder on the premises. There is some doubt as to the accuracy of the account as related by the petitioner but the underlying evidence would point to an accidental killing. The Board is of the opinion that the doubt arising as to whether or not the killing was accidental, or intentional where the testimony is not clear as to the intentions, should be resolved in favor of the applicant. The applicant will return to his home and assume the management of the farm, consisting of about two hundred acres of land, on which his mother now resides. The Board therefore recommends that the applicant's sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 8 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1951.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Shields, C-1996, No. 1136, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of John Shields, convicted of murder, 1st degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County, on February 27, 1923, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 15 years, 9 months and 25 days expiring on December 22, 1938, and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to death on the 26th day of May, 1922. The sentence was commuted to life imprisonment on the 27th day of February, 1923, in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "This man has no known previous criminal record. Judging on the basis of this man's institutional performance, over a period of 15 years and 6 months, and also the fact that he has no previous criminal record, lead us to believe he will probably make an honest effort to adjust."

The trial judge, Honorable Howard A. Davis, states: "He was sentenced to death on May 26, 1922, but was subsequently commuted to life imprisonment on February 27, 1923. The record of this case speaks for itself and I see no reason for any further clemency on the part of the Board of Pardons." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant shot and killed his sweetheart, Lillie Bell Hunter. It appeared that she came up from the South to visit him and his friends and while here the victim became acquainted with other men and was cool towards her sweetheart. It appeared that the applicant was employed in a coal yard while the victim's new acquaintances held better jobs, or at least ones that were more clean. The evident estrangement lead to the killing. The applicant is undoubtedly a better type of colored inmate and he has attempted to improve himself by studying the elementary academic subjects during his incarceration. He has been employed in the Rag Shop for over 10 years and has sent a large part of his earnings to his mother.

The Board believes that this applicant has been sufficiently punished and will not reenter the field of crime. He has been assured of a job with his old employer, Connor Coal Company, Philadelphia, and will reside with his mother in Philadelphia.

The applicant has served 15 years, 9 months and 25 days and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Amato Laucello, B-18 41014, No. 1616, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Amato Laucello, convicted of murder, 2nd degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on June 26, 1931, to begin June 21, 1931, be commuted from 10 years to 7 years and 6 months expiring on December 21, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder of the second degree and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Delaware County to imprisonment in the Delaware County Prison for from ten to twenty years on the 21st day of June, 1931.

The trial judge, Albert Dutton MacDade, states that the applicant was well represented at the trial and believes that he was guilty of the crime of second degree murder. The assistant district attorney, Anthony DeFuria stated that he was not opposed to the granting of a commutation. He stated that the family is scattered, the wife being now an inmate of the Byberry Hospital and the children are in an institution. The Warden of the Delaware County Prison states that the applicant has been a well behaved prisoner and that he has been very helpful to the prison authorities. He has been a trusted inmate for three years and more and has never violated his trust.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was unquestionably guilty. The quarrel arose from a dispute as to money being owed and both the applicant and the victim had been drinking. The Board has full confidence that the prisoner will not re-enter the field of crime. He had no previous criminal record and his conduct during the past seven years in prison has been satisfactory. He has been assured of employment on a farm near Glassboro, New Jersey, and it is his intention to have his wife return from the hospital and his children from the institution, and re-establish his own home.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted, believing that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and will not re-enter the field of crime.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 6 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 21, 1951.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Benjamin Imburgia, C-4871, No. 1922, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Benjamin Imburgia, convicted of murder, 1st degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on February 21, 1928, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 10 years 10 months, expiring on December 21, 1938, and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County to imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for the period of his natural life on the 21st day of February, 1928. The applicant was transferred to the Eastern State Penitentiary on October 9, 1928.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary, where the applicant is now confined, state: "This petition is based on the contention that the applicant was not a participant in the crime and therefore is not guilty. If applicant is able to prove his statement, he should receive clemency."

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel L. Reed, is deceased and Judge Ambrose B. Reid writes as follows: "Your Board no doubt has a complete history of this case and the applicant's institutional record and I therefore, leave the matter entirely to the judgment of the Board." The assistant district attorney, Russell H. Adams. stated to the Board that the district attorney's office did not oppose the application as they felt that there was always an element of doubt in this case.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant, together with his brother, was arrested on a charge of killing one, Thomas Clynes, who operated a gambling house in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. The victim made four dying declarations which were somewhat in conflict and did not specifically in these declarations describe the applicant as being a participant in the affray. The applicant alleged that he was at his home attending his father, who was dying. It appears that he was supported in this statement by thirteen witnesses, including a Catholic Priest who was administering Extreme Unction to the dying man. There seems to be no doubt that the brother of the applicant, Mike Imburgia, was present at the time the victim was fatally shot.

The evidence in this case was reviewed carefully by the district attorney's office of Allegheny County and they consulted with the Chief of the County Detectives, Peter Connors, and other officials of the law who had any connection with this case, and it was their opinion that there is reasonable doubt as to the participation of the applicant. The Board of Pardons has reviewed this case on several occasions and directed their own investigators to carefully study and report on every factor in this application. It is the considered opinion of the Board of Pardons, after careful review of this aplication and previous applications, that there is a reasonable doubt as to the presence of this applicant at the shooting. and such being the case, it is fair to resolve the doubt in favor of the applicant. This opinion is likewise held by the district attorney's office of Allegheny County.

The Board therefore recommends that the sentence be commuted. The applicant has served 10 years and 10 months of his sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Joseph Mansfield, B-2287, No. 2107, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Joseph Mansfield, convicted of breaking and escaping penitentiary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Centre County on October 29, 1930 be commuted from 5 years to 16 days expiring on December 24, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny, breaking and entering and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Crawford County to pay a fine of one dollar and for from 5 to 10 years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 26th day of November, 1928. On the 17th day of October, 1930, he escaped from the Rockview Farm Prison and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Centre County for breaking and escaping penitentiary to from 5 to 10 years on the 29th day of October, 1930, to begin at the expiration of the original sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole. we would probably not recommend him at this time because of criminal history and institutional record."

The trial judge of the original sentence, Honorable O. Clair Kent, states that he sees no merit to the application. The trial judge, Honorable M. Ward Fleming. states that he has no objection if the penitentiary morale is not disturbed and the institutional authorities are satisfied. The district attorney of Centre County Honorable M. W. Gettig, states that he has no objection if he is paroled at the expiration of his minimum term.

It is alleged that this man was thrown on the streets at an early age, his father being undependable. His record at the penitentiary has been satisfactory but not outstanding. However, the Board recognizes the fact that he has served his minimum sentences and if he had been convicted and sentenced at the same time for the two crimes he would now have been released on parole as having served his minimum sentence.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted, in view of this fact, namely having served his minimum sentence.

The applicant will have served 10 years and 16 days and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1948.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Albert Fuenfstueck, C-3999, No. 2129, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of William Albert Fuenfstueck, convicted of murder, 1st degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lehigh County on June 17, 1927, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 11 years, 6 months, expiring on December 17, 1938, and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder in the first degree and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lehigh County to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 17th day of June, 1927.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "This man has one previous arrest of a minor nature. This applicant has served approximately eleven years. His prison record of performance and conduct are excellent. If the Board feels that he has served sufficient amount of time we have no objections to his release."

The trial judge, Honorable Claude T. Reno, states: "I think it did show that he had been drinking. Whether or not the pardon should be granted is a matter upon which I prefer not to express an opinion." The district attorney's office did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this man was guilty of the crime. It is alleged that he became very intimate with Evelyn Hummel, although he was married and had a family of five children. It developed that Evelyn Hummel was influential in having him dispose of the greater portion of his wealth and when his funds were gone she indicated that she would leave him. This inflamed him, after wasting his substance upon her, whereupon he procured a revolver and fatally shot her. The Board is of the opinion that this was a crime of passion in which all of the elements necessary for a first degree murder were not present. It is alleged that during the riots in 1933 at the Eastern State Penitentiary he saved the lives of two officers by his prompt intervention. The Chaplain, Reverend Bernard C. Farley, and Dr. Linn Bowman, Restoration Director, of the Eastern State Penitentiary, came before the Board and assured the members that this man was thoroughly rehabilitated and that he would not re-enter the field of crime. The Board is assured that many of the citizens of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, speak highly of him and believe that he will re-enter society and become a respectable member of it.

The applicant will have served 11 years and 6 months of his sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Joseph Tunilla, No. 2462, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William Joseph Tunilla, convicted of burglarly and robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Columbia County, on December 22, 1930, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Columbia County for from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 22d day of December, 1930. The sentence was commuted by the Board of Pardons in October, 1935.

The trial judge, Honorable Charles C. Evans, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The district attorney, Harold G. Teel, states: "Apparently this young man has rehabilitated himself and, in my opinion, the application for Pardon should be granted."

The Supervisor of Paroles, Mr. Courtland Butler, stated: "The parolee wants a pardon to clear his record, and since he has been under state control at liberty for nearly 3 years, I recommend favorable consideration. He has had such a good record under us we have had him on a quarterly supervision basis."

Investigation by the Board indicates that the applicant with several accomplices, was involved in a hold-up in 1930. All of the accomplices have been released on parole. The applicant had never before become involved in any crime and since his release he has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner. At the present time he resides in Philadelphia with his wife and is employed by the Atlantic Service Station. He is desirous of advancing himself in business and a pardon would be of material assistance in gaining that object. The applicant has conducted himself so splendidly that the Board believes that a pardon could be properly granted to him.

The Board therefore recommends that a pardon be granted, believing that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance in his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of John William Landgraf, No. 2607, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill No. 281 and minimum sentence on Bill No. 282 of John William Landgraf, convicted of burglary, larceny, receiving stolen goods, and carrying concealed deadly weapons, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on June 4, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 281 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 8 years and 6 months, expiring on December 4, 1938; and on Bill No. 282 from a minimum of years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary, larceny, receiving stolen goods and carrying concealed deadly weapons. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Delaware County for from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary and to pay five hundred dollars fine on the 4th day of June, 1930.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Applicant's previous criminal record does not invite much confidence. However, he has served years and has made some progress towards self-improvement. If he has guaranteed sponsor and work contact we have no objection to favorable consideration.

The trial judge, Honorable Albert D. MacDade writes that it is his opinion that the applicant has made some reformation and re-adjustment during his incarceration. The assistant district attorney, Anthony DeFuria states that in his opinion the applicant has served enough time.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was guilty of a number of burglaries in Chester County. However, during his incarceration he has proved to be a steady and industrious worker, being employed in the bakery kitchen. The applicant has been assured employment by Mr. Joseph Cavalier of Philadelphia, who sells and installs oil burners. He will be under the supervision of his brother and will reside with his brother in Philadelphia. The Board of Pardons is of the opinion that this applicant has been sufficiently punished and that he will probably not re-enter the field of crime. His employment and sponsorship are of the very best and it is believed that the applicant will merit clemency shown to him. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

He will have served 8 years and 6 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1948.

om ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary n the 27th day of April, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary ate: "Applicant's previous record consists of one arrest or entering to steal. A bill was submitted and he was ischarged by the Judge. Applicant has an excellent nstitutional work and conduct record and has made an onest effort toward self-improvement. He has shown by is attitude and actions that he has profited by his imrisonment. He has satisfactory sponsor and work conacts and it is our thought that he will be a good parole sk. Favorable consideration is recommended."

The trial judge, Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: f you think his minimum should be reduced, I have no bjections." The assistant district attorney, James W. racey, Jr., stated that he would rely upon the action the Board.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that his applicant assaulted a police officer with a baseball at when a friend of the applicant was being arrested y the officer. His friend was acquitted, although it is ndicated that the Policeman's revolver was taken by the riend. From the facts which have come to the attenon of the Board it would appear that the applicant as guilty of aggravated assault and battery.

The applicant has a very good prison record and is present a trusty to the Warden of the Eastern State enitentiary. The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery, eing armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced y the Oyer and Terminer Court of Washington County for om ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary n the 14th day of February, 1930.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary ate: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we ould probably recommend him for parole (1) excellent stitutional record (2) very cooperative inmate (3) has ade progress towards self-improvement (4) has served years and 9 months."

The trial judge, Honorable Erwin Cummins, is deceased nd we did not hear from the president judge, Honorable James I. Brownson. The present district attorney, James C. Bane, states: "We will leave the matter entirely within the hands of your Honorable Board."

Both the applicant and the accomplice reseived 10 to 20 years. The accomplice was released by the commutation of his sentence in December, 1936. The Board is of the opinion that this applicant should likewise merit the consideration shown the accomplice, and be granted a commutation.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas Roth, No. 3236, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that Thomas Roth, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Northumberland County, on April 30, 1935, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Northumberland County for from 3 to 6 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 30th day of April, 1935. He was released on parole on the 30th day of April, 1938.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has been on parole too short a time to demonstrate whether or not he is entitled to further clemency.

The trial judge, Honorable C. K. Morganroth, stated that he had no objection to the granting of the application. The district attorney, Robert M. Fortney, stated that he had no objection to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant is anxious to enlist in the United States Army. He had a prior enlistment of three years, from which he received an honorable discharge as a first class private. He is anxious to re-enlist and it is necessary to have a pardon before he can join the service. The applicant has on file with the Board a petition signed by 250 or more residents of Mt. Carmel and Shamokin, subscribing to his character and recommending a pardon. The Warden of the Northumberland County Jail states: "We of this institution, firmly believe that he has learned a lesson and will never again get into trouble, and we also know that this was the first trouble he was ever in."

Likewise, the Supervisor of Paroles states: "I recommend that he be pardoned so he may become eligible for re-enlistment, as I feel he is one outstanding case of sincere effort to re-build himself in society.

The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that a pardon be granted, believing that it will in part remove the stigma of the crime and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Lollo, B-2656, No. 3530, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bills No. 51 and No. 45 and minimum sentence on Bill No. 54 of Harry Lollo, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on May 13, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 51 (Bills No. 48, 49 and 52 concurrent) from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 7 years, 7 months, expiring on December 13, 1938; on Bill No. 45 (Bills No. 44, 46, 53, 63 concurrent) from a maximum of 40 years to a maximum of 1 day ,expiring on December 14, 1938; and on Bill No. 54 (Bills No. 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 61, and 62 concurrent) from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 15, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County to imprisonment for from 30 to 100 years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 13th day of May, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend him for parole (1) excellent institutional record, (2) sentence of accomplice has been commuted (3) has now served over seven and one-half years."

The trial judge, Honorable George V. Moore, who is no longer on the bench, did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, Russel H. Adams of Allegheny County, stated that he was opposed to the application as the applicant was involved in a large number of robberies.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant, together wih several accomplices, during the depression period of 1930, entered A&P Stores and robbed them of money and merchandise. All the accomplices have been released on parole or probation. Undoubtedly the applicant was guilty of the crimes and the only excuse could be his desperate need for his wife and children. During his term in the penitentiary he has been employed in the weaving shop, where it is reported that he was entirely reliable and trustworthy. He has been offered employment by his sponsor, Mr. H. S. Wallis, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mr. Wallis is a general building contractor and has enjoyed a good volume of business.

The Board of Pardons believes that this man has been sufficiently punished for his crime and that under the sponsorship which has been assured he will probably adjust himself and will not re-enter the field of crime. The applicant has served 7 years and 7 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1978.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth
GUY K. BARD,

In re application of Rockey Carey, D-752, No. 355 November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upo due public notice, in open session, the undersigned mem bers of the Board of Pardons recommend that the min mum sentence of Rockey Carey, convicted of robber in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lackawanna Coun on July 20, 1935, to begin August 27, 1934, be commute from 6 years to 4 years 3 months 15 days expiring on De cember 12, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery an was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lacka wanna County to from 6 to 12 years in the Eastern State Pen tentiary and to pay a fine of one thousand dollars on the 27t day of August, 1934.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentia state: "Satisfactory institutional and employment record a cited in this man's favor. However, no exceptional factor ca be cited upon which we can predict his future behaviour."

The trial judge, Honorable William R. Lewis, states: "I view of the enormity of his offense I do not believe that h application should be granted. I am personally acquainte with some of the members of his family, and they are ex cellent peaple." The assistant district attorney, Edward stated that the district attorney's office was opposed to th granting of the application.

The applicant maintains his innocence of this crime upo the basis of the testimony of one, Gonzalez, although the re port of the investigator of the Board indicates that the ap plicant was implicated in the crime. The applicant com from a splendid family in Lackawanna County, one broth being Burgess of Old Forge, Pa., and another brother beir a member of the Bar of Lackawanna County. The Boa is of the opinion that this applicant, who has been assure of proper sponsorship by his brothers, will not re-enter th field of crime. It is the belief of the Board that this applica has been taught a lesson and that he will no longer be menace to the community. The applicant is assured of em ployment by his brother in a nearby coal mine. He will re side at home with his ten year old child.

The applicant will have served 4 years and 3 months an 15 days of his minimum sentence and will be under th supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1946.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Millard Jordan, No. 3565, November ession, 1938.

o His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due ublic notice, in open session, the undersigned members f the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum ntence of Millard Jordan, convicted of burglary in the ourt of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on ugust 1, 1935, be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 4 onths, expiring on December 1, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as llows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and as sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Alleheny County for from 5 to 10 years in the Western State enitentiary on the 1st day of August, 1935.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary ates that they would probably recommend him for parole 1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record 3) a very cooperative inmate.

The trial judge, the Honorable Thomas M. Marshall did ot reply to our letter of inquiry relative to the merits f the application. The assistant district attorney, Russell . Adams, of Allegheny County, stated that the applicant worthy of consideration and clemency.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the pplicant together with his brother and two brothers-inw committed a series of crimes in western Pennsylvania. hey alleged that being out of work and having dependnts upon them they were compelled to steal to avoid arvation. The applicant was never involved in any erious offenses prior to this conviction.

The applicant had a good work record and had been eadily employed up until the depression. The applicant as made attempts at self-improvement during his incareration and has a good work record at the penitentiary. le has been assured of employment on the farm of his randfather, Mr. J. M. Stapleton, Grahm, Kentucky.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation e granted. The applicant will have served three years nd four months of his minimum sentence and will be nder the supervision of the Board of Pardons until ugust 1, 1945.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas Patrick Culliney, D-1772, No. 3570, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due ublic notice, in open session, the undersigned members f the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum entence of Thomas Patrick Culliney, convicted of robbery, eing armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of yer and Terminer of Bucks County on December 4, 1936 e commuted from 3½ years to 2 years expiring on Deember 4, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as ollows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery, eing armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Bucks County to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 3½ to 7 years on the 4th day of December, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Although he has a satisfactory institutional record and has made some effort at self-improvement, this man's lack of initiative, would cause the thought that he has not been much interested in preparing himself to meet the difficult problems which he will encounter if released."

The trial judge, Honorable Hiram H. Keller, states: "At the time I imposed sentence I took all the facts he has submitted in his application into consideration and I see nothing in his application to recommend clemency for him at this time, and, I, therefore, oppose it." The district attorney, Edward G. Biester, states that the facts set forth in the applicant's petition are true.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this applicant was guilty. His accomplices have all been released except one who is serving in the Eastern State Penitentiary on another charge. The applicant merits the same consideration shown to his accomplices. During his imprisonment the applicant has been employed as a bricklayer. It is the feeling of the Board that this young man has been taught a lesson. His prior imprisonment was too short a time for him to learn the seriousness of violating the law. It is the opinion of the Board that the applicant will not re-enter the field of crime. He has been offered employment by Mr. Clifford Woods, Philadelphia, and will be under the sponsorship of his father, Mr. Joseph Culliney. The Board therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served two years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1943.

Respectfully submitted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Everett G. Horn, C-6942, No. 3663, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Everett G. Horn, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lackawanna County on March 17, 1931 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years and 9 months expiring on December 17, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The appplicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lackawanna County for from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 17th day of March, 1931. He likewise plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lehigh County for from 3 to 6 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 12th day of September, 1937, sentence to date from the sentence imposed by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lackawanna County in March, 1931 (concurrent).

The trial judge, Honorable E. C. Newcomb, is deceased and Judge Will Leach states that he knows nothing to contradict the statement of the facts in the above case. The district attorney, Michael J. Eagen, stated that he had no objections to the granting of the application as the prisoner has served nearly 8 years of his minimum. The private prosecutor in the case, Harry Goerlitz, Scranton, Pa., states that he believes the applicant has paid his debt to society. The applicant has a satisfactory prison record and during the riots of 1934 he assisted the authorities in removing the knives, the use of which might have resulted in bloodshed.

The Board is of the opinion that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for his crime and there is every prospect that with proper employment and sponsor he will not again re-enter the field of crime. The prospective employment of the petitioner is not definite. He will reside, however, at the home of his mother in Glenolden and will be under the sponsorship of his brother-in-law of Glenolden. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 9 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the Supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1951.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Antonio Allas, B-5060, C-5789, No. 3696, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Antonio Allas, convicted of murder 2nd degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on December 11, 1929 be commuted from 10 years to 9 years expiring on December 11, 1938, for deportation to Spain.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder in the second degree and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 11th day of December, 1929.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant has one more year to serve before completing his minimum sentence of ten years, at which time he will probably be recommended for parole. Therefore it is our thought that his sentence should be commuted for the purpose of deportation."

The trial judge, Honorable Horace Stern, did not reply to our letter of inquiry. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to the application in view of the fact that there is a mandatory warrant for his deportation.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this crime arose through a quarrel and the applicant was unquestionably guilty. There is now lodged against him by the United States Immigration Service a warrant for deportation. The Board therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted in order that he may be deported from this country.

The applicant will have served 9 years of his minimum sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Warren Younkins, B-5692, No. 3710, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Warren Younkins, convicted of felonious breaking and entering of buildings and the stealing of copper wire in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Clearfield County on August 23, 1937 be communted from 1½ years to 4 months and 1 year expiring on December 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of felonious breaking and entering and stealing of machinery and copper wire and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Clearfield County to pay a fine of one dollar and imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for from 1-1/2 to 3 years on the 23rd day of August, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penientiary state:

"If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record (3) very cooperative inmate."

The trial judge, Honorable W. Wallace Smith, states that he has no objection to the applicant's release, provided he spends the minimum term of 1-1/2 years in prison. The district attorney, Carl A. Belin, states: "This office opposed the application last May, and has not changed its position since that time."

The assistant district attorney, W. C. Chase, stated before the Board that he had no objection to the release of the prisoner as he has almost completed serving his minimum sentence.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant, together with several accomplices, was undoubtedly guilty of the crimes. However, this has been the applicant's first conviction and it is possible under proper sponsorship that this man may rehabilitate himself and become a useful member of society. He has been offered employment from Mr. James W. Laing, Coalport, Pa., who operates a coal mine in the vicinity. Mr. Laing is Justice of the Peace in that town and will also act as his sponsor. The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that he has larned a well-taught lesson. The Board is of the opinion that he will under proper sponsorship not re-enter the field of crime. The Board therefore recommends that the sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served one year and four months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until August 23, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Stephen Lackits, C-5085, No. 3741, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Stephen Lackits, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on November 16, 1936, be commuted from 5 years to 2 years and 1 month expiring December 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 5 to 10 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 16th day of November, 1936.

On the 19th day of November, 1936, the sentence was changed from imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary to from 5 to 20 years in the Philadelphia County Prison.

The trial judge, Honorable Joseph L. Kun, states that in his estimation the application is quite premature. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he would be satisfied with any decision of the Board in this matter and that it is his opinion that the applicant was led by an older man.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant came East from Chicago on a honeymoon trip with his wife, accompanied by one Leo Sherman. The money being exhausted, Sherman proposed a robbery and they participated in robbing a gas station and a drug store. It is the opinion of the Board that this applicant was induced to enter upon the crime by the older man, Leo Sherman, who possesses a criminal record and is now serving a ten to twenty year sentence in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The Chaplain of the Eastern State Penitentiary, Reverend Bernard C. Farley, stated that the applicant is a very fine boy and has behaved himself, as far as he knows, in the prison. The applicant is assured of employment in Chicago and will reside in that city with his wife and mother. As far as it can be learned, the applicant has no previous criminal record. The Board believes that he has been sufficiently punished, and therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 2 years and 1 month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1956.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles S. Lindsley, D-2159, No. 3978, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles S. Lindsley, convicted of statutory rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Susquehanna County on April 17, 1937, be commuted from 4 years to 1 year and 8 months expiring on December 17, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of statutory rape. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Susquehanna County for from 4 to 8 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 17th day of April, 1937. The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that if the applicant is guilty of the crime "we do not feel that the sentence is excessive."

The trial judge, the Honorable A. B. Smith, is no longer on the bench and the present judge, Honorable Edward P. Little, states: "After his conviction it was quite apparent to me that while he was guilty of having intercourse with this girl there were extenuating circumstances in that she claimed there were others and had been others and made an affidavit to that effect. I would not object in any way to any leniency which the Board would see fit to extend in this case and while this defendant has an unsavory record, I believe he could rehabilitate himself."

The trial district attorney, Honorable Joseph L. Carrigg, states that he cannot recommend one way or the other but relies on the Board.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the victim, Marjorie Sloat, made an affidavit on the 11th day of August, 1937, naming three other persons with whom she had intercourse. It was alleged that this girl gave her consent and bore a poor reputation in the community. The victim has since been committed to the Sleighton Farms, Delaware County, upon the action of the Children's Aid Society of Suspuehanna County, as she was considered a moral menace to the community. She is still confined to that institution.

The applicant has submitted a petition to the Board signed by a majority of the voters of Liberty Township, Suspuehanna County, testifying to his reputation and praying that the Board grant him clemency. Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the victim undoubtedly gave her consent and that she had been guilty of the offense with other persons in the community. It is the belief of the Board that due to the character of the victim, and the circumstances surrounding the case that the applicant has been sufficiently punished. The Board therefore recommends that the sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served one year and eight months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until April 17, 1945.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Leslie Ross, B-6098, No. 3980, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

muted from 2 years to 8 months expiring on December 21, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny of an automobile and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Washington County for from 2 to 5 years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 23rd day of April, 1938.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge, Honorable Carl E. Gibson, was non-committal in his reply. The district attorney, Honorable James C. Bane, writes: "In the event that your Honorable Board determines that this applicant is entitled to clemency we shall offer no objection."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant and an accomplice were in Washington, Pa., and driving home, intoxicated, their car broke down. They started to walk and came upon another car and drove it into Washington, Pa., where they abandoned it. From the facts in the case it would appear that the applicant is guilty of driving an automobile without the consent of the owner.

The reputation of the applicant has been rather good and the citizens of that community were rather surprised at the indictment and conviction. The applicant is assured of employment on the farm of Mr. George Acklin, Waynesburg, Pa., and will be under the sponsorship of Mr. Acklin. The Board believes that this young man has been sufficiently punished for driving a car without the consent of the owner, and therefore recommend that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served 8 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1943.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Carmen Ambrosino, B-3939, No. 3986, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Carmen Ambrosino, convicted of robbery with aggravating circumstances in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Huntingdon County on December 8, 1933, be commuted from 10 years to 5 years expiring on December 8, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Huntingdon County for from ten to twenty years and one hundred dollars fine in the Western State Penitentiary on the 8th day of December, 1933.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) very good institutional record."

The trial judge, Honorable Thomas F. Bailey, states: "However, in view of the fact that this is, I believe, Ambrosino's first offense, I am of the opinion that a commutation of his sentence after December 8, this year, would be proper." The district attorney, Samuel H. Stewart, states that he will be satisfied with the action of the Board.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons would indicate that there is some discrepancy as to the facts alleged in the petition and the report of the investigator of the Board, as to the complicity of Pearl Taylor, the alleged accomplice. The applicant has served a substantial portion of his minimum sentence and there is every reason to believe that his imprisonment has taught him a lesson. The Board is persuaded that he will not re-enter the field of crime and under the sponsorship and supervision which he will receive he will conduct himself in a law-abiding manner in the future. He has been assured of employment by Emil J. Bruno, Electrician, Hawthorne, N. J., and will reside in Hawthorne with his friend and employer. The Board therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served 5 years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1953.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Luther D. Shook, C-7923, No. 3990, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the under signed members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Luther D. Shook, convicted of bank robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Montour County on April 12, 1932, be commuted from 10 years to 6 years and 8 months expiring on December 12, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced for from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Montour County on the 12th day of April, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Applicant may have been influenced by his father, but nevertheless he was twenty years old when the crime was committed and he should accept responsibility for his part in the bank robbery. He has served approximately six and one-half years for a crime which was a menace to the public and for this reason we make no favorable recommendation."

The trial judge, Honorable Charles C. Evans, did not reply to our letter of inquiry but Judge Clinton Herring was non-committal in his remarks as he was not familiar with the case. The present district attorney, George O. Wagner, stated: "The district attorney's office would be satisfied with whatever disposition is made of the case by your Honorable Board, excepting however that the costs and fine be paid by the applicant."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant, together with his father, robbed a bank at Exchange, Pa., and stole about eleven hundred dollars. The applicant at the time of the robbery was about twenty years of age and his father about forty-two years of age, and they both received the same sentence. It is the opinion of the Board that the applicant was under the influence and domination of his father and for that reason he should receive some consideration. He was never involved in any crimes prior to his imprisonment, except a reckless driving charge and a suspicion of larceny. Since his incarceration he has learned to operate the typewriter and is employed as a clerk in the prison labor office. The Board believes that this applicant is not of a criminal type and that he has learned a lesson.

Employment is not definite but he will be sponsored by Mr. Clarence E. Whipple, County Detective of Lycoming County and will reside with his mother in Newberry, Pa. The Board therefore recommends that the setence be commuted.

The applicant will have served 6 years and 8 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1952.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Silvio Giardinelli, No. 3993, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Silvio Giardinelli, convicted of embezzlement by officer of a corporation and fraudulent conversion in the Court of Quarter Sesisons of Philadelphia County, on May 25, 1935, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of embezzlement by officer of a corporation and fraudulent conversion. He was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 25th day of May, 1935, for from one to ten years in the Philadelphia County Prison.

The trial judge, Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "He served his term, which you will see was nominal; and I think if the maximum hanging over his head is interfering with his busness, if you see fit to grant him a pardon, it is not likely he will again annoy us." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this man became involved in one of those Building and Loan Association cases in which the facts were much in confusion. The applicant has served a term in prison, which in the opinion of the Board for a man of his position in the community and age was sufficient punishment. It is quite unlikely that the applicant will ever re-enter the field of crime. The applicant is now 55 years of age and has been offered employment as an insurance broker if he is able to receive a pardon.

The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that a pardon will be of material assistance in his business advancement and will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Morris Capp, D-3048, No. 3995, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Morris Capp, convicted of arson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Susquehanna County on April 16, 1938, to begin March 25, 1938 be commuted from 2 years to 9 months expiring on December 25, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of arson and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Susquehanna County for from 2 to 4 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 16th day of April, 1938, sentence to begin March 25, 1938.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "This man has no known previous criminal record. It is our thought that these things do not just happen, they are planned and arranged for and the fact that the applicant was in company of persons who were guilty, creates a doubt as to the veracity of his story. Unless this man can definitely sustain his statements, that he had no part in the crime, we feel that the sentence of two years as imposed is reasonable and just."

The trial judge, Honorable Edward P. Little, states: "If the Board should see fit to extend clemency in this case, it will be satisfactory to this Court. I will be glad to cooperate with the Board in its attempt to make a useful citizen of this defendant." The district attorney, Joseph L. Carrigg, stated that he does not have a recommendation, one way or the other.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons would indicate that the applicant is unquestionably guilty, although the applicant alleges that he had nothing to do with the setting afire of their home in Hop Bottom. It was alleged before the Board that the applicant was not at home during these fires. The applicant was barely twenty years of age at the time the crime was committed by his father and another accomplice. The Board is of the opinion that the applicant was under the influence and control of older persons. During the short term in the penitentiary he has been reported to have a good attitude and is considered a good worker.

The Board believes that this young man will not reenter the field of crime and has been taught a salutary lesson. He has been assured of employment as a truck driver by Mr. Juriga of Binghamton, New York and will reside with his employer at their home. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 9 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the control of the Board of Pardons until 1942.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Paul Cassidy, B-4558, No. 3997. November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Paul Cassidy, convicted of larceny of an automobile in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Crawford County on May 27, 1935, be commuted from 5 years to 3 years 6 months 25 days, expiring on December 22, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larency of an automobile and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Crawford County for from 5 to 10 years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 27th day of May, 1935.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "In view of criminal history, should probably at least complete minimum sentence imposed by court."

The trial judge, Honorable O. Clair Kent, states: "there appears to be no merit to the application." The district attorney's office did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this man has been guilty of stealing automobiles and taking a ride, but with no evidence that he has offered them for sale. It appears to be nothing more than operating an auto without the consent of the owner. The family of the boy were present at the hearing and assured the Board that they would give careful supervision to this young man and at the same time permit him to operate the family automobile. He has been assured of employment by Mr. Josephine Italiano, Youngstown, Ohio, and he will reside in Youngstown with his mother.

The Board has the feeling that this young man has learned a lesson during this period of imprisonment and that he will be very careful in the future of taking property that does not belong to him. The Board therefore recommends that the sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served 3 years 6 months and 25 days of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1945.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Homer L. Christner, B-4461, No. 4029, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Homer L. Christner, convicted of attempted robbery with aggravated circumstances in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lawrence County on February 28, 1935, be commuted from Bill No. 27 4 years, Bill No. 38 1½ years to Bill No. 27 3 years, 9 months, Bill No. 38 1 day expiring on Bill No. 27 November 28, 1938, Bill No. 38 November 29, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of attempted robbery with aggravated circumstances and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Lawrence County for from 5½ to 11 years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 28th day of February, 1935.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record (3) very cooperative and trustworthy inmate."

The trial judge, Honorable R. Lawrence Hildebrand, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application, nor did the district attorney's office of Lawrence County indicate their opinion.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant had always enjoyed a splendid reputation until suddenly he began to associate with colored men and women of bad reputation and they participated in a number of robberies. It was felt that the applicant began to use dope about the time that he associated himself with evil companions. During his imprisonment he has enjoyed an excellent work record and has been considered a cooperative and trustworthy inmate. His present physical condition is excellent and it would appear that his criminal activity was the result of a mental upset caused by the loss of his property in the depression in 1930. He has been assured of employment in a store operated by Mr. Hays E. Wadsworth, Mt. Pleasant, Pa., who is a construction supervisor for the W. F. Overly Company of Greensburg, Pa. He will reside near Mt. Pleasant, Pa., with either Mr. Wadsworth or in Washington, D. C. with his daughter.

The Board therefore believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished for his crime and that he, not being of a criminal type, will not re-enter the field of crime, and it is believed that he will become a law-abiding citizen.

The applicant will have served 3 years and 9 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1943.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Vincent Crawford, B-5987, No. 4048, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill No. 1306 and minimum sentence on Bill No. 1307 of Vincent Crawford, convicted of robbery and larceny of an automobile in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 2, 1934, be commuted on Bill No. 1306 from a maximum of 2 years to a maximum of 1 year and 2 months, expiring on December 2, 1938; and on Bill No. 1307 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 3, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and larceny of an automobile and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County for from 7½ to 15 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 2nd day of October, 1934.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary

state: "He has served approximately four years of a 7½ year minimum sentence. If he furnishes evidence of a satisfactory sponsor and work contacts we have no objections to his receiving favorable consideration, as his record of progress in the institution deserves some reward."

The trial judge, Honorable Joseph L. Kun, states: "Defendant has, however, served four years of his minimum sentence, and whether or not commutation of the remainder of his sentence should be granted, is a matter for the Board of Pardons. There is of course no basis for granting a pardon." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he would rely entirely upon the Board as to whether or not the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this is the first occasion that he has been convicted of any crime and that he has been considered in the penitentiary as a good worker. He has attended school and is employed in the institution as a typewriter repairman. He has been assured of employment by Mr. Charles Savory, Philadelphia, who operates the "Typewriter Maintenance Company." He will reside with his mother, Mrs. Adelaide Crawford, in Philadelphia, who will act as his sponsor. It is the opinion of the Board that this applicant will not re-enter the field of crime as his conduct in the opinion of the authorities at the penitentiary would indicate that he has made distinct progress in rehabilitation. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted.

The applicant will have served 4 years and 2 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until December 2, 1948.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas Byers, C-4742, No. 4051, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Thomas Byers, convicted of robbery, entering with intent to commit a felony, aggravated assault and battery to kill, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on August 3, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 457 from a maximum of 20 years to a minimum of 5 years, 1 month and 16 days, expiring on December 15, 1938, and a maximum of 20 years; on Bill No. 458 from a maximum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 16, 1938, and a maximum of 10 years; on Bill No. 459 from a maximum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 17, 1938, and a maximum of 5 years and on Bill No. 460 from a maximum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 18, 1938 and a maximum of 5 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery, entering with intent to commit a felony, aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 3rd day of August, 1928, for from 20 to 40 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The sentence was commuted and he was released on parole on the 17th day of December, 1930. On the 4th day of May, 1934, he was sentenced to the Philadelphia County Prison to a term of three years for carrying concealed deadly weapons. On the 15th day of May, 1936, he was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary for this violation of parole.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary in May, 1936, to complete the unexpired portion of his maximum sentence. The applicant's petition is based on a claim of innocence. If this claim can be substantiated he should receive favorable consideration. Otherwise, he should be required to serve his full term.

The trial judge, Honorable Harry S. McDevitt states: "I have no recommendation to make for I realize that it is a question of satisfying you of his innocence and not his guilt. I think, if I may use the language of the underworld, that he is just a no-good, worthless tramp. If you are convinced that he was innocent of the crime of which he was charged between his release and re-arrest, then I suppose he is entitled to be re-paroled." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he would rely upon the Board for any decision in this case.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that he was originally sentenced in 1928 for the crime of aggravated assault and battery and robbery. However, after serving three years, evidence was presented that the real criminal was one, John O'Connell, then serving a life sentence in New York State Penitentiary, whereupon the sentence of the applicant was commuted. His indictment and conviction of 1934 on the matter of carrying concealed deadly weapons without a permit was the reason for his return to the penitentiary. It was submitted by the applicant that he was carrying this weapon while intoxicated and merely for the purpose of selling the weapon. It is the opinion of the Board that if the applicant was innocent of the crime committed in 1928, for which John O'Connel is alleged to have been the real criminal, then to have served 4 years in prison for carrying concealed deadly weapons is, in the opinion of the Board, sufficient punishment. The Board, in 1930, believed that the applicant was innocent of the original offense and therefore his return to the penitentiary should not be considered against him. The Board therefore recommends that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that a commutation should be granted.

The applicant is assured of employment by James J. Scullin, Philadelphia, who is engaged in a trucking business, and he will reside with his mother in Philadelphia.

The applicant will have served four years and eleven months and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1974.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re Application of Herbert Zipkin, No. 4103. November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Herbert Zipkin, convicted of conspiracy, unlawfully uttering and publishing forged and counterfeit railroad tickets in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County, on September 30, 1932, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of conspiracy, unlawfully uttering and publishing forged and counterfeit railroad tickets and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 1 to 3 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 30th day of September, 1932.

The trial judge, Honorable Otto R. Heiligman, stated: "The question of his pardon in this particular instance is a matter entirely for the discretion of your Honorable Board, after you have made a thorough investigation of all the facts of the case."

The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant, together with four accomplices, was involved in forging railroad tickets. The applicant received the lighest sentence of the group and was released from the penitentiary on October 3, 1932, by order of the court. Since his release he has been employed by his father as a clerk in his father's store. He has not been involved in any crime or misdemeanor since his release from the penitentiary.

The applicant is desirous of taking a civil service examination and it is necessary that his record be cleared in in order to qualify. Our investigation indicates that his conduct and reputation have been satisfactory and that he has maintained a splendid record in his neighborhood. The Board believes that the applicant because of his good conduct record and his desire to advance himself, should be granted a pardon.

A pardon will be of material assistance in his advancement and will in part remove the stigma of the crime from himself and family.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Franklin G. Justice, C-2435. No. 4106, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentences on Bills No. 483 and No. 484 of Franklin G. Justice, convicted of robbery and felonious entry in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on April 25, 1934, be commuted on Bill No. 483 from a maximum of 10 years to a minimum of 6 years and 11 months, expiring on December 22, 1938, and a maximum of ten years; and on Bill No. 484 from a maximum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 23, 1938, and a maximum of 10 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and felonious entry and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 5 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 25th day of April, 1924. He was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence on the 25th day of April, 1929. On the 28th day of February, 1936, he was sentenced to a term of 6 months in the Hamilton County Jail, Ohio, for assault and battery. He was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 24th day of January, 1937, for violation of his parole.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Applicant's previous record is lengthy and contains a varied type of crimes, including two parole violations. He was on parole for seven years and eight months prior to his return for his parole violation. Applicant's previous record indicates that he did not have much regard for the law of the State. He was given an opportunity on parole which he violated, therefore, we cannot make a favorable recommendation."

The trial judge, Honorable James Gay Gordon, Jr., did not reply to our letter of inquiry. Assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that his previous record is against him but the demonstration of faith and confidence which his wife presented to the Board persuaded him to withdraw his opposition and rely upon the action of the Board as satisfactory to him.

The applicant was released from the Eastern State Penitentiary at the expiration of his minimum term in 1929 and really did not get into trouble until the assault and battery charge in Ohio in 1936. The applicant was in prison for this assault and battery for well over two years and it is the opinion of the Board that he has been sufficiently punished. His wife came before the Board and impressed the members with her sincerity and her faith in her husband. They have planned to rent a small piece of land near Philadelphia and go into the truck farm business. The Board has on file letters of recommendation from officials of the John Wanamaker Company, the Pennsylvania Prison Society, William F. Hopkins, Attorney-at-law, Cincinnati, and from Wray Bevens, Counsel to the Governor of the State of Ohio. The Board therefore recommends that the sentence be commuted

The applicant has served 6 years and 11 months of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1952.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Clark, No. 4115, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William Clark, convicted of attempted robbery and felonious entry in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Franklin County, on July 29, 1933, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of attempted robbery and felonious entry and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Franklin County for from 4 to 8 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 29th day of July, 1933.

The applicant was released at the expiration of his minimum sentence on the 29th day of July, 1937. The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has no known previous criminal record and if he has shown exceptional conduct since leaving the institution, it is their thought that if the Supervisor of Paroles concurs, they have no objection to the clearing of his record.

The trial judge, Honorable Watson R. Davison, stated: "Since he was discharged from the penitentiary on parole no further information has been brought concerning him, and hence, will be satisfied with what ever disposition your Board sees fit to make of the case." The district attorney, J. Glenn Benedict, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application.

The Supervisor of Paroles states: "Because of his former good record, his splendid record on parole and because he wants to advance himself in life by getting a better position and for the reason that he wants to marry, I recommend favorable consideration."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant robbed a gasoline station and was quickly apprehended after the robbery and sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary. He served his minimum sentence and upon his release he was sponsored by Mr. Temple of the Pennsylvania Prison Society and Mr. Temple has had him employed on his country estate in Mt. Holly, New Jersey. The applicant has been personally supervised by the New Jersey Parole Department and they have made very favorable reports concerning him. The sponsor, Mr. Temple, appeared in his behalf and indicated that the applicant has conducted himself in an exemplary manner. The applicant is desirous of marrying and wishes to have his record clear.

The Board therefore believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and since his release he has conducted himself in a law-abiding manner. The Board therefore recommends that a pardon be granted the applicant.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ralph Emerson, No. 4119, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences on Bills No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4 of Ralph Emerson, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Chester County on August 31, 1926, be commuted on Bill No. 2 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 2 years and 3 months, expiring on November 30, 1938; on Bill No. 3 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 1, 1938; and on Bill No. 4 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 2, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of burglary and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Chester County for from 20 to 40 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 31st day of August, 1926.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that a few years after his commitment to the Eastern State Penitentiary he was sent to Farview State Hospital and in 1935 he was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary. For the past three years his conduct has been that of a normal person. He has served approximately 12 years and if he can secure a competent sponsor and work we have no objection to a favorable consideration."

The trial judge, Honorable W. Butler Windle, stated that the matter is one entirely for the disposition of the Board in the light of the present circumstances. The present district attorney, Raymond B. Reid, states: "We know of no reason why he should be paroled at this time. We do not want to take the chance on this defendant."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this man was unquestionably guilty of the series of crimes in Chester County and after his conviction he was committed to the Farview State Hospital. The Superintendent of the Farview Hospital, Dr. Charles A. Zeller, stated that he had recovered from his psychosis and trusted that he was in now good shape mentally and physically as when he left the hospital. Dr. Philip Q. Roche, Department of Neuropsychiatry, Eastern State Penitentiary, states: "Since return to the Eastern State Penitentiary the inmate at no time has exhibited signs of mental disorder either in the character of a relapse or any new symptoms. In reconsideration of this inmate's institutional history, it seems likely that his mental disorder was of the character of a prison phychosis and not a genuine demential praecox."

The applicant has been assured of a position on a farm owned by Russell E. Jones, Mertztown, Pa., who is in position to give this applicant a home, paying a small salary, plus room and board. Mr. Jones has likewise agreed to act as his sponsor. It is the opinion of the Board that this man has recovered from his mental disorder and at his present age of 32 he has an opportunity of rehabilitating himself. It is believed that he will not reenter the field of crime and that during his incarceration he has demonstrated his character by fulfilling positions of trust and confidence. The Board therefore recommends that the sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served 12 years and 3 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1966.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Williams, C-4734, No. 4122, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences on Bills No. 1233 and 1234 of Robert Williams, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on July 30, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 1233 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 4 months and 15 days expiring on December 15, 1938, and on Bill No. 1234 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 15 to 30 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 30th day of July, 1928.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary

state: "Applicant has served over ten years, has an excellent prison record, and has made an effort toward self-improvement. Committing two crimes of the same type within a very short period of time makes it difficult to reconcile his statement that he will refrain from further criminal activities. However, because of the amount of time served, and his excellent institutional record, we have no objections to giving him another chance."

The trial judge, Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "He is really a higher type of negro than a great many inmates; and, if you are satisfied, I think he is worth taking a chance on." The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that the applicant has served a substantial amount of his time and he has no objection to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant was undoubtedly guilty of the crime. However, during the incarceration he has improved himself and during the riots of 1933 in the Eastern State Penitentiary he rescued one of the officers who was being attacked by a half crazed inmate. He has been assured of employment by the City Service Garage in Philadelphia upon his release and will reside in Philadelphia with friends.

The applicant will have served 10 years, 4 months and 15 days of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1958.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Martella, No. 4129, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Anthony Martella, convicted of unlawful possession and sale of liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 10, 1932, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows.

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of unlawful possession and sale of liquor. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 10th day of November, 1932 to pay a fine of fifty dollars and to one years probation.

The trial judge, Honorable Joseph L. Kun, stated that on the face of the application there was no merit in it. The assistant district attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant had been arrested on numerous occasions during the prohibition era for unlawful possession of liquor. But since 1931 he has earned an honest livelihood and has not transgressed the law. He has been regularly employed since that time and is now a general foreman on a WPA project. The applicant has made a sincere effort to support his family and has maintained a good reputation in his neighborhood. The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and therefore recommends that a pardon be granted to him.

A pardon will be of material assistance to his advancement and will in part remove the stigma of the crime from himself and family.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Higinio Alonso, D-635, No. 4132, November Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Higinio Alonso, convicted of rape in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Lackawanna County on May 25, 1935, be commuted from 7½ years to 3 years and 7 months expiring on December 25, 1938, for deportation to Spain.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of rape and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lackawanna County for from 7½ to 15 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 25th day of May, 1935.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Applicant's claim that he was innocent of the crime charged should be investigated.. However, it is our thought that if he can be deported to Spain it will be the best solution to the problem."

The trial judge, Honorable T. L. Hoban, states: "I would be opposed to any release which would allow this man his liberty in the United States prior to the end of his sentence, but if deportation is certain, I would approve of commutation." The district attorney, Michael Eagen, stated that he would agree to the granting of the application provided the prisoner be deported to Spain.

The Board of Pardons is of the opinion that this applicant is unquestionably guilty of the crime but there is now lodged against him with the Eastern State Penitentiary a detainer for deportation to Spain by the United State Immigration authorities. The Board believes this man should be deported and therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted in order that he may be removed from this Country.

The applicant will have served 3 years and 7 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until May 25, 1950.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

THE DOLLAR SAVINGS BANK

Organized in 1855 for the purpose of encouraging thrift and the habit of saving, is a mutual savings bank and is operated solely for the benefit of its depositors. There are no stockholders. The assets and earnings belong to the depositors. Therefore, after expenses of operation are paid and suitable amounts set aside for surplus, dividends are paid on deposits at as high a rate as sound judgment and conservative policy will permit.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DELAWARE RIVER JOINT COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA AND NEW JERSEY

To the Honorable: The Legislatures of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey and the Council of the City of Philadelphia:

A new yearly record for traffic on the Delaware River Bridge was set during 1938 when toll was collected from 12,820,338 vehicles. This was an increase of 4,28 per cent or 527,209 vehicles over the figure for 1937. The previous record of 12,308,225 vehicles was made in 1931.

Operating eceipts for the year amounted to $3,027,489.36 while expense was $581.672.32. Included in expense. was the cost of completely re-painting the bridge which will not recur for five or six years. Net income, including $88.801.34 interest on bonds held in the Sinking and Surplus Funds and deducting operating expenses and bond interest, was $943,305.11. Of this amount, $98,442.47 was spent during the year for new toll houses and $214,515.08 for the rail transit project including settlement of all legal proceedings instituted by contractors against the Commission. To save substantial interest charges, the Commission elected to make payment out of current income rather than increase the outstanding indebtedness by selling bonds. The Commission redeemed $233,000 bonds maturing September 1, 1938. The bond debt at the end of the year was $37,287,000; the Sinking Fund amounted to $899,754.35; the Surplus Fund, $3,248,023.40 and cash on deposit was $729,102.52.

During the entire year. the bridge was operated under a toll of twenty cents for passenger cars and light trucks with commutation tickets sold for these vehicles at forty for six dollars. The twenty-cent rate was put into effect February 1, 1937 and the commutation system, March 1, 1937. Consequently, the increase in receipts in 1938 was not commensurate with the increase in travel, receipts showing a gain of only 1.96 per cent over 1937.

A factor in increasing bridge traffic was the suspension of service. on April 30, 1938, of the ferry which had operated for many years between Kaighn Avenue, Camden and Chestnut and South Streets, Philadelphia. In 1937, this ferry was used by 1,148,224 vehicles. The Delaware River Bridge, undoubtedly, received a large portion of the business formerly directed to this ferry while the remainder went to the ferry between Federal Street, Camden, and Market Street. Philadelphia which carried 1,753,746 vehicles during 1938 compared with 1,322,741 in 1937.

While the margin between receipts and expenditures is not large, in view of the substantial indebtedness of the Commission, the results of the year were satisfactory and gave evidence that the extremely low toll rates may be continued.

Included in receipts, was the payment by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company of $103,018.87 for passengers carried upon the rail transit line. Operation of the rail system was not profitable to the Company and a reduction in service was made during the year. In 1937, the daily average of passengers was 12,995 but this was reduced in 1938 to 11,289. Receipts to the Commission from the line in 1937 were $118,582.76.

Request Cut in Bus Tolls

Most of the bridge business during the year came from passenger automobiles and light trucks numbering 11,520.211. The next largest factor was buses totaling 924,010; in 1937, 1,005,322 buses used the bridge. A request was made by the bus companies that the toll for single-deck buses be reduced from fifty to forty cents in April, 1938. This was debated at length by the Commission and referred to the Transportation Committee which, on August 17, 1938, reported as follows:

"Acting under Authority given by The Delaware River Joint Commission on July 22, 1938, th Transportation Committee has considered the request of the Public Service Interstate Transportation Company for a reduction in the toll rates of buses using the Delaware River Bridge.

The Committee recommends that the request be disapproved. The present bus rate is not excessive either by comparison with the tolls on other large river crossings or in accordance with the service given the bus companies. The Committee is informed by the Public Service Company and by its own officials that an average of 16.8 passengers is carried in every bus. The average passenger load in private cars on the bridge is 2.8. A charge of twenty cents for a single trip or forty trips for $6.00 is made on private passenger cars. Based upon a comparison of average passenger load, the rate for buses is extremely favorable to the bus companies.

If the bus company's request is granted, a similar reduction must be made upon the toll charged trucks. Large fleets of trucks are operated by some owners across the bridge and, unquestionably, the truck operators will demand a concession similar to any given the bus companies.

While the finances of the Commission are at present adequate to meet the interest and sinking fund requirements, it must be noted that the net revenue over fixed charges and maintenance costs is not large. The Commission faces the possibility that the United States Government may impose a tax upon the net revenues which, under the construction given by the Department of Justice of the United States, may be made retroactive to 1931 or, possibly, to 1926. Ordinary business judgment compels the Committee to recommend that no change be made in the rates now charged any class of vehicle on the Delaware River Bridge.

Respectfully submitted,

TRANSPORTATION COMMITTEE:
Alfred Cooper, Chairman
I. Norwood Griscom
Arthur C. King
F. Clair Ross

Joseph K. Costello, Secretary."

The Commission directed the Transportation Committee to give further study to the subject.

In the twelve and one-half years of bridge operation. 135,223,286 vehicles have used the structure. Prior to the opening, our engineers made a traffic forecast which called for a total of 139,950,000 vehicles at the end of 1938. The prediction. however, was based upon a steady yearly increase but the violent business dislocation of 1929 and subsequent years were not anticipated.

The history of bridge operation since the opening on July 1, 1926, may be summarized as follows:

The one-day record of 71,410 vehicles established on July 17, 1938 was surpassed on July 31, 1938, with 73,279 and, on August 14, 1938, the figure reached an all-time high of 74,041.

Toll House Improvement Popular

The new toll houses completed in February, 1938 have proved most beneficial in accommodating the increased travel. Twelve toll lanes are roofed over providing shelter for both patrons and collectors. The toll houses were built so that two collectors, may operate on a single lane. It is estimated that this arrangement would easily take care of one hundred thousand vehicles daily, the theoretical capacity of the bridge. The toll houses were accepted by the Commission on February 24, 1938, work upon them having begun shortly after the notice to proceed, October 27, 1937. The construction contracts, as completed, were:

Construction	H. John Homan and Company Collingswood, New Jersey	$105.727.91
Plumbing and Heating	Philadelphia Piping and Equipment Company Philadelphia	13,876.00
Electrical Work	Morris Newmark and Brother Philadelphia	15,245.73
	Total	$134,849.64

The toll houses were designed by Mr. Carl B. Zilenziger, Commission Architect, whose death on December 16, 1938 was a substantial loss to the Commission.

The contract for completely re-painting the bridge was awarded May 27, 1938 to the low bidder, M. G. Moshithes of Pittsburgh, in the amount of $103.000. The structures beneath the roadway had been painted in 1932 and the upper portion in 1930. Mr. Moshithes completed the contract on November 23, 1938 . During the progress of the work, it was decided to eliminate painting of certain gratings on the bridge thereby reducing the contract amount to $101,500.

An improvement of considerable importance was completed during the year by enclosing the edges of the concrete footwalks of the bridge in steel channels. For this operation, the steel was furnished by the Belmont Iron Works. Philadelphia at a cost of $4,645.58 and the angle irons were welded to the facia channels of the columns supporting the footwalks by Metalweld, Incorporated, Philadelphia for $2,626. Protection was thus afforded against crumbling of the exposed edges.

By direction of the Commission, the uniforms of the Police and Toll Bureaus were changed from brown to a combination of blue coats and cadet gray trousers.

The claims of the three contractors engaged in the construction of the rail transit line were satisfactorily settled in negotiations between counsel representing the Commission and the contractors. The three suits pending in the Philadelphia and Camden Courts were accordingly discontinued. In all litigation brought by property owners along the subway line in Camden against the Commission and the contractor jointly, counsel obtained nonsuits for the Commission.

Campaign for Bridge Approach

Strenuous efforts to obtain some improvement to the present inadequate approaches to the bridge in Philadelphia were made throughout the year by the Commission. At the March meeting, the Commission met with Judge Frank Smith, Chairman of the Philadelphia Housing Authority; Walter H. Thomas, Authority Architect; John H. Neeson, Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Engineering, Surveys and Zoning of Philadelphia; Harry R. Halloran, Philadelphia Works Progress Administrator; Samuel W. Marshall, Chief Engineer of the Pennsylvania Highway Department and Samuel Feldman of the City Solicitor's Office, Philadelphia. The Commission suggested that the Philadelphia Housing Authority locate a slum-clearance project on Vine Street but Judge Smith pointed out that the area along Vine Street was assessed by the City of Philadelphia at four dollars a square foot whereas the Housing Authority at Washington has insisted upon a policy of paying not more than one dollar per square foot.

Representatives of the City of Philadelphia, while endorsing the project to widen Vine Street, announced that the City was not in a position to help financially with this work. As a result of this conference, the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania adopted an act late in 1938 intending to bring about the improvement of the bridge approach in Philadelphia. The act, however, relieves the Commonwealth of any expense for property damage. The State would pay only for paving the widened highway and the cost of real estate would have to be borne by the City of Philadelphia or The Delaware Joint Commission. Neither the City nor the Commission is in a financial condition to undertake this project under the terms of the act. The Commission is convinced that the Commonwealth should make this improvement at once, pointing out that the State of New ersey spent six millions of dollars for bridge approaches on the Camden side.

In January, 1938, Mr. Marvin H. Coombs of Salem and Mr. David Baird, Jr. of Camden County, New Jersey took their places as members of the Commission filling vacancies caused by the death of Mr. Lucius E. Hires and the resignation of Judge John B. Kates. On the Pennsylvania side, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania sustained the appeal of Messrs. Thomas B. Smith and Richard Weglein to their rgiht to sit as Commissioners and directed that they take the places of Mr. James P. Clark and Mr. George Gordon Meade. On September 22, 1938, Governor Earle signed a bill ousting Messrs. Smith and Weglein and, on December 1, 1938, re-appointed Messrs. Clark and Meade. Mr. Smith and Mr. Weglein disputed the right of the Governor to remove them from the Commission and, at the December meeting, Messrs. Clark, Meade, Smith and Weglein participated in the Commission proceedings. On December 5, 1938, Mr. Adrian Bonnelly, Pennsylvania Counsel for the Commission, resigned to accept an appointment as a judge of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia. At the December meeting, the Commission appointed Mr. John Edward Sheridan of Philadelphia as Counsel on the Pennsylvania side succeeding Mr. Bonnelly.

In 1938, forty accidents occurred upon the bridge; three deaths resulted, two of which were Commission employees. Three suicides were reported; sixty-six arrests were made; eight fires were extinguished and four hundred eighty-three disabled cars were removed including twenty-two buses and one hundred fifteen trucks.

During the year, the bridge was maintained in excellent condition. Our maintenance forces were engaged in making numerous minor repairs and adjustments.

Bridge Income Menaced

During 1939, the Commission must meet the threat of the Federal Government to tax the net revenues and bonds of the bridge. The Attorney-General of the United States and the Treasury Department contend that the net revenues of State agencies and State municipalities such as The Delaware River Joint Commission are subject to income tax under the revenue laws of the United States.

The Commission would be called upon to pay a Federal tax of almost $200,000 if this doctrine is carried into effect. If this tax were made retroactive to cover the twelve and one-half years of Delaware River Bridge operation, the impost would be unbearable. Neither the Treasury Department nor the Attorney-General has, apparently, given consideration to the fact that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey created the Commission on a self-liquidating basis. The Commission revenues are derived solely from operation of the bridge and it is expressly and properly denied power to levy any taxes. Every dollar of the amounts contributed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the State of New Jersey and the City of Philadelphia to build the bridge has been returned with interest by the Commission. The margin of revenue after expenses is not impressive. In 1937, tolls were lowered for the benefit of users of the bridge. As a result, bridge income with increased traffic was much less in 1938 than in 1931.

On September 1, 1943, the Commission bonds are callable in whole or in part at 105. The Commission has planned to lay aside surplus revenues so that as many of the bonds as funds are available for can be retired in 1943. It is, of course, impossible to predict conditions in the bond market five years hence but the Commission has been assured by leading investment bankers that, if the bonds were callable this year, the project could be refinanced at a much lower interest rate than the four and one-quarter per cent now being paid.

It must not be forgotten that the Commission was created to study and report upon additional means of crossing the Delaware River. In time, increasing traffic will warrant consideration of another vehicular facility, probably a tunnel in South Philadelphia. If a huge part of the bridge revenues are to be taken by Federal Government, it would be obviously impossible to entertain such a project regardless of how badly it may be needed except by direct appropriations from the taxpayers of Pennsylvania and New Jersey. If the Federal Government is to tax bonds issued by the Commission, the prospects for re-financing in 1943 at a lower coupon rate are decidedly dim. It has been set forth by most competent witnesses that removal of the Federal tax exemption on Commission bonds would result in an increase of from one-half to one per cent in the coupon rate. This would prove most acute if the Commission re-financed in 1943.

The Commission takes pride in the fact that tolls upon the Delaware River Bridge are the lowest of any great bridge in the United States and that the imposition of a Federal tax upon bridge income and bonds would seriously threaten the stability of the present financial structure and render impossible the extension of facilities to which the people of Pennsylvania and New Jersey are entitled.

The Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the State of New Jersey and the Council of the City of Philadelphia are invited to inspect the Delaware River Bridge at any time.

Note: It has been the practice, in making appropriations for Emergency Relief, Aid to Dependent Children, Mothers Assistance, Pensions for the Blind, and General Assistance, to make lump sums covering both administrative costs and grants (subsidies). In this Statement, portions of appropriations which were spent for administration are shown under Administration and the remainder of the appropriation is shown under Subsidies. In each column the amounts prefixed by the same letter must be added together to show the total amount of appropriation.

During 1933-1935 and part of the biennium 1935-1937, before the establishment of WPA work relief, the Federal Government participated in meeting the Emergency Relief cost and much of the cost of administration was paid from these Federal funds.

During 1931-1933, 1933-1935 and 1935-1937 the counties paid part of the administrative costs of Mothers Assistance, Old Age Assistance and Pensions for the Blind. County Expenditures are not shown.

REPORT OF THE INDUSTRIAL TAX SURVEY COMMITTEE
(DENT REPORT, 1939)

INDUSTRIAL TAX SURVEY COMMITTEE ON THE PART OF THE SENATE

ISRAEL STIEFEL
FREDERICK T. GELDER
JOHN H. DENT, Chairman

ON THE PART OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

JAMES E. LOVETT
HARRY E. TROUT, Vice-Chairman
SAMUEL A. WEISS, Secretary

Counsel
JOHN H. FERTIG

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly:

The Industrial Tax Survey Committee was created by a Concurrent Resolution adopted by the Senate on March 8, 1937, and concurred in by the House of Representatives on March 15, 1937. This Resolution reads as follows:

"In the Senate, February 22, 1937. Whereas The present Legislature is faced with the problem of raising revenues through the enactment of certain tax measures and

Whereas The present Legislature as all past Legislatures has had presented to it the general argument that the taxes imposed under the laws of this State were so high that they were responsible for driving many industries out of the State and

Whereas The arguments advanced against certain types of taxation have been presented to the Legislature by persons who were the representatives of individual companies or their associations so that the members of the Legislature could not rely upon the facts and figures presented in substantiation of the arguments advanced and

Whereas The arguments advanced have failed to set up a wide and accurate comparison state by state tax by tax so that the members of the Legislature could not clearly see the soundness of the conclusions reached and

Whereas The members of the Legislature desire to have presented to them facts and figures gathered by persons who have no interest in the conclusion to be reached so that they may know if Pennsylvania has taxed any industry more than any of the adjacent industrial or mining states that enjoy equal economic advantages incident to the costs of the operation of any industry such as nearness to markets raw materials costs of power and available labor and

Whereas The members of the Legislature desire to be presented to them a complete set-up of all the taxes imposed upon industry both by local governments and the State and then to have similar figures compiled for the states enjoying similar economic advantages therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall appoint three members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint three members of the House of Representatives who together shall constitute a Joint Legislative Committee whose duty it shall be to make a careful thorough and impartial investigation of the total tax burdens placed upon industry in Pennsylvania and other industrial and mining states and be it further

Resolved, That the said Joint Legislature Committee shall conduct an investigation to ascertain the number of industrial or mining concerns which have left our State and the reason given therefor and to ascertain the total tax burdens imposed by the States to which the said industrial or mining concerns have moved and be it further

Resolved, That the said Joint Legislative Committee shall conduct an investigation to ascertain the number of new industrial and mining concerns which have moved into Pennsylvania and the reasons therefor and to ascertain that what extent the question of taxation was the cause of the transfer of such industry to this State as well as to ascertain the tax burden imposed by the State from which the industry has moved and be it further

Resolved, That the said Joint Legislative Committee shall have the power to engage and employ such experts and assistants as the committee shall determine are necessary and such experts and assistants and the incidental expenses in conjunction with this investigation shall be paid out of appropriation made by the General Assembly for the purposes embodied in this concurrent resolution and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such question touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases and be it further

Resolved, That said committee shall make a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly at this session as early as possible or if impossible at the next session of the General Assembly.

The President Pro Tempore of the Senate appointed as the three members of the Senate:

John H. Dent, Westmoreland County
Israel Stiefel, Philadelphia County
Frederick T. Gelder, Susquehanna County

The Speaker of the House of Representatives appointed as the three members of the House:

Samuel A. Weiss, Allegheny County
James E. Lovett, Westmoreland County
Harry E. Trout, Lancaster County

The commission organized by the election of Senator John H. Dent as chairman, Harry E. Trout as Vice-Chairman, and Samuel A. Weiss, as Secretary.

By Act No. 102A of the session of 1937, $15,000 was appropriated to pay the expenses of the committee, but this appropriation was reduced to $5,000, by the Governor. This small appropriation severely handicapped the efforts of your committee, made impossible the employment of experts to make studies and surveys, and restricted the scope of this report. At the special session, of 1938, $10,000 additional was granted to the committee, but this appropriation came too late to enable the commission to extend its studies, but has been helpful in financing the compilation and publishing of this report. The committee acknowledges its debt of gratitude to those who gave of their time and service in analyzing the material filed with, any testimony given before, the committee. Without their help the task could not have been accomplished.

II.

THE COMMISSION'S APPROACH TO THE PROBLEM

The resolution creating the committee was adopted at the session of the General Assembly of 1937 when the problem of raising a large amount of new revenue faced the State. The reaction of business to the tax and compensation programs presented, was generally that it would be harmful to the state and drive industry out. The resolution creating the commission set forth that the arguments of business gave but one side of the picture and that the truth should be gathered. A comparison of taxes both local and state with those of other states enjoying similar economic advantages was desired. The committee was particularly instructed "to make a careful, thorough and impartial investigation of the total tax burdens placed upon industries in Pennsylvania and other industrial and mining states,"--to ascertain the number of mining and industrial concerns which have left our state and the reasons given thereof * * * to ascertain the number of new industrial and mining concerns which have moved into Pennsylvania and the reasons therefor and to ascertain to what extent the question of taxation was the cause of the transfer of industry to this state as well as to ascertain the tax burden imposed by the state from which it has moved."

This resolution contemplated a detailed factual study of individual cases of industrial migration from and to this state which could only have been accomplished by the employment of a large staff of persons to make individual community surveys. When its appropriation was reduced to the small amount of $5,000 such surveys became at once impossible. The detailed factual study had to be abandoned.

At the outset the committee determined to make a few immediate test studies of particular industries to ascertain how these were individually affected or likely to be affected by recent tax burdens and by the tax and compensation bills pending at the 1937 sessions.

III.

PRELIMINARY REPORTS

As a consequence the committee made three preliminary reports to the General Assembly at the regular sessions of 1937.

The first of these reports dealt with the bituminous coal mining industry. This report, among other things, showed a loss from 1913 to 1936, in Pennsylvania of 65,244,000 tons and a gain in West Virginia, our real competitor in this industry, of 46,231,000 tons, and a gain in Kentucky of 28,051,000 tons, as follows:

States	1913 Tonnage	1936 Tonnage
Pennsylvania	173,781,000	108,781,000
West Virginia	71,254,000	117,485,000
Kentucy	11,099,000	39,150,000

Whereas in 1914 Pennsylvania mined 36.32% of all bituminous coal, in 1936 it mined only 25%.

It was shown that the average cost of compensation insurance on Pennsylvania bituminous under the law in force prior to 1937, was a little over .09 cents a ton, and in West Virginia a little less than .07 cents. An estimate was furnished that compensation rates under the new bill pending before the 1937 session, would increase compensation costs 137% according to the Department of Labor and Industry and 350% according to the operators. Subsequently, the compensation bill was somewhat modified, but a very large increase still resulted as shown in a later section of this report where this industry is discussed (see page 19).

The second preliminary report of the commission dealt with the anthracite mining industry.

Anthracite coal has been used to heat 6,000,000 homes: it furnishes annually a very large railroad tonnage and is the main industry supporting a population of about 600,000 people.

Local taxes have increased enormously on this industry. As an illustration, one company paid on all its coal, local tax burdens as follows:

Year	1908	$ 378,420
	1936	$2,274,841

In 1929 the industry employed approximately 325,000 men, in 1936 it employed approximately 212,000.

As production has decreased taxes have increased.

Estimated increases in Workmen's Compensation costs were given, but since later data was made available this subject is referred to later in our report.

Finally the commission showed that most of the gross revenue from this industry is paid out in wages. Of gross revenue in one region of $31,350,000, during the years 1935 and 1936, there was paid out in wages alone $29,050,000.

The third preliminary report was one prepared by the Vice-Chairman of the committee. It dealt in the main with the hosiery industry in Philadelphia, showing that 24 concerns, employing 6,720 workers with an annual payroll of $9,828,000 had left the city or liquidated in a two year period. Each of the concerns affected was listed.

In this report was given in full the letter of a large company setting forth its tax burden per $1000 of invested capital in four states in which it operated as follows:

Pennsylvania	$18.12
New York	5.95
New Jersey	0.71
Massachusetts	3.48

The report of another company showed, that its taxes per $1000 of new worth had increased from 1932 to 1936 from $2. to $22.60, and on per $1000 of net sales, from $1.50 to $9.40.

In the case of another company figures were submitted to show that its tax burden in Pennsylvania was 100 times what it would be if its plant was located in New Jersey.

IV.

HEARINGS

The committee determined that it could perhaps best accomplish, with its limited appropriation, its duties by testing all sorts of industries in various sections of the state through the medium of public hearings at which those for or against the existing tax and Workmen's Compensation laws could express their views. To this end the committee arranged for and conducted public hearings at

Erie	Philadelphia
Pittsburgh	Wilkes-Barre
Harrisburg

At least three of these hearings were attended by a large number of people some of whom gave no testimony but expressed their interest in the subject by their attendance. The factual matters presented at these hearings is digested in the following sections of this report.

At this point it is appropriate to note that all testimony and briefs submitted complained of the unfair burden of Pennsylvania taxes and compensation rates and that no defense was offered in behalf of the existing system of taxes or compensation rates. The existing tax system was not justified, nor was anything offered by those responsible for these programs to rebut the theory that it affected the migration of industry.

It consequently follows that this report presents a one-sided view of the picture. But the committee is helpless to alter this. It can only report on the facts presented to it and furnish such other information as it was able to gather with its limited means.

V.

THE TURNER REPORT

The commission was unable to engage tax experts to make scientific studies and comparisons of the tax burden on business in Pennsylvania with that of other states. For this information it was obliged to rely on data assembled by private enterprise.

At the request of the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce, Mr. C. L. Turner, of Philadelphia, a certified public accountant, of twenty-five years experience in the field of taxation, prepared a report showing a comparison of the burden of Pennsylvania State taxes with those of the states of

Connecticut	New York
Delaware	North Carolina
Illinois	Ohio
Indiana	Rhode Island
Maryland	Tennessee
Massachusetts	Virginia
New Jersey	West Virginia

The instructions to Mr. Turner by his employer were that he was to make an independent and expert appraisal of state taxes on business corporations, such as would be made by a firm contemplating a location. It was agreed his findings were in no way to be influenced by his employer.

This report was presented to the commission at its Philadelphia meeting at which Mr. Turner appeared as a witness.

Counsel for the commission carefully examined Mr. Turner as to his experience and qualifications to make such a report in accurate form. He testified that his conclusions were made after interpretations by various taxing officials, were in no way influenced by his employer, that he used actual balance sheets of corporations with slight modifications to hide the identity of the corporation, and that these modifications in no way influenced the result. He stated that he would have arrived at the same conclusions had he been employed by this commisison. "Every care was taken to use as the basis for comparison, cases which are typical and truly representative of their respective types. Futhermore, extreme care was used to include in each case all of the elements common to tax situations."

He further testified that he had received no citicism of the accuracy of his report from anyone. This testimony was given on April 9, 1938. The report was made public at the annual meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce on February 16, 1938, and widely distributed. The committee has not learned of any criticism of the accuracy of this report since April 9, 1938.

The commission accepts the caluculations in this report as accurate and scientific and as furnishing a reliable basis for measuring the state tax burden on business corporations in these states.

The comparable state taxes on six specific classes of corporations, on actual balance sheets, are shown in Mr. Turner's Table II, entitled "Master Summary of Comparative Corporation Taxes." This table follows:

Of the fifteen (15) States used for comparison, Pennsylvania ranks as follows:

Column 1—14th.
Column 2—13th.
Column 3—12th.
Column 4—13th.
Column 5—12th.
Column 6—15th.

In all these cases (and the first four columns, include the most common type of business corporations), the Pennsylvania tax burden was found to be among the highest, in no case even close to the average.

Mr. Turner contends that the weakness of the Pennsylvania state tax system lies in the fact that a large portion of the corporate taxes "represent in practice a capital levy" and that none of the other states used in the comparison levies "such a high tax on capital." He estimates the total corporate capital levy for the fiscal biennium 1937-1939 at $68,800,000 out of a total corporate levy of $131,300,000. It is to be noted that in these figures (see his Table I), Mr. Turner has eliminated the corporate loans tax, estimated to yield $14,850,000. If this tax is added the result is a capital tax $83,600,000 out of a total of $146,100,000.

In discussing the emergency taxes for the 1937-1939 amounting to $161,000,000 of which $99,000,000 alone was for unemployment relief, (increased by subsequent appropriations), Mr. Turner makes the point that there is a "relation between the volume of unemployment and the migration of industry. Capital is mobile but populations are not. A manufacturer in a given industry may move out of the state; but it is not probable that his employes either will or can accompany him. The inference is obvious. Any wholesale migration of industry will act in a two-fold manner, increasing relief rolls on the one hand and on the other, drying up the present sources of tax revenue."

Other comparisons of state tax burdens were placed before the committee. These show the burden higher in Pennsylvania than in other states. The committee is unable to accept these findings since the calculations were made on arbitrary balance sheets which do not correctly set forth the true and actual business experience of an operating company.

TAXATION NATION WIDE

Aside from the matter of comparing the tax burdens of competing states, if the statement of Merle Thorpe in August, 1938, issue of Nation's Business is correct, it is apparent that our total tax burden nation wide is to high. He says:

> "At the close of the great war Englishmen gave up 25 percent of what they earned to the tax-gatherer. Ours grew from 2 percent in 1850 to 6 percent in 1900, to 12 percent in 1914. Today, it is 27 percent, and if we were paying as we go, our expenses for government—State, Federal and local—would require nearly one-third of the income of all of us.
> "Great Britain's tax burden today is around 20 percent. For the first time since our Federal government was set up, it is taking more from its citizens than the United Kingdom."

In a table compiled by the "American Federation of Investors, Inc.," 35 West Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois, 150 representative companies are listed, eight of them being domesticated in Pennsylvania. These companies have assets of almost $42,000,000,000 have 6,490,000 stockholders, and employ 3,171,000 employes. In 1937 these companies paid in taxes $1,631,000,000 while in 1932 they paid only $681,000,000. In 1937 they paid in taxes an average of $2.62 for each share of common stock as against an average dividend of $1.95 for each share of common stock. They paid in 1937 an average tax of $291 for each shareholder and $514 for each employee. The percentage of increase in tax from 1932 to 1937 for these companies averages 139%. A study of this table indicates that the heaviest increases applies nation-wide. The six Pennsylvania manufacturing companies listed do not appear to be much out of line with manufacturing companies of other states.

CONCLUSION

The conclusion the commission draws from this section of its report is that the burden of corporation state taxes, and particularly on the capital of corporations, is heavier than in most other states, that this burden adds to the difficulties of operating industry in Pennsylvania at a profit, tends to eat up the working capital of business, retards the development of industry located here, and acts as a deterrent to the location of new industry in this state.

VI.

THE MIGRATION OF INDUSTRY

As in other sections of this report, the committee is compelled to rely for its findings on the question of the migration of industry on such facts as were laid before it.

The committee, through its counsel, framed and submitted to the Department of State a questionnaire, designed to ascertain what the official records disclosed, either supporting or refuting the theory of the migration of industry. The commission sought to learn the number of new business corporations formed from January 1, 1934, to date and the capital of these corporations, the increase of capital of existing corporations, the number of dissolutions and the capital involved, the number of corporations domesticating in other states and the capital involved. With this picture broken down into years it was felt any marked trend in the last two years would be reflected. This information, at least in part, was promised your committee, but to the time this report was written had not been delivered. Upon inquiry last July, as to the progress of this work, the committee was informed that work on this questionnaire had not commenced because of pressure of routine business. Later, at the request of that department, the questionnaire was re-submitted but no report has ever been furnished.

The committee through a questionnaire addressed to thousands of business interests throughout the Commonwealth, endeavored to obtain information which might aid in arriving at some estimate of the burden of tax increase, during recent years, on particular types of industry. While the commission has had a fair return of these questionnaires, the statisticians to whom they were submitted for analysis were of the opinion that there was in insufficient number to assure that any statement extracted from these reports could be asserted as typical of a whole industry.

The migration of industry has several aspects. It consists not alone of the moving of machinery and the entire plant operations of an industry from one state to another, but as well in new locations of plants to take care of expending business, in shifting production from a plant in one state to a plant in another state, in the loss of markets to competing industries due to high operating costs, and in squeezing plants out of business and bankruptcy, throwing production elsewhere. Migration, as it affects the industry of a state, has many elements and is influenced by many factors, and the picture is in no sense complete by simply pointing out that this number of industries has left the state or a given community during a given period.

That certain industry has and is moving out of the state must be accepted as a fact; that condition always prevails. "Business cannot be nailed down, nor can industry be anchored." Business is constantly shifting, but the present shift at least in a few communities, is believed by the commission to be abnormal. One Hazleton witness said the turn-over in that community was unusual, that it was radical, more severe than ever before in the history of this generation. He pointed to eleven plants that had closed, shifted production or gone into bankruptcy in the last two years.

TEXTILES

The present movement seems to be in the main in the textile field. The textile business for many years has been migrating to the south, particularly from New England. That portion of the industry still remaining in the North, and desiring to do so, is finding itself in a competitive position where it can no longer operate at a profit. Differentials in taxes, Workmen's Compensation Insurance, power rates, wage scales, labor conditions, hours of labor, plant investment and the like, between the North and the South, are too great to be overcome by skilled northern labor and the speeding up of production. The reason for the loss of this industry is not a single factor but a combination of factors. It was stated to your commission that out-of-state competitors can undersell Pennsylvania manufacturers in the textile field as much as 15%.

Nevertheless, the representative of the Philadelphia textile industry expressed his opinion that today, with labor rates and hours of employment more nearly equal than formerly, only lower taxes and lower power rates in other states were the factors preventing textile interests from being in a competitive position on standard materials. The Federal wages and hours law may eliminate some of the existing differentials.

This migration of the textile industry from New England has been so severe that business journals report that, whereas this section once had 95% of all the spindles in the country, it had today only 25% of the spindle hours. There is no evidence before the commission to show that the Pennsylvania migration of this industry was contemporaneous with that from New England. In fact, statistics indicate otherwise. From 1920 to 1932 Massachusetts lost 54% of her textile jobs while Pennsylvania showed an increase of 2.7% in jobs in this industry. The Pennsylvania migration it seems, began later as tax burdens and other costs of production mounted. In fact there is some tangible evidence that new textile factories were established in this state during the New England period of migration and statistics seem to support this.

The exemption of manufacturing capital from the capital stock tax was probably one of the main factors which retained and enlarged this industry in Pennsylvania while New England was suffering severe losses. The complete reversal of the historic Pennsylvania tax policy and enactment of other legislation, increasing manufacturing costs, has placed this industry in an unfavorable competitive position and may be the factors for the migration of some of this industry and the shifting or production where that was possible. A number of withdrawls and the shifting of production have been brought to the attention of the committee particularly in the anthracite coal region and in the Philadelphia area.

That some of this business which has withdrawn may have been of the sweat-shop type is not denied. No one has expressed any regret that such industry has moved; but the evidence before your commission shows also that old established and nationally known manufacturers have, or are being affected.

SHOES

A similar migration from New England happened in the shoe industry. In 1914, Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire produced 52% of the shoes of the country, while in 1933 this was reduced to 33%. In the same period, New York and Pennsylvania increased their production from 18.9% to 26.9%. The New England states have recently reversed their policies with respect to industry and now hold out the welcome sign. Since 1933 there has been a slight improvement in production, that section in 1935 producing 34% of the shoes.

At the Harrisburg Hearing, a representative of this industry testified that Pennsylvania ranked third in the number of shoe factories, produced 25,500,000 pairs of shoes in 1937 and paid $15,000,000 in wages that year. The shoe industry is also a highly competitive one; the margin of profit is small, and is unfavorably affected by the same factors as in the textile industry.

No evidence was produced of any migration in this industry at the present time, but the Pennsylvania taxes were deemed harmful to the competitive position of this industry. The trade treaty with Czechoslovakia it is feared will be harmful to this industry, as a whole.

PROCESSING INDUSTRIES AND FURNITURE

Pulp and paper, rayon, chemical and other processing industries and furniture manufacture are also migrating largely to the South. The controlling factors influencing this migration are alleged by trade journals to be raw materials, wage and compensation rates, taxation and labor conditions.

FURNITURE

As to furniture, witnesses testified that the advantages of the South are raw materials, a wage differential of .15 cents an hour and taxes. New taxes are alleged to be like "The straw that broke the back of the camel," and "eliminates us from the furniture business if we are to continue here." Chairs are no longer made in the Adams and York Counties, once a manufacturing centre for this industry. These factories purchase chairs from North Carolina factories which can place them in Pennsylvania factories at a price below that for which they can be made here. Pennsylvania manufacturers are not putting in "drying cells" today because they can buy dried lumber cheaper and avoid the capital investment. The furniture industry of the North was referred to as a "sick industry." Pennsylvania taxes, it is alleged, increased in this industry from .04 cents per $100 of sales in 1934, to .50 cents in 1936 with business selling at a 3% margin. As to this industry the evidence indicates that production is shifting to the south.

CHEMICALS

In case of chemicals and fertilizers, a representative of an industry located in Pennsylvania for more than one hundred (100) years gave testimony that this industry is seriously affected by tax and Workmen's Compensation burdens. "We are seriously considering moving elsewhere. We have under consideration now the possibility of combining our Pennsylvania plant with our Maryland or Virginia Plant. We need help and hope that you will not force use out."

PAPER

One important Erie paper industry testified that from 1916 to the present it had been required to meet the following increases:

	Percentage of Increase
Wages	104
Raw Materials	40
Taxes	1877

The same calculations from 1928 to the present showed a tax increase of 2400%, labor costs increased 36%, while raw materials costs decreased 10.8%. The net income of this one industry decreased during this period 18.8%.

RAYON

The largest manufacturer of Rayon in the world commenced business in Pennsylvania in 1915 as a Pennsylvania corporation. It is now a Delaware Corporation with plants in three states. A representative of this manufacturer gave direct testimony showing the loss of a new plant to this state and the probably withdrawl of the machinery from two Pennsylvania plants as the result of the Pennsylvania tax burdens.

This company employes in excess of ten thousand (10,000) persons in normal times in Pennsylvania. It has a payroll of over $12,000,000 in Pennsylvania and a capital investment in this state of $30,000,000. It cost this company $105,000 to domesticate its Delaware Corporation here while in two other states the total cost was only $6,700. In 1934 it paid to Pennsylvania a capital stock tax of $12-000, in 1936 it paid a capital stock tax of $195,000 and a corporate net income tax of $352,000 or a total of $547,-000. It has been billed for additional taxes for this year 1936 of $117,000 because it "happened to be our hard luck that some of the books of that company (Virginia) were kept in this state." This tax is being contested. This additional tax represents an attempt to collect a tax on the Virginia business.

This company is now building a large new plant in another state to cost $15,000,000 at which 7,500 workers will be employed. The following testimony is pertinent.

Q. "Could Pennsylvania have had it?" (The new plant)
A. "Yes."
Q. "Was the tax situation the real factor?"
A. "Yes."
Q. "Have they started to build it?"
A. "$3,000,000 has been spent. I will tell you something more about the tax situation in Pennsylvania. It is such that when we are able to get machinery in our plant at ————, it will be taken from ———— and ———— (naming Pennsylvania towns) and shipped to ———— (the new plant). That is the way the tax situation affects us."

MINING

Taxation and Workmen's Compensation rates appear to be two factors extremely harmful to both the anthracite and bituminous coal industries. Considerable testimony was given before the commission on this subject at its Pittsburgh and Wilkes-Barre Hearings. Both of these industries are in a desperate plight, probably worse than any other in the state. There is little question that wholesale bankruptcy faces this industry unless relief is forthcoming in the near future. Here is an industry which cannot physically migrate, but in the case of bituminous coal, its production can migrate. The operator who has coal lands in this and other states can shift his market from Pennsylvania. In the case of anthracite, no migration can take place but substitutes can replace this fuel and are doing so.

ANTHRACITE

The testimony offered before your committee shows that in the five counties where most of the anthracite coal is mined, more than $12,000,000 is assessed annually against this industry in the form of local taxes on real estate. In some localities most of the local taxes come from this source. In the annual report of one coal company it is reported that local taxes assessed against its coal lands alone equal annually $1.00 per ton for prepared sizes of marketable coal and $260 for each employed worker. While large coal companies have been paying their local taxes in full, serious consideration is being given to a change in policy and paying only a percentage equal to that paid by all other tax payers, who by their failure or inability to pay taxes, cause increases in local tax rates ultimately absorbed by those who do pay. Millions of dollars of other local taxes in this area are delinquent.

The anthracite industry is equipped to produce 80,000,000 tons a year (normal production some years ago) but can now market only about 50,000,000 tons. In ten years during which this decline in production took place, the domestic consumption of coke has increased 400% and of fuel oil 1200%. These substitutes are slowly robbing anthracite coal of its market.

The working capital of this industry has declined in the last twelve (12) years from $110,000,000 to less than $9,000,000.

The state capital stock tax, corporate loans tax, and local taxes are considered very burdensome. One of the larger companies reports an over-all tax and social security burden in 1937 of $4,664,864.00. There is no objection to the corporate net income tax because there is no net income to tax.

The operators contend that the 1937 Workmen's Compensation Act increased compensation costs approximately 107% (Variations from 102% to 110%). Experience seems to indicate that the increase is about 110%. This increase does not include occupational disease compensation. The total increase, exclusive of occupational disease, is estimated by operators at $2,600,000 a year, as measured with the year 1934. This increase is due to the provisions of the 1937 compensation act which (a) increases the period for payment of compensation to dependents, (b) increases the period for payment of compensation for partial disability, and (c) increases the minimum compensation from $7 to $12 per week.

The statement was made that operators producing more than one-half of the anthracite coal have rejected the new compensation act. More recent reports indicate this percentage has increased materially. The feeling prevails that it is cheaper to submit to suits for damages, without common law defenses, than to pay compensation under present laws. But such a procedure on the part of the small operator is deemed highly dangerous in case of a serious accident. Cases are now being settled at common law, without suit, on the basis of the former compensation law and agreements with miners to such a procedure is in force at some times. Smaller companies are banding together in an endeavor to secure catastrophe insurance.

When occupational disease compensation is full operative, it is estimated by operators this will add another $2,600,000 to compensation costs. It is said that 23% of all anthracite employees are anthraco—silicotic and potential claimants under the occupational disease act.

Illustrations of increases in compensation costs were laid before the committee in the form of actual bills rendered. These increases over rates for the year 1934 varied from $10.00 to $21.00, for each $100 payroll. In one case total compensation rates, exclusive of occupational disease, run as high as $30.00 per $100.00 of payroll.

One operator testified he closed down one mine on account of this compensation cost and was going to close another in a few days, placing more families on relief One witness, not an operator, referred to these compensation rates as "suicidal" to the community, since the largest element of cost in a ton of anthracite coal is labor. The labor cost of producing a ton of coal is many times greater than the labor cost of producing an equal of BTU's of oil or coke. Compensation costs are consequently out of all proportion to those paid by producers of competing substitutes.

Following is a table shownig the increase in compensation rates for particular companies and mines.

In Luzerne and Lackawanna Counties, 70% of the population is derectly or indirectly dependent upon anthracite coal. The sickness of this one industry is the main cause of the heavy relief load in this area. The Hazleton area is being particularly affected by the closing of small mines and mine industry bankruptcies. It was said that city was facing a crisis. Vicious price cutting in an endeavor to survive is also extremely harmful

In addition this industry is confronted with a heavy loss of property and loss of revenue through the unlawful taking of coal from its lands which in turn is sold in competition with its products. In return for the enormous sums it pays to support government, it fails to secure the protection of law to which it is entitled.

BITUMINOUS

The picture in the bituminous coal region is substantially the same as in the anthracite region. On mine employing 250 men in 1937 is delinquent in local taxes to the extent of $49,000 without calculating interest and penalties. This company has working capital of less than $35,000. Another mine employing 200 men owes $36,000, in local taxes and still another employing 150 men, $30,000. These companies are all in bankruptcy. They complain they "can no longer meet West Virginia competition and depression prices." These mines all face sales for delinquent real estate taxes.

The thought was expressed that these mines might be rehabilitated if the state would lend "a helpful hand by authorizing resettlement or compromise of taxes that have accrued during the years of the depression. We simply can't pay our taxes, we can't do it."

But even if a rehabilitation were attempted it was contended that existing taxes, compensation rates and wages made continuing operation difficult and perhaps impossible. Some operators have closed down Pennsylvania mines but are operating in West Virginia.

One witness stated that wage rates in West Virginia were eight (.08) cents a ton less than in Pennsylvania, taxes eight (.08) cents a ton less and Workmen's Insurance from a minimum of eight (.08) to twelve (.12) cents a ton less, one witness made the differential sixteen (.16) cents a ton.

While Pennsylvania production has lost in production approximately 80,000,000 tons in fifteen years, West Virginia has increased its tonnage 60,000,000 tons in this same period.

One coal company which is assessed an annual local tax of $67,000 in Pennsylvania, is assessed only $17,000 in West Virginia, for "three times the (Pennsylvania) acreage of coal, coal of equal quality."

Adding the West Virginia gross revenue tax, the total taxes in that state for this triple acreage was only $45,000, while the $67,000 Pennsylvania tax did not include capital stock and corporate net income taxes.

The Workmen's Compensation rates under the new act, exclusive of occupational disease compensation, runs about $12.00 per 100 of payroll although evidences of somewhat higher rates were given. In the Mercer County field, the compensation costs have increased from .1034 cents per ton in 1934 to about .20 cents a ton in 1938. Workmen's Compensation costs in West Virginia are cited in the first preliminary report of the Committee, as .07 cents per ton and prior to the 1937 act as .09 cent a ton in Pennsylvania.

The freight rate for coal from the Mercer field to the port of Erie is $1.49 and from West Virginia $2.09 a ton, a differential, favorable to Pennsylvania of .60 cents a ton, but West Virginia shipped in 1936, 83,500 tons to this market as against a combined tonnage of 61,500 from the Mercer-Butler fields. The added compensation costs "Means everything to our existence in Mercer County."

CLAY MINING AND MANUFACTURING

The only evidence produced relative to clay mining and manufacturing consisted of protests against the new compensation rates. One representative offered the following comparisons of old and new rates per $100 of pay roll.

	Old Rate	New Rate
Clay mining	$5.712	9.991
Clay manufacturing	2.142	3.502

The compensation costs on mining are alleged to amount to .20 cents a ton and on manufacturing .10 cents a ton. These two costs amount to 10% of the selling price, and are alleged to affect the production of Pennsylvania clay.

RADIO MANUFACTURE

One large radio manufacturing representative testified that Pennsylvania taxes had "skyrocketed" in a four year period. Taxes in 1934 were $5,570 and in 1936, $166,000. This industry "cannot meet such tremendous increases in state taxation and face the competition in other states. They cannot say what steps may be taken in order that they may be in a position to compete. So far the only step decided is that "we moved * * * our automobile radio engineering laboratories (largest in the world) to ————————."

In answer to questions whether this removal was in order to be near the automobile centre, he said the movement was for that reason and taxation. He alleged they were saving money by moving.

PUMP MANUFACTURE

Up to two years ago, said a witness, according to the census Bureau the Pennsylvania Manufacturers of pumps for use in suburban homes, of which there are only two in the state, managed "to get a larger percent of the pie done by industry each year.—For the past two years we have been losing our ground, our percent of the total pie has been decreased.—In 1936—I do know—that for total taxes of every description we pay 52% out of every dollar of profit." A large part of your profit may be in inventory "but when you come to pay taxes you must pay them in dollars, you can't pay in pumps." These two industries have 56 competitors in other states.

ERIE

At the Erie Hearing testimony was given that there had not been any migration of industry from that section, but the fear prevailed that this or bankruptcy would follow unless relief was afforded from burden-some taxes. Small industry was deemed the industry of the nation and the present tax burden was felt to work the greatest hardship on the small manufacturer whose credit and surplus became exhausted during the depression period. Capital taxes prevent him from accumulating a new surplus, because taxes have to be paid in cash. Working capital is being depleted to the point where operations will eventually cease. There was testimony that production was decreasing, beyond that caused by the depression, as evidenced by census statistics, which showed that some state industries were losing some of their former percentage of the total national production of particular products. The necessity for maintaining prices above those of out-of-state competitors was deemed the case for this loss of business. Capital stock taxes rather than income taxes were deemed a vital factor undermining the soundness of business. This tax has to be paid even though the industry lost money. Fear was expressed that some industry would be forced out unless relief came.

The witnesses asked that more friendly governmental attitude be created. Business expressed its willingness to assume a fair share of the tax burden on an equitable basis, but did not wish to be pointed to as criminal.

HARRISBURG

In the period from 1930 to 1935 eighteen new industries employing 1600 people were established in Harrisburg largely through the instrumentality of the Chamber of Commerce. Since 1935 there have been virtually no new additions. Companies contacted "decline to come (account of) the increased burden and other restrictive legislation." Five companies contacted recently which desire to locate in the Harrisburg area, in each case, after careful consideration assigned taxes, compensation or restrictive labor legislation or all of them as making the location of industry here impossible. One said, "we may consider Harrisburg further if some assurance can be given that the excessive taxes will be modified to compare favorably with New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware."

Twenty companies in Harrisburg paid state capital stock taxes amounting to $88,969 in 1934, and in 1935 capital stock and franchise taxes amounting to $1,765,000.

Other Harrisburg testimony is reviewed under headings relating to particular industries.

PHILADELPHIA

At the Philadelphia Hearing, your committee heard from representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, and representatives of manufacturers of rayon, farm implements and sleds, radios, textile, carpets, cleaning and dyeing ,steel shafting pulleys and pressed metal products, fertilizers and chemicals, technical instruments, iron products, automobile tires and paper boxes, in the Philadelphia area. Much direct testimony was given by which the harmful effects of Pennsylvania tax, compensation and other legislation was portrayed.

There seemed to be a unanimous opinion that industry desired to remain in Pennsylvania and to expand here. To most of these representatives it appeared to be a question of their ability to survive competition. The harbor of Philadelphia was an element to be considered, but they pointed to the same facilities in New Jersey.

There was a consensus of opinion that further expansion of business in the Philadelphia area was at a standstill and unless tax relief became effective, expansion in other states would follow: One illustration was pointed out where part of a plant was moved to another state and it was said a saving had been effected. Another illustration was the removal of a sales organization from Philadelphia because the Pennsylvania tax was deemed unfair. Other migrations in textile, paper boxes, brake lining manufacturer and spices were called to the commission's attention. The following are some pertinent quotations from the testimony.

"We need help and we hope that you will not force us out of the state."

"As to the immediate future—we are not considering moving from good old Pennsylvania—but most assuredly —if expansion should be necessary * * * we will locate additional plants in New Jersey and Maryland."

"If our plant must move * * * it will not be because of labor conditions, or wage rates * * * it will be solely because of excessive Pennsylvania taxes."

Pennsylvania industry "because of destructive competition, will pass out much more readily under this present set-up."

"We are expecting to expand this business, but it is going either to Virginia or New Jersey * * * solely because of the tax basis."

"We would like to stay here because we have a great deal of money invested and we can't simply pick up and run away with it—but at least we can expand elsewhere if we must."

The Philadelphia seaboard is "invaluable for our business. However, the same seaboard is on the other side of the river."

"We are giving serious consideration to moving elsewhere. * * * Our people feel we cannot continue as we are now going. We are in the red. * * * We have under consideration now * * * combining our Philadelphia plant with our Maryland and Virginia plants."

"The tax situation is dragging industry out of the state. Just make up your mind to that."

"You've got yourselves in such an awful mess today that I don't know where you are going. We are worried. We do not know what to do. You've got to stop spending money."

"If we were as hard boiled as most business men are supposed to be we would have closed up in Pennsylvania long ago."

"The mistake was in both points—the capital stock and corporate net income. That is where the trouble is."

EASTON

One of the finest surveys handed to the Commission at the Philadelphia Hearing came from the Easton Board of Trade. This is full of concrete illustrations of industries in various lines of business, supported by quotations from correspondence, showing directly the effect of Pennsylvania tax and labor legislation on a particular community. This legislation has had the effect of causing local business to expand in other states, to halt expansion locally, to shift production to other states, and to speed up production. The types of industry affected are paper cups and containers, machines, belting and textiles. In the main the reasons assigned which affect companies in this locality are taxes. They allege they are operating at a disadvantage with competitors saying:

"The tax laws of Pennsylvania preclude further expansion in this state."

"In formulating our manufacturing program our disposition is to increase the program where taxes and labor laws are not so burdensome."

"We have been entertaining propositions to transfer our manufacturing operations to another state."

"Pennsylvania taxes have resulted in raising our costs to such a degree that we are unable to successfully compete with our competitors."

"We have been in business in Pennsylvania for nearly sixty years and the taxes in this state in the past enabled us to operate profitably,however, the changes that have taken place in the taxing of industry in this state of recent years will make it unprofitable to operate here."

ALLENTOWN

The Chamber of Commerce of Allentown paints a graphic picture in which over a ten year period, a net loss of fifteen (15) industries, 1067 employes and $6,728,000 in pay roll is reported. This organization reports the loss recently of two major industries which had made plans to build plants in Allentown but shifted to other states when the emergency tax laws were passed. In one case the land for the erection of the plant had actually been acquired and building plans prepared. One concern, manufacturing air conditioning equipment, recently moved its two Pennsylvania plants to Syracuse, New York. It assigned taxation as a "contributing factor." In this city, there are twenty-five desirable empty factory buildings.

PITTSBURGH AND WILKES-BARRE

The testimony taken at Pittsburgh related entirely to bituminous coal already reviewed.

The estimony taken at the Wilkes-Barre hearing dealt in the main with anthracite coal, although considerable other testimony was given which has been digested under the particular industries to which it related.

VII.

ADVERTISING FOR BUSINESS

A great deal of printed material was filed with the commission showing the efforts of states, localities, Chambers of Commerce and individuals to secure the location of new and migratory industries. In some cases these advertisements are publicly financed, and in at least one state (Mississippi), legislation has been enacted designed to assist municipalities in securing the location of new industry.

These drives for new business originate in the main from five sections, the Southern States, New England, New Jersey, Nebraska, and Delaware. That they have been successful must be admitted. The south has shown a tremendous industrial growth during the last five years; New Jersey and Delaware appear to have advanced more rapidly than Pennsylvania, and in New England there has been a marked revival of industry.

With economic conditions remaining unstable, states are in keen competition with each other for industry, employed workers and wealth. Heavy taxation, sometimes imposed without sufficient study as to its ultimate effect, unstable labor conditions, labor legislation, governmental attitudes, small profits and frequently losses, have made the manufacturer more conscious of government than heretofore. Today business must be alert if it is to survive; keen competition requires this. Migratory and new industries are seeking the more favorable locations, where the profit motive is more likely to be achieved. Advertising has its effect if the state or locality has advantages and differentials for sale.

The commission finds no fault with these advertising states and localities, although it does not approve employing some of the means resorted to by at least one section. It, however, deplores the failure of Pennsylvania to enter the competition. These advertising states and localities simply employ the same means resorted to by business which has a product to be sold in competition. They advertise the advantages which they have for sale, and these are—gration of business or fail to gain a sufficient volume of new business cannot, in the opinion of the commission, stem the tide, if it has set in, by simply deploring what other states and localities are doing. They must resort to the same methods, and they must have advantages for sale not necessarily as attractive as some of those offered by others, but sufficient to show that extreme differentials do not exist.

Pennsylvania conditions should, in the opinion of the Commission, more nearly approximate the average. That the differentials between Pennsylvania and some other states are are in some respects abnormal must be admitted. But this State has natural advantages in raw materials, transportation, shipping markets, ideal manufacturing climate, purchasing population, skilled labor, power and the like, which will induce manufacture to stay or locate here if it can operate at a reasonable profit in competition with that of other states, and is assured of a stable and reasonable tax policy and tax administration, a settled labor policy, and a friendly governmental attitude.

Dr. Leonard P. Fox of he Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, in commenting on this point at the Harrisburg Hearing of the commission said this: "Nor have the local commercial organizations ceased in their industrial promotion work. But they are now handicapped in selling their communities to new industries, and in encouraging those already there, by excessive state taxes and other restrictive legislation."

While the main migration of industry appears to have been to the South, it must be admitted that this is in part due to the available raw materials and reduced labor costs in certain processing industries as set forth in the November 1937 issue of "Chemical & Metallurgical Engineering." There it is said that the building program of the pulp and paper, rayon, petroleum refining, heavy chemical and other process industries is reaching a new "all time high." * * * Two-thirds of the enormous investment in new plants has been in the south which has heretofore depended upon the East and West for its manufactured products." The greatest single factor of the growth of the pulp and paper industry "has been the shift fom the eastern to the southern states, which constitutes a phase of industrial expansion comparable only to the immediate post-war migration of textile manufacturers from New England. This geographical movement was brought on by an increase in the demand for sulphate at the expense of sulphite paper products and by the recognition of the lower costs of production in the south."

One of the most unfortunate results of the change in the state tax policy in Pennsylvania has been the unfavorable publicity which the state has received in other states. An example of this widespread publicity, and there are others, is illustrated in a release by the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce entitled

"Killing the Goose that Laid the Golden Egg"
"Results of Pennsylvania's Tax Policy"

This release reviews the fight in New Jersey for economy in state and local government and points to Pennsylvania "as staikingly vindicating" its stand "One reason why Pennsylvania appealed to manufacturers lay in her reputation for treating industry fairly in matters of taxation." * * * but the time came when "There were moves to broaden the tax base which finally crystallized into laws limiting real estate taxes and imposing taxes on business in their stead. The attitude of the framers of such tax legislation toward those who would bear the increased burden was. "They'll stand for it." They won't move out of state as they threatened to do, because it would cost them entirely too much to take such a drastic step." It did not take long after the new taxes were imposed to see that things were not clicking just right. Among other things, the rumor persisted that business concerns were leaving the state; that this exodus was fast resolving itself into a steady stream of departing enterprises. It is to the everlasting credit of the Pennsylvania State Legislature that it wasted little time in debating about it, but got down to brass tacks and appointed a commission to go out and ascertain whether there was any truth in these rumors, and if so, why such migration was taking place."

This release then reviews some of the preliminary reports of this committee and concludes as follows:

"Congratulations to Pennsylvania for looking a serious situation in the face, preparatory to doing something about it before it is too late. As for New Jersey, we have this advantage: Pennsylvania can do little better than 'lock the barn after the horse is stolen': We have not yet unlocked our doors to the ravages of excessive new taxes * * * New Jersey is a haven for industry. Let us keep it so."

Your committee does not endorse this statement as reciting correct facts but simply of an evidence of harmful publicity to which this state has become subject by the sudden reversal of its historic tax policy.

The following are some extracts from the advertising material filed with the commission:

SOUTHEASTERN GOVERNOR'S CONFERENCE

The Southeastern Governor's Conference is composed of the States of North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee. This conference through newspaper advertising, endeavors to counteract the "alarmed atttude" of other sections of the country towards its purposes. It denies an intent to solicit industry to seek locations in these states expecting cheap labor and sweat-shop conditions. It stresses "year 'round moderate climate" as making possible better standards of living for less rent, less fuel, less food and clothing, lower capital investments, lower construction costs, lower production costs, uniform tax policies and friendly labor attitude between employer and employee. The conference aims for the southeast "the full benefits of the ever-increasing trend toward industrial decentralization and the establishment of a proper balance between agriculture and industry."

This same conference has issued leaflets entitled "To aid and protect Industrial Development in the Southeast." This in chart form, dramatizes the new building in the Process Industries in the South in 1936-37. These industries are listed as pulp and paper, rayon, heavy chemicals, petroleum products, coke and gas, sugar refining, asbestos and asphalt, glass, distilleries, lime, cement, rubber, paint and varnish, compressed gases, soap. fine chemicals, vegetable oils, and miscellaneous. New buildings in the South in these industries amounted to $186.000,000 and in the remainder of the nation $164,000,000. Louisiana has reversed its business—baiting policy. This state appropriated $100,000 and North Carolina $250,000 to attract new industries. "In the southern town, there is no union problem. Labor agitators can't get very far in small communities where leading business men have investments in plants. Methods aren't always ethical but they are effective. Wage rates usually are lower too. Laborites may rave and tear their hair over this North-South differential but there are arguments to justify it. A milder climate makes for lower rents, lower heating costs, lower costs for clothes, longer periods of work, cheaper food. All this is tough on competing regions but you can't buck geography."

NEW ENGLAND GOVERNOR'S CONFERENCE

The New England Governor's Conference is composed of the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. This conference, through magazine advertising, sets forth policies endorsed by these governors as essential to wealth-producing activity. These are "A sound policy in public expenditure, fairness and consideration in enacting and administering legislation affecting industry and labor, and preservation of individual initiative and reward."

Public Utilities, like the New England Gas and Electric Association advertising the advantage of locating in that territory.

FLORIDA

Florida issues a bulletin entitled "Taxes and Exemptions." In it are set forth constitutional provision prohibiting the creating of state debt, providing homestead exemptions against taxation and execution, and exempting estates and income from taxation, except to the extent of the federal credit against federal estate taxes.

Another bulletin is entitled "Florida Tax Comparisons with California, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania." This bulletin is limited to estate taxes and in tables shows the amounts to be saved by domiciling in that state.

MASSACHUSETTS

The Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission, in magazine advertisements, solicits manufacture in and marketing from Massachusetts. It stresses freedom from excessive burden of taxation, governmental uncertainty and doubts and fears that retard expansion. Industry is enabled to produce profitably.

This same commission, in co-operation with the associated industries of Massachusetts, publishes a bulletin entitled "Industrial advantages of Massachusetts." This stresses proximity to markets and purchasing areas, lower taxes than other industrial states, labor skill, ideal manufacturing climate, governmental attitude towards business, available production facilities, shipping facilities and the like.

MISSISSIPPI

In a circular the source of which is not disclosed, it is heralded that "A great agricultural states goes to town industrially." This state has authorized its municipalities to issue bonds for the purpose of erecting plants for industrial operation and to exempt these plants from ad valorem taxation for five years. It stresses particularly labor conditions. "With labor and government costs getting out from under plant control, plants are being forced to spread out to more favorable labor markets and communities with more favorable industrial legislation. Mississippi's plan of community-financed tax-exempt enterprises establishes an environment in which strikes and hampering legislation will be unlikely, if not impossible. The community's stake in the enterprise will assure a favorable attitude toward it."

NEW JERSEY

The New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce has issued a handsomely illustrated folder entitled "Why more than 350 new industries have located in New Jersey in the past two years." Being 45th among the 48 states in size, it "ranks sixth in the value of its manufacturing products and sixth in the value of its exports to foreign lands." It stresses no taxes on personal or manufacturing incomes, proximity to markets, transportation, climate and the busiest airport (Newark) in the world. More than 70 landing fields dot the state.

JERSEY CITY, NEW JERSEY

Jersey City, in magazine advertisements, asks industry to "Join the swing of leading business firms to Jersey City." For specific information as to the advantages of location there, this city advises contacting the mayor. It publishes the endorsements by officers of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co., Westinghouse Electric Elevator Co., American Can Co., Joseph Dixon Crucible Co., and Mallinckrodt Chemical Co. These endorsements stress particularly well managed municipal government and governmental attitute towards business.

WILMINGTON, DELAWARE

The Chamber of Commerce of Wilmington, Delaware, and the Industrial Commissioner of that state, by mail, addressed to industrial concerns, call attention to the tax situation developed in Delaware. While other states have increased taxes, this state has eliminated several nuisance taxes and has operated with a balanced budget during the depression. Manufacturers pay but one state tax, at the rate of 1/40 of 1% of gross receipts. Local real estate taxes are moderate.

Edward H. Zoll, Inc., specialists in Industrial Properties, Newark, N. J., in a folder advise the location of plants in Wilmington, Delaware. This folder advertises harbor, labor, shipping and tax advantages.

Newville & Hitchings, Inc., advertising Wilmington, quoting from Griswold in the American Magazine, that the State of Delaware is a "Tax Haven."

NEBRASKA

Associated Industries of Nebraska in magazine advertising says there are "No pickpocket Taxes in Nebraska." This state has no corporation income tax, no personal income tax, no sales tax, no luxury taxes, no state debt.

The Seward Chamber of Commerce and Associated Industries of Nebraska in letters to business interests and booklets, refer to Nebraska as the "White spot" on the national map. The cities of Columbus and Kearney are also widely advertised. Grand Island is proud that it is on the Lincoln Highway which is paved and that the County has five hundred (500) miles of gravel road.

LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles County stresses the fact that it has today more industrial jobs than at the peak of the 1929 boom, and and that employment in the United States did not reach this level even in the prosperous months of 1937. "The excellent showing is the result of growth of many types of industry."

AKRON

The Greater Akron Association stresses reasonable electric power rates and points to "eight interconnected generating stations from Lake Erie to the Ohio River. Duplicating circuits in a network of distributing lines throughout the whole Akron Industrial District protect customers against service interruption." It also points to this city as the tenth lowest in comparative tax rates of all cities with a population from 30,000 to 7,000,000.

LOUISVILLE

The Louisville Industrial Foundation advertises that it will prepare on request, without cost or obligation, "such complete and reliable information as will enable the manufacturer to accurately appraise Louisville's advantages as applied to his own industrial operation. * * * You can benefit by Louisville's unusual economies in production and distribution.

CONCLUSION

The conclusions to be drawn from this section are:

First, that Pennsylvania should modify some of the differentials existing between this and other states as affecting industry in order to restore its competitive position. Other sections of the report will show that these differentials lie principally in the field of state taxation, particularly on capital, labor legislation, governmental reports, governmental attitude, workmen's compensation as affecting some industries like mining and local taxation, particularly on mines.

Second, that some state agency, existing or newly created, be empowered to advertise the advantage of locating industry in Pennsylvania, be given an adequate appropriation for this purpose, and that it act as a clearing house to secure locations for industry able to use available unoccupied factory buildings.

VIII

ADMINISTRATIVE ATTITUDE

At all of its Hearings, the thought was expressed that your committee should do all that lies within its power to bring about a more friendly attitude towards business. Without exception, those appearing before the committee agreed that it was the duty of business to bear its fair share of the burden of taxation and they expressed their willingness to do so. The main contentions were that business taxes were too heavy and that there was an unfriendly administrative attitude toward business which was not healthy.

Intimations were made to your committee in at least one locality that industry hesitated to protest for fear of reprisals.

If such a condition exists it is not a healthy one for the development of new industry. One witness expressed his view of this situation as follows * * * "Everyone is jittery, nervous, uncertain, afraid of what is coming next and under such circumstances business men with new capital will not take a chance." Another witness representing a very large industry said "We are worried, we do not know what to do."

A witness expressed it as his opinion that the New England business migration was due to a lack of cooperation on the part of the public and the state government rather than taxation. Another said that business should not be looked upon as criminal.

The attack made on a particular industry after it gave testimony before your commission is an illustration of this administrative attitude. That this industry is a great asset to the community in which it is located is best attested by the community reply to this attack.

Harriet L. Herring, Research Associate of the University of North Carolina in a book entitled "The Coming of Industry to the South" sets forth the new southern attitude towards business:

"The industrial development of the south has been so rapid in recent years as to attract the attention of the Nation and to amaze the South itself, so much so that the region has become absorbed in industry, is busy increasing it, defending it and praising it * * * The South has talked about and yearned for industrial greatness so long that the recent success has naturally made it self-conscious The industrial development of the south has been in a measure the result of conscious efforts of southerners to build an industrial empire."

IX

LOCAL TAXES

The committee made no attempt to study the matter of local taxation, although this was within the powers of the committee, so far as this subject affects industry. However, aside from the burdensome taxation on coal lands, and the great amount of delinquent taxes in certain localities, like the anthracite and bituminous regions, nothing was offered in the way of evidence which was pertinent to our industry.

The local tax rates of Pennsylvania do not compare unfavorably according to one Philadelphia witness who furnished a table of rates per thousand valuation after "all differences in policy and rate assessment have been composed." This table compares six cities in Pennsylvania against six comparable cities in New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. It was found that the average Pennsylvania rate was $27.83 and in other states $28.07. Wilmington, Delaware had the lowest rate $15.60. This witness considered Philadelphia's tax rate of $23.63 as "quite favorable."

The Allentown Chamber of Commerce refers to the "favorable local tax picture" as being one which should be maintained or, if possible, improved.

As said above the main complaint against local taxes was with respect to the burden coal lands.

SHIFT IN THE VALUE OF MANUFACTURED PRODUCTS SALARIES, AND WAGES AND EMPLOYED WORKS OVER A FOURTEEN YEAR PERIOD

(As compiled from Administrative and Research Corporation's Weekly Letter)

THE VALUE OF MANUFACTURE

	1921	1935
1. New England, New York, Penna. and New Jersey	44.8%	36.7%
2. Great Lake States, (Ohio, Ind., Ill., Mich., Wis.)	27	31.7
3. South Eastern (Virginia, West Va., Md., Del., N. C., S. C., Ga., Fla.)	6.8	9
4. Southern (Ky., Tenn., Miss., Ala., La., Ark., Okla., Texas)	6.5	7.5
5. Central (Minn., Iowa, Miss., N. D., S. D., Neb., Kan.)	8.0	7.4
6. Middle Western (Mont., Idaho, Wyo., Col., Utah, Nev., Ariz., New Mexico)	1.4	1.3
7. Western (Wash., Oregon, Cal.)	5.5	6.4

SALARIES AND WAGES

1. New England, New York, Penna., and New Jersey	48.6	42.5
2. Great Lake States (Ohio, Ind., Ill., Mich., Wis.)	27	31.9
3. South East (Virginia, W. Virginia, Maryland, Del., N. C., S. C., Ga., Fla.)	7.	8.3
4. Southern (Ky., Tenn., Miss., Ala., La., Ar., Okla., Texas)	5.5	5.6
5. Central (Minn., Iowa, Miss., N. D., S. D., Neb., Kan.)	5.8	5.2
6. Middle Western (Mont., Idaho, Wyo., Col., Utah, Nev., Ariz., New Mexico)	1.4	1.
7. Western (Wash., Oregon, Cal.)	5.3	5.5

NUMBER OF WAGE EARNERS

1. New England, N. Y., Penna., and New Jersey	47.6	41.3
2. Great Lake States (Ohio, Ind., Ill., Mich., Wis.)	24.5	28.9
3. South Eastern (Va., W. Va., Maryland Del., N. C., S. C., Ga., Fla.,)	9.3	11.3
4. Southern (Kan., Tenn., Miss., Ala., La., Ark., Okla., Texas)	6.9	7.2
5. Central (Minn., Iowa., Miss., N. D., S. D., Neb., Kan.)	5.4	5.2
6. Middle Western (Mont., Idaho, Wyo., Col., Utah, Nev., Ariz., N. Mex.)	1.8	0.9
7. Western (Wash., Oregon, Cal.)	4.5	5.2

These tables are revealing. They show that during this fourteen year period the value of manufactured products decreased in group One 8.1%, while wages decreased only 6.1% and the number of workers only 6.3%. In group Two, the value of products increased 4.7%, wages increased 4.9%, and wage earners 4.2%. In group Three the value of products increased 2.2%, wages 1.3% and wage earners 2%, while in group Four, the value of products increased 1%, wages 1/10 of 1% and wage earners 3/10 of 1%. Groups Five and Six show little change while in group Seven the value of products increased 1/10 of 1% wages increased 2/10 of 1% and wage earners 7/10 of 1%

It will thus be seen that the loss is practically all in group One and the gains in Groups 2, 3, 4, and 7.

On the other hand, wages have not reduced in group One proportionately with loss in manufacture, while in groups 3, 4, and 7 they have not increased as rapidly as the value of manufactured products, but in group 2 the proportion of increase in wages has been greater than the increase in the value of manufactured products.

Here is clearly an indication of high wage rates in groups one and two as against the rest of the nation. It is in these groups of states that labor is probably most highly organized.

An up to date table would probably show a more decided shift from group one, but no statistics are available.

XI.

THE PENNSYLVANIA TAX SYSTEM

The system of state taxation in Pennsylvania is not a system at all. It is simply a growth of one tax on top of another with an increase in rates of existing taxes, as the necessity for new revenue arose to meet the expenditures of government. Aside from the studies produced by the Tax commission which functioned from 1923 to 1927 and made two excellent reports, no serious thought has been given as to effect of taxation on industry. The emergency of the occasion was the sole factor which guided the Legislature and those in authority in providing new and additional revenues. That this system cannot continue indefinitely is apparent. It can lead only to chaos and ruin.

While the burden of taxation is enormous it is not helped by the annoyance and expense to which industry is put in aiding government in collecting the taxes which it imposes. Part of this annoyance and expense is due to our form of national, state and local governments, part of it due to the multitude of taxes and taxing agencies.

An illuminating example is cited in the report of the Committee on Taxation made to the Pennsylvania Bar Association in June, 1938, in which statistics were furnished by the Curtis Publishing Company. It is not shown in how many states this company does business, but in addition to its taxes in the United States, it pays taxes in Canada. The tax reports for 1927 and 1937 were compared as follows:

	Tax reports in the U. S.	Tax Reports in Canada
1927	10	1

The report of this committee continues as follows:

"Every tax report required of a corporation may involve a direct tax to government, but it also involves an indirect tax in the preparation of the same, and in the assembly of the requisite data. It may seriously be questioned as to whether the burden of ascertaining one's tax liability is not in many cases greater than the burden of taxation itself, and it suggests to the members of our profession the necessity of making a careful study of the reports which the law requires our clients to file in order to ascertain how many are necessary, and whether or not greater simplicity in the forms of the returns would not be helpful."

The information given the commission indicates that the Pennsylvania capital stock is burdensome on business. It is particularly burdensome during depression periods. This tax must be paid even when a concern is operating at loss. Its effect during such periods is to dissipate surplus and destroy invested capital.

The recently developed franchise capital stock tax on foreign corporations has been found in some cases to result in a tax out of all proportion to the amount of capital employed or business done in this state. It is apparent that the Massachusetts fraction developed for the measuring of corporate income taxes, which has been adopted in this state to measure the franchise tax on foreign corporations, is neither just nor equitable, and should be changed or entirely abandoned.

So, also the commission believes that every effort should be made, to reduce the rate of the capital stock tax to an ultimate rate of two mills on all industry. The commission realizes that so drastic a reduction cannot be accomplished until the relief burden is materially lessened or new sources of revenue are found.

But the continuation of a five (5) mill rate for this tax on such a distressed industry as mining, or railroads many of which are in receivership, and on manufacturing which needs encouragement and assistance in order that our former industrial supremacy may be established, is deemed by the commission an unsound tax policy.

XII.

A STATE TAX COMMISSION

A number of witnesses advocated the creation of a State Tax Commission for two principal reasons. First, to establish stability in tax administration, and second, to have an agency which would engage in studies and compile data for the benefit of state administrations and legislatures with a view of establishing a sound and permanent tax policy. The stability of tax systems in other states, where administrators are continued in office and not affected by elections were pointed to.

The Pennsylvania Bar Association Committee on Taxation made a report on this subject at the 1938 session of this association in which it said, after calling attention to seven Pennsylvania Secretaries of Revenue in nine years, that > "Where a Revenue Department is under the Governor, its executive will probably change with each administration and may change more frequently. Each change imparts a feeling of insecurity to the subordinates and a feeling of uncertainty as regards decisions. On the one side stability and order, and on the other, partisan politics and chaos. We believe the time has come to make a positive commitment on the subject."

The committee is in accord with this report. There can be no question that greater stability in administration is needed and sounder advice to those who are called upon to raise the public revenues deemed necessary to allow government to function properly and humanely. Taxation must not be imposed as a penalty, but as a just contribution for the support of government in return for protection to the tarpayer and the other more fortunate citizens. In their heavier burdens taxes must have a relation to ability to pay and not destroy invested capital, which can only result in more unemployment and in shifting additional burdens on successful industry, which in turn may become affected, thus bringing into being a vicious circle. Common sense, a knowledge of the subject of taxation, of diminishing returns when taxes become too high, of the soundness or illness of the industrial structure, of interstate competition and comparable burdens, and a knowledge of many other relevant factors are needed to build a sound and equitable tax structure. These can be best supplied by an intelligent, stable and honest tax administration which has the subject of taxation constantly before it not only in its administrative aspects, but as well in its broader and economic aspects.

So also if a sound tax policy is to be established it will be necessary to assure tenure, during their terms, to the members of any tax commission. While it has heretofore been deemed the right of the Governor under the Constitution to remove any officer he appoined at his pleasure, the Supreme Court has recently pointed out that this is not an unlimited right and can be circumscribed by the Legislature. In the case of Weiss v. Ziegler, 327 Pa. 100, involving the removal of a Superintendent of Schools, that court held that Article 12, Section 1 of the Constitution provided that officers whose appointment is not provided for in the constitution are to be appointed as may be directed by law, and that this provision involves and implies legislative power to annex conditions of tenure. "The Legislature may well say that it is desirable that certain officers should be appointed, but, for reasons which it deemed sufficient they should not be subjected to removal at pleasure."

In the creation of a tax commission the Legislature might well provide that no members of the Commission should be removed except for reasons specified by the Legislature.

SUMMARY AND RECOMMENDATIONS

While the facts submitted to this Commission at the several hearings held, evidenced the migration of some industry from this State, it is also evident that many were "Fly-by-Nights" such as silk and hosiery manufacturers and not stabilized industries.

There is no conclusive evidence that this is due alone to the tax burden. The reasons are more wide-spread and involved and not attributable to taxation alone. Other elements to be considered are workmen's compensation costs, labor differentials, proximity to raw materials, available markets, industrial legislation and to a great extent, economic and nation-wide trends.

The Commission is, however, of the opinion that taxation is one of the most important factors influencing migration and that the present system of taxation unquesionably retards the expansion of industry in this Commonwealth. Restrictive or burdensome taxation is a deterrent to the location of any new industry and by it unsystematic burden on invested capital drives out working capital leading to lessened production and ultimate bankruptcy followed by greater unemployment.

Unsound and unstable as the present taxing system in Pennsylvania is found to be, when all is taken into consideration, restrictive constitutional limitations and past usages and customs have caused succeeding administration to add to present tax schedules and to add new taxes because of emergencies existing at the time the taxes were levied.

The Commission is unable to make recommendations which will immediately and definitely correct the present complaints of industry over increased taxes and other governmental costs. The difficulty in which this Commonwealth finds itself lies principally in the enormous amount of revenue required and needed to carry the relief load and social security. The relief load has increased from $10,000,000.00 in 1933, to over $150,000,000.00 in the last biennium. This revenue must be raised as long as industrial conditions do not improve. A sharp upturn in business conditions would be helpful and if industry makes every effort to co-operate, and if the mills and factories help reduce the unemployment problem, it will naturally reduce the relief load and make possible a reduction in taxation.

The Commission proposes certain recommendations which should be enacted, as early as possible to relieve the strain on industry and the individual taxpayer, and assure the future industrial expansion of Pennsylvania. The Commission recommends:

1. The creation of a State Tax Commission to replace the present Department of Revenue, said Commission to be composed of three members to be appointed initially for terms of two, four and six years, respectively. The appointments shall be made by the Governor, two members representing the majority party and one member representing the minority party, to be confirmed by the Senate. This State Tax Commission shall consist of experts who in addition to the formulation of permanent policies of tax administration will immediately undertake a serious study of the Pennsylvania Tax System and devise a method of State taxation which will raise sufficient revenue but at the same time lessen the burden of taxation on invested capital of industry.
2. The Commission earlier in its report called attention to the necessity of giving some relief in the near future to those industries most in need thereof like mining and railroads, to the encouragement which should be given to the manufacturing industries by reducing the heavy tax on invested capital, and to the injustice which result from the franchise tax on foreign corporations doing business in this State. In the opinion of the Commission the foregoing is the most important problem which needs immediate correction.
3. The Commission recommends a complete and comprehensive study of workmen's compensation costs. The compensation set-up from the establishment of rates to the final disposition of cases is in need of complete revision. It is admitted that the coal industry in Pennsylvania carries the largest load of compensation costs and that a definite limitation should be placed upon the amount that can be charged for compensation on a per ton basis or a percentage basis similar to that in other States, thereby giving the coal industry an opportunity to successfully complete with coal operators in other States and aid in the rehabilitation of Pennsylvania as a mining state.
4. The Commission further recommends the reduction of personal property tax from 8 to 4 mills with all returns submitted to the County because the Counties must depend upon this source of revenue and real estate taxation to operate county government. Like reductions must be made in the tax on bank shares and corporate loans.
5. The Commission recommends the reduction of capital stock tax from 5 mills to 2 mills.
6. The Commission also favors the tax upon all stocks and bonds without any exemptions, it being the belief of the Commission that any income producing stocks or bonds should be subject to personal property tax without exemption.
7. The Commission recommends a constitutional amendment providing for a graduated income tax.
8. It is ardently recommended by the Commission that the State Tax Commission make a thorough study of the present system of filing tax returns by industry, and to the restrictive regulations in order to introduce simplicity and remove expensive and complex methods.

In conclusion, it is the firm belief of the Commission that no recommendations can be made which will have an immediate effect upon the tax structure of this Commonwealth. But the Commission is unanimously of the opinion that if the recommendations submitted herein, should be enacted into law they would materially aid in restoring confidence to business, industry and the taxpayers of this Commonwealth. Further, the appointment by the Governor of a State Tax Commission composed of competent and qualified experts who will strive to readjust the tax structure of this Commonwealth will at once aid in re-establishing Pennsylvania among the foremost industrial States of this Nation.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

Harrisburg, Pa., May 25, 1939.

Hon. John H. Dent, Chairman
Joint Legislative Industrial Tax Survey Committee

Honorable Sir:

I am submitting herewith a Supplemental Report of the Joint Legislative Industrial Tax Survey Committee (Dent Committee), in order that it may be presented by you to the members of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

The cursory study embodied therein concentrates mostly upon the tenability of "the general argument that industries are being driven out of Pennsylvania by burdensome taxes."

No one disputes that industry is entitled to relief, and that immediate tax-revision should be undertaken at once in order to extricate Pennsylvania from the unremitting perplexities of our taxation problems.

It is an egregious error, however, on the part of Pennsylvania's tax-revisionists to maintain that there is an exodus of industry from our State. This allegation may accelerate the revision of our fiscal system and be conducive thereto; but it tends to create outside of Pennsylvania, a wrong impression that the Keystone State is industrially decadent.

By marshaling what basic data can be drawn from such unimpeachable sources as the Biennial Census of Manufactures, released by U. S. Department of Commerce and the Industrial Division of the Bureau of Statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs, we are in a position to evaluate the ever-present "argument" about "industries being driven out from Pennsylvania."

Let the statistics testify!

Respectfully submitted,

ISRAEL STIEFEL.

I. PREFATORY REMARKS

The Industrial Tax Survey Committee, known as the

Dent Committee was given by the 132d regular session of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania (1937), a gargantuan task consisting of:

(a) A careful, thorough and impartial investigation of the total tax burdens placed upon industry in Pennsylvania and other industrial and mining states;

(b) Ascertainment of the number of industrial or mining concerns which have left our State and the reason given therefor:

(c) Ascertainment of the total tax burdens imposed by the States to which the said industrial or mining concerns have moved;

(d) Ascertainment of the number of new industrial and mining concerns which have moved into Pennsylvania and of factors causing immigration of industries to Pennsylvania;

(Concurrent Resolution adopted by the Senate on March 8, 1937, and concurred in by the—House of Represeentatives on March 15, 1937.)

Each one of these sub-tasks is of such magnitude and importance that it commands a separate study by a separate committee. Thus alleged tax burdens alone can be measured and studied only after a penetrative evaluation of our entire fiscal structure—a formidable task repeatedly undertaken by Legislative Committees during the last several decades.

Add to a study of Pennsylvania's fiscal structure the required several excurses into the tax structures of the competing sister-states (a task assigned to the Dent Industrial Tax Survey Committee) and part of the committee's assignment will emerge in its full forbidding stature.

The inadequacy of the sum of $5,000.00 appropriated by the Legislature in 1937 prevented the Dent Industrial Tax Survey Committee from both adopting scientific methods of survey and gathering the necessary information at available primary Pennsylvania sources.

Only a thorough state-wide canvass of all the industries in Pennsylvania would have been commensurate with the multi-faceted task of the Dent Committee and would have been helpful in ascertaining whether or not the many and repeated allegations about emigration of industry from Pennsylvania is a convenient myth or an economic reality.

In the absence of such a canvass and a resultant culling of scientific data, one must fall back upon secondary sources, such as reliable statistics gathered by the U. S. Department of Commerce, through its Biennial Census of Manufacturers, and statistics gathered by both the Deparments of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Department of the Auditor General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

By compiling relevant statistics reflecting the industrial growth of Pennsylvania, by evolving several decisive and relevant criteria of industrial prosperity and growth and by applying these criteria to the compiled statistics, we will be in a position to either refute or substantiate the allegations about industrial emigratory trends in Pennsylvania.

These allegations are fraught with danger. They lend themselves as a two-edged sword to party-strategists;—repeated discussions revolving around them, create outside of Pennsylvania an impression of our industrial decadence and fall as a sinister shadow athwart the path of industries contemplating to move from other states to Pennsylvania.

Allegations of a similar character and vein have been made in the past in many other jurisdictions. It will be of interest to us, before proceeding with our main task, to present an ancillary review and digest of allegations made about emigration of industries in several of our sister-states.

II. AN OMNIPRESENT, PERENNIAL MYTH

(a) In Wisconsin:

1. The National Industrial Conference Board, The Tax Problem in Wisconsin.

In 1924 the N.I.C.B. made a study of "The Tax Problem in Wisconsin." One conclusion was that "Taxes imposed upon business entities and their owners in Wisconsin, whether incorporated or unincorporated, are more burdensome than in neighboring states. This circumstance has had the effect of bringing into being certain devices whereby Wisconsin is very slowly becoming a state of branch factories, while, at the same time, considerable revenue is being lost permanently." (Page 161)

2. H. M. Groves—G. L. Leffler, Wisconsin Industry and the Wisconsin Tax System.

The first edition of this study was copyrighted in 1930 and the second edition by the University of Wisconsin in 1931. The introduction to these studies states, "In the summer of 1929 the New York Times published an editorial in which it said that Wisconsin had been reduced by emotional politics and rash interference to a plight from which at best she will be slow to recover. Industrial progress has been choked. Wisconsin has been made an experiment station, but years of it has shown that it is mighty expensive.'"

The conclusion was, "The statement of the New York Times, for instance, to the effect that Wisconsin has been reduced by legislation to an economic plight from which at best she will be slow to recover is shown to be a gross misrepresentation." At another point. "The notion that Wisconsin is putting crushing burdens upon industry all out of proportion to those placed upon it in other states appears to be another myth . . . We have shown that the State has had an industrial growth during the last five, ten, or fifteen years which compares very favorably with that of most of our competing states and with that of the country as a whole."

3. E. M. Fich—R. L. Curtiss, Industrial Trends in Wisconsin.

This study was prepared under the supervision of Professor Harry Jerome, Professor Martin Glasier, and John P. Ferris, and was published in February, 1933. The purpose of this survey was "To determine the principle industrial advantages and disadvantages of Wisconsin's towns and cities and to find out whether the larger or smaller cities of the state have experienced the more rapid manufacturing growth." One of the conclusions reached was that "the wide-spread belief that taxes constitute the greatest obstacles of further industrial growth in Wisconsin has undoubtedly been accentuated by the depression and by the tenseness of the political situation in the state."

Judging from a questionnaire submitted to Wisconsin employers, the study concluded, "Wisconsin manufacturers place the efficiency of their labor supply as the most important individual advantage and the tax situation as their principal disadvantage. Most of the rumors of wholesale factory removals from the state seem to have little basis in fact."

4. Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, Wisconsin's Favorable Tax Position.

The first edition of this study was published in September, 1933; the second in April, 1935. The bulletin states: "By comparing the tax situation in Wisconsin with neighboring and competing states, the use of figures from the United States Census, the Wisconsin Tax Commission, and the Bureau of Business and Economic Research at the University of Wisconsin the stellar position of Wisconsin in the field of taxation will become self-evident."

5. F. A. Hanna, Wisconsin During the Depression—Industrial Trends and Tax Burdens.

This study constitutes another bulletin of the University of Wisconsin with introduction by Professor Harold M. Groves, and was copyrighted in 1936. Mr. Hanna is now connected with the Wisconsin State Planning Board. The introduction to this bulletin states that the first bulletins published by Groves-Leffler, were out of date and that the new publication was compiled to bring the data up to date. The bulletin makes an analysis of material from the Biennial Census of Manufacturers. One of the conclusions of the study was: "Certainly there is nothing in all this to find the statement that Wisconsin industry has been 'thwarted' or that it has 'moved from the state.'"

(b) In Illinois:

(Editorial in Chicago Daily News) "From the Illinois Manufacturers Association has gone to members of the State Legislature a long list of important industrial concerns which in recent years have removed their plants to neighboring states. High taxes and unwise legislation at Springfield are given as the reasons for these removals." [J. K. Kyle, Wisconsin's Taxation Policy with Relation to Influence on Industry and Business (1928), 5.]

(c) In Indiana:

(Chairman Brown of Indiana Tax Commission) "Every day brings to our department messages from various enterprises and industries of the state of Indiana that are making the statement that the burden of taxation is becoming so great that they are going to have to quit business."

Proceedings of Indiana State Board of Tax Commissioners and Assessors, (January 6, 1926), 8.

(d) In Michigan:

(John Smith, Mayor of Detroit, 1927) "A survey of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce shows that fifteen corporations have left or are preparing to leave Detroit because of high taxes. You gentlemen know from common knowledge that Detroit, which for years was the magnet toward which the greatest industries in the land were drawn, has not attracted a new industry in years."

Proceedings of Michigan State Board of Equalization, (1927), 66.

(e) In Ohio:

(Editorial in the Cleveland Plain Dealer) "Detroit manufacturers have been recently in this city (Cleveland) investigating the Cleveland tax situation. They assert that the tax burden which industry is obliged to assume there is extortionate and they are obliged to find new seats for their industries in order to operate profitably. Cleveland's business interests feel very much the same way about taxes they have to pay.

J. K. Kyle, Wisconsin's Taxation Policy with Relation to Influence on Industry and Business, (1928).

"Rubber threatens to move. Akron worries as old warning is finally translated into action by three manufacturers. Labor troubles partly the cause of decentralization."

Business Week v. 15, April 18, 1936, p. 22.

(f) In Massachusetts:

The results of a statistical study of migrations in New England made by the New England Council show that most of the New England migrations are within the region and that there is a net gain within the region both in number of plants and number of employees.

Babb, J. J. Migration of industry. American Statistical Association Journal. v. 23, n.s., p. 320-321. Sept., 1928.

(g) In New York:

(National Industrial Conference Board) "New York at present imposes a heavier burden on its corporations than do many of the competing states. Such discriminatory differences are frequently an important factor in the development of competing states."

These statements were collected without much difficulty. They could be easily extended. What they prove is that some other distant jurisdiction is always likely to look like a tax haven.

"Economy blocked, Fearon declares . . . Warns of lost industry. High taxes and restrictive laws are driving business out of state.

New York State Senator in address before Women's National Republican Club, states there are 30.4% fewer factories in New York State in 1933 than in 1904. Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce survey, shows 13,000 factories have left the state in recent years."

New York Times. March 24, 1936. p. 2, col. 7.

New York City Survey

Late in 1935 as a result of widespread statements to the effect that New York City was losing is leadership as a center of industry and commerce and that manufacturers were departing in great numbers, Comptroller Frank J. Taylor commissioned Charles E. Murphy as his Special Representative to inquire into these reports. The first phase of the industrial survey report appeared December 30, 1936, the second, March 30, 1937, and the third, June 30, 1937.

The survey staff prepared a list of those manufacturing establishments which had actually left the city, together with their new location. The executives of these establishments were then contacted for information as to why they left New York. Executives of enterprises newly located in New York were similarly questioned as to their reasons for coming.

At the beginning of the survey, Comptroller Taylor asked the staff to ascertain the answers to the four following questions:

First—Is there a general departure of manufacturing establishments from New York City?

Second—If so, what are the reasons for such removals?

Third—What can be done to prevent further removals by manufacturers from our City?

Fourth—What practically can be done to bring back those manufacturing establishments which have moved away, and to attract new manufacturers to our City?

The first question was answered as follows in the first phase of the report:

"Definitely no . . . While the record indicates that New York City suffers a greater industrial loss than the Country as a whole in depression years, the fact is that it enjoys a greater and quicker increase in the number of its manufacturing establishments when times improve."

New York State Industrial Commissioner says that statistics showing industries leaving the state are misleading. The decrease is accounted for by the depression and percentage on a national basis was higher in 1933 than in 1904.

Mayor LaGuardia minimizes business exodus. "A lot of bunk going around," he says in decrying reports of factory removal. New York Times. Oct. 2, 1936, p. 27, col. 5

(h) In Oklahoma:

L. D. Melton, Chief, Research and Statistics, Oklahoma Tax Commission, reports that executives of oil companies and some of the companies are moving from Oklahoma to Texas because of the Oklahoma income tax and also because of the advantage under Texas community property laws in paying the Federal income tax. Moreover, there is more oil in Texas and more opportunity for wildcatting.

III. CRITERIA OF INDUSTRIAL PROSPERITY AND GROWTH

The present Report will deal with only one phase of the assignment given to the Dent Industrial Tax Survey Committee, namely: Evolving an answer to the perennially recurring question: Are Pennsylvania industries emigrating from our state? This question is the major premise of the entire assignment given to the Dent Industrial Tax Survey Committee and should have been decided by the Committee at the very inception of its work.

Let us proceed now with the discussion of the several criteria which we will apply to Federal and State statistics in our attempt to find an emphatic answer to the above question.

Our first approach will resolve itself to the selection of the type of data, and criteria which adequately portray the growth or curtailment of industry. The Biennial Census of Manufacturers includes statistics upon the following, any one of which might be used as a measure of the magnitude and growth of industrial production.

1. Number of Establishments

This figure is only helpful in evaluating trends. It should be used in discussing the relative prosperity of Pennsylvania as compared with competing sister States. We should, however, bear in mind variations in the size of plants.

2. The Number of Wage Earners

The number of wage earners has the advantage in being unaffected by changes in the price level. It is a fairly reliable criterion of measurement but it must be remembered that on the one hand in some industries mechanical processes are displacing hand labor to such an extent as to make possible a marked increase in production with no increase in the number of wage earners, while, on the other hand, the average length of the working day has been considerably reduced within recent years.

3. Wages Paid in Manufacturing

The wages paid by manufacturing plants are in important factor in the purchasing power of a state, especially in states which are highly industrialized, such as those under consideration. Payrolls are excellent indices of prosperity and their increase or decrease is quickly reflected in other branches of commerce and trade.

4. Value of Products Manufactured

The amounts reported under this head in the Biennial Census of Manufacturers for periods 1931-1933. 1933-1935, and 1935-1937, represent the selling value, at the factory, of all products manufactured during the year, whether sold or not. In case of establishments performing work under contract, the amounts received for such work are reported in lieu of value of products.

Each establishment as a whole is assigned, on the basis of its products of chief value, to some one industry. The products reported for a given industry thus, on the one hand, include minor products different from those covered by the industry designation, and, on the other hand, do not include the entire output of products normally belonging to the industry, because some of this class of commodities may be made in establishments in which they are not the products of chief value. In the case of every industry the value of the secondary products not normally belonging to it, and that of commodities normally belonging to it but made as secondary products by establishments engaged primarily in other lines of manufacture offset one another to a greater or less extent; and in most cases the total value of products as reported does not differ greatly from the value of the total output, in all industries, of the classes of products covered by the industry designation.

The value of the products which a concern turns out has been used more than any other figure as an indicator of industrial output. Being stated in price terms, it is influenced by changes in the price level but for purposes of study of relative prosperity of states it remains a satisfactory criterion.

5. Value Added by Manufacture

Manufacturing is a transformation of materials. As a criterion of growth, the economic importance of the processes of manufacture must be judged not by the quantity or the value of the products leaving the factories, but by the addition to the utility or to the money value of the materials. The value created by the manufacturing processes is in most cases substantially the difference between the combined cost of the materials, supplies, containers for products, fuel, and power and the value of the products.

These statistics are especially valuable because they are almost entirely free from duplication, which is a factor in the total value of products.

Its superiority over value of products as a criterion lies as already stated hereinabove in the elimination of double counting. Because of the elimination of cost of materials and fuel, this figure represents only the amount of manufacturing which is done within the plant. It is therefore the most accurate measure of the relative economic importance of different industries and the industrial importance of competing sister states.

With these criteria in mind, the Reporter prepared thirteen (13) tables representing an arrangement of statistics taken from the Releases of the Biennial Census of Manufactures for periods 1931-1933, 1933-1935, and 1935-1937.

1. Number of Manufacturing Establishments in Several States of U. S. A. Years 1929-1937.

IV. AN INDUSTRIAL EXODUS FROM PENNSYLVANIA? A POLITICAL MYTH OR AN ECONOMIC REALITY?

An examination of Table No. 1 indicates that beginning with the Year 1933, the number of industrial establishments in Pennsylvania has somewhat increased each biennium.

Year-1933 12,093
Year-1935 12,926
Year-1937 13,084

From the viewpoint of value of products manufactured in Pennsylvania we find that by comparing the total in 1935 with the total in 1933, there is an increase of 40.60% and by further comparing the total of value of products for the Year 1937 with the total of products manufactured in Pennsylvania in 1935, there is even higher increase of 44%. The application of this criterion (value of products manufactured in Pennsylvania) clearly indicates that the industrial prosperity of Pennsylvania was higher during the 1935-1937 biennium than during the preceding biennium of 1933-1935.

In comparing the industrial prosperity of Pennsylvania with that of competing states, we find that during the 1933-1935 biennium, Pennsylvania ranked as eighth state from the viewpoint of percentage of increase in value of products manufactured. During the 1935-1937 biennium, Pennsylvania's position advanced to the fourth place and such industrial states as Illinois, Connecticut, Ohio, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York ranked below Pennsylvania (from the viewpoint of the increase in value of products manufactured in 1937 as compared with 1935).

The wages test too shows that during the 1935-1937 biennium, Pennsylvania was more prosperous than during the 1933-1935 biennium,—thus the percentage of the increase in wages paid in manufactures in 1937 when compared with the wages paid in manufactures in 1935, shows an increase of 44.10%. A comparison of the wages paid in manufactures in Pennsylvania in 1935 with that of 1933 shows an increase of 41.50%.

In comparing the industrial prosperity of Pennsylvania with that of competing states, from the viewpoint of percentage of increase in wages paid in manufactures of each state, we find that during the 1933-1935 biennium, Pennsylvania ranked as the fifth state. During the 1935-1937 biennium, Pennsylvania retained the same position, outranking in the percentage of increase such industrial states as New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Connecticut, and Massachusetts.

The "number of wage-earners" test proves beyond doubt that the allegations about the emigration of industries from Pennsylvania, are nothing but a myth. Although the percentage of increase in the number of wage-earners in Pennsylvania in 1937 as compared with the number of wage-earners in 1935 is 17.10% which is slightly lower than the percentage of 17.30%, representing the increase in employment in 1935 as compared with 1933, the comparison with other states shows that in 1933-1935 biennium, Pennsylvania's rank from this view-point was No. 10 and during the 1935-1937 biennium it advanced to rank No. 8.

And finally, the decisive, acid test of industrial prosperity, to wit, value added by manufacture indicates beyond any doubt that during the 1935-1937 biennium, Pennsylvania was industrially more prosperous than during the preceding biennium of 1933-1935. The percentage of increase of value added by manufacture in Pennsylvania in 1937 as compared with that of 1935, is 42.50%. The percentage of increase of value added by manufacture in Pennsylvania in 1935 as compared with that of 1933, is 34.90%.

In comparing the rank of Pennsylvania from the viewpoint of percentage of increase in value added by manufacture, with the rank of competing states, we find that in 1933-1935 biennium, Pennsylvania's position was No. 5 and she ranked higher than New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Ohio and Rhode Island. During the 1935-1937 biennium, Pennsylvania ranked again No. 5 and above Ohio, Connecticut, Virginia, Tennessee, New Jersey, Massachusetts and New York.

A table of comparative rating of Pennsylvania and competing states in four tests of industrial prosperity, will be helpful to us in evolving the answer to our question.

NOTE: Notice that Pennsylvania ranks higher than New Jersey, Illinois, and New York.

NOTE: Pennsylvania's rating of relative industrial prosperity is No. 4 and it exceeds during the 1935-1937 Biennium the ratings of the States of Ohio, Connecticut, Tennessee, New Jersey, Virginia, Massachusetts, North Carolina, and New York.

The statistics obtainable in the Office of the Auditor General of Pennsylvania, clearly corroborate the fact that during the 1935-1937 biennium Pennsylvania's industrial prosperity was gradually expanding. Applying the test of the "number of corporation tax blanks forwarded by the Auditor General of Pennsylvania," we find the following decisive growth in the number of manufacturing corporations.

Year:	1927	1928	1932	1934	1936	1937
Number:	8,900	8,803	9,956	9,989	10,081	10,503

The same test applied to Mercantile Corporations, indicates expansion and growth.

The application of the same test to some of Pennsylvania's industries gives the following results:

The Census of Manufacturers for Pennsylvania released taining a summary for cities having 10,000 inhabitants or by the Department of Commerce on March 24, 1939, conmore and for the several counties of Pennsylvania for years 1935-1937, reveals a true picture of the industrial growth of Pennsylvania.

This release contains information as to the growth of 5 industrial areas of Pennsylvania, to wit: (a) Allentown-Bethlehem industrial area comprising Lehigh and Northampton Counties; (b) Philadelphia-Camden industrial area, comprising Bucks, Chester, Delaware, and Montgomery Counties in Pennsylvania and Burlington, Camden, and Gloucester Counties in New Jersey; (c) Pittsburgh industrial area, comprising Allegheny, Beaver, Washington and Westmoreland Counties; (d) Reading industrial area, which is coextensive with Berks County, and (e) Scranton-Wilkes-Barre industrial area, comprising Lackawanna and Luzerne Counties.

While the number of establishments in Philadelphia-Camden area is a trifle lower in 1937 than in 1935 (1935—5,844 establishments; 1937—5,604 establishments), the number of wage earners, wages paid and value added by manufacture indicate a decisive increase.

The Pittsburgh industrial area is no doubt the center of Pennsylvania's increased prosperity during the 1935-1937 biennium. The number of establishments for 1937 is a trifle higher than in 1935, and the numbers of wage earners, wages paid and value added by manufacture indicate tangible growth.

Number of Establishments	1937	2,041
	1935	1,927
Wage Earners	1937	227,675
	1935	174,717
Value added by manufacture	1937	$767,356,777
	1935	450,351,876

The Allentown-Bethlehem industrial area has for 1937 the same number of establishments (580) as in 1935. However, there is a marked increase in the number of wage earners employed in the Allentown-Bethlehem industrial area, and in the value added by manufacture in the said area.

Number of Establishments	1937	580
	1935	580
Wage Earners	1937	56,850
	1935	48,393
Value added by manufacture	1937	$150,768,443
	1935	97,420,608

The Reading industrial area indicates an increased prosperity in all directions. There is small increase in the number of its establishments and tangible increases in the number of wage earners employed in the area and in the value added by the manufacture.

Number of Establishments	1937	485
	1935	467
Wage Earners	1937	45,429
	1935	40,965
Value added by manufacture	1937	$83,761,145
	1935	67,066,929

The Scranton-Wilkes-Barre industrial area while showing a decrease in the number of establishments, is stationary in the number of wage earners and shows a definite increase in the value added by manufacture.

Number of Establishments	1937	556
	1935	591
Wage Earners	1937	33,363
	1935	33,302
Value added by manufacture	1937	$65,296,711
	1935	55,724,295

The statistics of the Biennial Census of Manufactures (Release of March 24, 1939) clearly establish an increased industrial prosperity in the following counties of Pennsylvana: Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Berks, Bucks, Butler, Cambria, Centre, Chester, Clarion, Clearfield, Columbia, Cumberland, Dauphin, Delaware, Elk, Erie, Fayette, Forest, Franklin, Greene, Huntingdon, Indiana, Jefferson, Juniata, Lancaster, Lawrence, Lebanon, Lehigh, Luzerne, Lycoming, McKean, Mercer, Mifflin, Monroe, Montgomery, Montour, Northampton, Northumberland, Perry, Philadelphia, Potter, Somerset, Union, Venango, Warren, Washington, Wayne, Westmoreland and York.

The following counties show on the basis of the Census of Manufactures a decline in their industrial prosperity: Bedford, Blair, Bradford, Cameron, Clinton, Crawford, Lackawanna, Schuykill, Snyder, Susquehanna and Tioga.

Most of the cities in Pennsylvania indicate a decisive industrial expansion. Such leading centers as Bethlehem, Chester, Coatesville, Erie, Harrisburg, Jeanette, Johnstown, Lancaster, Lebanon, McKeesport, Norristown, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Pottstown, Reading, Steelton, Warren, Wilkes-Barre, Williamsport and York, all show a tangible increase in the number of wage earners employed and the value added by manufacture in said cities.

SUMMARY FOR CITIES HAVING 10,000 INHABITANTS OR MORE AND FOR COUNTIES: 1937 AND 1935

(The Biennial Census covers manufacturing and printing and publishing industries. Because they account for a negligible portion of the national output, plants with annual production value at less than $5,000 have been excluded since 1919. As the 1937 statistics do not include data for "Gas, manufactured, illuminating and heating" nor for "Railroad repair shops," the 1935 figures for the State and for Allentown-Bethlehem, Philadelphia-Camden, Pittsburgh, Reading, and Scranton-Wilkes-Barre industrial areas have been revised by deducting the data from these industries. No corresponding revisions have been made, however, in the city and county figures, and therefore the sums of the 1935 figures for all counties in the State and for the counties in the Industrial Areas are in excess of the State and Industrial Area totals.)

[1] Not including salaried officers and employees. The item for wage earners is an average of the numbers reported for the several months of the year. In calculating it, equal weight must be given to full-time and part-time wage earners (not reported separately by the manufacturers), and for this reason it exceeds the number that would have been required to perform the work done in the industries if all wage earners had been continuously employed throughout the year. The quotient obtained by dividing the amount of wages by the average number of wage earners cannot, therefore, be accepted as representing the average wage received by full-time wage earners. In making comparisons between the figures for 1937 and those for earlier years, the likelihood that the proportion of part-time employment varied should be taken into account.

V. THE GROWTH OF INDUSTRIES IN PENNSYLVANIA DURING THE 1935-1937 BIENNIUM

The myths about the exodus of industries from Pennsylvania and our industrial decadence came in the wake of many unwarranted depressing "Jeremiads." Self-appointed prophets, or rather false Jeremiahs, filled our land with funerary wailings..... Word-pictures of gripping intensity and political appeal, delineating an alleged industrial decline in Pennsylvania, were presented to our people throughout the entire Commonwealth.

We are juxtaposing here, for purposes of illustration, several allegations made before the Dent Industrial Tax Survey Committee and the statistics refuting same.

PHILADELPHIA (MYTH)

"The tax situation is dragging industry out of the State. Just make up your mind to that" . . .

"The tax laws of Pennsylvania preclude expansion in this State."

"We are giving serious consideration to moving elsewhere."

EASTON (MYTH)

The fiscal legislation in Pennsylvania has had the effect of causing local business to expand in other States, to halt expansion programs locally, to shift production to other States. The types of industry affected are paper cups and containers, machines, belting and textiles.

HARRISBURG (MYTH)

In the period from 1930 to 1935, 18 new industries employing 1600 people were established in Harrisburg, largely through the instrumentality of the Chamber of Commerce. Since 1935 there have been virtually no new additions.

(From testimony before Dent Industrial Tax Survey Committee)

[2] Profits or losses cannot be calculated from the Census figures because no data are collected for certain expense items, such as interest, rent, depreciation, taxes, insurance, and advertising.

[3] The aggregates for cost of materials and value of products include large amounts of duplication due to the use of the products of some industries as materials by others. For the United States as a whole, this duplication amounts to about one-third of the gross value of products.

[4] Value of products less cost of materials, contain fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work.

[5] Revised for comparison with 1937 by adding cost of contract work. No corresponding revisions have been made in the county, or city figures, and therefore the sum of the 1935 county figures is somewhat less than the State total.

[6] Revised for comparison with 1937 by including cost of contract work in amount subtracted from value of products. No corresponding revisions have been made in the county, or city figures, and therefore the sum of the 1935 county figures is somewhat in excess of the State total.

[7] The Allentown-Bethlehem Industrial Area comprises Lehigh and Northampton Counties.

[8] The Philadelphia-Camden Industrial Area comprises Bucks, Chester, Delaware, and Montgomery Counties in Pennsylvania and Burlington, Camden, and Gloucester Counties in New Jersey.

[9] The Pittsburgh Industrial Area comprises Allegheny, Beaver, Washington, and Westmoreland Counties.

[10] The Reading Industrial Area is coextensive with Berks County.

[11] The Scranton-Wilkes-Barre Industrial Area comprises Lackawanna and Luzerne Counties.

[12] Withheld to avoid disclosing approximations of data for individual establishments.

[13] Blair, Cameron, Carbon, and Sullivan. The figures for these counties are combined in order to avoid disclosing approximations of data for individual establishments.

[14] The "All Other" figures for number of establishments and a part of the "All Other" figures for number of wage earners are included above in the items for the respective counties. The sums of the figures in the first two columns are, therefore, larger than the corresponding State totals.

(U. S. Census of Manufactures 1937 Release of March 24, 1939)

Even more convincing are the statistics available at the Bureau of Statistics of the Industrial Division, Department of Internal Affairs, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It has been the practice of the Department of Internal Affairs to group all the Productive Industries of Pennsylvania into 12 groups. (For classification of industries according to groups see Appendix I.)

The abundant statistics pertaining to each group paint a vivid picture of industrial ups and downs over a period of 13 years. Each group is judged from four viewpoints: (a) Number of establishments; (b) Value of products; (c) Number of wage earners; and (d) Wages paid. Fifty-six charts prepared by the Department of Internal Affairs present graphically the story of Pennsylvania's Industrial Growth since 1925 till 1937 (inclusive). Let the figures and charts speak for themselves.

Group I. Chemicals and Allied Products 1925-1937

The number of establishments reporting for 1937 is 755. The range for the entire period 1925 to 1937 inclusive, is from 743 to 802. Apparently since 1931 the number of establishments has remained practically at the same level and the increase in the number of wage earners was rather intangible. The Value of Products shows, however, a definite upward trend during the years 1936 and 1937. A similar trend of even more imposing proportions is noticeable in the wages paid since 1935.

1935	$36,769,400
1936	40,180,200
1937	45,178,000

Federal Statistics of the Census of Manufactures arranged according to Pennsylvania groupings fully substantiate the above trends of expansion.

Group II. Clay, Glass and Stone Products 1925-1937

Beginning with the year 1932 the number of establishments is rather stationary. Prior thereto the fluctuations in the number of establishments were marked with many peaks and declines. The statistics for 1935, 1936 and 1937 are indcative of an upward trend in this industrial group. This trend is reflected also in the number of wage earners, value of Clay, Glass and Stone Products produced in Pennsylvania and the wages paid in this industrial group.

	Number of Establishments	Wage Earners	Wages	Value of Products
1935	614	41,047	$36,480,000	$137,997,800

1937	633	46,948	55,776,400	199,561,600

The statistics of the U. S. Census of Manufactures fully corroborate this upward trend of expansion.

Group III. Food and Kindred Products (1925-1937)

The statistics pertaining to this group reflect a steady and gradual expansion. The increase in the number of establishments is intangible but the value of the products and the wages paid fully reflect the growth of the industry.

Group IV. Leather and Rubber Goods (1925-1937)

The fact that the number of establishments in this industrial group remains stationary should not be indicative of any trend. Because quite often statistics do not reveal consolidations which keep down the number of establishments. The number of wage-earners and the wages paid in this industrial group together with the value of its products reflect a continuous growth of the industries belonging thereto.

Group VII (a) Pennsylvania Mining and Quarring (b) Coal Industries (1925-1937)

The down-trend of this basic Pennsylvania industry is candidly revealed by our state statistics. Especially alarming is the picture of the anthracite industry the decline whereof is most precipitate for the period of 1935-1937.

	Number of Establishments	Wage Earners	Wages	Value of Products
1935	128	94,053	$116,196,100	$208,215,600

1937	149	88,711	109,000,800	192,628,900

Group IX. Textile Industries of Pennsylvania (1925-1937)

While the number of establishments in the industry as a whole is slightly but steadily declining and in 1937 remained stationary, the number of wage-earners and total of wages paid in the industry during the years 1935, 1936 and 1937 indicate a slight increase.

	Number of Establishments	Wage Earners	Wages	Value of Products
1935	2,947	261,866	$211,985,900	$748,793,300

1937	2,893	269,911	218,312,700	819,402,500

The statistics of the U. S. Census of Manufactuers 1937 differ somehow from the statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs, by indicating a decline of the industry.

	Number of Establishments	Wage Earners	Wages	Value of Products
1935	2,328	231,577	$197,105,834	$693,241,222

Group X. Tobacco and its Products (1925-1937)

The statistics compiled by the Department of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania indicate that the industry remained during the years 1935, 1936 and 1937 at a standstill. The number of establishments in this industrial group continued to decline in 1937 but the number of wage-earners in the industry and the wages paid remained stationary.

VI. SUBSTANCE AND SHADOW

The Shiftings of Industry and the Birth of the Exodus Myth

The origins of the myth about the exodus of industry from Pennsylvania are traceable to actual shifts occurring in many industries not only in Pennsylvania, but throughout the entire nation.

Sociological forces are combining with industrial factors to reverse the centralization process so prevalent during the century prior to 1931 and are compelling a steady dissolution of highly concentrated industries. This combination, together with centrifugal forces of modern urban economics, has given rise to long-term industrial trends involving:

(1) A Migration of Plants and of Whole Industries to New Locations.

This industrial process may assume forms of:

(a) NEW INDUSTRIES—Newly established local industries.

(b) BRANCH PLANTS—New plants established by parent companies.

(c) RELOCATIONS—Moving of industry from one locality into another.

This can be subdivided into:

Intra-State Relocations—Movements within one state.

Inter-State Relocations—Movements from one state into another.

(2) A Process of Decentralization in Manufacturing Enterprise.[1]

The objective of this trend is to decentralize production and by making localities self-sustaining relieve the burden on transportation.

Decentralization comes in the wake of giant power transmission, promises to restore to the individual craftsman the opportunity for creative workmanship on an economic basis and creates marginal areas, which can throw their weight toward or away from agriculture or manufacturing as conditions may warrant.

Some scientists are careful to point out that the effect of decentralization is "diffusion" and not "Dispersion" of industry. Daniel B. Creamer in a preface to a brilliant statistical analysis of locational changes in manufacturing employment 1899-1933 [2] elucidates this process of diffusion of industry.

Some of the outstanding American industrialists not only advocate decentralization of industry but are beginning to practice it in their own fields. They all agree on the proposition that widely diffused wealth-producing activities of industry and business at points accessible to rural and small town populations are the outstanding industrial trend of tomorrow.

Henry Ford who is the leading champion of de-side.[3] His fervent hope for a closer link between industry and agriculture is being followed by a series of locational experiments.

centralization visualizes the breaking up of large industies into small plants scattered about the country

Henry Ford's projects on the River Rouge, in the way of water power development, are in line with his forecasts of such changes in farming, transit and manufacture, as will break up cities and make producing villages the foundation stones of a new structure for American life and labor.[1]

Decentralization is not anymore a mere academic discussion of the possibilities that may result within a civilization from the development of power—decentralization of industry and relief from congestion—it is an actuality. Thus we read in headlines:

"G. M. and Ford are moving out . . . Chevrolet takes part of its engine forces building to Buffalo. Ford will add 30 small plants to his 'village industries' scheme. Decentralization is under way."
Business Week, April 3, 1937, pp. 16-17.

"Nine big cities report 619 new firms mostly small ones, and add to the evidence that industry is decentralizing."

McGraw-Hill moves to Albany, indicating trend to decentralization.

Adding further examples would be hauling coal to Newcastle. Numerous and thorough surveys indicate that urban economics (land values, rents and traffic congestion), increased freight levies on the railroads, effect of the Panama Canal, tendency toward mileage scales of freight rates, transmission of electric power, economies flowing from motorized transport on the highways—incentives to move near sources of raw materials and markets, willingness of capital to invest in enterprises far removed from the investor—are all operating to relocate industry in the direction of what generally is called decentralization.

To summarize: Six predominating factors influence plant migrations, decentralizations and new locations:

(a) Migration of population.
(b) Shifting of raw material centers.
(c) Shifting of markets owing to new uses and inventions
(d) New Sources of fuel or power utilization.
(e) Exploitation of new sources of labor.
(f) Development of distribution centers usually through freight territory demands and freight differentials.

Recent literature on American Manufacturing is brimful of treatises dealing with many phases of decentralization.

The trend is summarized by Willard Thorp as a "movement of industry among areas of the Country tending definitely toward a more equal distribution of manufacturing. The rapid industrial growth of the South and the decline of New England and the Middle Atlantic states illustrates this tendency."[1]

A similar statement appears in Malcolm Keir's volume in the series "Industries of America":

"To be sure, no action is completely self-sufficient in its manufacturing, but this fact does not invalidate the tendency in that direction. Decentralization of manufacturing, therefore, is not only foreshadowed for the future but is a present condition (1928) .....
.....This does not mean that old locations have been abandoned but that expansions have been planned for new centers at some point advantageously situated between raw materials and the market. These plans have the effect of spreading industry more evenly throughout the settled parts of the nation rather than concentrating them in the northeast corner." [2]

The effect of the depression on multiplant manufacturing organizations expressed itself in a tendency of large companies to decentralize manufacturing, by absorbing small independent plants or opening small new units to gain advantages of the small plant while retaining the advantages of large-scale control. Attempts to escape from regulatory measures is another factor contributing toward decentralization of some industries.

City land-values are another dominant factor in the trend of decentralization. Some of the most populous industrial centers of the United States see their heavy industries becoming either suburbanized or ruralized (Baldwin Locomotive Works moving from Philadelphia to Eddystone, Pennsylvania). On the other hand diversified and finishing industries invade the cities and occupy the buildings vacated by the emigrating large plants.

As a result of these trends we see movements in many industries. We begin to hear allegations about an exodus of industries from a given state and finally various pressure-groups begin to interpret and color the industrial migratory trends in a way conducive to their interests. New England has been always mentioned by industrial pressure-groups and tax-revisionists, as the monitory example of industrial desolation and abandonment.

And yet . . . . The results of a statistical study of industrial migrations in New England made by the New England Council show that most of the New England migrations occurred within the region and that there is a net gain within the region, both in number of plants and number of employees.[1]

The tax-revisionists in Pennsylvania are undoubtedly justified in their demands for an immediate easing of our tax burdens. However, instead of isolating the complexities of our tax problems, the myth about the exodus of industry from Pennsylvania has been invented and injected by them into the picture. In support of the allegations about emigration of industry from Pennsylvania, normal shifts of industry are paraded before the people of Pennsylvania and our tax burdens blamed therefor. The truth of the matter is, however, that industrial migrations are on the whole not connected with or caused by taxation problems.

We are supported in this conclusion by the findings of a cooperative survey conducted by the Civic Development Committee of the National Electric Light Association and the Policyholders Service Bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company ("Industrial Development in the United States and Canada. 1926 and 1927"). Tables 33 and 34 are based upon the findings of this Survey. They contain the Ranking of Reasons for the location of Branch Plants in several industries and the ranking of reasons in industrial relocations, branches and new locals in the leading Productive Groups in the U. S. A.

Very seldom do we find taxes as a ranking factor in deciding the direction and location of an industrial shift.

The ranking of reasons for all industrial shifts for the United States as a whole is shown by the following list:

1. Markets.
2. Labor.
3. Transportation.
4. Materials.
5. Available factory buildings.
6. Personal reasons.
7. Power and fuel.
8. Cheap rent.
9. Near related industries.
10. Living conditions.
11. Financial Aid.
12. Taxes.
13. Mergers and consolidations.
14. Cheap land.
15. Near Parent Company.
16. Banking facilities.

(Industrial Development in the United States and Canada —1926 and 1927 Page 5)

Here is one of the glaring examples of "Substance and Shadow" in connection with the exodus-myth. Mr. B. one of the ranking officials of P. Radio and Television Company of America, testified at the Philadelphia hearing conducted by the Dent Committee that Pennsylvania taxes had "skyrocketed" in a four year period. Taxes in 1934 were $5,570 and in 1936, $166,000. This industry "cannot meet such tremendous increases in state taxation and face the competition in other states. They cannot say what steps may be taken in order that they may be in a position to compete. So far the only step decided is that "we moved * * * our automobile radio engineering laboratories (largest in the world) to Detroit."

On cross-examination by a member of the Committee, Mr. B. (whose candor and honesty can serve as an example to other witnesses) admitted that the automobile radio engineering laboratories of the concern were moved to Detroit primarily because of the advantage of the proximity to the automotive centers in Detroit and inter alia because of taxation burdens in Pennsylvania.

VII. SUMMARY, CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

By marshaling in the foregoing chapters the statistics released by both the Biennial Census of Manufactures of the U. S. Department of Commerce and the Industrial Division of the Department of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we have shown that our state has had an industrial growth during the last decade generally and the 1935-1937 biennium especially and that most of this growth came from the expansion of local industries and the setting up of branches in consonance with marketing situations. We have further shown that our industrial growth compares very favorably with that of most of our competing sister states and that the allegations about an exodus of industries from Pennsylvania are nothing but a notion born in the wishful thinking of Pennsylvania's tax-revisionists.

That the unremitting perplexities of our tax problems demand a speedy revision of Pennsylvania's archaic and unscientific state tax-patchwork is not disputed herein. To accomplish this we must however isolate the revision of our fiscal system by segregating it from other cognate problems.

This is the reason why we maintain that the revision of the state taxation-system of Pennsylvania has been and still is clouded by the emphasis placed on the alleged emigration of industry from Pennsylvania.

This is a fact-finding age and the progressive industrialist demands facts in preference to lurid notions or hastily formulated conclusions.

The Industrial Division of the Department of Internal Affairs can render a signal service to the people of Pennsylvania by

(a) Undertaking a comprehensive factual survey for the purpose of isolating intra-state and inter state relations of some of Pennsylvania's industries from both other fundamental processes in the industrial development and the collective effect thereof upon the industrial growth of our Commonwealth.

(b) Developing data during said survey on the expansion of existing industries, which from the viewpoint of industrial growth represents just as important an increase in wealth and channels of employment as relocations, new branches and industries immigrating into Pennsylvania.

(c) Exploding the myth of an industrial exodus from Pennsylvania by publishing monthly bulletins pertaining to physical shiftings of industry, to wit:

(1) The names, locations, volume of production and payrolls of industries, leaving Pennsylvania, if at all, the destination of the emigrating industries or the locality of their new settlement.

(2) The names of industries moving into Pennsylvania from other states, the localities of their settlement in Pennsylvania and the prospects of possible employment by these immigrating industries of Pennsylvania labor.

Respectfully submitted,

ISRAEL STIEFEL,
Member of the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

May 25, 1939.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION CREATING THE INDUSTRIAL TAX SURVEY COMMITTEE

"In the Senate, February 22, 1937. Whereas The present Legislature is faced with the problem of raising revenues through the enactment of certain tax measures and

Whereas The present Legislature as all past Legislatures has had presented to it the general argument that the taxes imposed under the laws of this State were so high that they were responsible for driving many industries out of the State and

Whereas The arguments advanced against certain types of taxation have been presented to the Legislature by persons who were the representatives of individual companies or their associations so that the members of the Legislature could not rely upon the facts and figures presented in substantiation of the arguments advanced and

Whereas The arguments advanced have failed to set up a wide and accurate comparison state by state tax by tax so that the members of the Legislature could not clearly see the soundness of the conclusions reached and

Whereas The members of the Legislature desire to have presented to them facts and figures gathered by persons who have no interest in the conclusion to be reached so that they may know if Pennsylvania has taxed any industry more than any of the adjacent industrial or mining states that enjoy equal economic advantages incident to the costs of the operation of any industry such as nearness to markets raw material costs of power and available labor and

Whereas The members of the Legislature desire to be presented to them a complete set-up of all the taxes imposed upon industry both by local governments and the State and then to have similar figures compiled for the states enjoying similar economic advantages therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall appoint three members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint three members of the House of Representatives who together shall constitute a Joint Legislative Committee whose duty it shall be to make a careful thorough and partial investigation of the total tax burdens placed upon industry in Pennsylvania and other industrial and mining states and be it further

Resolved, That the said Joint Legislative Committee shall conduct an investigation to ascertain the number of industrial or mining concerns which have left our State and the reason given therefor and to ascertain the total tax burdens imposed by the States to which the said industrial or mining concerns have moved and be it further

Resolved, That the said Joint Legislative Committee shall conduct an investigation to ascertain the number of new industrial and mining concerns which have moved into Pennsylvania and the reasons therefor and to ascertain that what extent the question of taxation was the cause of the transfer of such industry to this State as well as to ascertain the tax burden imposed by the State from which the industry has moved and be it further

Resolved, That the said Joint Legislative Committee shall have the power to engage and employ such experts and assistants as the committee shall determine are necessary and such experts and assistants and the incidental expenses in conjunction with this investigation shall be paid out of an appropriation made by the General Assembly for the purposes embodied in this concurrent resolution and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases and be it further

Resolved, That said committee shall make a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly at this session as early as possible or if impossible then at the next session of the General Assembly.

Part 4. Acknowledgements and cross index.

The staff of the Commission was ably headed by Rollin B. Posey, as Executive Secretary, and the Commsision wishes to hereby record the thorough and devoted service rendered it by Mr. Posey and his capable assistants.

An invaluable public service has been done to the people of the City and State and to the science of the law of municipal government by Shippen Lewis, Esquire, of the Philadelphia Bar, in the preparation of the drafts of the recommended laws, to which task, so well performed, he has contributed gratuitiously and most generously his time, experience, knowledge and capacity, and done in sympathy with the principles sought to be incorporated in the system of government recommended for the City and County of Philadelphia.

Respectfully,
THE PHILADELPHIA CHARTER COMMISSION
THOMAS EVANS, Chairman,

PART I

A NEW GOVERNMENT FOR THE CITY AND COUNTY OF PHILADELPHIA

The responsibility rests squarely on the General Assembly, convening January 3, 1939, whether the City of Philadelphia is to continue its present course toward virtual bankruptcy or take a vitally necessary step through a reconstruction of its government to a rehabilitation of not only its own economic life but toward better and less costly government affecting both the city and the state.

That, in brief, is the issue presented by recommended legislation to give Philadelphia a new government to rescue the metropolis from the morass of debts, deficiencies, high taxes and inefficient management into which it has sunk.

Although comparatively few residents of other counties realize the fact, there is a vital indivisible relationship between Philadelphia's plight and the total burden of taxes carried by all the taxpayers of the state. This relationship has always existed, but in recent years it has been intensified by the growth of unemployment relief and public assistance problems. With this load now borne entirely by the Commonwealth and financed by state-wide tax levies, Pennsylvanians as a whole have had to make increasingly large contributions to carry Philadelphia's public assistance burden.

There are many ways in which Philadelphia's near-bankrupt position draws heavily upon the Commonwealth's purse, but the relief situation can be cited most effectively because of its huge toll and the greater popular familiarity with the subject. Surrounded by a wall of funded debts and unpaid current bills, the city has been able to take little advantage of federal work relief programs. Because the necessary sponsor's share could not be provided, practical and worth-while construction projects capable of providing thousands of jobs have been passed by, while those thousands of potential workers remained upon the state-financed public assistance rolls.

It is inevitable, too, that the handicap imposed upon Philadelphia business, industry and consumer public by the poor management—or mismanagement—of municipal affairs should have a material, adverse effect upon the entire Commonwealth. The city has one-fifth of the Commonwealth's total population. During the past several years business and industrial progress has been hampered by the uncertainty of future taxes, arising from failure to balance the city's budget and place its affairs on a stable, sound and business-like basis. If the progress of so large a portion is impeded by inefficient governmental administration, the other four-fifths of the state's population is bound to suffer. As Philadelphia's ability to assume a full share of state taxes decreases, the portion automatically transferred to the taxpayers of other counties mounts.

That is exactly what has been happening. Real estate assessed values in Philadelphia are nearly a billion dollars lower than in 1931, a decline of 33% in seven years. Real values have shrunk perhaps a billion dollars more. Valuable ground is idle; factories are abandoned; slums are on the increase. As the city has gone backward industrially and commercially, employment has declined far more than in other cities of comparable size until, at the present time, 200,000 persons are on the general assistance rolls alone. The latter constitute almost one-third of Pennsylvania's general assistance total; they receive nearly $500,000 a week in direct relief grants, paid from the total funds which all taxpayers of the Commonwealth have to provide.

These conditions directly reflect the situation into which an archaic, slipshod system of government—a system which can be revised only through a reconstructed city-county government—has placed Philadelphia. As 1938 draws to a close, the City of Philadelphia has exceeded its constitutional debt limit by $38,000,000. Its net debt, including that of the school district, is equal to more than 17% of the assessed value of all taxable real estate and amounts to $220 for every man, woman and child in the city. The funded debt problem, which represents only one of the city's many-sided financial emergencies, is the result of large-scale borrowing from 1921 to 1933, accompanied by a steady decrease in assessed valuations since 1931. The huge requirements for payment of interest and debt charges have risen to a point where debt services now eat up 45 cents of every tax dollar collected by the city.

Administration practices possible under the outmoded city-county government have aggravated the critical situation produced by the funded debt. Year after year, the city has continued to spend more than it takes in; expenditures have been allowed to increase without regard to the shrinkage in revenue caused by reductions in real estate values and tax rates. The immediate by-product of this haphazard type of conducting public affairs is the city's current "running deficit" of nearly $40,000,000. This is nothing more than the present accumulation of bills for which no provision for payment has been made. Coupled with the city's huge funded debt, it presents a situation comparable to that of a business establishment which has borrowed all that it is legally allowed to do by issuing bonds and then has casually gone ahead contracting $40,000,000 bills of which it is unable to pay.

Why a new reconstructed government? Why not repair the present one and otherwise leave "well enough" alone?

The answer is that we have, even if repaired, is not "well enough." The system itself is totally inadequate. City-county government as it now exists constitutes a patch-work so worn and full of holes that it simply, no matter if it were efficiently conducted, which it is not, cannot be made a vehicle of economical and equitable government for the municipality. The present charter of the city and the present county laws are outmoded, inefficient, and uneconomical, imposing an excessive and unnecessary burden on every taxpayer. The present system does not adequately furnish our citizens with proper health protection, water supply or recreation facilities. It wastes five million dollars or more per year in the administration of governmental services.

Nor does it encourage employment. As an indication of the trend of the economic life of Philadelphia in comparison with Los Angeles and San Francisco on the West Coast, with Milwaukee, Cincinnati and Toledo in the middle of the country, and with New York City in the east, all cities which have recast their governments more or less along the lines recommended by the Commission for Philadelphia, a study from authoritative sources shows that in the ratio of industrial wage earners to the population, in per capita industrial wages, value of products manufactured, value added by manufacture, employment and payrolls, and in growth of population, starting with an index figure of 100 in 1899 and then compared with the year 1935, Philadelphia was in every instance at the bottom of the list. It was also at the bottom of the list in the latest available per capita net retail sales, bank deposits and construction contracts.

The comparatively impaired credit of Philadelphia, due to its accumulated financial difficulties, is reflected in the unfavorable record of its obligations in the bond market. Cincinnati and Baltimore bonds, due to improved city management and credit, were sold in December, 1937, at a price to yield 2.25%; Milwaukee, St. Louis and Pittsburgh at a price to yield 2.4%; San Francisco and Los Angeles, 2.8%; Chicago and Cleveland, 3%; while Philadelphia's long maturities of the same term sold at a price to yield nearly 3.4%.

These things are sad but true. The progressive spirit of the city, which long led the nation, is at a low ebb. A new Philadelphia can and must be created. The first, necessary, inescapable step toward that aim is to provide it with a new, well-designed structure of local government. Such a similar reconstructed government has lowered taxes, brought increased employment and bettered living conditions in Detroit, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Toledo and Milwaukee, and is on its way to doing so in New York. Philadelphia can take the same road.

As much of the old charter as experience shows is essentially sound has been retained in the Commission's recommended system. Faulty parts of the old structure have been revised or eliminated. New activities have been added only if essential. County government, so far as can be legally done, is unified with the city government, and the resulting system put under the control of one tax-levying, policy-making body: a City-County Council.

The main defects in the present set-up, as proven by the record, are as follows:

(a) The Council of twenty-two members, chosen by as little as 15% of the voters through the political party system now in vogue, represents only the strictly party machine of the party polling a majority of the vote, with practically no minority representation. The members come from districts of the city and represent those districts rather than all the citizens and the interests of the city as a whole. Consequently the present Council is not representative of the people in any sense. It is not the two-party system but an unwholesome, un-American, one-party dictatorship without minority representation. The system is strictly partisan and rests on the spoils sytem of political patronage with all its ills and discriminations. It is equally obnoxious in principle, regardless of the party in control.

(b) The Mayor, who is elected by the people, is the political head and also the business manager of the city. An impossible task to do well and thoroughly.

(c) The methods of assessment and collection of taxes is inequitable, extravagant and inefficient.

(d) The financial and budgetary system has shown the need of complete reconstruction to save the city from virtual bankruptcy.

(e) The organization of city and county offices is wasteful, outmoded and requires reclassification according to functions exercised.

(f) Lack of proper authoritative city planning has led to untold loss, extravagance and waste in the years past—hence the hundreds of millions invested in capital improvements without comprehensive, co-ordinated, or well-ordered development of the city's life.

(g) Civil Service as now administered is the handmaiden of political patronage. It does not extend to county offices or to the court. The cost of this situation in waste of time and money is ruinous, and results in insecurity and macing of city and county employes.

(h) Last, but not least, is the unnecessary burden imposed on the taxpayer by the present system of city-county government as a whole. The waste under the present system is estimated by the Charter Commission at about five million dollars per annum, to say nothing of what might be saved by more efficient, trained business management.

Now just how does the Philadelphia Charter Commission propose to the Legislature and the people of Philadelphia to correct these faults and to add to the structure of the government to better the economic and social life of Philadelphia?

In broadest outline, the proposed new system provides a structure embodying:

1. A City-County Council of eleven members, elected at large, on nomination by petition by the P. R. (Proportional Representation) system of voting. These provisions insure a high-class, non-partisan Council, reflecting in make-up of membership the majority and minority votes cast in true ratio; serving and answerable to all the people and so elected as to assure that every voter's ballot can count. This Council would be the tax-levying, tax-expending body for city and county; solely responsible to the people; and the fountain-head of all local authority.

2. The Council will elect one of its members Mayor of the city and its presiding officer. The Mayor will have large appointive power on boards and commissions and will be the representative head of the city.

3. The Council will employ a trained City Manager for an indefinite term of office. His removal will be in their hands. He will run all the business of the city and its business relations with the courts and the county offices. He will be what the General Manager of any business is. He will be permitted no political power or activity.

4. Taxes will be assessed and collected through a scientific, fair, tried and proven open system through a new Department of Finance.

5. Current and capital budgets must be passed for the succeeding years by October 15, before instead of after election day, and must be balanced with anticipated revenue. Deficiency bills, running deficits, mandamuses will be practically eliminated! No more emergency loans for current revenue will be permitted and no more approrpiations for money not in sight!

6. A reorganization of all city departments with duties sorted according to functions is provided to effect better service, greater efficiency and economy.

7. The Civil Service is strengthened to protect every present and future honest and efficient city and county employe and extended throughout the city and county offices, the courts, and the park police.

8. A powerful Planning Board is established to provide for the considered future development of the city and its capital improvements.

9. Statutory salaries, except for county elected officials, now fixed by the Legislature, are to be surrendered to the local governing body—City Council, thus achieving the right of Philadelphia to pay its employes without the Legislature's direction.

10. The welding of the whole system into a coordinated scheme of business administration to assure that the taxpayer gets a dollar's worth of value for every dollar he provides.

Finally, in order that Philadelphians may themselves decide upon the system of government under which they will live, the proposed new laws provide that the charter be submitted to the people of the city and county at a special referendum election in the spring of 1939, thus securing Home Rule in its real essence for the city where American self-government had its birth.

The general function of local government may be said to be to serve the economic, social and spiritual well-being of the inhabitants of the community. There must be added a quality which is of supreme importance for the future, and that is the cultivation of a state of mind among all individuals which embodies the spirit and political principles on which our institutions have been founded. These are the foundations on which this proposed new reconstructed government is laid.

The general objectives sought are to regenerate Philadelphia's spirit of progress; to increase its employment; to rehabilitate its commercial and industrial life; to reduce the cost of government and to lower the tax burden; to raise the level of living, of opportunity; and to add to enjoyment of life in the community. The first step is the new government.

The future of Philadelphia is in the lap of the Legislature of 1939!

PART II

EXPLANATION AND DISCUSSION OF PROPOSALS

SECTION A

COUNCIL, MAYOR, MANAGER

Council

The legislative power is vested in a council consisting of eleven councilmen. They are nominated by petition and are elected under the Hare system of proportional representation from the city-at-large, by the use of non-partisan ballots. The terms of office of these eleven councilmen are to be coincident, as they are at present; the length of the term, four years . Council vacancies will be filled by a recount of the ballots which stood to the credit of the person whose office is vacant; such recount being conducted in the same manner as in the regular election. Each councilman will receive a salary of $7,500 per annum, and will not be permitted to hold any other public office or position while serving as councilman. Individual councilmen may be compelled to attend meetings and to vote on all matters except those involving the consideration of their own official conduct or financial interests.

Size

A Council consisting of eleven members is generally considered for cities the size of Philadelphia, a small council. At present Philadelphia has a council of twenty-two members, so that the proposed council is considerably smaller than the existing one.

For the purpose of rapid and responsible conduct of the city's business there can be no doubt as to the superiority of the small council. The small council permits of informal procedure and genuine deliberation. It is a business directorate and not a debating society, as is so often the case with a large council. From the viewpoint of efficiency the small council is extremely desirable. For the sound performance of the task set for in the council-manager plan recommended herein, it is not only desirable but is essential.

A more competent type of individual, we believe, will be attracted by a small council than by a large one: first, because of the greater prestige attached to the position, and second, because of the possibility of paying a salary commensurate with the duties and responsibilities of a councilman.

The past records of our cities demonstrate that the small council (because it is able to attract more competent councilmen) gives to each subject coming up for discussion closer and more thorough attention than does the larger council—even though the latter has a greater number of members among whom the work supposedly may be more widely spread. A small council acts more humbly and more open-mindedly. It feels the need of expert advice and is willing to follow it. Responsibility makes it more careful of its own knowledge and power. A large body of representatives, on the other hand, though its average of ability is probably lower, is more confident of its ability to do everything itself. It usually includes a number of men who feel no genuine sense of responsibility, who insist upon prying into every detail of the public business, and who are willing to disregard the opinions of men who know. While each man really counts for but little, each seems to get an exaggerated opinion of his own importance and a diminished sense of public accountablity. Partisan bickering becomes the order of the day. As members of large bodies, men will sometimes do things for which they would hardly dare assume responsibility as individuals in smaller bodies.

Obviously the record of each councilman in a small council is much more easily determined than in a large one and the electors therefore can exercise greater discrimination in re-electing members to a small council.

Because each member of a small council must necessarily represent a greater number of voters than does each member of a large council, it has often been stated that the members of a small council are not as close to their constitutents as are the members of a large one. Is this really so under our present method of selecting councilmen? Are the members of a large council close to their constituents? In 1935 in Philadelphia the members elected to council were primary choice of less than one-third of the electors. Would each councilman here be very close to his entire constituency? In New York City previous to the last municipal election, 9% of the potential voters of an alderman's district could put him in the Board of Aldermen. Can it be said that these aldermen were very close to the great majority of electors in their respective districts? An examination of Chicago and many other cities and towns has revealed a similar situation in each. Will such councilmen be any closer to their constituents than will the members of a small council who are elected under proportional representation? Can they possibly be as close? We are forced by the weight of evidence to conclude that they will not. With proportional representaton all important elements in the city receive representation in council.

The deliberations and actions of a large council approach more nearly, it has been maintained, than do those of a small council, to the deliberations and actions of that "ideal of democracy," the old town meeting. A thorough investigation of actual councilmanic practice has compelled us to accept the opposite vewpoint as being more nearly correct. A large council does most of its work by committees, whereas a small council tends to function as a committee of the whole. The large council by carrying on its legislative processes through committees defeats the very purpose for which it supposedly was established. On the other hand the small council acting as a committee of the whole welds into each problem of legislation the work and thought of a greater number of men. The large council, experience has proven, is unwieldy, inefficient, and irresponsible. It takes too long to reach decisions. It interferes too much with the details of administration. Naturally, therefore, it has less time for the broader problems of public policy. The members, being numerous, get in one another's way. They are less responsive to public opinion because they cannot be watched as closely as can the members of a small council. Thus the small council more nearly approaches a true legislative body.

Historically the trend in the size of councils has been downward for many years. The first city councils created in this country were modeled after the Federal Congress, having a lower and an upper house. At the present time, only a few city legislative bodies of this type exist. In consolidating the lower and upper houses into one, many cities fixed the number of councilmen in the single-house council as the sum of the numbers in the lower and upper houses previously in existence. Most of these found the resulting body unwieldy and subsequently reduced the number of members. The smaller councils of the present day have proved generally more satisfactory than their large predecessors.

Nomination of Candidates for Council

Any qualified elector in the city may be placed in nomination for council by a nominating petition signed by not less than 1,000 qualified electors. The signatures must be obtained at least 60 days and not more than 100 days prior to the election. The petitions must be filed with the election authorities at least 60 days before election day. A filing fee must accompany the nominating petitions. For petitions with more than 2,000 signatures thereon the filing fee it $250. For petitions containing from 1,000 to 2,000 signatures the deposit (the filing fee) is $1.000. These fees, guarantees of good faith, will be returned (a) if a candidate does not complete the nomination or (b) if, at any stage during the election count, the candidate receives at least 10,000 votes. Otherwise the money will be retained by the cty.

The method of nomination by petition, by making it relatively easy for independents and third parties to get their names placed on the ballot, prevents the regimentation prevalent under the party list system.

The argument that the use of primaries results in a shorter ballot in the regular election, whereas the petition method results in a large number of candidates, is answered by the demonstrated fact that the size of the filing fee with the petition keeps the number of nominees down to a level equal to that of the primary method. "Nuisance" and "curiosity" candidates are eliminated. Should one of these types still insist on running, he would help pay the election costs. If he got the 10,000 votes necessary for return of his fee, his place on the ballot would be deserved.

In England nomination by petition is widely used, and the candidates need obtain only a few signatures in addition to their own. Yet the number of nominees is not unduly numerous. due mainly to the $750 deposit required at the time the nominee's name is placed on the ballot. This money is returned only if the candidate receives at least one-eighth of the total vote.

A similar nominating procedure is used in the Irish and the Canadian proportional representation elections. In neither of these has the number of nominees been especially large.

Nomination by petition is ordinarily employed with proportional representation. The primary, so far as expressing the ultimate will of the voters is concerned, is totally unnecessary. Under the present system of electing county officials, however, it could not be eliminated, for a number of the officials are nominated at the municipal primaries. The advantage to council candidates is still great, though, for they would have the cost of conducting one campaign, not two.

Proportional Representation

Proportional representation (hereafter denoted by the letters P. R.) is the method of voting provided for the election of council. It differs from ordinary voting in that numbers are marked in the squares in front of the candidates' names rather than cross marks. The voter marks "1" in the square of the candidate he prefers to all others, "2" for his second choice, "3" for his next choice and so on. The ballots are printed with the candidates' name in rotation, so that no candidate will have an advantage over the others because of the position of his name on the ballot. Votes are counted at a central counting place by a personnel selected according to Civil Service requirements. Voting machines may be used for voting instead of paper ballots, and counting machines may be used for counting the votes.

There is no more mystery about P. R. than there is about the memorandum you might send with your little boy to the provision store. You might want some fruit. You prefer oranges. If they are not available, you want apples; if they are not available, you want bananas; and so forth. So, if you have written the names of the fruits in the following order, pears	4

apples	2
apricots	5
oranges	1
bananas	3
prunes	6

you indicate the order of your preference by numerals as shown above. And your little boy does the rest: he brings back the fruit you really prefer among those kinds that are available. When the same principles are applied, as under P. R., to voting and counting the vote for councilmen, the election of a councilman by some 6.000 votes who is supposed to represent a constituency of 50.000 actual electors, as has been the case under the present system, becomes impossible.

"Proportional representation," said Charles A. Beard, "is the governmental instrument through which a cooperative democracy can realize its ideals and accomplish its purposes."

"In 1924," states Charles P. Taft, son of the late President and Chief Justice, in his book "City Management: The Cincinnati Experiment" (1933), "I thought proportional representation a harmless element in the new charter for Cincinnati. There is hardly a supporter of the City Charter Committee today who does not feel that proportional representation is the most important single element in the success of good government in the city and must be preserved at all costs."

Majority Rule, Minority Representation

Through the use of P. R. in the selection of councilmen, voting groups obtain representation in proportion to their voting strength and the composition of council, therefore, is the same as a cross-section of the electorate. A voting majority receives a council majority and a voting minority cannot possibly do so. Minority representation is assured. however, unless the minority votes are less than the total of votes divided by the number of council seats to be filled. This representation is given to various sorts of minorities. Sometimes it is to minority parties. Sometimes it is to groups within parties. Sometimes it is to unattached independents. Many an unattached independent of high character, who would not have considered running for conucilman before P. R. was adopted, has been elected under this system of voting. This has been true in New York City, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo, Hamilton, Wheeling—in fact wherever P. R. has been used.

Under P. R. voters are permitted to make their own groupings, on whatever basis happens to appeal to them. The groupings, experience shows are usually far better than the artificial groupings forced on the voters by defective methods of election.

"Proportional representation is the way out. It calls for no legal and rigid classification of groups. It simply permits the voluntary and natural groupings of citizens to secure honest and direct representation of their views. It encourages them to put forward their best spokesmen —men whose views are known and understood, not shifty gentry who are never just where they are expected to be. It recognizes the obvious fact that while all men and women may be equal in the sight of the Lord they are not engaged in the same mundane occupations an are not alike in their interests, their tastes, and their opinions."*

All of the groups receive fair treatment. "In safeguarding thus the rights and the interests of minorities P. R. has at the same time rendered a great service to the political majority; for in permitting minorities to exercise thus some degree of control over public affairs, P. R. keeps the majority from the exercise of its powers abusively, obliging it to maintain a prudent and wise policy, to respect the rights of its opponents, and to seek the general good of the entire political community rather than the benefit of a single party."

"I feel that one great advantage of the charter is that it does not put one side completely in power," said Mr. Seasongood in speaking for the new council majority shortly after the 1925 election in Cincinnati. "If you have a critical minority, you know before you do an unwise thing what will be said against you for doing it and this makes you more reasonable in your course of action and you reach a more judicious conclusion. It is much better to have adverse criticism before the step is taken and so avoid it than to take the step and then to learn, when it is too late, that the step or action is a bad one."

Majority rule is assured under P. R. more certainly than under any other system of election yet devised. No manipulation is necessary to secure this result and it is not affected by a split in the majority. The two parts of the majority can elect their representatives separately. Together they still control a majority of the members.

Fewer Futile Votes

The proportion of wasted or futile ballots is smaller under P. R. than under any other system. Nearly every vote counts. The existing system, in the 1935 councilmanic elections in Philadelphia, resulted in the election of 22 Republicans, 100% of council, though they received but 54% of the total vote. Nearly 50% of the votes were wasted in that year, because they were not needed for election of councilmen. Ten Democratic votes were wasted to each Republican vote wasted. If the Democrats had received only 27,152 more votes out of the total number cast (701,176), they would have had sufficient votes (350,603) to have elected an entire Democratic council, even though the Republicans had polled 350,573 votes. In this case, as in the former, nearly 50% of the votes would have been wasted, but this time for each Democratic vote wasted there would have been over 25,000 Republican votes wasted. Similar results are found in the Municipal Elections of 1931, 1927 and 1923.

In New York City prior to the last municipal election, which was conducted under P. R., an average of 41% of the votes from 1899 to 1935, inclusive, were wasted. For each Democratic vote wasted approximately three Republican and Socialist votes were wasted. In the Borough of Queens in 1935 more votes were wasted than were effective in electing aldermen. In 1935 the old election method was still in use and the Democrats elected for the entire City of New York one alderman for every 18,349 votes, the Republicans one for every 149,135. Each Republican vote, therefore, was worth on the average only 1/8 as much as a Democratic vote. Tammany elected 62 aldermen out of a total of 65, 33% of all votes being wasted. In 1937, however, under P. R. Tammany just elected half of the new council (13 out of 26) and only 20% of the votes were wasted.

In Cincinnati under the old method of electing council the Republican organization, by controlling one-third of the vote, was able to monopolize council, electing in 1923, 31 councilmen out of 33. Over 50% of the votes were wasted. In 1925, however, it elected under P. R. only three out of nine; for under P. R. one-third of the votes could elect only one-third of the members. This time a little more than 10% of the votes were wasted. For seven successive elections nine out of ten electors who have cost valid ballots have each time helped elect councilmen.

Though the number of such illustrations could be greatly multiplied, we believe the above sufficient to demonstrate that great number of ballots cast under the present system do not express the real will of the voters. Under P. R., on the other hand, the voter is allowed to express his choices among the candidates as fully as he pleases, and the method of counting prescribed makes the will of each voter, as expressed on the ballot, effective.

"Everybody feels that they are represented, that their voice was heard, and they are satisfied. It was the only election I have ever known of in which this feeling holds." Thus spoke Major J. W. Woolridge in discussing the first P. R. councilmanic election in Sacramento, California.

"Proportional representation is the only means of re-establishing harmony between the system of election and the will of the electors: only it recognizes and sanctions fully the fundamental rights of the citizens of every free nation, the right to combine for the defense and the maintenance of the principles and interests which they have in common; only it makes the right of voting a reality for every citizen, since only it makes every ballot really count." *

More Truly Representative

P. R., it is said, encourages racial, religious and economic cleavages by enabling groups so aligned to elect representatives. Does the experience of P. R. cities support this contention? Let us first consider three of our own most cosmopolitan municipalities, Cleveland, Cincinnati and New York City, each of which has used P. R. for the election of councilmen.

Wm. R. Hopkins, for six years a city manager under a P. R. Council in Cleveland, Ohio, and for two years a member of council in the same city, presented the following evidence to the New York Charter Revision Commission in 1934:

"From actual and intimate experience with four of the five councils elected under the proportional representation plan I have no hesitation in saying that we found it the ideal plan for use in a city composed of many diverse groups, and we also found that it brought out of these groups a better type of representation than had previously come from them.

"But while these councils were so clearly representative of groups, the group representatives were most zealous in the promotion of everything advantageous to the city as a whole. They showed less disposition to act on purely local or group lines than their predecessors and were more devoted to the general good of the entire city. Neither in the elections nor in the framing of city policies was there ever any assertion of group interest to the detriment of any group or of the city as a whole."

In Cincinnati the experience has been similar to that of Cleveland. The fact that two men were running on the same "good government" ticket meant more to their supporters than race, religion, or national party. New York City in its recent aldermanic election found the same to be true.

In Kalamazoo, Michigan, a noted Socialist editor and labor leader, Truxton Talbot, was elected to council by a supposed radical group. Many citizens were afraid of how he might perform. However, he worked so well for the general good of the city and he so ably secured the co-operation between the city government and the labor element that when he was re-elected many who feared his first election voted for him.

Other P. R. cities have had similar experiences. All have found that some of the voters, as they do under other election methods, will vote along racial, religious or economic lines. The beliefs that the majority will so vote, or that the others by so voting will bring about the above cleavages in the council or in the electorate, these P. R. cities have found by actual experience to be unfounded.

After a most careful and exhaustive examination of the contention that P. R. encourages racial, religious, and economic cleavages, we are forced to come to a different conclusion. Though difference of race, nationality and religion are given some expression by P. R. and the variety of the expression so given has been found useful in broadening the contacts of council and in increasing its public support, yet no such cleavages (racial, religious, or economic) as claimed by the opposition have been experienced in either the electorate or the council. P. R. by giving voice to the various groups in proportion to their electoral strength prevents a well-organized minority group from assuming control, as so often happens under the present system.

It has been contended that P. R. prevents geographic representation. Let us see what the actual practice has been. Charles P. Taft, son of the late President and Chief Justice, in his book "City Management: The Cincinnati Experiment," says, "Proportional representation permits an individual to support one or more of the candidates on a ticket even though he may be violently in disagreement with others of the candidates. It is conversely true that if a candidate draws the support of a particular individual or group, by doing so he makes it somewhat more likely that that individual or group will also vote for one or more of his associates on the Charter ticket.

"These facts explain the general strategy determined upon by the City Charter Committee. It sought in selecing candidates to secure persons well distributed geographically. There are geographical areas which have acquired for one reason or another a strong sense of individuality and of community loyalty. That loyalty must be recognized in order to avoid stirring it to enmity against the whole ticket. The effort was made, and made successfully, to secure a ticket that was representative of differing racial and religious views, and of different economic strata of society. The general policy, then, was to urge every candidate to work hard for first choice votes for himself, but to speak in favor of all of his associates and to try to secure for them second, third, fourth and other choices up to nine. Even if it was likely that the City Charter Committee would elect only six of its candidates, nevertheless, the fact that nine were running and that the friends of all nine were interested in the campaign helped to produce additional votes for those who were most likely to be successful." . . .

If the electorate is geographically minded there will be such representation. It will be lacking only if the people consider other bases of representation more important. In all of the American P. R. elections conducted to date the councilmen have been well distributed geographically; but in their selection the voters have not been limited by artificial and arbitrary boundaries. Electors who under the present distric system could not have voted for a good man, because they lived outside his district even though they may have been very close neighbors, would be able to do so under P. R.

Effect on the Two-Party System

It has been charged that P. R. facilitates the election of a council divided into blocks in which no effective majority exists. Has such been the case to date in any of the P. R. cities in the United States? Impartial research reveals that it has not. Our strong tradition of a two-party system and the psychological fact that most Americans, other things being equal, prefer to belong to large and powerful organizations, seems to preclude the formation of such blocs.

In Sacramento the first thing the P. R. Council did was to choose a City Manager unanimously. Manager Seavey (Clyde L. Seavey, a former state official with an enviable reputation for integrity and ability) said that when he talked to the council he felt that he was speaking to the entire city.

In Cincinnati, Cleveland, Toledo, Hamilton, Ashtabula, Wheeling, Boulder, Kalamazoo, and West Hartford, in fact wherever the Hare system of proportional representation has been used, two strong political groups have continued to exist as before. In some of these cities (notably Cincinnati, Toledo, Hamilton, Wheeling and Berkeley), though, a strong civic group has displaced one of the national political parties and has assumed its functions. This, however, has not interfered with the efficiency of the national party in county, state, and national affairs and elections. The Committee on Citizens' Charter Organization of the National Municipal League in their report on "The Cincinnati Plan of Citizen Organization for Political Activity" states that, "Contrary to the predictions of the Republican machine that the national party would meet defeat if deprived of the services of city jobholders, President Hoover received in 1928 the largest vote ever cast in Hamilton County for a Republican presidential candidate."

The Tasmanian legislature (Tasmania, Australia), after being elected continuously by P. R. for more than 30 successful years, is still composed of only two political parties.

George Wharton Pepper in the "Pennsylvania Commission on Constitutional Amendment and Revision," said, "I am satisfied that those of us who are firm believers, as I am, in our party system, make a very grave mistake in supposing that we can insure the permanence and influence of the two great political parties by the process of suppressing the means of expression of other groups in a community. It is a way of sitting on the lid which seems to me to be unwise and unwholesome. The system of proportional representation does not tend to weaken our party system. It does tend to give expression to groups in a community which become sources of discontent and disturbance unless legitimate means of expression are found for it. . . . We must come, it seems to me, to recognize that a great and growing source of discontent and dissatisfaction in this country among the masses of the people is the impression, more or less well founded, that they are not represented in our constituent assemblies. That being the case, a system which gives them a legitimate method of expression without disturbing majority rule seems to me to be the system that we ought to advocate. . . . This thing is sound in principal. It is consistent with the Anglo-Saxon conception of making a representative assembly correspond in composition with the community it represents. It gives expression and opportunities of expression to those who otherwise feel themselves to be submerged, and unless I am greatly mistaken we shall sin against the light if we do not at this time make it possible in this great Commonwealth to perfect our representative system in the way in which we shall perfect it if this provision prevails."

Outstanding Candidates

A very able type of candidate will run for council office, we believe, for he can appeal to a limited group only, without making compromises to obtain the support of a larger group. If elected, he represents an almost unanimous constituency, for he has been voted for and wanted by a group of voters who agree on fundamental issues. He does not need to straddle these issues as does the present councilman. Where true P. R. has been used the quality of the council tickets has been greatly improved. The voters control their party organizations instead of being controlled by them. The voter can nominate and vote for the candidates he really wants even though he is uncertain as to their chance for election, for he can be certain that his vote will help elect one of his choices. This new freedom to nominate and vote makes startling differences in the caliber of candidates and the votes actually cast. Under P. R. Boulder, Colorado; Calgary, Alberta, Canada; Cincinnati, Hamilton, and Toledo, Ohio; and Wheeling, West Virginia, have enjoyed, without exception, councils of high caliber for the past 20, 20, 12, 10, 3 and 3 years, respectively. During its 18 years of continuous use in the Irish Free State similar results have been expressed. The same has been true in the other cities that have used P. R. "I believe the City of Cleveland has elected the best city council in twenty years." So spoke Maurice Maschke, leader of the Republican organization after the first P. R. election in that city. The organization had opposed the adoption of P. R. and had in this election lost several councilmen. The Citizens' League concurred with Mr. Maschke. Said its President, Carl D. Friebolin: "The vote has resulted in the best council which the City of Cleveland has had in the last fifteen or twenty years. . . . The council has a clear majority of intelligent and broadminded men and women, who will, we believe, determine municipal policies on the broad ground of the city's interests rather than party expediency."

The better type of candidate can be influenced to run for councilmanic office because of the decency and good feeling that characterize the election campaigns under P. R. No longer is mud slinging of any advantage. A candidate must win supporters by taking a definite stand on the issues and by refraining from attacking the other candidates. The first-choice supporters of the other candidates may yet be the means of electing him. In P. R. cities this decency and good feeling has extended beyond the election and has developed community co-operation among formerly divergent elements.

"It is a strange campaign," wrote Wm. M. Tugman, special political writer for the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "the strangest Cleveland ever has seen. The great god ballyhoo, the patron of party strategists in all other campaigns, is dead, the victim of P. R."

"The spirit of co-operation which has been manifested among all parties in connection with the election is of the happiest augury." So stated the Dublin Daily Express after the first P. R. local election in strife-torn Ireland.

Under P. R. campaigning is made easier rather than harder for the candidate with a reputation, the type who is likely to be of most value to the city, for he need only convince a quota of the electors. This quota may be from a city-wide special interest group or from the voters of a restricted section of the city. Because of this it also is easier for the voter to know the candidates for whom he votes.

It is true, however, that strictly speaking it is impossible for councilmen to know who are their constituents, and vice versa. This is so because of the transfer of ballots not needed by certain of the winners and by the losers who are eliminated. That this is true, however, we consider an advantage rather than a disadvantage, for the councilmen will thereby represent all of the voters—they will represent the city as a whole.

No Sweeping Changes in Personnel

Once P. R. is established we believe it will assure continuity of personnel—that most necessary factor of competent, efficient governmental services. The experience of P. R. cities demonstrates that such is the case, for outstanding councilmanic leaders have been consistently re-elected and changes in administrative personnel have been small when compared with other cities; especially with those cities in which councilmanic landslides occur. Such landslides are not possible under P. R. for a minority just becomes a majority (the leaders of both sides remaining in office) with a nucleus of experienced councilmen present to assist and guide the newly elected members.

The following table shows for the several P. R. councils which have governed Cincinnati since January 1, 1926, the number of hold-over councilmen and the years that each has served the city:

NUMBER OF COUNCILMEN HELD OVER

Beginning of Term of Office	Council 1st 1926-28	2nd 1928-30	3rd 1930-32	4th 1932-34	5th 1934-36	6th 1936-38	7th 1938-40
1926	..	7	2	1	1	0	0
1928	..	..	1	1	0	0	0
1930	..	..	..	6	3	2	1
1932	..	..	..	..	1	0	0
1934	..	..	..	..	..	3	1
1936	..	..	..	..	..	..	3
Total Re-elected	1	7	3	8	5	5	5
New Councilmen	8	2	6	1	4	4	4
Total No. of Councilmen in Council	9	9	9	9	9	9	9

In the first P. R. council only one of the old councilmen, an independent Republican, was re-elected. This was to be expected as the previous council was a boss-governed council elected under the old election system. The furth council, which served from 1932 to 1934, consisted of one newly elected member and eight old members, six who previously had served one term, one who had served for two terms, and one who had served for six years (3 terms). To date there are two councilmen who have been elected to office for five consecutive terms.

Similar results are to be found in other cities which have a proportional representation council.

Continual Citizen Interest

A new and vital interest in the election of councilmen and in the city government between election periods, we believe, will be evidenced on the part of the great majority of the citizens. Especially will this be true of those independent electors who previously did not vote because they could only select the lesser of two evils. Alderman F. J. White, of Calgary, the chief city of Alberta, Canada, and the first Canadian city to adopt P. R., has stated that "since this system has been introduced the vote at the annual municipal elections has steadily increased." "It is some encouragement," he continued, "for a man to get out and vote knowing, while he feels that he is not amongst the majority, that the minority representative for whom he wishes to vote can be elected under P. R. provided his supporters cast a vote equalling one quota; whereas under the old system he would be inclined to say, 'Well, I'm in the minority; it's no use for me to bother my head about going to vote.'"

At the first P. R. election for members of the lower house of the Ulster Parliament in 1921, 89% of the electorate voted. Sir James Craig, the Unionist Premier, knew that "what P. R. demanded . . . was that the whole countryside should turn out. . . . With a single member constituency it might be almost a walkover for a Unionist even if a comparatively small number turned out to vote . . . but under P. R. . . . they wanted every stalwart they could get."

Less Chance for Fraud

The possibility of election fraud is greatly reduced under P. R., first, because of the central count and the checks in counting that go with it, and, second, because of the great cost and risk that would be incurred in attempting to "steal" one or more council seats. This is well illustrated by the following article from the Sacramento Union of May 3, 1921: "A well-known boss in this city, long ruler of the most powerful part of that invisible ruling force engaged in politics for purposes seldom in accord with the public welfare, has paid the most flattering compliment to proportional representation that it could possibly receive from anyone. This expert in the manipulation of elections excused his apathy in the present campaign by declaring that it would cost from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars to beat the proportional representation system at the coming election, and that even with this great expenditure no guarantee of success could be given. In previous elections this boss has turned the scales by controlling a bloc of less than a thousand votes."

P. R. Not Complicated

It has often been asserted that P. R. is too complicated for the average voter. Just what is meant by this assertion: that the ballots are too difficult to vote, or that the count is too complex to be understood? Surely not the former, for most individuals agree that the voting is as simple as 1, 2, 3. All that is required of the voter is that he write the number 1 on the ballot in the space provided alongside of the name of the candidate who is his first choice (the one, above all others, whom he prefers to see elected), the number 2 in front of his second choice, the number 3 before his third choice, etc. Is it any harder to write the number 1 than it is to make a cross? Municipalities which have used P. R. have demonstrated that the voting public is capable of understanding it. For 59 elections in 7 American and 13 Canadian cities the average percentage of invalid ballots was only 5.55. In the Sacramento P. R. election in 1921 only 2.4% of the ballots were invalidated.

Is the P. R. count too complex to be understood? Cannot the great majority of the people comprehend the fact that the councilmen are elected from the entire city (from the city-at-large), that each elector, with his one vote, can express by the use of figures his alternative choices, that a quota of one more than one-twelfth of the total vote is sufficient to elect, and that should a person's vote be of no assistance in providing a quota for his first choice, it will be transferred to one of his other choices, so that eventually nearly every voter helps to elect some councilman—cannot this be comprehended by most of the people? Is it too much, at least, to expect of the interested voter? A knowledye of the electoral intelligence of Philadelphia leads us to believe that it is not. But if it should be, and this applies to the uninterested and unintelligent voter as well, the question may be raised as to whether it is any more necessary for him to know and understand the details and the rules of a P. R. count than it is for him to know and understand all the provisions of our present election law. The former is certainly no more complicated than the latter. What, as a matter of fact, do most individuals know about many of the services they use daily? With electricity, for example, the great majority of users know only the method of use—turn on the switch. They see, however, that the results are more satisfactory than those of other methods. So it is with P. R. A knowledge of the simple method of voting is all that is needed by the electors, for they can look upon the results and see that they are good.

Counting the Ballots

It is said that under P. R. the count of votes takes too long. What has been the experience of P. R. cities? In Cleveland 33½ hours of working time were spent on the count. This was spread over a week. By employing extra shifts the count could have been completed in two days, had it been thought important enough to do so. In Cincinnati the count has usually taken about 96 hours, being spread over about twelve days. Here again it could have been completed much sooner had there been any real reason for hurrying it along. The New York City P. R. election count took about four weeks. This relatively great length of time was due to five factors, all of which can, and probably will, be eliminated at the next P. R. election. These factors were as follows: (1) the court litigation pertaining to the Bronx vote, (2) the payment (to the official counters) of a per diem wage rather than a fixed and definite amount for the total count of the votes, (3) the various attempts by the Tammany counters to slow up the count and thus discredit P. R., (4) the great number of candidates which a first P. R. election usually draws but which becomes smaller at subsequent elections.* and (5) the use of paper ballots rather than P. R. voting machines. This relatively great length of time, however, is only a couple of days longer than has been taken by Philadelphia when the vote has been contested. Also, the four weeks taken by the New York P. R. count is considerably less than the lapse of time between the present Primary Election and the Election of councilmen in Pennsylvania.

With the use of proper voting and counting machines the lapse of time between election and certification of the vote need be little, if any, greater for P. R. than for the present method of voting. In fact two of the greatest authorities on P. R. in the United States believe that "with machine voting and counting the final results can be determined with unquestionable accuracy in the largest cities in the United States some time the day after election."

When paper ballots are used the count in all probability will take longer under P. R. than under the present system. There should be little doubt, however, by the day after election as to which political group had received the greatest number of votes and would be most likely to elect a majority of the councilmen. Does it really matter, after all, if we do not know at this time exactly who will make up our next council? These new members do not assume office until January 1st, nearly two months away. On the other hand, the very fact that the final outcome is held in abeyance for some time with new announcements of winners being made day after day tends to create a widespread interest and continued enthusiasm in the selection of councilmen. This interest, if the experience of P. R. cities is of any significance, is likely to last well beyond the election and to be transferred to the entire range of municipal affairs.

The best answer, though, to this objection that the P. R. election count takes too long, is that it is better to take a little longer and get the right men into office, than to get the wrong ones in, in a hurry; for the electors and the rest of the citizens have to live under the rule of these men for four long years.

Do P. R. elections cost too much? We have examined this contention most carefully and thoroughly and have arrived at the conclusion that if the primary cannot be eliminated (as it cannot) the P. R. elections will cost a little more than the present elections. With paper ballots the extra cost to Cleveland for the first year was only three cents for each resident of the city. For each succeeding year this extra cost was less than two cents per resident. If P. R. voting machines are used the initial expense will be much more, but the machines, by reducing the central count costs to trifling proportions, should pay for themselves in three years and after that save money. Even though no money were saved, surely it would be worth even a larger amount to know that one's vote is effective and that a representative council, with all that such a council implies, would be elected. Few benefits of such magnitude are purchased at so small a cost.

Experience Everwhere

"P. R. has failed wherever tried," asserted the political opposition in the recent New York City charter campaign. Has it? What about Cincinnati, Hamilton and Toledo, Ohio; Wheeling, West Virginia; Boulder, Colorado; Calgary, Winnipeg and St James, Canada; Tasmania, Denmark, the Irish Free State, and even New York City itself? Has it failed in these places? As a matter of fact has it actually failed even in those five American cities (Ashtabula, Cleveland, West Hartford, Kalamazoo and Sacramento) which no longer use it for the election of councilmen? If a court rules out the continuance of the plan on a mere technicality, as it did in Sacramento, California, and in Kalamazoo, Michigan, does this mean that P. R. is a failure? If the state legislature, for reasons neither pure nor simple, abolishes P. R. in West Hartford, Connecticut, can this be interpreted as a failure of P. R. to produce good government in that town? Was P. R. a failure in Cleveland and in Ashtabula? Let us examine the evidence in all of these cases. considering first those cities which once used but subsequently discontinued this method of election.

* Charter provisions regarding filing fees will prevent this, here, even in the first election.

Ashtabula elected its council by P. R. eight consecutive times. These councils were non-partisan in action, tolerant religiously, and of a higher caliber than the previous council selected under the old ward system. The welfare of the entire city—the city as a whole—was their concern. The city administrations which resulted from them made notable progress in solving a number of complex problems which had been present for a considerable period of years. The quality of public service was improved and at the same time the tax rate was reduced. The city was solving its major engineering problems and was equipping itself to give citizens modern efficient service. P. R. had made good. Said the Ashtabula Star-Beacon: "The people have something to say as to who shall be chosen for city offices. . . . P. R. system of voting works well in Ashtabula and we recommend it . . . to any other municipality that wants the best in government." Twice during the fifteen years of its existence attempts to repeal it were defeated. By 1929, however, many voters had forgotten the evil political conditions existing prior to 1915 and, desiring to get rid of an especially obnoxious minority in council, voted to discontinue the use of P. R. If someone could write the history of bootlegging in this Lake Erie city, much light would be shed upon this action.

Cleveland used P. R. for ten years. During that time four unsuccessful attempts were made to repeal this method of electing councilmen. In the depth of the depression, however, at the same election at which the voters wrecked the Bar Association slate for Municipal Court judges and—for only the second time in twenty years—the Citizens' Committee Slate for the School Board, the attempt to repeal P. R. and the Council-Manager form of government was successful by a vote of 61,448 to 51,931. The large group of unemployed who dealt for political jobs from an elected mayor when P. R. and the manager form of government were abolished was certainly an important factor in the upset. The principal reason, however, for the repeal of P. R. and the Council-Manager plan was the failure of the honest, progressive citizens to organize a permanent municipal "Good Government" party to work for the election of the right type of councilmen. Without this organization the very able council members were in the minority, and though they could check, through their dramatic exposures, all especially vicious practices of the controlling majority, they themselves could never dictate policies for the betterment of the municipal administration. The exposures made by this able minority no doubt improved the quality of the municipal government, but it also provided ammunition for the opponents of P. R. and the Council-Manager form of organization. These opponents blamed the bad practices of the political majority on the form of government rather than on the political "Machine," which was really responsible, and undiscriminating voters accepted the explanation.

Though P. R. was repealed in Cleveland, does this necessarily mean that it was a failure there? Let us examine the records. "The spirit of the new charter," said the Cleveland Press,* "is evidently asserting itself. The old tendencies to machine rule and stupid ward politics are giving way before the intelligent, progressive drives of the independent members. A new willingness to work out plans that are for the good of the whole community seems apparent." On January 6, 1925, the Cleveland Plain Dealer declared editorially: "It might be easy to symbolize the achievements of the new regime by means of the half million dollars saved from last year's revenue, showing that the policy of living within one's income, much discussed under a previous administration, has not been forgotten. While such a saving is important, most citizens will agree that a far higher compliment is to be found in the quantity of constructive work done during the twelve months. Cleveland needed no manager's report to realize how much better the parks have been cared for, how street improvements have been pushed, old highways extended or widened and new ones projected; how the city has co-operated with its neighbors in metropolitan planning; how water works and light plant extensions have been carried on; how the development of mall and lake front has received the constant attention of the city hall. These and similar projects have been matters of more or less common knowledge." Does this describe a failure?

In West Hartford the P. R. Council chose an able town manager. Under the combined government of the Council and Manager the taxes were being reduced and a notable record of civic progress was being made, when, with considerable secrecy and dispatch, the state legislature passed a law prohibiting the use of P. R. in any municipality.

Kalamazoo, under P. R. and the Council-Manager form of government, reduced the city's deficit and reduced the tax rate. It kept the rate to the lowest among Michigan cities of its size. On a technicality the courts cut short such a successful career. The voters certainly would not have done so.

In Sacramento the P. R. Council and its appointed city manager took office in the middle of the fiscal and calendar year. In spite of the fact that only 30% of the annual municipal revenue had been left for them by the outgoing council, this new city government completed the year without a deficit and with increased efficiency in the administration of the city's affairs. The following year the new government started on a program of permanent improvements, rendered the citizens the best services they had ever known, raised the wages of police and firemen, and reduced the tax rate. P. R. was declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court.

What about New York City? Dr. George H. Hallett, Jr., in a radio speech over Station WEVD at 10.00 P. M. on Wednesday, December 1, 1937, declared that P. R. had justified the claims made for it. Said he,

"P. R. has treated the boroughs fairly and brought about automatically the reapportionment which has been so badly needed for many years. On the strength of the votes actually cast the growing Borough of Queens has elected five councilmen to Manhattan's six, whereas hitherto it has had to be satisfied with six aldermen to Manhattan's 24. Bronx also will have five to Manhattan's six. It has had 8 to Manhattan's 24. Brooklyn, which has long outvoted Manhattan but has no more representation than Manhattan in the Board of Aldermen, now will have nine councilmen, half again as many as Manhattan . . . no one can question that the apportionment achieved through P. R. is vastly more just than the old one.

"P. R. has given fair treatment to parties. The Republican minority will have three councilmen out of 26 instead of three aldermen out of 65. The American Labor minority will have 5 out of 26—or 6 if its member, Charles Belous, elected as a Fusionist in Queens, is included. The Democratic organizations will have half the Council (or a little better if the Roe Democrats in Queens are included), which is roughly in proportion to the votes their candidates received.

"P. R. has given fair treatment to groups within parties. The Democratic organization in Queens denied a party designation to Alderman James Burke, but a sufficient minority of the voters supported him to give him the P. R. quota and elect him anyway. The two factions of the party each elected one of the two Democrats elected with party endorsement.

"P. R. has given fair treatment to independent groups. Whereas the election of candidates without party backing is almost unknown under the district plan of election, one reputable candidate in Brooklyn, Mrs. Earle, one in Manhattan, Robert Straus, and two in Queens, Mr. Burke and Mr. Belous, were elected without the endorsement of any one of the four legally recognized political parties.

* Feb. 27, 1924 (Editorial).

"In future years the voters may use it to still better advantage, but the improved caliber and representative character of the council is something for which all good citizens, regardless of party, should be profoundly grateful. Comparison with the New York delegations to the state Assembly and to the state constitutional convention, elected the same day, show conclusively that such results would not have been possible without P. R."

Half a million more votes were effective at this first P. R. election than were effective in previous elections under the old system. In the Bronx, Queens, and Richmond more people actually marked their P. R. ballots than voted for Mayor, and in every borough more people did so than voted for comptroller or borough president The progressive members of the new council appear to have made a fine start toward a more efficient municipal government.

In the Irish Free State P. R. has been used for all public elections of any importance since 1925. It has been used in certain of these elections for eighteen years. During that time the moderating influence of P. R. on election campaigns has been clearly demonstrated. A Dublin dispatch to the Philadelphia Public Ledger says, "It (P. R.) has changed the whole aspect of the Irish political life—so much so that one can say with confidence that Irish electioneering will never again be the same. Personal or party feelings can never again be aroused to quite the same degree as under the old system. Formerly, if you were successful, you had the satisfaction not only of getting your own man in, but also of keeping your opponent out. Nowadays, even if you put your own man first, you must, in nearly all cases, be prepared to see some of your opponents (elected)." P. R. has also kept the ablest leaders of all parties almost continuously in office. It has been supported by nearly every important public official and by prominent men and women in all walks of life, for it has brough efficient local and national government to the Irish Free State.

The experience of Tasmania with P. R. has been as favorable as that of the Irish Free State. The Agent General of Tasmania in London has stated that proportional representation had in his opinion come to stay. "If," he continued, "there are any sound arguments against proportional representation, or the methods taken to secure it, they have not so far been found." "I was in Tasmania a few years ago," said Lord Bryce, "and I can tell my noble friend Lord Harcourt that the opinion of Tasmania was in favor of the (P. R.) plan which has been adopted. and that I did not hear any desire to depart from it."

In Canada the cities of Calgary and Winnipeg and the suburban town of St. James have all secured a more efficient municipal administration as a result of P. R. councils. J. M. Miller, City Clerk of Calgary, in speaking of P. R., says that "during the last 3 or 4 years all comments have been favorable, indicating the satisfaction which this system now gives." "We have never had better councils than under the system of proportional representation," says F. J. White, of Calgary. In Winnipeg leaders of all three political parties expressed satifaction with the results of P. R. Thomas H. Johnson, the Liberal Attorney General of Manitoba. stated that he could truthfully say that he never had a single regret for the efforts he personally made in connection with the introduction of P. R. "Everything claimed for it," he declared, "was clearly accomplished." John T. Haig, a Conservative. expressed a similar sentiment when he said, "I am pleased with the system and believe in large centers of population, where there are many elements in the community who wish to have their views expressed in Parliament, that this system is the best so far tried." The Winnipeg Tribune stated that. "So far as the P. R. election method is concerned, there is no reason to doubt that St. James' experiences will be equally as happy as Winnipeg's have been ever since this method was adopted in 1920."

Since 1917 Boulder. Colorado. has enjoyed under P. R. extremely able councils—councils which have considered all problems from a non-partisan city-wide viewpoint, councils which were composed of the best elements in the community, councils which together with the City Manager have provided efficient, economical, honest municipal government.

The P. R. councils in Wheeling, West Virginia, have been able, representative and non-political. For the thirteen years previous to the inauguration of P. R. the city was operating under a deficit. Since P. R. the annual accounts have shown a surplus. Various kinds of petty political graft have been eliminated completely and increased efficiency has been evident in the affairs of the municipality.

Toledo chose its first P. R. council in 1935, and its second in 1937. Both of these councils have been efficient, honest, representative, and of a high caliber (of a much higher caliber than the preceding councils). Together with the city manager they have solved a number of unusually difficult financial and other municipal problems left by previous city administrations. When the P. R. council took office in 1936 Toledo was saddled with a huge burden of debt and the crisis had become so acute that the city was on the verge of default. Under P. R.-City Manager government Toledo has the lowest property tax it has had in 16 years ($20 per $1.000 of assessed valuation—the lowest of Ohio's six largest cities). The city pays cash and operates within its income. Its municipal bonds sell at the lowest rate in the city's history and its net bonded indebtedness was reduced by more than $2.000,000 in the first year of P. R.-City Manager government.

Hamilton, Ohio, adopted P. R. and the Council-Manager form of government in 1926 and elected its first P. R. council in 1927. From that date to the present it has been blessed with extremely able, non-political councils and with superior administrative officials. A new city hall was built during the depression years and was paid for by the savings that had been made at the time that better and more efficient services were being rendered the citizens by the government. The electric rates of the Municipal Plant have been reduced four times, the gas rates once. Hamilton's electric, gas. and water systems not only have been greatly improved since 1927, but have paid former debts and have carried three-quarters of the city manager's salary and three-quarters of the carrying charges on the city hall in which they are housed.

Cincinnati prior to its adoption of P. R. and the Council-Manager form of government in 1926 was ruled by the notorious Cox-Hynicka machine. Corruption, mismanagement, high cost and low service were the rule. The city streets and the city hall were in extreme disrepair. The polce and fire departments were demoralized. The city was without adequate police of fire protection. All the social service work of the municipality had been abandoned.

Subsequent to 1926 and the adoption of P. R. and the Council-Manager form of government, however, Cincinnati has been haled throughout the length and breadth of our land as an extremely well-governed city—one of the very best governed cities in the United States. "Right through the depression." states George H. Hallett, Jr., "all its services have been kept on a high level, great new projects have been constructed, unusual programs have been developed for recreation and unemployment relief, the merit system in public employment has been kept inviolate, the tax rate and the city's debt have been reduced, the city has paid all its bills promptly without emergency borrowing, and every year has ended with a balance in the treasury. It wa. the one large city which developed a detailed program to cope with unemployment before the depression broke. In January. 1937, City Manager Clarence A. Dykstra reported that in the six depression years preceding, the city had reduced its total bonded debt by $14.000.000, although it had issued $3,600,000 in new bonds for large public works during that time. Its adjusted tax rate is now one of the very lowest in the country. The efficiency with which the city government met the great flood of January, 1937, brought it nation-wide attention."

Have any of the foregoing tales been ones of failure? We are bound to admit that they have not. Yet in the above have been included all the cities which no longer have P. R., though they once used it in the election of councilmen. We, therefore, are forced to conclude that even in those cities which, because of adverse court rulings, etc., have had to abandon this method of electing legislative bodies, P. R. has been a decided success during the period of its use. As for the places where P. R. is still used today, the evidence points uniformly in that direction.

Election of Council Candidates from City-at-Large

An at-large council has a balanced view of the city's problems, while district councilmen only too often indulge in log-rolling and pork-barrel legislation. This balanced view, in our opinion, nullifies three of the advantages claimed for the district system, viz., (a) no area will be overlooked in the distribution of benefits at the disposal of the city, (b) each district is sure of representation, and (c) district councilmen are close to their constituents and therefore represent them well.

When the at-large election is combined with P. R., as is done in this charter, (b) and (c) do not necessarily apply only to the district system. If the people believe more strongly in district than in some other basis of representation, then councilmen elected at large by proportional representation will be district representatives even though theoretically selected by the electorate of all sections of the city. Also district councilmen are not necessarily closer to their constituents than are the councilmen elected at-large by P. R. Often the district councilman represents only a small highly organized minority of his constituents. In the at-large system under P. R. this cannot occur, for the various elements in the electorate are represented according to their strength. Furthermore, we believe it is much more important in the distribution of the benefits at the disposal of the city, that the areas most in need of them as determined by a well-rounded-out plan, receive them rather than that no area be overlooked.

Residence in the "wrong" district does not exclude good men from council when councilmen are elected at-large. This, to a great extent, overbalances the claim that the poor man has a greater chance of election in a district election because of the relatively smaller cost of conducting a district campaign. It may also be stated that the poor man who has his section (or any group of sufficient size for that matter) of the city strongly behind him has just as good a chance of election as the rich man, when the election at-large system is combined with P. R., as is being done in the Charter recommended herein. This is true because he only needs a certain number of votes from the entire city in order to be declared elected.

"The district system," says Wm. Dudley Foulke, in his book "A Hoosier Autobiography," "prevents the normal and healthy union of those who think alike and desire to vote for the same candidate. These are now separated from each other by arbitrary lines and are often prevented from acting together. There is now law to prevent men from uniting to build ships and railroads to the extent of their capital. But here we have a law which says to the voters, 'You shall not combine your voting capital—your ballots—unless you all live in the same district.' What should we think of a rule dividing the stockholders of a great railroad company by geographical lines and prohibiting those residing in different districts from voting for the same directors?"

Do district elections assure minority representation? Impartial observers state that the problem of giving minority representation is not one primarily of districts or city-wide candidates, but is more dependent on the system of voting used. It has been demonstrated often in one large city after another that the district system promotes minority rule, but not minority representation. The dominant party machines in New York, Philadelphia and other large cities have often actually elected a complete council ticket though they controlled only 45% to 53% of the votes (sometimes even less—in Cincinnati only 33 1/3%). With elections-at-large the minority has less chance of gaining a majority of seats.

Ticketmakers, while not overlooking the distribution of candidates by area, can recognize blocs of voters who have common interests other than geography. These interests are usually stronger than district ties and therefore the voter can more truly express his preference. It is possible, thereby, to set up a small council which is a truly representative body.

District lines in most cities usually are not the rational boundaries of distinct geographical areas or social groups. They generally are merely traditional limits or artificial boundaries. The shifting of population from one section of the city to the other and the growth of population in new districts tend under the district system, to give under-representation to these growing sections or wards.

The consensus of opinion in cities with the combination type of council (district and at-large) is that members elected at-large are invariably much better known and are generally of a higher caliber than are the members elected from districts. One of the reasons why Cincinnati got better results than Cleveland from P. R. was that Cincinnati elects at-large while Cleveland was divided into four artifiscal districts. "It is nearly axiomatic," says Reed,* "as any political principle can be, that the larger the district the stronger the candidates must be to attract votes."

Non-Partisan Ballots

Non-partisan ballots tend to keep the national party machines out of municipal elections and thus tend to prevent national issues, which are extraneous to these elections, from so occupying the center of the stage as to block intelligent discussion of important local problems. This by-passing of local issues often appears to be the rule under our present system.

The real issues in municipal elections are generally ones of legislation and administrative efficiency rather than ones of national policy, and those candidates who campaign on the basis of national party labels are trying simply to divert the voter's attention from the real problems of local government.

"But there is a group of business and professional men," says Charles P. Taft, "who back the machine against reform because of a sincere conviction that the evils are necessary incidents of the promotion of the natonal welfare. The conviction that the machine is necessary lives because of a belief that we must have two national parties and that a national party cannot exist except by means of strong local organizations. The minor peccadilloes of the machine are necessary evils to be mitigated by the presence in party councils of these honest men, and the more serious charges are laid to the mistaken fervor of enthusiastic partisans or the slanderous efforts of the minority party to reach power by way of the reform.

"I hesitate to criticize these men, whether Republicans in Chicago or Democrats in Cleveland, because they are honest and sometimes acquire a position of influence in the organization that enables them truly to eliminate many of its currupt practices. But they cannot make the politicians swing their votes for the best candidate and there is always hidden from them a residue, most often in the courts and especially the police courts, of the viciousness that jobs and spoils inevitably permit to exist.

"There is a far larger group for whom I have no such sympathy. They support the machine for motives that are a combination of fear and self-interest. They abuse none of the genial rascality of the blatant buccaneer and none of the high purpose of the honest party leader. They may indeed have in mind that the boss can influence a tariff schedule or grant a privilege that means livelihood to their employes and their families but they lack the strength of character to see that the black-mailer succeeds only with cowards. These men shut their eyes to the most brazen graft and permit themselves to be made the respectable front for the machine. In the old days the politician and the profiteer could often run the show against all comers, but today the badge of respectability is generally needed, especially in the face of a reform government, and these men furnish it. In such a situation they may be the determining influence that defeats reform, for they add strength to the mass inertia of less prominent citizens whose active indignation is essential to the first victory." **

The experience of Cincinnati, Toledo, Hamilton, Wheeling, Berkeley and the other P. R. cities which use non-partisan ballots tends to prove the contention that national parties are not necessary in municipal elections.

In fact where non-partisan ballots have been used, the political parties have not been materially weakened and in the larger political arenas (the county, the state, and the nation) have carried on as before. Oftentimes the candidates for these non-city offices have been of a higher caliber as a result of the better city elections.

Non-partisan ballots have made independent voting easier and by so doing, have forced the local political organizations to nominate better candidates and to take strong positions for improved municipal government.

Salary

A relatively high salary, we believe, attracts candidates of high caliber because the personal financial sacrifice is small Of course, public-spirited men do not hestitate to make personal sacrifices for the good of the city, providng. of course, that they can afford to do so financially. But only the rich man can afford such sacrafices for the poor man, no matter how capable he is or how sincere and strong his public spirit, must earn his daily bread and must of necessity, therefore, receive remuneration for his full-time services.

Though it is possible that a high salary for councilmen will attract candidates with no more worthy desire than to get the money, yet under P. R. as recommended in the proposed charter these indivinuals, we believe, will be eliminated in the election: for the competition is stiff and the candidates with an established reputation, those candidates whose election is likely to be of most value to the city, are the ones who win the council seats. This is the experience of Cincinnati and other P. R. cities. Also, no one can claim that relatively low salaries eliminate such candidates. Under our present electoral system often they are voted into office.

Powers and Duties

The Council. a truly representative body because it is elected by P. R., is given full power to govern the city. It legislates for the municipality and it selects the Mavor. the Presiding Officer Pro Tem, the Clerk of Council and the City Manager.

This is in line with the best of business practices. being patterned after the American corporate structure. It is the directors rather than the stockholders of a large corporation who formulate policies and select the administrator. It is the members of the school board rather than the citizens who hire the Superintendent of Schools and who decide important questions of policy.

Is it not impossible to get the full benefit of a truly represenative body fit to govern if it is not given full power to govern? The council under this charter is given this power. The voters elect by P. R. a truly representative body to which they then entrust the government of the city. The council. therefore, is directly responsible for the affairs of the city and thus can be held accountable for them. Control of municipal business is concentrated in a body which can be watched by the voters. No well-run business organization would tolerate for a moment the confusion and division of responsibility which characterize our city under the mayor-council form of government.

The chief executive—the city manager—appointed by council and responsible to it will execute the powers nossessed by that body. Council, however. will retain complete control over the manager through: (a) its power to appoint him, (b) its power to dismiss him at any time, (c) its power to pass all ordinances and resolutions, (d) its power to control the "purse strings," and (e) its power to investigate his books and administration at any time.

Council will determine what is to be done and the manager will see that it is accomplished. The former tends strictly to matters of popular representation, the latter to problems of administration. In the old "check-and-balance" sense there is no separation of powers. for the will of council is supreme; but there is a division of labor. a differentiation of function between the two. However, the lines of responsibility are clearly indicated. and if something goes wrong, the source of trouble can be located immediately. The city manager. if necessary, can fire his assistants. The councilmen can discharge the city manager. The whole set-up is simple. direct and effective. There is no waste motion or division of responsibility. There is no chance to duck, dodge, or evade accountability.

Council and the chief executive do not engage in petty quarrelling as so often happens under the present system. for each has his distinct sphere of action and each is confined therein. Under the present Mayor-Council form of government both the mayor and the council have a "popular mandate." Both have the power to decide question of policy. Each can check the actions of the other, council by withholding funds from the mayor, the mayor by vetoing the ordinances passed by council. Often the good of the city is lost sight of in the struggle for partisan advantage or personal profit. Yet usually neither party is held accountable for the results, because the responsibility cannot be determined. Under the plan proposed herein council cannot escape responsibility, for it alone is the supreme authority in the local field.

The members of council are free to consider the broader questions of policy, for they are not bothered by details of administration. Of course, they can and do call upon the chief executive to furnish them with any administrative information they may desire. Because of this they tend to become a real deliberative body, detached, yet fully aware of the facts.

The Mayor

The Mayor, who is to be elected by council from among its own membership, is to be the titular head of the city. He will be president of council. He will be the official head of the city for purposes of military law and for the serving of civil processes. He will appoint the members of most of the city's boards and commissions. No longer burdened with the wearisome and exacting details of administration, he will be the political leader of the city—using the word political not in its derogatory sense, but rather to mean what the word should represent: wide-visioned, far-seeing, fundamental public policy. He will be the spokesman for the council and the citizens; he will keep the public informed of what the city is doing. He will be the spearhead in intiating city policy. The Mayor will occupy an office of dignity and honor.

The importance of the power of the mayor to appoint members of boards and commissions is clear when one lists them: the Planning Board, the Board of Commerce and Industry, the Board of Recreation and Parks. the Board of Health and the Art Jury. Exercising quasi-legislative and quasi-judicial powers, these boards rightfully keep such powers from domination by the administrative branch of the city. They serve to keep. government "humanized" as well. The Mayor's power to appoint them serves to strengthen and re-enforce his position as civic leader of the city.

A large part of the mayor's time will be taken up with duties of a ceremonial nature. As titular head of the city he will unveil monuments, lay corner stones and welcome conventions and distinguished visitors to the city. His leadership in council will carry with it the opportunity of leadership in the life and development of the city. Hence as spokesman of council he will interpret policies and proposals before civic bodies, service clubs, women's clubs, labor councils, and similar bodies. These duties are important and therefore will require time and attention. but a real leader will welcome them for in no better way can public opinion be both instructed and discovered.

The rest of his time will be taken up with his duties as a councilman. He presides over council. and therefore occupies the chair which enables him to make his leadership most effective.

The position of mayor is such that it now will be acceptable to those leaders of the municipality who would not have been willing to serve as public employes or even as city executives. At least such has been the experience of most council-manager cities. Cincinnati's first mayor under this new government was Murray Seasongood. For the four years that he served as mayor. he remained as vigorous and popular in interpreting the actions of the new government as he had been in attacking the old one. During the period 1930-1937. Russell Wilson. formerly an editor of the Cincinnati Times Star. was selected mayor four times. He is a gifted speaker and a leader in matters of public policy of whom any city might be proud. The mayors of other P. R.-Manager cities have been as outstanding as these two. They have been of considerably higher caliber than the general run of mayors under the old elected mayor system. The dignity and prestige of the mayors office under this new form of government tend to increase the dignity and prestige of council, for it is from among the council membership that the mayor is chosen and it is as a member of this body that he continues to function legislatively.

The selection of the mayor from among the council membership is generally considered superior to his election by the voters, for, being chosen by the council, he is selected after the council has been elected. The attention of the voters, therefore, is not abstracted from the election of an able council. In a councilmanic election the emphasis should be on the selection of all the councilmen. When the mayor is selected at the same time as council he is the one who holds the attention. He is in the spotlight and council receives far less attention than it deserves.

But the most important reason for eliminating a popularly elected mayor is that the combination of duties which the elected mayor must assume—political leader and administrative head—is an impossible task for any single man to perform well. The time spent on political leadership is necessarily time cut from administration. There are simply not enough hours in a day for the mayor to do the things which can be rightfully expected of him.

Another benefit flows from the abandonment of the impossible task of the elected mayor. The type of person who makes a competent administrative chief (city manager, really) is only rarely the type of person who has the political feel and color necessary for election. A good executive possesses qualities which are drab and unappealing. It is a novelty worthy of national headlines when an able administrator is fortunate enough to be elected mayor of a city. The divorcement of the two jobs of political and administrative leadership makes possible the selection of a man for each who possesses its own particular qualifications.

The City Manager

The city manager, the administrative head of the city government, is appointed for an indefinite term of office by council. His salary is fixed by them and his removal is in their hands. They need only enter upon their journal the reason for such removal and the city manager's reply, if one is received within two weeks of his dismissal. The manager is to be chosen solely on the basis of his executive and administrative qualifications and he need not be a resident of the city or if the state when appointed. No councilman is eligible for this position until at least one year subsequent to the expiration of the term of office for which he was elected.

The manager controls the administrative departments and is solely responsible to council for their efficient operation. He appoints his department heads without the consent or interference of council. He also appoints, subject of course to Civil Service regulations, all other municipal employes who are under his jurisdiction. During his absence or incapacity one of the administrative officers who has been designated by him functions in his place. During any temporary vacancy, however, in the office of city manager, council selects an acting city manager from the administrative service to "carry on" until a new manager can be appointed.

The manager is the chief police officer of the city and it is his duty to see that the laws of the state and the ordinances of the city are enforced. He meets regularly with council and keeps it informed as to municipal affairs, present and possible future financial condition, future needs (financial and otherwise), and possible improvements. He presents to them any information or reports requested and assists them in technical matters. He and his department heads are council's scientific staff, always on hand to aid in the solution of involved and intricate problems. He prepares and submits to council the annual municipal budget and an annual report of the city's administrative services.

To council alone is the manager responsible and council will deal with that portion of the administration of the city for which the manager is responsible only through him, unless, of course, it is conducting a special investigation of his administration. Though he is a hired employe of council, yet he is hired in the same capacity as the general manager of a corporation or a superintendent of schools—to exercise his own judgment as an executive in accomplishing the policies formulated in matters for which the responsibility is solely his. This is one of the most essential principles of the council-manager plan. Successful council-manager cities have adhered strictly to it. The details of administration are left to the manager, his responsibility to council being for the results achieved.

The council-manager form of government is organized along lines of modern business. It applies the lessons of private experience to governmental enterprise and for this reason, primarily, has it been so successful. It provides for the unification of powers (in council) with separation of function (council formulates policies—legislation—the manager carries them out—administration). It puts into practice the political maxim, "For representation elect, for administration appoint."

The city manager is selected wholly on the basis of his executive and administrative qualifications. Council is free to choose the best man from anywhere in the United States. Should not all municipal executives be so chosen? The government of Philadelphia is the largest and most important business in the city not only in the variety, complexity and volume of business it does, but also in the actual administration and conduct of its activities, most of which come under the direction of the city manager. It is not important, therefore, that the city manager be a trained and experienced municipal administrator, and that council not be limited in its choice? A mediocre or unqualified man not only would be expensive to the municipality in the long run, but would be likely to discredit council and the electors who selected it.

Because of having no local party affiliations and no private local connections which might in any way interfere with or influence his actions as chief executive, a non-resident would have a greater chance of making a success as manager than would a local man. The local man would be under constant pressure of friends and politicians who desired jobs or other favors (letting of contracts, fixing the police, etc.). He would likely be deficient in adaptablity under changing conditions because of the lack of the broader point of view which is developed by an inter-city experience. He would be suspected of aiding friends and punishing enemies. His every move would be of local significance.

On the other hand, the non-resident comes to the city without party affiliations and without obligations to distribute desirable berths among his associates. He is not likely to be suspected of having friends to reward or enemies to punish. He has no embarrassing pledges to fulfill. He brings to his new position the benefits of broad experience. Being new to the city he can get a better perspective of the situation—the local problems and their best solutions.

The city manager's term is indefinite, but the position he occupies continues irrespective of changes in council. This aids in the development of a permanent, efficient, professional administrative force. Though the manager may be removed by council at any time and though its decision is final in this matter, yet it must give him a written statement of the reason for his dismissal and it must give him an opportunity to answer the charges. Both of these statements must be entered in the journal of council, which is a public record. An opportunity is thus presented for a full public discussion. This is a powerful instrument for good government. It forces council to move carefully and to be certain that removals are made only for reasons that will meet with public approval. It gives the public a full opportunity to know whether its intentions to have a real council-manager government are being fulfilled or betrayed. It tends to prevent the arbitrary dismissal of the manager for purely political or personal reasons, and yet control of the city government is kept in the hands of council. And finally, it enables the removal of a manager who is dictatorial, militaristic or incompetent. The city is not "stuck" with him for four years.

The executive and administrative power and responsibility is centered in one individual, the city manager, who is directly accountable to council and just as council cannot dodge or evade its responsibility to the voters, the manager cannot dodge or evade his responsibility to council. If the administrative work of the city breaks down at any point, there can be no doubt as to where the blame lies. This concentration of administrative power in a single individual is an inevitable condition of administrative efficiency in American local government. Where the mayor has this power, however, his responsibility is to the electors-at-large, among whom "everybody's business" has regularly proved "nobody's business."

Has the council-manager plan failed to provide adequate political leadership? It is often asserted that it has. This assertion proceeds from the assumption that political leadership can be developed adequately only where the people directly elect their chief executive. What does the history of mayors reveal as to the number of popularly elected mayors who were actually strong, constructive leaders? We have examined the records most carefully and thoroughly and we are forced to conclude that their number is small—very small indeed. Political availability, fair speech, the ability to meet all classes of people as equals, and other similar qualifications were (and still are) usually of more importance to the mayoral candidate than was (and is) constructive leadership. By and large the council-manager plan has produced as adequate political leadership as has the mayor-council form of government. The council-manager plan of government especially provides for constructive political leadership by giving to the mayor only political and policy-determining activities. He is no longer weighted down by administrative duties. The mythical Super-Mayor of the mayor-council plan, the mayor who is supposed to be both an expert municipal administrator and a good politician, is cut to human proportions. His office is divided between the new mayor (the constructive poltical leader), and the city manager (the professional municipal administrator). Where the councils have been elected by P. R., the manager plan has brought forth excellent and lasting constructive political leadership—political leadership which has made possible in certain cities miracles of sustained good government.

Experience Elsewhere

The manager plan is now being used in more than 460 cities. One of these cities has used this form of government for over 30 years, 81 have used it for more than 20 years, and 240 have used it for over 15 years. The experience with council-manager government generally has been very favorable. Even in Kansas City and Cleveland which had inferior forms of the council-manager government unprejudiced inquiry reveals that these forms were improvements over the mayor-council forms which preceded them.

An increased efficiency in municipal government has been experienced by the council-manager cities. Standards have been raised, waste reduced, and the taxpayers have been given more for their money, than under the mayor-council. The power of the political machine and its boss usually has been weakened, improper political interference in administrative departments has undoubtedly been diminished, and a more unified, better trained, more responsive administrative force has been developed. Trained municipal administrators have given to municipal government its first real professional touch. The spoils system is eliminated.

The council-manager plan was found to have encouraged, though it did not always ensure, the use of good administrative technique. The distinction which the plan makes between the functions of representation and administration enable the cities to place the conduct of their municipal affairs in the hands of real experts—career men such as Sherrill, Dykstra, Ashburner, Waite, etc. . . . Into public office were brought men who understood the problems of city government; men who were technically qualified to run such a highly complicated institution; men who were generally missing in the mayor-council form of government. Their training and skill were combined with the common sense and local political wisdom of the representative council, and efficient local government was the result. Yet no irresponsible local bureaucracies were permitted to develop, for the experts were subjected to popular control through their accountability to council.

Can such a plan be termed undemocratic, autocratic, or un-American? More than one-quarter century of council-manager experience says no. Such charges are based on the fallacious assumption that to be democratic a form of government must permit the electorate to select all officers, elective and appointive alike. After all, does not democracy only require that the voters of a city retain a free and complete control over the policies of their municipal government, with the power to see that those policies are changed at any time? Under the manager plan this control is preserved more completely than under any other competing form of municipal organization, for the manager is responsible to council for the results of his administration and council is directly accountable to the electorate for the entire management of the city. Though the functions are kept separate, yet control and responsibility are concentrated in council. There is a division of labor but no division of power. Council is supreme. It alone is accountable. Is this not simple, direct, and effective?

Certainly it is more democratic than the present government of our boss-ruled cities; the cities in which the self-chosen political boss—a real dictator if ever there were one—stays in the shadows of ward politics and often holds no public office himself, but sends his orders to the city council, the mayor, and a host of other elective officials—all of whom answer to him and not to the voters; and the cities in which the boss is able to control because the city government is so complicated that the voter simply cannot tell where responsibility lies.

Compared with these other forms the council-manager plan (with the P. R. Council) is the most effective instrument of municipal government which America has yet devised and developed. It is a form of government which acts according to the will of the public.

SECTION B

THE PLAN OF ORGANIZATION

The administrative work of the city is under the jurisdiction of the city manager and is divided up among ten departments: (1) Recreation and Parks, (2) Health, (3) Medical and Social Welfare, (4) Public Safety, (5) Utilities, (6) City Property, (7) Public Works, (8) Detention and Correction, (9) Law and (10) Finance. The heads of these departments are appointed by the city manager and they are strictly accountable to him for the management of the activities.

The present charter provides for nine departments instead of ten. It would seem on the surface that adding one department is in effect complicating the government rather than improving it. Such is not the case, however, for a great deal of work which is now outside the scope of the central executive (the mayor) is brought into the regular administrative organization of the city. The Commissioners of Fairmount Park and the Board of Prison Inspectors each administer activities on a scale which makes them comparable to the existing city departments. These two agencies are abolished. The Receiver of Taxes, the Division of Children's Agents of the County Commissioners' office, the Bureau of Weights and Measures, also of the County Commissioners' office, and the assessing work of the Board of Revision of Taxes are all brought into regular departments. The Aviation Commission, the Water Commission, the correctional work of the criminal courts, court building maintenance, Convention Hall maintenance and purchasing by independent offices are of less importance, but they too are merged into the administrative organization of the city. Therefore, it is quite obvious that the new charter fuses in a co-ordinated organization many functions and duties which are now carried out more or less independently.

The Charter Commission has kept in mind one general principle which almost inevitably is lost sight of when the organization of a city government is adapted to changing times by adding something here and adding something there, or by creating a new agency to handle a new function. The principle is this: no department should have any special privileges or powers not possessed by the other departments. No department, for example, should be allowed to purchase independently of a central purchasing organization if others are reqiured to purchase only through the purchasing bureau. No department should have more or less power in the control of its personnel than any other department. And no department should be clothed with authority which enables it to thwart the expressed will of council. All departments are alike in these respects in the new charter. No department has first call on any governmental power. In the budget, in purchasing, in the control of personnel, in finance and in work programs, all of the departments are of equal stature. They all have their jobs to do under the control of the manager, without special privilege to one or another.

The Charter Commission has also kept another principle in mind which has been neglected in the past. This principle is an important one for the reason that administering a business as huge as that of Philadelphia is a difficult problem in itself—speaking only from the standpoint of the sheer magnitude of the job. The organization of the administrative work of the city should be so fashioned that the city manager need not have to buck red tape in order to get at important problems, and conversely, the organization should not, as a matter of routine, confront the manager with problems so minor in character that they do not merit his attention. Expressed another way, the functions of the city should be so grouped in departments that each department director will have about the same management task as every other department director.

In the present organization, the Department of City Architecture consists of little more than the director, his secretary and two or three employes. And yet if one turns to the Department of Public Health, one observes such an array of powers and duties, such a number of employes, and such an amount of money spent annually, that one can only conclude that here is a super-department. The Department of City Architecture is simpler than some sections of the Department of Public Health. By analogy, this is like having the foreman of janitors of a business concern reporting to the president on an equal plane with the head of all production.

On the other hand, the new charter balances work among departments. Measured in terms of personnel or expenditure, the new departments are not exactly equal in size. Those which are devoted to day-by-day routine tasks are larger than those which are continually confronted with new problems and new duties. As nearly as possible with harmony for other principles of organization, it may be said that the new organization will ease the managerial problem materially.

Succeeding divisions of this section contain in their first paragraphs the agencies, bureaus and departments whose work will comprise that of the new departments. The reader cannot but be impressed, when reading the list of predecessor offices, by the number of related activities formerly performed by many offices and now to be performed by one. To pick two examples, the function of recreation and parks has been under the Fairmount Park Commission, the Bureau of Recreation of the existing Department of Public Welfare, and the Bureau of City Property of the existing Department of Public Works. The criminal correction and penal administration has been the concern of the board of Prison Inspectors, the Bureau of Charities and Correction of the existing Department of Public Welfare, and the various criminal courts of record. Taking another example from the existing organization, one finds for example in the Department of Public Welfare recreational work by the Bureau of Recreation, criminal correction work by the Bureau of Charities and Correction and relief of the indigent by the Bureau of Personal Assistance. Certainly the department is of mixed character.

Aside from the obvious disadvantage of grouping unrelated work together, present inter-departmental relationships are unnecessarily confusing. There will be more competent administration because of rational simplification of departments in the proposed charter. A corollary advantage is that bringing like functions together means simplification also in the bureau structure of each department. The new charter establishes departments only and does not go into the business of creating bureaus. But the similarity of functions grouped in each department means that the organization of each department within itself can be simpler than formerly; the detailed structure of government flowing out of the charter will be much improved.

Boards and commissions form a curious part in the existing organization of our government. Boards and commissions have as their real excuse for being the performance of quasi-legislative, quasi-judicial or trust functions. They exist—or should exist—because points of minor policy or judicial decision must be made, and a single administrative officer cannot make them as an individual without being subject to the suspicion of capricious action, no matter how well-intentioned he may be. And yet in our city, one finds these functions of commissions mixed in with administrative duties. To have a board responsible for administrative work is to open the door to the time-worn custom of passing the buck and also to make it impossible to centralize administrative authority and responsibility.

The new charter takes administrative duties away from boards and commissions and places them under the appropriate departments. Where board or commissions are still necessary, they are attached to the proper departments and are given their quasi-legislative, quasi-judicial or trust duties to perform. But they no longer have any administrative work to do. The solution is a desirable one: the principle of administrative unity in authority and responsibility is observed, while at the same time the principle of board or commission responsibility for councillor functions is perserved.

Department of Recreation and Parks

The Department of Recreation and Parks has jurisdiction over all municipal parks and park areas and over all municipal recreational activities and facilities. It may act jointly with the School Board to establish and administer school playgrounds and recreation centers on school property. It takes over all powers and functions of the Fairmount Park Commission with the exception of the maintenance and repair of highways within parks and the employment, supervision and control of park guards. (The former activity goes to the new Department of Public Works, the latter to the new Department of Public Safety.) The new department administers the activities of the Bureau of Recreation of the existing Department of Public Welfare. It is responsible for the maintenance of city park areas now under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of City Property of the present Department of Public Works.

Attached to the Department of Recreation and Parks, and a part of it, is a Board of Recreation and Parks consisting of seven members appointed by the mayor for overlapping terms of seven years each. The members receive no salary. They are vested with certain duties of trust administration, with the power of making regulations and with the power of formulating long-range plans for the extension of recreational and park facilities. They also act in an advisory capacity to the Department of Recreation and Parks.

The merging of all municipal park and recreation activities in one department remedies a major defect of the old form of organization—viz., the scattering of a function throughout a number of city departments so that no single office is directly responsible or accountable for it. Recreation and park functions, under the existing organization, are scattered through three departments: the Fairmount Park Commission, the Bureau of Recreation of the Department of Public Welfare, and the Bureau of City Property of the Department of Public Works. In the latter two departments the function is only an incident to their major work. This triple control no doubt accounts, in great part at least, for the absence of recreational facilities in many large and densely populated areas of the city, as shown on the accompanying charts. Under the new Department of Recreation and Parks are centralized all parks and recreational acitivities. Thus one department is made exclusively responsible for this highly important local governmental function.

At this point the question naturally arises as to why we have not continued the Fairmount Park Commission. In order to answer the question, the legal status of the Commission must be explained. The Fairmount Park Commission functions under statutes passed before the present Constitution of the Commonwealth came into existence. These statutes created the Commission specifically by name, which was special legislation now expressly forbidden by the Constitution. Furthermore, the Commission was granted special powers by the Legislature. That also is now forbidden in the Constitution. The Supreme Court has held that the Commission could continue in existence in its present form because it antedates the Constitution. However, the Court warned, any attempt by the Legislature to expand the Fairmount Park Commission in any way would be unconstitutional because legislation passed since the adoption of the existing Constitution naturally must conform with it. That means that the only things that can be done legally with the Commission are either to continue it in exactly its present form or to abolish it altogether.

The following comments are pertinent in judging whether the Fairmount Park Commission should be continued in existence.

1. The park guards are really policemen. It is an anachronism for police duties to be performed in a large section of the city under separate authority and jurisdiction from the city's own police. The park police could not be attached to the city police system under the present legal status of the Fairmount Park Commission.

2. Even civil service cannot be extended to park employes and guards under the present form, thereby depriving a large number of employes of the protection and security which we have sought to bring to all employes paid from the city treasury.

3. Recreational facilities, such as playgrounds, swimming pools and the like are hopelessly divided in management and organization. It is essential that this vital function in the city's life be co-ordinated, but that cannot be done by placing them under the Commission.

4. Unquestionably, the huge capital investments of the city have been carelessly, extravagantly and unwisely made. Improvement upon this score must be based upon the formation of a strong and powerful planning board. This cannot be done under the present Fairmount Park set-up.

5. Purchasing, road building and maintenance, care of city property, etc., should be centered in the proper administrative department of the city government. So far as the Fairmount Park Commission is concerned, this cannot be done under the present form.

Since the foregoing objectives cannot be accomplished if the Fairmount Park Commission is continued, it becomes a question of whether to sacrifice the objectives in order to perpetuate the Commission, which in turn is supported not so much by reason and logic as by sentiment and tradition. Add to that the fact that there is almost an unanimous opinion among people most familiar, interested and expert in recreation and park service that the Fairmount Park Commission form of administration is inefficient, obsolete and falls of its own weight. The course to pursue is obvious.

Other functions of our city have to do with public health, welfare, public safety, transportation, care of the indigent, detention and correction, etc. It is in the bringing together of all the parts into a co-ordinated whole by the process of integration that we can have an efficient government, adequate to serve the needs of the population.

It is unthinkable that in devising such a system we should turn aside from the essence of sound administrative practices because of a vague sentiment for the provision of an archaic form of management, the Fairmount Park Commission.

The establishment of a department headed by a single director responsible to the city manager provides for centralized administrative authority and responsibility. Attaching a quasi-legislative and trust board to the department affords an opportunity for representation of private recreation and park interests in the conduct of the department. The Board of Recreation and Parks assumes the trust functions performed by the Fairmount Park Commission under the old form of organization. This will enable the city to retain many of its bequests which might otherwise elapse.

Department of Public Health

The entire range of municipal health activities is given to the proposed Department of Public Health. It is responsible for all activities of the present Bureau of Health, with the exception of the "outdoor physicians." Thus it has jurisdiction over tuberculosis and communicable disease control, child hygiene, medical inspection of public and private school children, food and milk inspection, and sanitary plumbing and nuisance control. To it is also given medical examination of city employes, an activity now carried on by the Department of Public Safety for its own employes, those of the Bureau of Mechanical Equipment, and the park guards. The Barber Shop Licensing Board is a part of the Department and will continue to function as at present.

Attached to the proposed department is the Board of Health. Its powers and duties are the same as those of the present board, but the size of the board is increased from three to five members. Three of the five must be physicians.

The director of the department must be a physician who also holds a degree in public health. He must have had at least five years' experience as health officer or assistant health officer in a governmental unit over 50,000 population.

The proposed department may be regarded as the heir to the existing Bureau of Health. New activities given it and existing ones removed from it are all minor in character and achieve a more clear-cut delineation of the work of the department. We do not believe that it is necessary for us to advance the arguments which support the idea of having all public health work in a single department, not only because we are merely endorsing a sound principle of the present charter, but also because the logic of such grouping is manifest.

Some discussion, however, should be devoted to our shifting the hospitals of the city from the Department of Public Health to the Department of Medical and Social Welfare. This discussion will be found in the following division, which treats the proposed Department of Medical and Social Welfare. At this point one factor only needs be mentioned. For many years the two bureaus in the existing Department of Public Health have functioned almost as totally unrelated agencies. On paper they have been two parts of the department; in practice they have pursued their separate ways. In fact, the Bureau of Hospitals has not even had a chief in recent years. Each hospital has been run by its staff, subject more to the control of the mayor than the director of the Department of Health.

The removal of the "outdoor physicians" from the Department of Public Health is based upon the nature of the work which these physicians perform. It is their function to furnish medical care to indigent residents of the city who are not patients in the city's hospials. In the plan of medical care of the indigent, they may be regarded as part of a three-part program; hospital care for the acutely sick, out-patients clinics for ambulatory patients, and outdoor physicians for persons ill in their own homes. It is obvious that the work of these men bears little relation to the control of communicable diseases.

Medical care of city employes, though not a part of public health work as such, is given to the proposed department because of the possibility of utilizing its health centers, decreasing the cost of the service, and making it more convenient to city employes. The placement in the health department would also be more logical should there be an extension of the service to all city employes, rather than the few mentioned in the first paragraph above.

Department of Medical and Social Welfare

The proposed Department of Medical and Social Welfare gathers together every municipal activity relating to indigent relief, no matter what particular type of relief it may be. Thus the Department will have the General Hospital and the Contagious Disease Hospital of the city, and it will administer a chronic disease hospital and if and when established. The department will have charge of the summer camp for children (Camp Happy), the Home for the Indigent, whichever of the almshouses are not closed down, the juvenile wards of the county, the outdoor physicians, and all of the remaining welfare work of the existing bureaus of Personal Assistance and Charities and Corrections.

Transfer of the city's hospitals from the Department of Public Health to this newly proposed department has been long and carefully considered by the Commission. We believe that the transfer will greatly improve the caliber of service by both of the departments. The Department of Public Health will be able to concentrate its acitivities upon one objective: improvement of public health through communicable disease control. The Department of Medical and Social Welfare will have under its jurisdiction all powers and duties relating to relief of the indigent which is, in turn, its primary purpose.

It might not seem at first hand that hospitals are a phase of public welfare. Examination, however, reveals that the General Hospital furnishes hospital care to those persons who are unable to pay for it themselves. Therefore, it may be regarded as an indigent institution as much as a medical institution. Further, operation of the General Hospital involves one factor which is rather commonly overlooked in discussing general acute hospitals. This factor is the financial and social effect of such hospitalization upon the patient. Illness of so serious a nature that hospital treatment is required causes a drain on family finances. Though treament at the General Hospital is free, the usual stoppage of income incident to hospitalization of the bread-winner of the family is in many cases the final blow which forces poor folk onto relief. Illness, just as readily as old age or unemployment, may be the contributing cause of relief status. Thus the public hospitals, which largely care for a group consisting of marginal wage earners, not only have the problem of restoring health, but also that of rehabilitation of morale. A well-rounded program of a hospital includes welfare work; a well-rounded program of welfare includes hospitalization of the indigent.

The existing disparity between the Department of Public Health on paper and the departmnet in practice—a lack of co-ordination of the bureaus of Health and Hospitals—has already been noted.

Another reason for the organization we have recommended is one of economic management. Hospitals spend a goodly portion of their money on other things than medical and nursing care. Food, room, and clothing are required in a hospital just as they are in a home for the indigent. The business administration of a hospital differs but little from the business administration of other welfare institutions. Grouping all of them together should result in real economy.

Finally, the existing health department is entirely too large when compared with the other departments of the city. The separation of hospitals from it and placing them in this new department establishes an agency unified in purpose and manageable in size.

Strictly speaking, much could be said for continuing the contagious disease hospital in the Department of Health. The contagious disease hospital accepts both pay and free patients, it being the only contagious disease institution within the city. However, it is seldom filled to anywhere near its capacity. Further, improvements in the control and treatment of communicable diseases, point in the not too distant future to the incidence of such disease on a level very much less than the present. This will, of course, even further reduce the population of the contagious hospital. As time goes on it will be possible to expand the badly overcrowded General Hospital by gradual transference of the contagious institution into an annex of it.

That supervision of dependent, neglected, delinquent and incorrigible children should be brought together under one department, rather than being scattered among three agencies, is obvious.

The present Department of Public Welfare may have been fashioned with the thought in mind that unemployment relief would constitute the major portion of its work. Transfer of this responsibility to the state government has altered the picture completely. At the present time, the existing department is little more than a miscellaneous relief agency, handling recreation and correctional work to as great an extent as public welfare.

All activities of the municipality relating to the care of the indigent are now brought together in one unit. This will aid materially in improving the treatment afforded the unfortunates of the city. Overlapping and duplication of effort is eliminated from the supervision of dependent children. The new department is homogeneous in purpose, being devoted to one objective rather than many. It is the streamlined successor to the existing Department of Public Welfare.

Department of Detention and Correction

Included in the new Department of Detention and Correction are the functions and facilities of the house of detention for women, the house of correction, the city prison, and the prison farms. Also grouped in the department are the administrative activities and probational service of the criminal courts. It will also conduct the supervision of persons on parole from its penal institutions. The department will examine and audit bills for individuals from the city incarcerated in state penal institutions, and for delinquent boys and girls committed to the reform schools.

Atached to the department is a Board of Probation and Parole, consisting of the department director ex-officio, three members appointed by the judges of Quarter Sessions Court, and three members appointed by the judges of the Municipal Court. The term of office for the six appointed members is seven years. The board inspects the institutions of the department and makes rules and regulations pertaining to the supervision by the department of persons on parole. It will submit to the court, at any hearing in the city on a petition for parole, a recommendation pertaining to the granting of the parole, based on thorough social psychiatric, medical and financial investigations by the department staff.

The decentralized administration of criminal justice is one of the major defects in the municipal organization of our city. A city prison, similar in every respect to the state penitentiaries, is operated by the Board of Prison Inspectors. A city jail is also maintained by this board. A house of correction is run by the existing Department of Public Welfare. A detention home is operated by the Municipal Court. Five probation departments are to be found in the Municipal Court and one in the Court of Quarter Sessions. Under such conditions there can be no uniformity in the treatment of malefactors; treatment given has been uneven and in a number of ways defective. Similar cases tried in the same court by different judges seemingly have been disposed of by the imposition of different punishments and by commitment to entirely different city, county, or state instituions.

There has been very little correlation and co-ordination of activities among the municipal offices that control the various detention and correctional institutions. Some of these institutions are considered dangerously overcrowded while others have more room and facilities than can be utilized at present. Some institutional employes are under civil service while others are not, and the rate of pay for identical duties varies from institution to institution. Some of these institutions do not have sufficient facilities to keep the inmates occupied and the salutary effect of occupational therapy in many cases is lost. Others of these institutions must buy in the open market large quantities of goods and materials that could be produced while fulfilling the need for occupational therapy. Thus can be made available to them under the new unified control. goods and materials for which considerable money is now spent. This is also true of repairs to buildings, plants and equipment. Large savings can be effected.

With the prison farms under the jurisdiction of the Department of Detention and Correction, short-term offenders can be employed thereon, especially those who have no trade training useful in prison industries. It is generally known that agricultural work is of great therapeutic value in the general mental and physical rehabilitation of misdemeanants. Also, further savings in the cost of institutional food supplies can be made. Under the new form of organization, the adult criminal detention and correctional activities will be correlated and co-ordinated. Being placed in one department they should provide for uniform treatment of persons convicted of similar offenses. Centralization of probationary service in this same department should promote uniformity of probationary supervision. Untried prisoners may be separated from those sentenced after conviction; first termers from repeaters.

A more thorough study of each individual case—an extension of the sociological type of judicial analysis now being used extensively in many sections of the country and being used to a considerable extent by the Municipal Court in Philadelphia—will now be possible under the new Department of Detention and Correction. Because of this, personalized treatment can thereby be given and many unfortunates so refitted as to be returned to society as worthy and useful members.

A centralized case record file, needed for the competent treatment discussed above, will be kept in the office of the director. Each record will include medical, psychiatric, and sociological histories of the delinquent. Much of the investigation work now performed separately by the criminal courts, which is consequently a duplication of effort, will thereby be eliminated. Under the existing organization the courts might have past records of the same prisoner or each of them might have only certain parts of the past record, which parts need to be assembled to form a complete case history when the prisoner is tried again for a new offense.

In our proposal the day-by-day administration of all types of penal treatment is separated from the courts. For one hundred forty-five years such has been the case with the prisons themselves, the most important type of penal treatment. That there must be a close working relationship between the judges of the criminal courts and the new Department of Detention and Correction the Charter Commission well realizes. It is for this reason that the Board of Probation and Parole, with the exception of one member, is selected by the criminal judiciary. The board, after a review of the social, psychiatric, medical, and financial records of the department, will recommend paroles to the judges. It also serves as a liaison between the department and the courts.

Department of Public Safety

The powers and functions of the proposed Department of Public Safety are practically the same as those of the existing department—police, fire, and safety inspection. However, the department gains the public safety function of the Fairmount Park Commission (the park guards), the Department of Public Works (the highway patrol), and the County Commisioners (the Bureau of Weights and Measures). It loses the non-public safety functions of the old Electrical Bureau, most of the work of the bureau being transferred to the new Department of City Property. Maintenance of the police and fire communication systems, however, is retained in the Department of Public Safety.

Transfer of Park Guards

The park guards are transfered to this department because of the fact that park policing is essentially a police function, though a specialized one. The Commission recognizes that the policing of park areas requires a special type of police activity somewhat different from ordinary patrolling. But in its use of a special technique it does not differ from much other police work—detective work, traffic control, traffic engineering, harbor patrolling, etc. Of course, the park guard must know how to control "drunk rolling" and sex offenses, both of which are special problems of policing parks, and he must be able to row a boat and swim if he is to patrol the water areas effectively. But, after all, a police department must employ many specialized techniques if it is to achieve effective administration. Park policing is only one of these. Through all these specialized techniques as through the regular police functions runs the common element of protection to persons and property. In this they are all alike, and to provide for their administration by other than unified authorty is to invite uncorrelated administration.

The policing of the very small park areas will be combined with the patrolling of adjacent non-park areas. The maintenance of the parks will be under the jurisdiction of the Department of Recreation and Parks. The policing of the entire area will be in the hands of the police. Specialization of function should produce economy and efficiency of operation.

The transfer of the park guarts to the Bureau of Police as a division thereof has the great advantage of placing the park police under civil service—a protection they do not have and cannot have under the existing form of municipal organization.

Transfer of Highway Patrol

The highway patrol is transfererd to the Department of Public Safety because its work of checking upon the weights of loaded vehicles is a policing activity. The transfer is another step in the centralization of all police activities in the Department of Public Safety. In final analysis, of course, the work of the highway patrol is a state function. The Motor Police, however, are active only upon state highways. Within the city limits all streets which are not state highways must be protected by a municipal agency from the too rapid deterioration which results from overloading. This supervisory activity, requiring close and thorough surveillance, is best performed by an agency which has a force of men covering the city for similar purposes.

Transfer of Bureau of Weights and Measures

As a further step in the centralization of all police activites in the Department of Public Safety, the Bureau of Weights and Measures is placed therein. Its work again is a police function; a specialized one, it is true, but nevertheless fundamentally police work. No valid reason has been found for continuing it in solitary isolation under the County Commissioners. The experience of other cities which place weights and measures in the police department has been good. These cities have found that the arrangement is an improvement over the old one and that it works excellently.

Traffic Engineering

Traffic engineering is retained in the Department of Public Safety. The traffic problem, when considered from a control viewpoint, urgently needs immediate solution. It is therefore important that the agency in charge of traffic control should also be in charge of traffic engineering.

Department of Public Utilities

Jurisdiction over all the municipal utilities owned, controlled, or operated by the city—the waterworks, the gas works, harbor facilities, transit and airport facilities, etc.—is given to this new Department of Public Utilities. In it are merged the activities of the Bureau of Water, the mayor's Water Commission, the Department of City Transit, the Department of Wharves, Docks and Ferries, the Bureau of Lighting and Gas (except street and alley lighting), and the municipal airport. These bureaus, departments, commissions and offices cease to exist as separate identities. The Gas Commission, created under the terms of the gas works lease, necessarily is continued.

The Department of City Transit and the Department of Wharves, Docks and Ferries are so small when compared with the other departments that they do not warrant separate status. They are grouped together in the new department.

A separate department of utilities is established because of the fundamental similarity in utility problems, whether the utility be municipally owned and operated, municipally owned and privately operated, or privately owned and operated. Regardless of the particular type of utility, the broad problems of regulation, control, and policy are the same. This grouping is implicitly recognized in the jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Commission of the State.

The establishment of a Department of Public Utilities provides an opportunity for the selection of a department director well trained in public utility operation, management, and supervision—one who can not only advise on policies but who can administer them as well.

The department is authorized to enter into rarangements with adjacent municipalities and counties to furnish them with water from the city water system.

Department of City Property

To this new Department of City Property is given all general property maintenance other than that of a specialized nature. To it also is given the jurisdiction now exercised by the Department of City Architecture over the constructon and erection of new buildings paid for out of the city treasury. In this department are consolidated the functions of the bureaus of City Property and Mechanical Equipment of the Department of Public Works, the non-public safety functions of the Electrical Bureau of the Department of Public Safety, the administration and maintenance of the commercial museum, exhibition and convention halls, the janitorial services of all city and county offices and buildings (formerly performed separately by each office) and the supervisory functions of the Department of City Architecture.

The wisdom and practicability of centralizing in this new Department of City Property all construction, maintenance and repair work of city service property appears to be beyond question from the standpoints of competent service and lower costs. Under the old form of organization 175 janitors (and janitresses) and 360 cleaners (and helpers) are under the jurisdiction of 32 separate offices. In City Hall proper, for example, there are 65 janitors, 17 janitresses, 79 cleaners, and 2 helpers, a total of 163 employes working for no less than 16 separate offices. Is this not a flagrant waste of the city's money? The situation in respect to repair and maintenance of city buildings is almost as bad.

The Electrical Bureau's functions which pertain to the repair and maintenance of city equipment are merged with those of the present bureaus of Mechanical Equipment and City Property of the Department of Public Works so as to centralize in the new department all functions pertaining to general property maintenance, repair and construction.

The Department of City Architecture under the old form of municipal organization is very small, smaller even than a section of a division of a bureau in other city departments. Because of this fact and because there appears to be no justification for its continued existence as a separate department, its supervisory functions are transferred to this new Department of City Property. The City Architect is chief of the Bureau of Architecture in the new department.

Department of Public Works

The Department of Public Works is responsible for the construction, maintenance, and cleaning of the streets, alleys, and the sewer system. The functions of the Bureau of Street Cleaning, the Bureau of Highways, the Board of Highway Supervisors, the Bureau of Engineering, Surveys and Zoning, and the Board of Surveyors, together with the street lighting work of the Bureau of Lighting and Gas, are continued in this department. To these functions are added the construction, maintenance, and repair of park highways, and ice breaking and dredging.

Under the existing form of municipal organization the Department of Public Works is a super-department in that in size it overshadows all other departments of the city. Under the new plan, however, the department is whittled down to reasonable proportions by removing the bureaus of City Property, Mechanical Equipment, and Water from it.

The activities of the bureaus of City Property and Mechanical equipment are practically unrelated to the other duties of the Department of Public Works. This is still another reason for their shift from this department and their merger with activities to which they are allied in the Department of City Property.

The Department of Public Works retains, except for the functions mentioned above, almost all its old duties and activities. Thus except for the transfer of these three bureaus it remains practically unchanged. The addition of the park highway construction and maintenance to this department does not actually add a new function; for highways, regardless of where they run, and the construction and maintenance of them the same regardless of whether they are located in parks or throughout the city. They are entirely unrelated to park and recreational activities. Dredging and ice breaking are placed in this department rather than the Department of Public Utilities because they are essentially public works operating activities.

Department of Law

In addition to the regular legal work performed for the city—furnishing legal advice to the mayor, the council and the various city departments, defending the interest of the city, prosecuting violations of ordinances, filing tax liens, prosecuting delinquent accounts, preparing city bonds and contracts, etc.—the new Department of Law is now responsible for all the legal work of all city and county offices except the District Attorney, the courts, and at times the Civil Service Commission and the Controller.

Centralization of all the municipality's law functions, ministerial and counsellor, in one department makes possible more competent and less expensive administration of them. In fact it is only through such a single centralized Law office that the preparation of routine legal document the prosecution of municipal ordinance violations and the performance of legal duties in city litigation cases can be executed competently and economically. The specialized technical legal council needed by the county offices will be provided by the central law office.

Department of Finance

The Department of Finance is a new department. It assists the city manager in the preparation of the budget. It controls budgetary expenditures by making monthly allocations of the departmental appropriations. Within these allocations each department must stay, unless a change is approved by the budget director, the chief of the budget bureau in the department. Transfers among items are prohibited. Appropriations must be used to accomplish the purpose for which they were made. Any unexpended or unneeded balances, however, may be placed in a special fund, upon certification by the budget director that the purpose has been accomplished. The Department of Finance is responsible for the assessment and collection of taxes and for the collection of all other money due the city or county (rents, sales, permits, licenses, fees, court costs, fines, etc.). It is also the central purchasing agent of the city and county.

This new Department of Finance is responsible for the activities of the old Department of Supplies and Purchases, the administrative work of the Board of Revision of Taxes, the functions of the Receiver of Taxes, the duties of the mayor's budget clerk asd the activities of the Treasurer and many other city and county offices pertaining to the collection of fees, fines, licenses, and permits. Detailed discussion of the financial features of the charter is contained in Section E. A summary follows below.

Collections

All collections may be centralized in the Department of Finance under the new form of governmental organization. From the administrative standpoint this is economical of both time and money. From the viewpoint of the general public it is especially convenient, for all bills whether they be taxes, licenses, fees or fines will be paid to one agency.

Budget

Budgetary compilation and control are extremely important in the maintenance of a sound municipal structure. Under the old form of organization they are performed by a clerk in the Mayor's office: under the new, they are executed by a Budget Bureau in the Department of Finance, and, thereby, are assigned a status in keeping with their importance.

Assessments

A Bureau of Assessments is created in this department because the assessment of taxes is one phase of the financial management of the city. In this office there is placed the assessing work of the old Board of Revision of Taxes, which is abolished.

Supplies and Purchases

The Department of Supplies and Purchases becomes a bureau in the Department of Finance under the new form of organization; but the jurisdiction of this bureau is broader than that of the department which it replaces.

Through it must be purchased all articles and materials paid for from the city treasury, whether the office doing the purchasing be city or county. That centralized purchasing is sound for all municipal offices, city and county alike, must necessarily follow if it is conceded that it is sound for part of them. There is no reason to have some offices and agencies buying through the central purchasing agency while others make their purchases independently.

Purchasing is a specialized technique requiring, if the work is to be performed efficiently and economically, a number of expert buyers, inspectors, and laboratory technicians. It was asserted that this function warranted a separate organization, especially as such an agency, independent of the Department of Finance, would prevent undue stressing of the record keeping and financial aspects of purchasing to the detriment of purchasing technique and knowledge. While we grant some merit to this contention, yet a thorough examination of actual practices in other cities leads us to believe that the advantages of placing the central purchasing agent in the Department of Finance far outweigh the possible disadvantages cited above.

The advantages of having the bureau of purchasing in the department of finance are four-fold: (1) appropriation accounts can be encumbered quickly and easily without duplicate bookkeeping; (2) payments of bills being speeded up, the city can take advantages of cash discounts; (3) many duplicate records are eliminated; (4) the inventory records are tied in as a part of the financial records of the city.

Payroll

The payment of all city-county employes by check will serve the best interest of the employes, for no "donations" can be extracted from their pay envelopes.

Department of Treasurer

The powers and fiunctions of the Treasurer remain unchanged—fund custody and disbursement. The employes of his office, however, are placed under the classified civil service; his purchases must be made through the centralized purchasing agency (the Bureau of Purchasing in the Department of Finance); and his office comes under the budget and appropriation powers of council. His office, his term of office, and his election remain unchanged.

Department of Controller

The Controller, under the new form of departmental organization, is in charge of a department with functions similar to the old one, but with extended powers and duties. His new department prescribes the forms of the various accounts, maintains the master accounting records, conducts pre and post audits, keeps the city's books, which are to be run on an encumbrance basis (i.e., entries made when expenses are incurred not later when bills are paid), approves all purchase specifications before bids are accepted, and inspects deliveries to see that they meet with the standards set, that they are stored properly. No purchase order and no contract or lease is valid without the Controller's certification of encumbrance entry.

The employes of the Controller are under the classified civil service. The materials, supplies and equipment needed by his office must all come through the Bureau of Purchasing in the Department of Finance. His office is under the budgetary and appropriation powers of council.

The Controller is given full authority to audit effectively and to standardize the financial records. The latter will insure uniform accounting. This should bring about considerable savings in a number of departments.

As the books of the municipality are to be kept on an encumbrance basis, a closer control can be kept on expenditures charged against appropriation items. The records will reflect the up-to-date status of these various budget details, because the postings will be made from purchase orders rather than from audited vouchers. The overencumbrance of appropriation items is thereby eliminated, and there will be no undelivered but ordered purchases that are not entered on the appropriation ledgers.

Both the chief of the Bureau of Purchasing in the Department of Finance and the Controller check on the quality and quantity of all municipal purchases and supplies and on specifications of goods before the bids are taken. This double check should insure the economical purchase of high-grade articles, materials and supplies, and should insure full value on all goods purchased.

Board of Commerce and Industry

The Board of Commerce and Industry, which is a new agency, has jurisdiction over exhibitions and conventions, over the foreign trade bureau, over the promotion of the port and the airport; over all commercial and industrial promotion. It is the city's representative in rate cases before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The six members of this board, appointed by the mayor for four-year coincident terms, receive no compensation for their services. They leave office with the outgoing mayor, who during his term of office, is their chairman ex-officio.

Commercial and industrial promotion is one of the functions of the municipality which has suffered most from being divided among several agencies. The Department of Wharves, Docks and Ferries disseminates information relative to the advantages of Philadelphia as a port. The Aviation Commission promotes air traffic (passenger and freight), and has jurisdiction over the airport. The Board of Trustees of the Commercial Museum, Exhibition and Convention Halls fosters foreign trade and promotes industrial exhibitions and conventions of all sorts. The Foreign Trade Bureau of the Commercial Museum aids in the expansion of the South American trade. The mayor is active in his attempts to assist in these commercial and industrial promotion activities.

Under the new form of municipal organization all of the above promotional functions are brought together under one board which is appointed by the mayor—the city official who, because he is the chief of the municipality, is most concerned with these activities. Though this placing of administrative work in the hands of the mayor is an exception to the general principle of centralized authority, yet this exception has been made advisedly. The board's work is related most intimately to the general economic welfare of the city. It should not be thought of as an administrative service at all, but as a municipal function the economic and promotional aspects of which have a significance in no way measured by their costs. For example, the board should work most vigorously to eliminate inequalities in present freight rates wich discriminate against our cities of the first class.

Ths Board of Commerce and Industry is a single-purpose board: it concentrates entirely on the furtherance of commercial and industrial development. In it all these activities are merged, and to the single purpose of development it is devoted. There is no division of authority in the administration of these promotional activities under this new set-up. Neither are there unrelated activities in the office.

This bringing together, in one board, of all municipal activities relating to official business publicity, to the formulaton of publicity policies, to the co-operation of governmental offices with private and public agencies, and to the furtherance of trade beneficial to the city appears to be in accordance with the trend; for in many American cities today such promotional and developmental activities are separated from the every-day routine activities of the regular municipal offices. In New York, Boston and New Orleans, for example, special boards are entrusted with the development of new business, the working out of co-operative plans with state and federal agencies, the development of desirable shipping and freight rates, and similar activities pertaining to the growth of the city. Such centralization provides co-ordination and single responsibility. A closer co-operation between such a board and the private organizations interested in the commercial and industrial growth of the city has been experienced in the municipalities which have adopted this plan.

County Commissioners

The County Commissioners are responsible for the entire election procedure. They are both the registration and election authority, the registration Commission being abolised. The County Commissioners are no longer burdened with the duties of the Bureau of Weights and Measures and of the Division of Children's Agents. Neither do they perform the functions of fiscal agent for the courts and other county agencies.

The reasons for the transfer of the Division of Children's Agents to the new Department of Medical and Social Welfare are given in the comments pertaining to that department. In the discussion on Public Safety may be found the arguments for the transfer on the Bureau of Weights and Measures from the County Commissioners to the Department of Public Safety.

With the new organizational set-up there is no longer any need for the County Commissioners to act as fiscal agents for the courts. The financial work is centralized in the controller.

The County Commissioners are made the sole local election authority; all registration and election functions being unified under their jurisdiction. The structure of the local governmental organization is simplified by this merger of separate offices which in reality perform one continuous function. In all other counties of the state, except those of the first and second class, the County Commissioners are now responsible for the entire election process—both registration and election activities. By unifying and consolidating the above activities in one agency, much confusion and delay should be eliminated; for these inconveniences to the electors probably are inherent in a set-up which has one officer responsible for the registration of voters and another accountable for their actual voting.

The County Commissioners' office will thus be a unified one devoted only to a single purpose—the administration of the entire election procedure from the registration of voters to the certification of local election results.

County Offices

The county offices—the Board of Jurors, the Clerk of Quarter Sessions, the Constable, the Coroner, the District Attorney, the Prothonotary, the Recorder of Deeds, the Register of Wills, and the Sheriff—remain unchanged except that they are placed under civil service as discussed in Section C, Civil Service, and are subject to budgetary and purchasing control as outlined in Section E, Finance. All of the above offices, except the Board of Jurors, are established in the constitution. Because of this they cannot be abolished without a constitutional amendment even if it were considered wise to do so. No change has been made in the duties of these county agencies in order to avoid scrupulously any possible contention that constitutional duties have been tampered with.

Courts

The courts—Magistrates, Municipal, Orphans, Common Pleas, Oyer and Terminer, General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sesions of the Peace—remain as at present with one exception: from the Municipal Court and the Clerk of Quarter Sessions are removed the activities dealing with the administration of penal treatment as contrasted with the determination of criminal justice. From the Municipal Court, for instance, is withdrawn the medical department, the statistical and accounting offices, the House of Detention for Women and the several probation departments except those dealing with family affairs and juveniles. These functions have been removed from the Municipal Court because we believe that they will be more adequately performed under the control of a single responsible executive. Under the old form of organization as far as we have been able to determine, that portion of the administration of penal treatment which has been the responsibility of the Municipal Court has in actual practice suffered because of the lack of centralized administrative authority. Of course, such authority rests in the Board of Judges of this court, but it is only natural that the board should spend its time upon actual court work rather than upon auxiliary administrative details. On the other hand, the State Parole Service in cooperation with the Board of Pardons has made a name for itself. It has an unusually fine record. The state pattern is similar to that proposed for the new charter—centralization in one department. The indications are that a central force is better than close co-operation between the various courts.

The courts' employes, as for other county offices, are placed under civil service, and the courts' expenses payable out of the city treasury are subject to the budgetary control of council. Purchases must be made through the central purchasing agency.

Other Agencies

The Board of Trustees of the Free Library is continued in its present form, retaining all its powers and duties and functions. Though a change might have been deemed wise, yet any alteration in the status or the control of the library would have been effectively prevented by legal barriers—the titles to the various properties owned by the library, and the trust agreements entered into in the past when considerable property was given to it.

The Board of City Trusts also remains unchanged in powers, duties, functions, and appointing authority. That there should be but one agency administering the general trusts of the city is to us a sound principle. That the board members should view the interests of the city as the predominating criterion in the management of the affairs of the Board is also sound, we believe. It is for this reason that the terms of office of new board members are limited to five years and immediate reappointements are prohibited. It is for the same reason—the desire for a board with a city-wide viewpoint—that the mayor and the city manager are ex-officio voting members. A former member of the Board of City Trusts may be appointed for a second term of office whenever a new vacancy occurs.

The Sinking Fund Board and the Pension Board retain their present organization, functions, powers and duties. They were left untouched because they appear to be functioning adequately under the present system.

Transfer to State

The transfer to the State of the Hospital for Mental Diseases, the Institution for Feeble Minded and the County Prison is hereby recommended because they are similar in every way to corresponding state institutions.

The two institutions at Byberry for the mentally incompetent are specialized indigent institutions performing services in exactly the same field as the strictly comparable state institutions. In both the municipal and the state institutions are specialized techniques required for efficient operation. It is in the latter, however, that the techniques are more likely to be found. State-wide administration makes possible an institutional specialization by types of patients and phases of treatment that cannot be duplicated by the municipality. Under no interpretation of theory or practice can the administration and the maintenance of the Hospital for Mental Diseases and the Institution for Feeble Minded be designated as proper functions of local government.*

The County Prison (Holmesburg) is not a prison but is a pentitentiary comparable in all respects to the penitentiaries operated by and under the control of the state. The type of prisoner is the same as that found in the state penal institutions, and is different from the kind located in the city jails. The County Prison should be transferred to the state so that all penal treatment on the penitentiary level will be administered by the one unit of government in Pennsylvania most competent to do so efficiently.

* Since this was written the institutions have actually been transferred to the state by legislative act.

SECTION C

CIVIL SERVICE

The civil service provisions in the proposed charter and ancillary bills continue the objective of existing law: the abolition of political preferment as the basis of hiring city employes through the substitution of merit and competency in place of political patronage. They enlarge upon that principle and perfect the means of securing it. And in addition, the new law advances from the position of eliminating politics from the service to the more positive principle that civil service must act primarily as an instrument for the improvement of personnel in a positive direction.

As important as the content of the law is the extension of its scope. Through an ancillary county bill civil service is extended to all county offices and to the courts. That such extension is one of the crying needs of Philadelphia, no one can deny. We cannot emphasize too strongly the evils of political patronage. The county offices are steeped in it. Their employes are selected not on merit but on pull. Some clerks sign their names to the payroll with an X; other county employes appear on payday only—almost incredible situations, of which these are examples, abound in the county offices.

That the county offices cost the public more money than they should, and that the quality of their services is inferior, are patent. No other results can flow from political patronage. Equally true, however, though not so obvious, is the effect of political patronage running rife in the party organizations themselves. Committeemen only too often are persons with no other motive than jobs for themselves. Their party posts mean their jobs, so they work continually to keep them. Where such is the reward of party work, the caliber of persons doing such work is bound to be inferior. Cutting the connection between the party and the job inevitably leads to higher type committeemen, and therefore to finer party organizations.

Provisions of the new law as perfected are many and varied. They are first presented, and then are followed by an exposition of their pros and cons.

Provisions of the New Law

The Civil Service Commission

The internal structure of the old Civil Service agency has been reorganized by separating the quasi-judicial and quasi-legislative aspects of civil service management from the administrative personnel work. In the new Department of Civil Service the Civil Service Commission is solely a policy-determining and complaint-adjusting body. The administrative work of the department is placed in the hands of a Personnel Director. The two distinct types of work are thereby segregated. The Commission is appointed by council in a manner insuring minority representation.

The work of the new Civil Service Commission accordingly differs from that of the old one. The nature of its task is three-fold; first, the determination of policy; second, the ascertainment of facts, and third, the adjudication of appeals. For the Department of Civil Service it functions as a policy-determining body in that after public hearings it promulgates rules for the administration of the civil service, and approves with or without modification the employe classification plan submitted to it jointly by the personnel director and the city manager.

For matters pertaining to the civil service it is not only a legislative body, but it is also a fact-finding organization. It investigates alleged violations of the civil service law. It secures the testimony of witnesses and the production of records. It examines the manner in which the civil service act is enforced and it transmits its findings to council and the city manager.

Finally it is a quasi-judicial body adjudicating the appeals of the employes from adverse civil service decisions of the administrative authorities. In matters of demotion, reduction in pay, suspension, or dismissal from the service, its findings and judgments are binding upon the administrators of the municipal service. Through these three means then—policy determination, fact-finding, and adjudication—the Civil Service Commission regulates the administration of the civil service.

The commission is composed of three members elected by viva voce proportional representation vote of council in order to secure minority representation. The commissions term of office is coincident with council's and its members may be removed for cause by a two-thirds vote of council. Persons holding public or political office are not eligible for membership on the commission. Each commissioner is to be paid an annual salary of $2,000, the chairman is to receive $500 more. The commissioners will not devote their full time to this work.

Personnel Director

The administrative work of civil service is no longer a responsibility of the Civil Service Commission. In direct charge of the department is a single administrator—the Personnel Director—who is appointed by the city manager from among the three individuals certified by the Civil Service Commission as being highest on an employment list for the position. The personnel director appoints, in accordance with civil service regulations, the employes of his department. He administers the rules of the Civil Service Commission and acts as its secretary. He prepares classification plans for submission to the commission, and compensation plans for submission to council, both with the approval of the manager. He is responsible for the examination, grading and certification of applicants for employment in the city service, for the maintenance of individual employe records, for the certification of payrolls, for the administration of an in-service rating system, and for the conduct of an in-service training program. He certifies for a vacancy the names of the three highest available candidates on a re-employment list, or if there is no re-employment list, the names of the three highest available candidates on the employment list. If the re-employment list contains less than three names, the personnel director obtains the additional names from the top of the employment list. The appointing authority must choose one of the three candidates so certified.

The Civil Service

Competitive examinations are held for all municipal positions, city and county alike, except those of a policy-forming, confidential or emergency nature. Of course, present civil service employes are continued in office under the new charter and existing non-civil service employes may become civil service employes after passing special non-competitive qualifying examinations. Included in the policy-determining, confidential, and emergency groups are the city manger, the department directors except the personnel director, the various appointive board members, contract services, emergency policemen and firemen (a 30-day limit applies to these emergency public safety employes), special inquiry personnel (if any), the clerk of council, the first assistant city solicitor, and one employe each of the manager and the mayor. All other positions are in the classified service and are subject to competitive examinations. The range of statutory exemptions "at the top" is almost cut in half in comparison with the present charter.

All civil service employes dismissed for lack of work are placed on a re-employment list, while all those dismissed for other reasons have the right of appeal to the Commission. When appearing before the Civil Service Commission they may be heard in their own defense and need not appear with counsel, though they may do so if they so desire. In its hearings the Commission is not required to follow the established rules of evidence or of court procedure, but only to determine the merits of the case from all available evidence. This right of appeal also applies to demotions, reductions in pay and suspensions. Under the existing provisions the right to be placed on the re-employment list or the right to be heard by the Civil Service Commission extends only to policemen and firemen; under the new, it applies to all in the civil service.

Another new provision permits taxpayers to bring suit to compel the observance of the civil service law. Charges against any employe in the classified service may be filed before the Commission by any citizen or taxpayer, and the employe's removal may be requested on the ground of violation of the civil service provisions of the charter. Under the old charter provisions taxpayers can bring action only in the case of illegal employment of policemen or firemen; under the new, any citizen may bring action in the case of any employe.

Everyone Under the Civil Service

The civil service is extended to all agencies the employes of which are paid from the city treasury. Under the old form of organization only the city workers are subject to civil service regulations; under the new, the employes of the Sheriff, the Controller, the Treasurer, the Register of Wills, the Recorder of Deeds, the County Commissioners, the District Attorney, the Coroner, the Prothonotary, the Clerk of Quarter Sessions and the Courts, as well as those of the city departments, are afforded the protection of the merit system. The new Department of Civil Service, therefore, has jurisdiction over a far greater number of employes than does the present Civil Service Commission.

Other Important Changes

The enlarged powers and duties of the new Department of Civil Service relate to appointment, demotion, suspension and dismissal procedure; to employe classification and employe compensation plans; to service ratings, transfers and promotions; to in-service training programs; and to the observance of the spirit of the civil service law.

In the new charter the provisions of the present charter pertaining to fire and police appointment and dismissal procedure are expanded to cover suspensions and demontions as well, and are applied to all city and county offices. The department provides re-employment as well as employment lists, the former list to contain the names of employes who without "fault or delinquency on their part, have been separated from the service" (i.e., employes dismissed for lack of work), and who are therefore to be given first chance when an available vacancy occurs.

The Commission must provide rules to indicate what shall constitute good cause for suspension and must keep a record of reasons given for dismissal or demotion of each employe so separated from the service of the city or so reduced in rank. Furthermore it investigates irregularities in any of these procedures. In such wise are the powers and duties pertaining to appointment, demotion, suspension and dismissal procedure expanded.

In a like manner are the department's powers and duties concerning employe classification and employe compensation plans enlarged. A classification plan must be established within 15 months after the appointment of the personnel director. A compensation plan must be submitted to council shortly after the establishment of the classification plan, and council must adopt the plan with or without modification within three months after receiving it. Under the new Department of Civil Service, therefore, the establishment of these two plans is compulsory.

The establishment of standards of performance and the creation and maintenance of service rating indexes are another group of powers and duties of this department which are transferred from the "may" to the "must" category. The department must prepare a uniform system of service ratings for each class of position; it must set up standards of performance; it must establish and maintain card indexes containing the above and other pertinent information regarding each municipal employe; and it must regulate promotions or demotions, increases or decreases in rate of pay, transfers, suspensions and dismissals in accordance with the records so established. Thus its powers and duties relating to service ratings, transfers and promotions have been enlarged.

In-service training is a new function that is given to the Department of Civil Service. The old Civil Service Commission conducted no systematic in-service training program. The new department must plan and conduct, in co-operation with the adminisrative departments, employe training classes aimed at improving the quality of the services rendered to the public by these departments.

Provisional appointments are allowed only under severely restricted conditions. Exemptions other than those specifically stated in the law are not allowed at all. Temporary appointments may be made for a period of not more than 90 days and may not be renewed more than once. Emergency employes may be appointed for a period of only 10 days and may not be reappointed. Payrolls must be certified by the personnel director before they can be paid. The provisions for bidding the levying of political assessments and political activity of municipal employes are greatly strengthened.

Discussion of Changes Proposed

With experience under the present law to guide us, we have developed and extended the civil service so that it will be workable from an administrative standpoint and yet will be a powerful barrier against politics.

The shift from a Civil Service Commission to a Department of Civil Service constituted in the manner explained is in line with modern trends in civil service administration throughout the United States. The most noteworthy feature of the proposed law is the separation of the actual day-by-day administration of personnel work from its quasi-legislative and quasi-judicial aspects, through the provision of a Personnel Director appointed by the City Manager for the first job, and a Civil Service Commission for the latter two. The separation follows the principle of centralizing administrative authority and responsibility—a principle which we have scrupulously and consistently observed in constructing the new charter.

Civil Service Commission

The Commission is given the quasi-legislative power to make and amend rules. This conforms with actual practice in most cities and states. Among the jurisdictions in which the commission is given this power are the cities of Baltimore, Chicago, Cincinnati, Detroit, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, St. Louis, San Francisco and Toledo, and the States of California, Colorado, Illinois, Maine, Michigan, New Jersey and Ohio.

The same governmental units give the commission investigatory and adjudicatory powers. That such a body should perform these functions is, we believe, not seriously open to question. In no other way can a civil service fair and equitable to employer and employe alike be assured.

"Election" of the Commission by a proportional representation vote of Council assures minority representation. All of the advantages accuring to council's own election by this system of voting in turn accrue to the Commission. They are found in detail in Section A, and therefore are not repeated here.

Relations of the Commission and the Personnel Director

The separation of the quasi-judicial and quasi-legislative functions from administration and the placing of the latter under the control of a single individual, the personnel director, who is directly responsible to the city manager, provides centralization of authority and consequently a more efficient administration of the civil service. The enforcement of rules and regulations is distinctly a task for a single administrator. On the other hand, a multi-member board is better suited to perform functions such as the adoption of rules and regulations, because these call for the inter-play of minds and the inter-action of personalities.

It is also true a civil service authority out of sympathy with the administrative head of the city can greatly cripple the administrator in the performance of his duties in time of normal employment and normal turnover of municipal employes. The new provisions permit a situation impossible under the existing arrangement: a personnel carrying out the administrative philosophy of the chief executive, and a commission seeing to it that that philosophy is not bent in the direction of political partisanship.

The combination of a multi-member board for the determination of policy and the exercise of the necessary judicial functions and a Personnel Director for the administration of the department appears to meet the needs of personnel administration better than any arrangement yet devised.

Personnel Director

Under the new set-up the personnel director may be regarded as the personnel assistant of the city manager, aiding him in the selection and management of employes. As a department head, the personnel director is on the same administrative level as the other directors. Only in the matter of his status does he differ from them. They are not protected by civil service; he is. In his selection the city manager is limited to a choice of one of three persons certified by the Civil Service Commission as being highest in the examination for the position. The personnel director therefore is a civil service employe and can be removed from office only in the manner provided for in the civil service article of the new charter. This arrangement, we believe, will reinforce the office materially and will also prevent it from being used for political purposes.

Present provisions permit the certification of only two names for a position; the new permits three. This follows the practice in most cities and states. Among the jurisdictions permitting the certification of the three highest names are to be found the cities of Cincinnati, Milwaukee, New York, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Toledo, and the States of Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, Tennessee and Wisconsin. The provision is a common one because it allows the appointing authority appropriate freedom to select on the basis of intangible qualifications and limitations not measuable by examination.

The Civil Service

Of the 15,500 employes now under civil service, almost 2,500 have been exempted from classified (examination) status either by the law itself or by the Commission's granting of temporary exemption. This power of the Commission has been, we believe, abused. Temporary exemptions are granted for one year only for positions "the filling of which . . . (by) competitive examinations (is) impracticable." But the exemptions are renewed year after year after year. And they are for such positions as printer, laundryman, chauffeur, cook, nurse, and typist! The proposed charter prohibits temporary exemptions.

At the top of each department, the present charter exempts the director and the assistant director, and the director's secretary. Such exemption is both unnecessary and unwise. The proposed charter exempts the director only. The assistant director will become a career man, somewhat resembling the permanent undersecretaries in Great Britain's splendid civil service.

Both citizens and municipal employes are afforded better protection under the civil service provisions of the new charter than under those of the present. Municipal employes receive greater protection through the covering in of present employes and through the extension to all in the classified group of the right to be heard before a trial board in case of dismissal or demotion. Citizens receive greater protection by being afforded the right to institute suit to restrain the payment of money to a municipal employe who has violated the civil service law and to compel his dismissal.

The new charter, by giving all classified employes the right to be heard in their own defense before the Civil Service Commission and by making decisions of the Civil Service Commission binding upon the appointing authority, affords employes protection from arbitrary and unjust disciplinary action by the appointing authority—a greater degree of protection than under any other method yet used in this country. In recent years the trend has been unmistakably in this direction. The reason for this is that both employes and appointing authorities, as well as the general public, favor it. For the employe it is simpler, less expensive and more expeditious than resorting to the courts for redress. The employe need not be represented by counsel, for the Commission is only to seek all information and evidence relating to the case and shall not be required to follow established rules of evidence or court procedure. The appointing authorities favor it, because in the vast majority of cases their charges have been true and have been sustained by the trial board, and because it has tended to strengthen discipline. The trial board naturally protects only those employes who have been unfairly dealt with. The general public favors it because it is less expensive and because it makes for an efficient and stable civil service.

Greater protection also is afforded the taxpayers in the proposed charter. The present charter permits the intervention of taxpayers only in case of illegal employment of a fireman or a policeman; the new permits the institution of a taxpayer's suit in any violation of the civil service law by any member of the civil service. Legal provisions permitting the intervention of citizens and taxpayers in behalf of the observance of the civil service law greatly facilitate its enforcement. Public opinion can play an especially effective part in the maintenance of a good civil service when given an opportunity. The trend in the United States is in the direction of permitting such an opportunity. Among the jurisdictions which have such provisions are the cities of Cincinnati, Minneapolis, New York and Toledo, and the States of Arkansas, California, Colorado, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Expanded Civil Service

Employes under civil service at the present time will so continue under the improved law.

An ancillary bill by enlarging the jurisdiction of the personnel authority provides civil service protection, with but minor exceptions, for all county as well as city employes. Under present law 3,808 of the 19,352 officers and employes on the city-county payroll on July 31, 1937, were not under the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission. These 3,808 court officers, prison guards, park police, and other county and court employes, not now under civil service and consequently without protection against political manipulation of their jobs, will be inducted into the civil service after special non-competitive qualifying examinations, which will test each person's ability to perform the work for which he receives his pay. They will retain their jobs if they are competent.

Demotions

Little protection is afforded the upper-grade policeman or fireman under the present charter, for he can be demoted without a hearing before the Civil Service Commission and can consequently be illy treated without public hearing almost as effectively as by dismissal. During the ten years from 1927 to 1936 this power of demotion was used freely. In Philadelphia 14 police officers were demoted in 1927, 21 in 1928, 51 in 1929, 81 in 1930, 115 in 1931, 25 in 1932, 120 in 1933, 5 in 1934, 7 in 1935, and 21 in 1936. In some years these demotions have been greater than all dismissals in the police service. The new charter provisions, we believe, will eliminate unfairness in such actions. Not only policemen and firemen but all classified employes must be given a hearing before the Civil Service Commission if they request it, in matters of demotion as well as outright dismissal.

Equal Pay for Equal Work

What equal work may be is determined and embodied in what is called a classification plan. The plan also contains uniform titles—no one can perform the job of a janitor and still be rated on the payroll as a clerk. Is a classification plan a good idea? We think it is, and so do the cities of Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Louis, San Francisco and Toledo, and the States of Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, Tennessee and Wisconsin. They expressly require classification of positions.

Equal pay is established through the compensation plan. Council does not bother with the pay of John Doe; it fixes the salaries for standard titles of posittions instead, as established in the classification plan. Thus loose salary fixing is eliminated. Equal pay is given for equal work.

Fixing salaries of city employes by including them in the budget perpetuates gross inequalities. This is true in our city now. It means little in the light of actual practice to list a number of employes whose salaries add up to more than the total amount appropriated by council, and then to provide "that the above appropriation shall be used for personnel necessary to carry out the duties of the office for a full twelve-month period." Such a provision is grossly unfair.

Education of Employes

In regard to in-service training, also, is the new charter in line with recent trends. Throughout the country it is now realized that the civil service authority should be the agency responsible for the development of training courses for municipal employes already in the service. The emphasis in civil service has shifted from the one idea of protecting the administrative branch of the government from political interference and capricious action, to a larger concept of improving personnel in a positive direction. It is now realized that a practical training program is an essential part of the broader program of personnel administration. The President's Committee on Administrative Management in its report on "Personnel Administration in the Federal Service" definitely supports this viewpoint. In the present charter there is no mention of in-service training, and the Civil Service Commission has done very little along this line; in the new charter, definite responsibility is placed on the personnel director for the development and conduct of such a program.

Keeping Politics Out

By strengthening the provisions pertaining to the prohibition of political activity by municipal employes and the levying of political assessments, the new charter greatly improves upon the old. Political activity by municipal employes and the levying of political assessments constitute a violation of political neutrality which public opinion has come to expect of civil servants. These practices give an undue advantage in political contests to the party in power and they are indirect ways of financing political activity out of the public treasury.

In most of the states and in many of the cities which operate under civil service, both political activity and political contributions from municipal employes are forbidden. For example, Chicago, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, San Francisco and Toledo are among the large cities in whose charters or laws are found provisions relating to political activity. Two-thirds of the states having state-wide merit systems are also in this class. Included in this group are the following: Arkansas, Connecticut, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Tennessee and Wisconsin.

Among the large cities the charter or laws of which prohibit political assessments are to be found Baltimore, Chicago, Cincinnati, Detroit, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, New York, St. Louis, San Francisco and Toledo. Eight states are in this category—Arkansas, California, Illinois, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Tennessee and Wisconsin.

Temporary Exemptions

Temporary exemptions have increased under the present charter from 1,931 in 1921 to 2,477 in 1936. In 1921 this exempt group constituted 10.9% of the total number of officers and employes in the classified service; in 1936 it was 14.1% of the total. This would appear to indicate a too generous use of the power of exemption by the Civil Service Commission. Ahd scrutiny of the positions exempted confirms the impression. It is because of this that in the new charter temporary exemptions are not allowed. The power to exempt positions not exempted by the law specifically is withheld from both the Civil Service Commission and the personnel director. This follows the practice in the cities of Chicago, Detroit, Kansas City, Missouri; Minneapolis and Toledo, and in the States of Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio and Tennessee. The general trend is undoubtedly in this direction because the privilege is too easily abused.

Certification of Payrolls

In the matter of payroll certification, also, the new charter improves upon the old. The Civil Service Commission is not required to certify payrolls prior to their payment under the old provisions; the personnel director must certify them prior to their payment under the new. This insures departmental compliance with the rules and orders of the Civil Service Commission. Under existing provisions the personnel authority has no knowledge of the exact composition of the payrolls until after they have been paid. It cannot, therefore, act as a positive check against the illegal employment of an employe at the very outset, as it can under the new provisions. This certification of payrolls prior to payment is required in the cities of Boston, Cincinnati, Detroit, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, New York, San Francisco and Toledo, and in the States of California, Illinois, Kentucky, Maine, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Penalties

Penalties for violation of the civil service provisions are made more drastic and describe offenses more specifically.

SECTION D

CITY PLANNING

Defects in Past Development

No city plan has ever guided Philadelphia in the past in the development of its capital projects. Large sections in the North, Northeast, South and Southwest are without well-organized neighborhood areas and open play spaces for recreational purposes. Traffic flow within the city is noted chiefly for its delays, hindrances and inconveniences, though ways of escape from the city—subways, parkways, boulevards and bridges—have been liberally provided. Over $12,000,000 have been spent on dead-end subways which have never been used. Zoning has not succeeded in resuscitating economically depressed areas. Slums abound within the city. The present water supply is inadequate and unsanitary. And though surrounding municipalities have grown by leaps and bounds, one-quarter of Philadelphia's area is still vacant land.

The haphazard development of the city, however, has not been due to a lack of funds, for if our city's bonded debt is any criterion, the city has more than adequately provided the financial means for capital improvements. Approximately $290,000,000 of bonds, over half of the city's total debt, were floated in the ten-year period from 1919 to 1928, inclusive. Though the city is permitted a higher constitutional debt ratio than any other municipality in Pennsylvania, its borrowing capacity is exhausted. By more than $38,000,000 does the net funded debt exceed this constitutional limit. Per capita the net debt has increased from $60 in 1914 to $220 in 1938. Debt service costs the city more than the combined city and county payrolls. The net debt including that of the school district equals 17% of all taxable real estate in the city.

In terms of health, happiness and economic welfare we have received little in return for our money. Though much has been spent for capital improvements, most of it was not spent wisely. Capital outlays often have been made by councilmanic decisions based chiefly upon current political expediency or upon the pressure of some especially interested group.

No definite co-ordinated city plan has been followed because officially no such plan has existed. No such plan has existed because the present City Planning Commission has never received an adequate appropriation to provide for the technical and professional services necessary to rmulate such a plan. In recent years the appropriation s been "zero." And the present commission is without ıthority to enforce a city plan even if it had one. This esent planning commission, therefore, is a body without nds or power. It has not planned, not because it would ıt, but because it could not.

What Planning Is

Planning deals with the use of land—of all types and by homever owned—within our city. Planning looks for the ıst ways to use the land in the future. Planning dis- vers what the pattern of use should be and how to get at the least cost.

Planning serves the best interests of the social and onomic life of the people. It guides an orderly, co-ordi- ıted, rational and harmonious development of the city the future, providing, a well-balanced distribution of ıildings and open spaces, a greater development of re- eational areas, a decease of all types of congestion, and wiser and more economical expenditure of public money r capital purposes.

Such a program should cost money. In practice it does ıt. "We hear a good deal about the cost of planning. ɔmebody ought really to write a book about the cost of ıt planning. It is quite demonstrable that the real cost building up a community is the cost of non-planning," id Dwight W. Morrow. Planning saves money through eventing costly mistakes. Absence of planning—lack foresight—is responsible for structures being erected hich eventually must be torn down for widening streets, ɔnstructing parkways, erecting public buildings, and simi- r purposes.

Planning results in a Master City Plan containing the ɔjected best uses of the land of the city. That is the ily result of planning unless there is some agency with ıthority to see that the actual development of the city ɔords with the Master Plan. Such an agency is lacking . our government today; the City Planning Commission ıs no such power.

Master City Plan

The Master Plan to be prepared in compliance with the ew charter is to include all items which are related to ıe physical development of the city—streets, subways, ɔidges, waterways, boulevards, parkways, recreation ɔeas, public utility locations and terminal situations. It prepared by the Department of City Planning. It is ubmitted to council for adoption after the Planning oard has held public hearing and has approved the lan by an affirmative vote of three-fourths of its voting ıembers. Council may adopt the plan (in the form ap- roved by the Planning Board) by a majority vote. If, owever, council wishes to modify the scheme of the board, can only do so by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of ıe councilmen holding office.

It may seem at first hand that the provisions for adop- on of the plan are unduly severe. A three-quarters board ote and a two-thirds council vote are real hurdles. These ıajorities are intentionally high, however, for we have ıtended that no Master Plan be adopted unless (1) it ɔntains no truly controversial items, and (2) support or pposition of it are not partisan in character. We visualize plan demonstrably sound to all—a goal toward which ve shall all work regardless of political faith, and a goal ɔhich is both flexible to accord with changing times and ermanent in its fundamental character.

The plan must be a long-term plan which cannot be ltered because of passing whim—the temporary vogue f an idea should not be allowed to change it. But, as tated in the previous paragraph, it should not be so igid as to preclude changes which are a part of the evolu- ion of the municipality. We have therefore provided a ıachinery for changing the plan which will involve tudied and deliberate analysis.

Changes in the plan cannot be considered by council ıntil after the Planning Board has held a public hearing ɔn the proposal, examined it, and made a recommendation o council either endorsing or rejecting it. In turn, council may adopt the change by a majority vote if the proposal has been approved by the Planning Board. If the board has disapproved the change a two-thirds vote by council is required for adoption.

Further, council can pass no ordinances affecting city planning without the approval of the Planning Board, except by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the council- men holding office. These ordinances, because of the necessity for their submission to the Planning Board, will be delayed in their journey through council, and this delay will permit the proposed changes to receive wide- spread publicity. If, therefore, the proposed legislation is not in accord with the Planning Board's interpretation of the city plan it may receive such adverse publicity that the necessary four votes in council will block the passage of the proposed legislation therein.

Protecting the Master City Plan in Operation

The best city plan that it is possible to develop is worth nothing if the growth of the city is not molded into its pattern. A plan on paper must become a plan in practice. And on this point we depart from past practice in our city and embark upon the course pursued by those cities whose city plans have shown real results. We provide a Planning Board with power to put the plan into effect. It has such power in two ways: first, authority to guide development, and second, authority to stop development not in harmony with the plan.

The positive type of power possessed by the Planning Board includes the authority to approve the location of proposed public buildings. However, the most important power in this respect is the work of the Planning Board in compiling the annual capital budget of the city. That task is not discussed herein; it is contained in Section E, Finance. Both functions in this category of protection of the plan in operation in a positive direction refer, of course, to that part of the plan relating to public property; it is obvious that no agency of a city should have this type of power in respect to the erection of private buildings.

The plan in operation is also safeguarded from a nega- tive standpoint; that is, the Planning Board is given au- thority to prevent private development not in conformity with the plan. The subdividing of any platted land into urban plats cannot be done without the approval of the Planning Board. No lot may be transferred in a subdi- vision, the plat of which has not been approved by the Planning Board. We realize, of course, that our city is built up at present to such an extent that one-quarter only of its land is still vacant or used for farm purposes. That is no reason, however, why the development which remains should not be based upon the principles of city planning.

The Planning Board can also make reservations of land in conformity with the plan, if the land is to be taken under the plan for public purposes within ten years after the reservation. This reservation of land is for the pur- pose of preventing the erection of large and expensive buildings which within the relatively near future will have to be torn down following condemnation of the prop- erty for public use, as set forth in the city plan. There is no large American city today which has not spent literally millions of dollars in condemnation costs incident to wid- ening streets and other governmental purposes. The necessity of taking such land could in many cases have been foreseen. If it had been, and if the land had been reserved, condemnation costs would have been very much lower. That we have not done things wisely in the past is no excuse for continuing that policy in the future.

Land reservation is laid in the charter upon the police power of the Commonwealth delegated to the city, as its legal basis. The police power is delegated only to the extent of its use for city planning purposes. Technically, the same thing probably could have been accomplished by means of eminent domain rather than police power. We have not adopted that method, though, because the use of police power for this purpose has been adequately tested in court, because the method is flexible, and because it is somewhat cheaper to the city. This decision cannot be explained adequately without a prolonged discussion of the legal signifiance of police power and eminent domain. We omit this discussion at this point, feeling that it involves unimportant technicalities.

The reservation of land for public use within ten years does not forbid the erection of buildings in such areas. But should any buildings be so erected, the city is not liable for damage or compensation for them when the land is finally taken for the public purpose for which it has been reserved; the city is liable only for the land and for buildings already standing at the time the reservation was made. It might seem that this provision of the charter works to the benefit of the city to such an extent that it is a real hardship upon owners of property which happen to fall within areas reserved eventually for public use in the city plan, and to that extent takes away from the property holder his right to use his property in the most profiable manner. We recognize that there will be cases in which the literal application of this provision would work undue hardship. We therefore further provide that an owner believing himself to suffer inequitable hardships by the reservation may take his case before the Board of Zoning Appeals. The board may waive the provision if the property owner can show undue hardship and loss; the board is directed in the charter to decide such cases upon the principle of equity.

That the city plan must be protected and that its integrity must be preserved as beyond question. Otherwise no municipality can progress in an orderly fashion in the direction of economic and social land use. The power to protect the plan in operation is the key to success of city planning.

That key has been placed essentially in the hands of the Planning Board, for its decisions are subject only to the will of council and council can override the board only by two-thirds majorities. In that body most familiar with the Master Plan there is therefore placed the greatest share of responsibility for its formulation and execution.

The Planning Board

It is important next to examine carefully the composition and method of selection of the Planning Board, in order to see whether the powers and duties given to it are entrusted to an agency so constructed as to be able to manage them competently.

The board is composed of seven appointed and six ex-officio members. Only two of the latter, the mayor and the city manager, are entitled to vote. The other ex-officio members are the directors of the following new departments: City Property, Public Utilities, Public Works, and Recreation and Parks. The seven citizen members of the board are appointed by the mayor for overlapping terms of seven years each. They receive such compensation for their services as council decides is proper. The chairman of the board must be one of the citizen members. He is elected by the other members for a term as chairman of two years.

In the composition of the new board a balance has been established between the need for a "familiarity with city problems" and the need for a "dominance of the lay citizen's viewpoint." The city department heads, all experts in their own fields, are more familiar with city problems than are private citizens. Because their full-time services are given to the city, they can give to city planning more time than can the citizen members. They provide the board with specialized knowledge. If, however, they had the power to vote their opinion would likely dominate the board decisions for exactly the same reasons. That this is undesirable the past has amply demonstrated, for the predominance of the "department director's viewpoint" has produced unbalanced, unco-ordinated and haphazard development of the city. The city-wide viewpoint is needed if the municipality is to progress in an orderly manner.

Planning, as far as physical development is concerned, embraces two divisions: construction and acquisition of improvements by the city government, and construction of buildings by private citizens for their own uses but in conformity with the plan. The first is the traditional concept of city planning. The latter is in reality its most important phase, for far more construction goes on under private auspices than by the city government. Furtherance of this balanced view of planning is the reason that we have given voting power only to the citizen members of the board.

It was not felt, however, that the government's own stake in planning should be submerged too far. We have therefore given voting power to two of the "official" members of the board: the mayor and city manager. They rather than the others, were chosen because they have the picture of the government as a whole, rather than the naturally unbalanced one of any department director. Further, the mayor and the city manager are included on the board to keep it from assigning too little weight to current problems of the city which touch upon city planning.

The department directors picked for non-voting memberships were so chosen because their departments ordinarily make the majority of capital expenditures of the city government. The head of the Department of Public Works is included also because of the necessity of close co-ordination between the Planning Board and the Board of Surveyors, an ex-officio body which is a part of this department.

The appointment of the citizen members by the mayor ties city planning closely to the expressed will of the people as embodied in the office of the mayor. Most fundamental local issues concern city planning. The mayor more than any other individual represents the people's stand on the issues. It is only logical, therefore, that he appoint the members of the Planning Board.

Overlapping terms of office are provided, each appointment being for seven years. This insures continuity of management together with a gradual change in the composition of the board. A balance is struck between a stable planning policy and the necessary evolution of planning thought with changing times. A stable planning policy results from long term board membership, for the members have an opportunity to become thoroughly acquainted with the city's planning problems. Continuity in planning policy eliminates inefficiency and confusion and enables the board to apply its policy over a sufficient length of time to execute the plans envisioned in the Master City Plan. The new charter provides both continuity and flexibility by combining relatively long terms of office with overlapping terms of office.

The determination of the amount of compensation for board members is left in the hands of council. The amount of work they will have to perform will be enormous in the first few years of the new charter and will then decrease somewhat. Under such circumstances we believe it wisest to leave their remuneration to council.

The selection of the chairman from among the citizen members of the board should tend to keep the attitude of the chairman in line with the views of the majority of the board. An "official" board chairman, one selected from among the ex-officio members, would probably tend to dominate the board.

General Powers and Duties of the Board

The Department of City Planning is headed by the Planning Board. As already stated, the board is given the power to prepare the Master Plan of the city, to act as custodian of it after its adoption by council, and to consider suggested changes in the plan. It is responsible for the approval or rejection of plans for the subdivision of land located within the city, for the reservation of land the location of which has been approved by the Planning Board, and for the recommendation of changes in the zoning regulations.* It prepares the capital budget.

The board assists in the planning of all public projects, especially those projects which are self-liquidating. It promotes public interest in the Master Plan and it co-operates with public and private organizations and individuals to see that they build in accordance with the lan. It co-operates with other planning agencies in order nat it may keep the Master Plan co-ordinated with those f the surrounding jurisdictions. It has the power to ccept and use any gift which furthers its work, to enter .pon any land in the performance of its duties, to make urveys and place markers in accordance with them, and o require any public official to furnish within a reasonble period of time all available information pertaining to lanning. It is not compelled to act only in an advisory apacity. It has the actual authority and influence to uide the development of the city in accordance with the ity plan and to prevent violations of that plan.

Citizens must be made to feel the necessity for the city lan if the planning program of the municipality is to suceed. The people should know how and why the city is lanning to aid them. They should know the objectives f the city plan, the methods that can be used to realize hese objectives, the methods that will be used, and the eason for using these latter methods in preference to all thers. To keep the citizens informed along these lines he Department of City Planning is given the power to romote, by the use of publicity methods, public interest n its work.

Many private groups and individuals carry on projects which concern the physicial development of the city. If hese projects are to be in line with the city plan, it is ecessary that between citizens and municipal officials here be the greatest possible amount of co-operation. It is ecause of this that the Department of City Planning is given the power to plan with the above individuals and groups. Where such co-ordination has been perfected the municipality has experienced a co-ordinated development.

Not only must there be co-operation between citizens and the planning agency, but also there must be co-operation between the various city departments and the Department of City Planning, if the full possibilities of the city plan are to be realized. Many of the present departments have collected over a long period of time information which will be of great value to the new planning organization. Should these departments and agencies place all necessary planning information and data at the disposal of the Department of City Planning, the department would have available immediately a large body of pertinent factual material relative to existing conditions and future needs. This information the planning department can correlate and put in usable form. It is for this reason that the planning agency is given the power to require any public official to furnish within a reasonable period of time all available information pertaining to planning.

Just as co-operative agreement among the various municipal departments and among the city officials and the general public is needed as one basis for city planning, so inter-municipal, inter-county, and inter-state co-operation is needed to produce the regional plan which will mutually benefit all participating jurisdictions. The new charter gives the planning agency the power to co-operate with other planning agencies.

The Planning Board is empowered to determine what is and what is not a capital project. The present charter places the duty in the hands of the controller. This determination is an engineering problem and not a financial one.

Board of Zoning Appeals

The Board of Zoning Appeals retains its present functions. It hears appeals from adverse decisions and the Bureau of Engineering, Surveys and Zoning and it renders decisions on them. It hears and decides special exceptions to, or interpretations of, the ordinances relating to zoning. It authorizes, in specific cases, such variances from the terms of the zoning ordinances as will not be contrary to the public interest. It authorizes these variances, however, only when special conditions are such that a literal enforcement of the provisions of a zoning ordinance would result in unnecessary hardship. It sees that the spirit of the ordinance is observed and that substantial justice is done.

The Board of Zoning Appeals, however, differs from the present Zoning Board of Adjustment in its composition and in its appointing authority. The present Board is composed of five ex-officio members all of whom are directors of departments, though curiously an ex-officio membership is not a requirement of the law. The new Board consists of three members, one appointed by the Planning Board from its membership or staff, and two citizen members appointed by the city manager. The latter two must hold no other governmental office. Each board member who is not a staff member of the department receives twenty dollars for each board meeting attached to the Department of City Planning. The present charter is the mayor, whereas under the new charter it is the city manager. The secretary of the board is an ex officio, non-voting member— the chief of the Bureau of Engineering, Surveys and Zoning in the Department of Public Works.

The new Board of Zoning Appeals also differs from the present Zoning Board of Adjustments in that it is attached to he Department of City Planning. The present board is supposedly an independent agency; its work however, is partially cared for by the present Department of City Architecture and the Board itself is financed from the appropriations to this department.

There is no tie-up between the present Zoning Board of Adjustment and the present Planning Commission. Zoning and city planning are so closely interrelated and are so inextricably bound together that their combination in the new Department of City Planning simply recognizes the realities of the situation. It is not always easy to get co-operation between two independent boards. When, however, both are attached to the same department their co-operation is bound to be very close. We believe that the set-up we have provided automatically insures it, which consequently affords needed protection to the city plan.

As a furher safeguard to the city plan, the Planning Board as well as the plaintiff, may appeal from decisions of the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Art Jury

The work of the Art Jury also is akin to city planning and its inclusion in the Department of City Planning furthers, just as does the inclusion of the Board of Zoning Appeals, the simplificaition of the municipal structure.

In the appointment of its members and in its composition the Art Jury remains unchanged. The mayor is still the appointing authority and the jury is still composed of eight appointive members. Only in its jurisdiction does it differ from the present Art Jury. The control over the location of public buildings (as contrasted with their architecture and design) is transferred to the Planning Board. It is so transferred because location of such structures is important to the development of the city plan. The jury's other powers and functions relating to art and design remain as at present.

As the Art Jury is part of the Department of City Planning under the new set-up, control of public building design is centered in that department. This enables the department to develop a civic center of uniform style of architecture in harmony with the surrounding neighborhood. It is only logical that both the planning of he civic center and the actual details of executing its design should rest in one department—the Department of City Planning.

The new charter provides a Department of City Planning under a Planning Board with authority, and gives this planning agency together with council the responsibility for developing and protecting a co-ordinated, integrated city plan. It unifies in the one Department of City Planning all functions pertaining to planning. By these means, in brief, we have set the stage for the physical, economic and social developments of our city to a degree of perfection far beyond its present level.

SECTION E

FINANCE

Under the present charter financial juggling has been carried on during the past nine years to such an extent that there will be a floating deficit of almost $40,000,000 at the end of 1938. This debt consists of temporary loans, emergency loans, unpaid judgments, awarded by the courts against the city, monies owed the sinking fund under court order, unpaid bills contracted in 1937 and 1938, tax money owed the state, and interest on these obligations. There is no money in the city treasury to pay these various debts.

Certainly financial conditions require new financial provisions so that the city can never again get itself into the situation in which it finds itself today. The new charter plugs up charter holes through which the city government has plunged into a financial situation bordering on municipal bankruptcy.

Current Budget

The heart of sound financial practice is the adoption and administration of the current budget. The budget is a financial plan. It shows how much cash is on hand, what expenditures will be, and the various taxes and other revenues which will pay these expenditures. By present law and the proposed law a balanced budget is required, that is, the total expenditures contemplated must no exceed the revenues expected.

But the present law has been abused, so that though the budget looked balanced, the balance existed only on paper. Actually expenditures have exceeded receipts regularly each year of the past nine. The Bureau of Municipal Research gives figures for the last seven of these years as follows:

Year	Deficit
1938 (est.)	$8,000,000 to $9,500,000
1937	14,708,032
1936	9,368,171
1935	5,491,791
1934	11,328,065
1933	6,221,651
1932	12,502,721

The term "deficit" as here used means exactly what it implies: the total of expenditures paid out has been greater than the amount of money received—and by the startling amounts indicated in the table above. Each year, of course, some of the deficit of the preceding years has been paid off, so that adding together the figures above will not give the accumulated deficit at the end of 1938. The accumulated deficit at the end of 1938 will be the figure stated in the first paragraph of this section: $40,000,000. That is enough money to pay all of the cost of running the city government for six months.

This section takes up one by one the restrictions on financial mismanagement so that never again can the city get itself into its present mess.

Advancing the Date of the Budget

Current budget procedure is clarified and specified in detail. By September 1st of each year the budget requests of all city and county departments and agencies must have been submitted to the city manager. By the same date the controller must have supplied his estimates of receipts and the Bureau of Assessments in the Department of Finance must have certified the preliminary total of real property assessments. The city manager, assisted by the Bureau of the Budget in the Department of Finance, revises the budget estimates and compiles the budget transmitting it to council by September 15th. Council must complete its public hearings on the budget by October 1st. By October 15th it must adopt the budget and fix the tax rate. By November 15th the tax bills must be completed by the Department of Finance, and by December 15th they must have been mailed. On January 1st tax collections begin.

Note that the entire budget procedure is moved up so that the budget will be adopted by October 15th. Failure to pass the budget by that date would require each councilman to forfeit $50 of his pay for each day beyond October 15th that the budget was still not passed.

This early budget submission and adoption enables council to set the tax rate in time to provide for the billing of taxpayers prior to December 15th, and thus to start the flow of funds into the city's treasury immediately after the first of the new year. The necessity of borrowing funds to care for the current expenses of the municipality is thereby considerably reduced and the city is saved the interest it would have paid on these funds.

A second reason for advancing the procedure and penalizing its violation is that it stops the practice of postponing budget consideration by council until after election week. Such postponement, a regular occurrence, leaves too little time for proper consideration of the budget, especially since the submitted document itself is merely a stop-gap. It would almost seem that no one has the moral courage to face budget problems before elections.

But the primary reason at least for the penalty established is to do away with the failure of council to pass any budget at all before the final deadline, thus continuing the existing tax rate and admitting only backdoor responsibility for it. That a council could budget by default seems almost incredible, yet the council in our city did just that last year and this year is doing it too. We propose never to let it happen again.

Estimates of Receipts

As in the present charter, the controller is to estimate the receipts of money into the city treasury with the exception of receipts from current taxes, and his estimates are binding. The significance of this procedure may well be explained at this point, for it also explains how the tax rate is set.

Each fall the controller estimates how much money the city will receive from all the various sources of receipts (licenses, permits, fees, grants from the state, delinquent taxes, etc.) with the one exception of real estate taxes. Council then determines how much money the city government "must" spend. The controller's estimates of receipts are then subtracted from the total contemplated expenditures—the budget—and the difference remaining is the amount of money which must be raised from the general real property tax. Finally, that amount is divided by the total assessed value of real estate and the result of the division is the tax rate.

The taxes of each property holder are figured by reversing the last step above. Each person's taxes are computed by multiplying the assessed value of his property by the tax rate.

It becomes obvious that a deficit—an excess of expenditures over receipts—can come about in several ways. The controller can overestimate receipts so that the actual receipts are less than he forecasted. Since appropriations (permits by council to the departments to spend money) are based on his estimate, spending up to the limit of appropriations will produce a deficit.

Another way a deficit can arise is caused by property holders failing to pay their taxes.

And still another way is for council to under-appropriate certain items. For example, the hospital really needs a certain amount of drugs and bandages each year. If council does not appropriate enough to the hospital for these purposes, sellers deliver the badly needed items to the hospital anyway. Then the next year, or the next one after it, council recognizes these bills, calling them Deficiency Bills, and pays them.

Actually deficits are produced in all of these ways in varying combinations, plus several others which are really complex.

And now to return to the new charter provisions. During the year in which the budget is in operation the controller may not estimate the receipts to be expected from a new source of revenue. He must wait until the money from the new source is in the till before he can certify to council that additional money is available for appropriation for expenditures. Furthermore, he cannot certify to council that his estimates of receipts from existing sources were low and raise his estimate. If the estimates are low, again the city must wait until the money is in the till before the extra over the estimates can be appropriated.

These provisions are designed to prevent overestimate of receipts. For eleven years straight now, actual receipts have been less than the estimates. In most of these years the disparity between the two figures has been so great as to plainly indicate intentional inflation and not simply poor prediction.

Over-optimistic estimates have been partly due to the item "Sale of Real Estate." In each of two years running, it was estimated that $4,260,000 would be received from this source. In one of these years less than $150,000 was received, and in the other NOTHING. This item is included in a class of receipts called non-revenue. The new charter forbids the controller's including any non-revenue receipts whatever in his estimates. A fairly accurate definition of non-revenue receipts is any receipt arising from the sale of permanent city property.

The financial difficulties of the city have arisen mostly because council has been unwilling to cut appropriations down in proportion to receipts. What was wanted was an estimated receipt total large enough to cover appropriation "needs." Whether the estimate bore any relation to reasonable revenue expectations seemed to have been a distinctly secondary consideration. Thus during the last few months of each year cash has been lacking to pay for obligations already appropriated for and incurred. Funds were borrowed to provide for these obligations. These loans were made in anticipation of the estimated income. When, of course, the income did not materialize the loans had to be provided in the next year's budget. Had the next year's budget been an honest one the deficit would have been wiped out and the budget would actually have balanced. This, however, was not the case. The money was borrowed from loan funds and from the banks on short-term notes. These notes had to be met out of the first receipts of the new year. Once more revenues were overestimated, vital appropriations were cut too much and the deficit increased. Year after year the deficit pyramided in this manner. We owe $40,000,000 at the end of 1938 from this wishful financing. This cannot happen under the proposed charter.

Liabilities

The new charter provides that all fixed liabilities* (except bond maturities to be paid from sinking funds or from the proceeds of new bond issues) must be included in the budget; as for example the annual payments into the sinkiing fund, and other required payments with respect to loans, rentals on leases, obligations on contracts, and amounts due on judgments, whether by mandamus or otherwise. However, in the case of liabilities that can be allotted over more than a year, only the portion due during the ensuing fiscal year need be included in the controller's statement and in the budget.

Mandamuses

The mandamus evil has been one of the worst abuses in the present financial procedure of the city. Mandamuses are of two types: capital mandamuses resulting from the purchase of land and other permanent improvements, and current mandamuses resulting from damage suits, demolition of unsafe buildings and excess current expenses of the county offices and the courts.

Concerning the first, we stipulate that capital mandamuses must be included as liabilities in the controller's statement. At present these mandamuses continue outstanding year after year, piling up unpaid interest at 6% until the total amount so outstanding has now reached $5,000,000.

Current mandamuses result when a purchase of goods or services is made which is deemed "essential" though there exists no appropriation therefor. Under the present charter provisions current mandamuses do not go through the controller's office and thus there is no public accounting record of the purposes of these expenditures. Also, they are omitted from the detailed itemized expense records of the municipality. Many are instituted by the courts to pay their stenographers, clerks, and like obligations, which should have been included in the budget. Many other mandamus procedures are started by sellers who have overdue bills which are the result of budgetary deficits.

Current mandamuses resulting from the payment of salary and expense items in excess of regular appropriations are inexcusable and under no circumstances should such claims be allowed. Judgments against the city for injuries sustained on city property and demolition costs are legitimate expenses. Their existence implies no financial chicanery but merely a curious unwillingness on the part of council to recognize that such items will arise. Under the new charter we require the authorities to recognize that they will occur, making them include in the budget an amount equal to the average amount of such claims during the previous five years.

If, in spite of these provisions, current mandamuses were to arise, we prevent their becoming a problem. Mandamuses outstanding in any year must be included as liabilities and their payment provided for in the budget for the succeeding fiscal year.

Deficiency Bills and Short-Changing

The budget may be said to be short-changed when it is certain at the beginning of a year that the year will end with a deficit. One cause of short-changing has been inflated estimates of revenue. This has already been discussed.

The field in which short-changing is done, regardless of the cause of it, is certain classes of appropriations: (1) the items which need not be paid currently throughout the fiscal year (street lighting, telephone service, payments to state institutions for care of the municipality's prisoners and mental cases, etc.); (2) the supply items for municipal institutions (coal, food, drugs, clothing, etc.); (3) the large payroll and pension items (the police and fire payroll and pension fund, etc.).

For the first group council has usually appropriated considerably less than is necessary for the entire year; the theory being that when cash is needed prior to the end of the year, it will be obtained by an additional appropriation or by transfer from another appropriation where cash is not yet needed. As the Pennsylvania Economy League so aptly states it, "patchwork must be resorted to before the year is over in order to provide for the maintenance of important city functions during the closing months of the period." Usually no additional receipts have been available and temporary loans are resorted to with the result that the next year's budget is immediately handicapped.

The shortage of necessary funds for the second group generally results in "deficiency bills," for which council makes appropriations some time during the succeeding year. The appropriaitons for the short-changed supply items are expended until they are exhausted. Then as the goods are needed they are bought "on memorandum" (i. e., they are bought without budgetary authorization for they have not been provided for in the budget and the seller has no legal recourse if he is not paid). Though this is forbidden by the present charter, bills for these purchases soon become dignified by the term "moral obligations." More than $1,000,000 of such "deficiency bills" have accumulated each year for the past several years. Ordinarily council has paid the "deficiency bills" by floating short-term loans or from transfers from other appropriations. Either way, the new budget is thereby further short-changed.

Payroll items, strictly speaking, are not really short-changed, for they must be met. If payroll appropriations are deficient, current revenues which should be earmarked for appropriations for the first two groups, insufficient as they were to begin with, are transferred to the initially short-changed payroll items. A situation that is bad already is further intensified thereby.

"Deficiency bills"—one of the most pernicious practices under the present charter—are eliminated in the new charter. All bills for goods delivered must be accompanied by a purchase order approved by the controller, who cannot give his approval until after charging the amount of the order against the proper appropriation account. The status of every account is thereby always known and it is impossible to incur obligations in excess of appropriations. The controller and his sureties are made personally liable for purchase orders approved by him which exceed appropriations. And the seller's claim is specifically outlawed if the controller's stamp of certification is missing from the purchase order. Thus there exists a triple barrier; (1) Excessive purchases are stopped before even placing the order. (2) The controller is liable if the provision is violated. (3) The seller cannot collect on an illegal bill No seller would be foolish enough to continue the present practice of furnishing the goods and taking the risk of getting his money later under these provisions.

* Liabilities are expenditures which are known in advance and which MUST be paid.

Budgetary controls are set up under the new charter, designed to forestall the short-changing of the various items discussed in detail above. These controls are considered in the following sections entitled "Transfers" and "Monthly Control of Expenditures."

Veto Replaced by Two-Thirds Majority

Under the present charter the mayor may veto individual items of the budget which council has adopted, and council may not override the veto of the mayor except by a two-thirds majority. Since the mayor is no longer an elected official independent of council, and since as a member of council he participates in the passage of the budget, it would be a mistake to award veto power to the mayor in the new charter. The purpose of the veto is accomplished in a different manner. In adopting the budget, council may not increase the amount recommended by the city manager for any individual item except by a two-thirds vote of the councilmen holding office. Council may decrease budget items, however, by a simple majority vote.

Fixing Salaries in the Budget

Section C, Civil Service, has explained the inequity of fixing salaries of city employes in the budget. The unfairness of such a procedure was pointed out therein and mention was made of the provisions in the new charter which specifically forbid council to establish salaries in the budget. There was substituted for this method a uniform salary or compensation plan, which insures co-ordinated and fair salary levels.

Transfers

The Bureau of Municipal Research has stated: "Almost from the moment that council passes the annual appropriation ordinance it begins making changes in it." There is "a constant stream of transfers in appropriations." Certain budget items have been especially subject to transfers. These items are of such a nature that most of them cover payments which can be made toward the end of the year, and because of the need to plug gaps caused by short-changing appropriations are transferred back and forth during the course of the year. In 1936 the appropriations of 399 separate budget items, amounting to $2,721.090.51, were so transferred. The Pennsylvania Economy League says: "The transfer of needed funds from items already appropriated in the budget has been one of the most serious causes of unbalancing the budget through the course of the years with consequent deficiencies resulting in the items from which the appropriations are taken."

Transfers among items are prohibited in the new charter. Appropriations must be used to fulfill the purpose for which they were made. Unexpended or unneeded balances of appropriations may not be transferred by council except by placing them in a special reserve account. And that cannot be done unless council enacts an ordinance by a two-thirds vote, stating that the purpose of the appropriation has been accomplished or stating the reasons why the purpose cannot be carried out. This restricts the use of transfers to their proper purpose; adjustment of the budget to unforeseen conditions and contingencies.

Monthly Control of Expenditures

The new charter provides that, following passage of the financial program, the budget director shall establish, subject to the approval of the city manager, monthly allocations of the appropriations. It further provides that no expenditures shall be made in excess of the allocations for each month without the prior consent of the budget director and the city manager. This provision is designed to correct another common abuse of the budget.

Most agencies of the city government request appropriations in excess of the amounts finally allowed, which requests are justified on the basis of an expanded program of activity. Council cuts these requests because it feels that an expanded program is not wise in view of the financial condition of the city. Some of these agencies then proceed to spend money on the basis of their original requests. It inevitably follows that the agency's appropriation is exhausted before the end of the year. Council is then faced with the alternative of complete cessation of the work of the agency for the remainder of the year, though its basic services may be vital, or providing more funds to continue operation. Obviously this practice is utterly unsound, inexcusable and outrageous. The only way to stop it is to establish monthly control of expenditures in the manner just stated.

Encumbrance Accounting

Though mentioned already, special attention should be called to the provision of the new charter which requires that the books of the city be run on an encumbrance basis. This means that purchases are entered upon the controller's books prior to the placement of the order itself. The present system of accounting is that the entries are made later. When the bills are presented for payment for goods already purchased and delivered. Obviously the books at present do not show a proper picture of the financial condition of the city at any one time because they do not show obligations incurred for orders placed for which goods have not yet been delivered.

Encumbrance accounting is sound business practice and should be followed by the city. Encumbrance accounting means that the city recognizes bills payable as well as bills paid.

Temporary Loans

The present charter allows the city to borrow in any year any amount up to 10% of expected revenues for the purpose of adjusting the month-by-month income of the city to its month-by-month expenditures. This provision has been abused. The loans are used to borrow money above the amounts which can reasonably be expected to come in, so that the temporary loans run over from one year into the next.

New provisions will stop this pernicious practice. Temporary loans may be made in any year only before September 1st. They may not be renewed and they must be paid before the end of the year. Thus such loans are restricted to their original purpose.

Emergency Loans

Emergency loans have been used as a device to carry along deficits. They were intended to provide a cushion for the city in the case of a real emergency. However the budget of the city each year is so constructed that when cash runs low toward the end of the year an emergency is declared and council proceeds solemnly to float a $2,000,000 loan. Under the present charter every year appears to be an emergency year; the emergency borrowing privilege has been so misused that the city is constantly left with nowhere to turn for money if a real emergency were to occur, such as a flood, a conflagration or an epidemic.

The new charter contains provisions to insure the proper use of emergency loans. The city manager must certify to council that an emergency exists, that funds are needed to fight the emergency and that these funds can be obtained from no existing source. Council then must enact an ordinance stating the specific nature of the emergency, appropriating the money to meet that emergency and authorizing the flotation of an emergency loan of corresponding amount. The ordinance cannot pass except by a two-thirds majority. The aggregate amount of emergency loans in any one year may not exceed $2,- 000,000. All emergency loans remaining unpaid on September 1st of each year must be included by the controller in his statement of liabilities (which is part of the budget) and must be paid out of the first receipts of the next fiscal year.

Deficit of the City

In the above recital it has been stated time and time again that certain provisions of the existing charter have been abused. Some figures have been given, but we believe that the extent of the abuse cannot be fully realized unless figures are presented showing the total deficit of the city. The following table, prepared by the Philadelphia Committee of the Pennsylvania Economy League, and the accompanying chart, portray the city's deficit as of the end of the present year:

Accumulated City Deficit

	Dec. 31, 1938
Deficiency Bills, 1937	$1,750,000[1]
Deficiency Bills, 1938 (Estimated)	500,000
Unpaid Bills, 1938—Estimated (Authorized Under Appropriations)	7,500,000[2]
One Year's State Tax on City Loans Unpaid	1,025,000
Current Mandamuses	250,000[3]
Capital Mandamuses (Approximate)	5,500,000[4]
Interest on Capital Mandamuses	1,200,000
Temporary Loans	14,200,000
Emergency Loan	2,000,000
Sinking Fund Deficit	5,600,000
Interest on Sinking Fund Deficit	168,000
Total	$39,693,000

[1] Assuming $1,350,000 remaining in $5,000,000 appropriations for installment on deficit as of December 31, 1937, is applied on these bills prior to December 31, 1938, otherwise this figure is $3,100,000.

[2] Shortage of cash to pay bills will probably result in the registration of non-payment of approximately $10,000,000 in warrants authorized to be paid from 1937 appropriations. This amount is reduced here to $7,500,000 through expected Sales Tax returns accruing to the year 1938, but not payable until January 15, 1939.

[3] 1938 estimated.

[4] This amount represents the probable liability of the city for this item as of December 31, 1938, in view of pending mandamus litigation.

The total deficit has reached an alarming figure. The city is spending six months ahead of its income. Legal means of carrying the deficit are almost exhausted and we are faced with the most critical situation in the history of the city. Payment of the deficit will involve financial sacrifice on the part of every person living or working within it.

Had the budget procedure been an air-tight one this deficit would never have arisen. The strongest argument that we can offer for the budget provisions of the new charter is that they will prevent such a situation from ever arising again. For confusion and malpractice we substitute an orderly, planned financial program. Budgets prepared under the new charter will not be short-changed. They will serve as guides to and effective controls of expenditures month by month in each fiscal year.

The Capital Budget

The new charter provides for yearly capital budgets. The present charter has no such provisions.

Under present procedure, if a proposed public improvement—capital project—is to be financed by current revenues, the appropriation for it is carried in the current budget. If, however, it is to be financed from loan funds, council authorizes the loan and directs the construction of the improvement, with or without recommendation from the mayor, as a separate item of legislation. Seldom are capital improvements financed in the first manner so that in effect it may be said that each capital improvement is a problem unto itself, unrelated to and isolated from each other capital project. There is no co-ordinated program of capital outlays; the most apt characterization of them now is that they are haphazard. And as pointed out under City Planning, the cost of them (debt service) amounts to 45 cents out of every tax dollar.

Under the new charter the capital budget, along with city planning, will give to the municipality an intelligent and carefully worked-out capital outlay program. The establishment of a capital budget inaugurates orderly, planned budgetary procedure in that phase of our local government which has suffered most in the past from unco-ordinated control.

Time of Compilation and Passage

The timing of the capital budget follows in general that of the current budget. By August 15th the city and county departments and agencies must have submitted their capital project requests to the city manager. He must revise them and forward them to the planning board by September 1st, together with a certification of the maximum amount of money available for capital improvements. By September 15th the planning board must make its revisions and must transmit the capital budget to council. Council must complete its public sessions on this budget by October 1st and must adopt it by October 15th—the same date that the current budget is adopted. City officials and council thus work on the current and capital budgets at the same time. They necessarily see the entire financial picture and not just a portion of it.

At the same time that the various municipal agencies submit their capital project requests to the city manager, the conroller furnishes him with a statement showing the status of municipal finances and capital outlays. This statement sets forth the amount and nature of all obligations authorized on account of each uncompleted capital project, the liabilities incurred for such capital projects up to July 1st, the financial condition of the city together with comments thereon, and advice as to the maximum amount and nature of debt which in the controller's opinion the city will be able to incur for capital projects during each of the ten succeeding fiscal years. The city manager is thus given a bird's-eye view of the finances of the municipality in order to better compose his recommended capital improvements program.

Responsibility for Preparation

It may be said that the basic responsibility for the preparation of the capital budget is the planning board's, for though the departments and the city manager prepare and submit the document to the planning board, the board may change the pattern of projects at will. In contrast, council cannot increase the amount allotted to any project by the board except by a two-thirds vote.

That the planning board is the agency to revise the city manager's capital budget and to forward the revised plan together with its recommendations to council for action is evident. "The very nature of capital outlays" says the Philadelphia Advisory Finance Commission "calls for more comprehensive, technical and foresighted study than the best intentioned chief executive, council or department director can possibly give them." The program must be based on a city-wide viewpoint; it must be correlated with future capital improvements by taking the most urgently needed projects first and postponing the others and it must be in accord with the city plan. All this the planning board can do better than any other municipal agency. Each tentative capital project can be evaluated only on these bases. Thus detailed planning is the foundation of the formulation of the capital budget.

Controlling the Total of the Capital Budget

When the city manager forwards his capital budget to the planning board he also furnishes a statement showing the sources from which the funds are to be obtained. A statement from the controller presents a complete analysis of the status of the city's finances. The planning board cannot exceed the amount certified by the city manager as being the maximum available for capital outlays, though it can otherwise revise the manager's capital budget at will. The board also has the power to determine conclusively what is and what is not a capital project.

Council may adopt by a simple majority vote the capital budget as submitted by the planning board. Council may not, however, change items or increase the total amount except by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the councilmen holding office.

These restrictions will effectively prevent the recurrence of an orgy of capital improvements such as occurred in the 1920's.

Composition of Capital Budget

The annual capital budget must contain, a brief description of each proposed capital project which it is believed should be undertaken each year for the ten succeeding fiscal years, together with pertinent financial information; a brief description, supported by necessary financial data, of each uncompleted authorized capital project; recommendation for changes or abandonment of previously approved capital projects; a brief description of each capital project disapproved, together with the reasons for its disapproval; a statement from the city manager certifying the maximum amount of money available for capital improvements; detailed comments on the financial condition of the city; and such other information as council may desire.

The period of planning for the capital budget has been set at ten years for a number of reasons; first, the long term will make department and agency heads look and plan far into the future; second, the long term provide sufficient time to exhibit a real panorama of what adherence to the plan accomplishes; third, the long term provides the municipality with a program of capital expenditure better co-ordinated with the taxpayers' capacity to pay for it; and fourth, the long-range program develops a reservoir of projects which can be used as a means of providing employment in times of business depression.

Capital and Current Budgets to Check

In the capital budget there must be a receipt item entitled "Current Revenues" for the amount that capital projects are to be financed from current revenues. An equal amount must be included as an appropriation item in the current budget under the heading "Transfer to Capital Budget".

Changes in the Capital Budget

After the adoption of the capital budget it can only be changed if such a change is recommended by three-fourths of the members of the planning board. Council may then adopt the change by a majority vote. Without such a provision the role of the planning board in composing the capital budget might well be nullified.

Serial Bonds

All bonds to be issued by the city in the future are to be of serial type. The new charter forbids issuing any more sinking fund bonds. Serial bonds are bonds which do not mature all at one time. They come due each year in equal installments. If, for example, the city issued $100,000 worth of 20-year serial bonds, $5,000 would be due in one year, $5,000 in two years, $5,000 in three years, and so on. In contrast, sinking fund bonds fall due all at one time. If the bonds in the example were of this type, none would mature until the end of the 20-year period, when the entire $100,000 would fall due all at once. In order to pay them, the city must set aside a certain payment each year into a sinking fund (from which fact this type of bonds receives its name) which with interest earned on the money so set aside grows until $100,000 is accumulated in 20 years.

This would all be very well except that there is almost always argument as to how much money to put into the sinking fund each year. Serial bonds are not subject to such controversy. The amount to be paid each year is definitely known, for it is the amount of the bonds which mature each year. Keeping sinking funds adequate calls for eternal vigilance. The fundamental superiority of serial bonds over the sinking fund type is generally attested by experts in municipal finance.

The total life of bonds is restricted to the economic life of the capital improvements, or to 50 years, whichever is less.

Pay-As-You-Go

The new charter stipulates that the city is to shift gradually from a policy of financing capital improvements by means of issuing bonds, to a policy of financing capital improvements by means of current revenues. The period during which the change is to be made is fifty years, and the shift is accomplished by providing that in the first year of the new charter, 2% of the total of the capital budget is to be paid from current revenues, in the second year 4% of the total is to be handled thus, and so on. Progressively increasing the proportion of the capital budget which must be paid for out of current revenues by 2% each year, the shift will be accomplished in a fifty-year period. Self-liquidating projects and projects the total cost of which exceeds $10,000,000 are expected from the conversion to the pay-as-you-go policy.

The policy of financing capital improvements through issuing bonds for then is something like taking an anaesthetic, "Why not put up a stadium We do not have to pay for it now; the future will take care of itself." It is easy to embark on an orgy of building if the cost of it is financed by issuing bonds.

For each dollar that the city has spent on capital improvements, it has had to pay nearly $3.00 in principal and interest charges. Improvements which one might think cost $1,000,000 have actually cost over $3,000,000. At the present time the city pays more than $20,000,000 per year in interest—charges that would not appear if we conducted our capital improvements program on a pay-as-you-go basis. Had we done so in the past, taxes would be lower than they now are and the city would not be suffering from a financial crisis.

The price of three to one for capital improvements and an interest cost of $20,000,000 a year: these practical facts demonstrate beyond argument why the city should go on a pay-as-you-go basis.

We have been careful to fix the period of conversion in order that there would be no excessive load upon the taxpayers during any year of the transfer.

Issuance of Bonds

Two further provisions concerning long-term financing and capital improvements are worthy of mention. First, the city now issues bonds and then spends the money it has thereby raised for capital improvements. It realizes the danger of raising too little money; therefore, it adds a margin of safety. The result has been large unexpended balances, which have naturally been a temptation, and upon which we must pay interest. The new charter provides for interim loans during the period of construction of a capital improvement, so that a bond issue is not sold until the exact total cost of a capital improvement is finally known. Unexpended balances are thereby eliminated.

Second, the city uses premiums received from the sale of bonds (the amounts by which the sale prices exceed the face value of the bonds) for current expenses. The new charter requires such premiums to be used to help pay for the bonds as they mature.

Assessments

Under existing law, assessments are the responsibility of the Board of Revision of Taxes. Under the board is a number of district assessors, each of whom assesses all the property within a particular district of the city. The board not only supervises the work of the district assessors, but it is responsible for the assessments. It also sits as an appeal board whenever a taxpayer protests that his assessment is too high.

In this connection it is appropriate to discuss briefly the significance of assessments, tax rates and taxes. One's taxes are figured by multiplying the assessed valuation of the property by the tax rate. As explained previously, this is just the reverse of the procedure followed by council in computing the tax in the first place. Council divides the total sum of money to be raised by taxes by the total of all assessments, and the result is the tax rate. Then if each person's assessment is multiplied by the tax rate in order to find out what his taxes are, and if all such taxes due are added up—everybody's in the whole city—the sum equals the total sum of money to be raised by taxes.

Suppose a person's assessment is $5,000 and the tax rate is 20 mills per dollar. His taxes will amount to $100. All taxes due in the entire city may add to $40,000,000, and the total of all assessments would be $2,000,000,000. Now also suppose the assessments were doubled so that they amounted to $4,000,000,000. Since council needs just $40,000,000, the tax rate would be 10 mills instead of 20 mills. The individual mentioned above would have an assessment of $10,000 which at 10 mills would require him to pay $100 taxes—the same amount as before.

In other words, it is not the tax rate that counts. It is the tax rate AND the assessed valuations.

Another factor appears, however, when one considers not just one individual's property, but the properties of two or more individuals compared with each other. A's assessment is $5,000. B's assessment is $10,000. B pays $200 taxes and A $100. But suppose that really the property of A and that of B are identical, even though the assessment of B is double that of A. Then the situation is very unjust, for on similar properties, B pays twice as much taxes as A. As a matter of common justice, each property in the city should be valued equitably, any one as compared with all thers, so that no one pays more or less taxes than he should when compared with the taxes paid by everybody else.

We may summarize in this way: The total of all assessments is not of much concern because if the total is high, the tax rate will be low, and vice versa. But it is vital that assessments be correctly valued in proportion—one with another. The level of assessments is immaterial, but whether any individual's assessment is above or below the level is very important.

Bureau of Assessments

The new charter places the assessment of real and personal property under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Assessments in the Department of Finance. The bureau, which assesses real and personal property at its full value, is headed by the chief assessor who is appointed by the city manager. The charter requires the chief assessor to install a modern and scientific assessment system, including the assessment of land and buildings separately and the use of various devices and form which provide equitable assessments.

General reassessments must be made whenever council makes appropriations therefor except that they cannot be made oftener than once in three years.

The assessment rolls, which show separately each assessed parcel of real estate and the value placed upon the land and upon the building and other improvements, must be completed by July 1st. They shall be open to the public for inspection until July 31st. Public notice must be given of the right to inspect them and of the right to file complaints. To citizens whose assessments have been increased or decreased a special notice must be sent by mail prior to July 1st. Any person may petition for an assessment change. The hearings on these petitions are conducted personally by the chief assessor. Hearings on petitions must be completed before August 1st. The assessment rolls must be certified by September 1st and must be forwarded to the city manager together with a statement showing the aggregate valuation of taxable property in the city.

Any person who is not satisfied with the results of the hearing on his petition for an assessment change may appeal it to the Board of Assessment Appeals.

Board of Assessment Appeals

Appeals from the Bureau of Assessment are heard and adjudicated by an entirely separate and distinct Board of Assessment Appeals. The board consists of five members appointed by the judges of the Common Pleas Court, for overlapping terms of five years each. The board members may hold no other public or political office or employment. From Setpember 5th to December 15th they must devote their full time to their board work. For each day while sitting each member receives $25.00. From the board are selected boards of view when such boards are needed.

The chief assessor acts as secretary of the board and furnishes from his bureau such clerical help as is needed by the board. No additional compensation is paid for these services.

Persons wishing to appeal from adverse decisions of the chief assessor must file a written appeal with the board before September 10th. An oath must be taken before the secretary of the board when the appeal is filed. Appeals are heard from September 5th to November 15th inclusive. All hearings are public and a complete record must be kept of all proceedings. December 15th is the last day for handing down decisions on appeals.

Appeals may be taken to the Common Pleas Court fifteen days after the board makes its decision. The appeal, however, does not stop the collection of the taxes. If the court decides against the Board of Assessment Appeals the difference in the amount of the tax is returned to the appellant. The appeal may be carried to the higher state courts.

Present Inequitable Assessments

It has been explained previously that unless assessments of individual properties are equitable—fairly valued when compared one with another grave injustices to individual taxpayers will result. Have assessments in Philadelphia been just Have properties been all valued at the same ratio of assessed valuation to true valuation?

In 1928 a study of real estate valuations and real estate assessments was made by the Manufacturers' Appraisal Company in collaboration with the North Philadelphia Real Estate Board and the City Club of Philadelphia. They examined 1,032 separate parcels of real estate and found that the ratios of assessed value to appraised value ranged from less than 10% to over 120%.

In 1934 a study was made concerning assessments and sales prices of property sold since June, 1932. It was found that the assessments ranged from less than 10% of the sales value to over 500% of it.

In 1936 the Philadelphia Housing Association made a study of the relation of assessed values to capitalized rental values of 1,147 residential properties in eight Philadelphia districts. They discovered a great disparity in the ratio of assessments to capitalized income values among these properties. While 11.4% of the properties were assessed at less than 50% of the rental values, 13.2% were assessed at 100% or more of the values. "Since, in the last analysis, all taxes come out of income," says Dr. Karl Scholz, "it is generally recognized by competent observers that the value of economically similar revenue-producing properties should bear close relation to capitalizing the realizable revenue at a uniform rate." As pronounced differences were found in the ratios of actual assessments to their capitalized income values, it would appear that the assessments were inequitable.

In 1937 the sales prices of 121 small and medium-sized residential properties were compared with their assessed valuations. The same inequality in assessments was observed: the ratios of assessment to sales prices ranging from 70% or less to 400% or more.

It would appear, therefore, that under the present charter the administration of real estate assessments in the city is such that existing assessments are neither uniform nor equitable.

Securing Just Assessments

One of the factors in the present inequitable assessment of real estate is the district organization of assessors. Each assessor is assigned to a district and is supposed to be able to value correctly any and every kind of property in his district. Naturally, the assessors cannot become experts in the appraisal of any specific types of property.

If uniformity, justice and equitability in assessments are ever to be achieved, the district system of assessment must be abolished. Instead, assessments should be by experts for certain classes of property: filling stations, stores, office buildings, apartment houses, row houses, etc. Assessments made by experts in the assessment of particular types of property is called functional assessing. The new charter provides functional assessing and abolishes the district system, as previously pointed out.

Other provisions of the new charter as outlined previously will tend to equalize assessments. Standardized assessments procedure is made mandatory, and it includes all known devices for arriving at fair assessments.

Full publicity is required of the chief assessor's records. Full publicity of assessment procedure and assessment rolls contributes to dispelling mistrust and makes assessment facts available to the public. In the words of Dr. Scholz, "People tend to look with distrust and suspicion upon administration of a local government function when they have no substantial information as to the methods and results of such administration." Experience clearly tends to justify such an attitude.

Finally, no matter how good the system or method of assessment procedure used, however, the final results of its application will depend primarily on the ability and competence of the assessment personnel. Again quoting Dr. Scholz, "Even as the finest tool may be spoiled in the hands of a novice, so the best devised system of making appraisals for purposes of taxation may prove ineffective in the hands of a poorly qualified personnel." At present the assessors are "not chosen according to ability. The evidence before the committee is clear that the appointments were made solely upon a political basis." * A large majority of the assessors stated that prior to entering the service they had had no experience in making appraisals, but had been engaged in work in one of the following fields: undertaker, plumbing, dentistry, athletics, stationery business, automatic sprinkler business, leather, livery business, rug manufacturing, carpentry, manufacturing of artificial teeth. Some of the assessors admitted that they still engaged in private business and professional activities "on the side." In the matter of education, seven had not completed the eighth grade, eleven were grammar school graduates, seventeen had attended high school, but only ten of these had completed a high school course, ten were college graduates, four had attended college but had not graduated, and two had received some night school or business training. Under the new charter, however, all employes of this group are under civil service, and the assessors must be expert in land valuation, building appraisal, etc.

Why a Separate Board of Assessment Appeals

The existing Board of Revision of Taxes is organized in a way that violates the American concept of impartial justice. The board is responsible for assessments, but if any property holder feels that the assessment which the board has placed on his property is unfair, he must bring his case before the very same board! The board must solemnly sit in judgment as to whether the work which it has done is correct! The situation is analogous to a person on trial sitting as his own judge.

It has been pointed out that the new charter establishes a bureau of assessments, under a chief assessor, to make assessments, and also an entirely distinct Board of Assessment Appeals to hear appeal from the assessments.

Placing the technical task of making assessments in the hand of a single assessor makes it impossible for the assessor to escape responsibility by hiding behind a board.

Placing the adjudication of assessment appeals in the hands of a court-appointed board separates this aspect of assessing from the former. Impartial justice will thereby be assured.

SECTION F

DISCUSSION OF OTHER ASPECTS

Home Rule

In 1922 the Constitution of Pennsylvania was amended to authorize the General Assembly, through permissive legislation, to extend the right of home rule to the cities of the state. Home rule means, simply that a city has the power to govern itself. Included under home rule are (1) the power to adopt a charter, (2) the power to amend a charter, and (3) control of local affairs through the exercise of the first two powers directly, and through the enactment of ordinances pursuant thereto. Of course a city may not violate the Constitution or the general laws of the state in exercising its home rule powers.

No city of the state has as yet been able to adopt a home rule charter because the General Assembly has never availed itself of its constitutional authorization to permit such a course.

In the words of Drs. J. C. Phillips and J. P. Horlacher, "It is a matter of simple justice to permit the people of a city to control their own local affairs." Though the way to effect that simple justice has been a part of the Constitution for sixteen years, this is the first time that a city of the Commonwealth will have been allowed to exercise the rights and prerogatives of home rule. It is perhaps fitting that the passage of the proposed charter would re-establish home rule in the city—Philadelphia—where American self-government had its birth.

For the charter provides that the act itself shall not become effective after its passage by the General Assembly until it has been approved by the people of Philadelphia at a special referendum election. It is the inherent right of free men and women to pass upon the charter under which they shall live.

The charter further provides that after its adoption and installation, changes within departments may be made by council. Changes among deparmtents after being made by council must be approved by a vote of the people. And lastly, changes in (1) council, (2) civil service, (3) the controller, (4) the treasurer, (5) loan and debt regulations, (6) powers of the city, and (7) the home rule article itself can be made only if passed by council and the people and approved by the General Assembly.

When the Charter Becomes Effective

The general effective date of the charter has been made January 1, 1940, for the reason that more existing officials with terms of office go out of office on that date than on any other day. The new charter can be installed on that day, therefore, with the least disturbance to the affairs of the city.

In order for the new council to take office at that time, however, the machinery for electing the new council must be set in motion before the machinery for electing a council and mayor under the old charter gets started. That means that certain portions of the charter must become effective by July 1, 1939. Finally, to allow for approval by the voters of Philadelphia, including time for preparing for the election and counting the votes afterward, another two months must be added, so the charter should be passed and signed not later than May 1, 1939.

Disposition of Existing Departments

The previous sections of this exposition have all treated the subject from the point of view of the recommended organization. Numerous references and comparisons have been made with the existing charter, and in all cases such references and suggestions were pertinent to that portion of the new charter under discussions at the time.

As a result, the reader has certainly become aware that the existing charter has been changed in many respects, but at the same time, from the way of presenting the material, the reader could not have gained an overall view of the manner in which the existing organization has been shifted into the pattern of the new one.

Our present charter has been in operation for twenty years, and therefore we are all more or less familiar with it. The new proposal, however, cannot be as well known at the present stage, by the same token. Therefore it is the endeavor of the present section to run briefly through the existing organization of our government in order to show just how, in detail and as a whole, the present organization has been disposed of. Each existing agency is mentioned, together with a very brief summary of the reasons for its disposition or dispositions. No detailed argument for changes made is contained herein because these reasons have been fully presented.

The agencies are arranged alphabetically according to the key word in the title. Thus. "Board of City Trusts" is arranged by the phrase "City Trust"; "Department of Public Welfare' is placed in order as determined by "Public Welfare," etc.

The existing structure of municipal government has been considerably modified to form the new. Some agencies and departments have been completely reorganized, others have been modified little, and a number have been kept intact.

The Art Jury remains unchanged as to appointment of its members, and in its composition. The mayor is still the appointing authority and the jury is still composed of eight appointive members. Except for control over the location of public buildings its jurisdiction is the same under the new charter as it was under the old. Under the new charter, however, it is grouped with the Department of City Planning and its clerical and technical work is performed by the employes of this new department.

The present Department of City Architecture, which in reality is more a small bureau than a department, is broken up; its supervisory and drafting functions going to the new

* Preliminary Report of the Legislative Commission to Investigate the Cost of Government in the City and County of Philadelphia, p. 19.

Department of City Property, and its planning functions to the new Department of City Planning. The city architect is a bureau chief in the Department of City Property.

The present City Planning Commission, a purely advisory body, a body without funds or power, is abolished. In its place is erected the Department of City Planning headed by the Planning Board—with power and authority to develop and protect a co-ordinated integrated city plan.

The existing Department of City Transit, because of its small size and because of its close relation to the other public utility agencies, is merged with them to form the new Department of Public Utilities.

The Board of City Trusts remains unchanged except that the board members are no longer appointed for life but are appointed for terms of five years; immediate reappointment are not permitted.

The present Civil Service Commission is reorganized internally. Its quasi-judicial and quasi-legislative functions remain with the Civil Service Commission; its administrative personnel work is placed in the hands of the Personnel Director, the administrative head of the new Department of Civil Service. This separation of functions observes the principle of centralizing administrative authority and responsibility—a principle that has been scrupulously and consistently observed in framing the new charter.

The functions of the Board of Trustees of the Commercial Museum, Exhibition and Convention Halls pertaining to administration and maintenance are transferred to the new Department of City Property, the department in which are centralized all construction, maintenance and repair work of city service property. The functions concerning the promotion and development of the commercial and industrial interests of the city are given to the new Board of Commerce and Industry, the board in which are unified all activities dealing with commercial and industrial promotion. The present Board of Trustees, which was established by ordinance, is discontinued.

The Controller's office is left in its present form except that its powers and duties are extended and enlarged, its personnel is placed under civil service, and its materials, supplies and equipment must be obtained through the Bureau of Purchasing in the Department of Finance.

The County Offices—Board of Jurors, Clerk of Quarter Sessions, Constables, Coroner, District Attorney, Prothonotary, Recorder of Deeds, Register of Wills, and the Sheriff—are not disturbed. Their powers and duties remain unchanged except that the entire appointive personnel is placed under civil service, the purchases of the several agencies must be made through the Bureau of Purchasing, and their finances are subject to the budgetary control of council. No change has been made in the functions of these agencies.

The County Commissioners, which under the present charter have an old collection of functions, are a unified agency under the new charter. They are now the sole election authority as are the County Commissioners in other classes of counties. The functions of the present Division of Children's Agents and Investigators are transferred to the new Department of Medical and Social Welfare. The activities of the Bureau of Weights and Measures are transferred to the Department of Public Safety, for they are fundamentally a part of police work. The present court fiscal functions of the County Commissioners disappear.

The Courts—Magistrates, Municipal, Orphans, Common Pleas, Oyer and Terminer, General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sessions of the Peace—remain unchanged except that the administrative activities of the Municipal Court (those activities dealing with the administration of penal treatment —the medical department, the statistical and accounting office, the House of Detention for Women and the several probation departments except those dealing with juveniles and family affairs) are transferred to the new Department of Detention and Correction.

The functions of the Fairmount Park Commission—a commission whose powers would today be unconstitutional had they not been in effect before the adoption of the present constitution of the Commonwealth, commission which can no longer be revised or expanded without the new legislation being declared unconstitutional by the Supeme Court of the Commonwealth—are divided among several new agencies: the Department of Recreation and Parks, the Department of Public Safety and the Department of Public Works. To the new Department of Recreation and Parks go all of their activities dealing with parks and recreation; to the new Department of Public Safety go the supervision and control of the park guards; and to the new Department of Public Works go the maintenance and repair of park highways and boulevards.

The Firemen's Pension Funds are not changed; neither is the Board of Trustees of the Free Library, the Gas Commission, the Housing Authority, the Board of Jurors, nor the Juvenile House of Detention.

The existing Department of Law retains its present powers and duties, but the activities of the department are enlarged to include all county offices as well as those of the city.

The Mayor is relieved of his administrative duties; these duties going to the city manager. The mayor retains the rest of his present activities except sitting as a committing magistrate, and is given added appointive powers.

The functions of the Mayor's Aviation Commission which deal with commercial and industrial promotion and development are transferred to the new Board of Commerce and Industry, whereas those pertaining to utility management are given to the new Department of Public Utilities. The commission, the members of which have all resigned, is abolished.

The present Board of Pensions and the Police Pension Fund remain unchanged.

The powers and duties of the present Board of Prison Inspectors are divided among two agencies—the Department of Detention and Correction and the State. To the Department of Detention and Correction go the activities dealing with the detention of untried prisonsers and material witnesses, and the correction of women prisoners and short-term prisoners. To the state may go the county "Penitentiary"—Holmesburg. Its transfer to the state is recommended so that all penal treatment on the penitentiary level will be administered by the unit of government in Pennsylvania most competent to do so efficiently.

The Prothonotary's office under the new charter remains as at present.

The existing Department of Public Health, which is entirely too large when compared with other departments of the city and which actually functions as several separate units at present, is reduced to a manageably size. Its activities dealing with tuberculosis and communicable disease control, child hygiene, medical inspection of public and private school children, food and milk inspection and sanitary plumbing and nuisance control all remain in the department and are unchanged. The Barber Shop Licensing Board, which is in the existing department, also will continue to function as at present. The activities relating to the "outdoor physicians" are given to the new Department of Medical and Social Welfare. The general and the contagious disease hospitals also are separated from the Department of Public Health and are assigned to the Department of Medical and Social Welfare. The Hospital for Mental Diseases and the Institution for Feeble Minded are transferred to the state, because they are specialized indigent institutions performing services in exactly the same field as the strictly comparable state institutions.*

The present Department of Public Safety retains all its primary functions—police, fire, and safety inspection. However, the activities of the Electrical Bureau which pertain to the repair and maintenance of city equipment (except those dealing with the maintenance of the police and fire communication systems) are assigned to the new Department of City Property. The medical care of public safety employes and park guards also is taken from the Department of Public Safety and is assigned to the new Department of Public Health.

The existing Department of Public Welfare, a heterogeneous agency performing recreational and correctional functions to as great an extent as public welfare functions, is transformed into a homogenous department devoted to one object rather than several. The functions pertaining to recreation are transferred to the new Department of Recreation and Parks; those relating to correction are assigned to the new Department of Detention and Correction; while those dealing with welfare are retained in the new Department of Medical and Social Welfare.

The present "super" Department of Public Works is whittled down to reasonable proportions by removing from it the bureaus of City Property, Mechanical Equipment, lighting and Gas (except street and alley lighting), and Water, and Highway Patrol. The Bureau of City Property becomes the nucleus of the new Department of City Property, to which is assigned the present Bureau of Mechanical Equipment. The present bureaus of Water, and Lighting and Gas (except street and alley lighting) are transferred to the new Department of Utilities so as to unify all public utility functions in one agency and to provide a simplified and economical performance to these functions. The Highway Patrol is assigned to the Department of Public Safety, because its work is a police function.

The Clerk of Quarter Sessions remains as at present.

The functions of the Probation Department of the Court of Quarter Sessions are given to the new Department of Detention and Correction; otherwise, however, the Court of Quarter Sessions remains unchanged in the new charter.

The Receiver of Taxes—who, along with various other city and county offices, collects the money due the city—is discontinued; his office is abolished, and its functions are transferred to the new Department of Finance. This is done in order to unify all such collections.

The Registration Commission, whose functions in all counties except those of the 1st and 2nd class are performed by the County Commissioners, is abolished. Its activities are merged with those of the County Commissioners in order that all registration and election functions may be unified in one agency and the present delay and confusion eliminated.

The Board of Revision of Taxes, which now is placed in the embarrassing position of assessing property and then passing judgment upon these assessments is abolished. Its functions relating to the assessment of property are transferred to the new Bureau of Assessments in the Department of Finance; those pertaining to assessment appeals are assigned to the new Board of Assessment Appeals, the members of which are appointed by the judges of the Court of Common Pleas. The incompatible duties of making assessments and judging appeals from them are separated thereby, and the principle of centralizing administrative authority and responsibility is once more observed in the new charter.

The Sinking Fund Commission remains unchanged.

The functions of the existing Department of Supplies and Purchases are assigned to the new Bureau of Purchasing in the Department of Finance.

The powers and duties of the present Water Commission are assigned to the new Department of Public Utilities so that all municipal utility activities will be unified in one department.

The functions of the Department of Wharves, Docks and Ferries that pertain to commercial and industrial promotion are given to the new Board of Commerce and Industry, in which is unified all promotional activities. The functions related to utility management are transferred to the new Department of Public Utilities. Ice breaking and dredging go to the Department of Public Works.

The Zoning Board of Adjustment takes the name of Board of Zoning Appeals. It is attached to the new Department of City Planning. Its powers are unchanged.

Numbers of Laws Herein Proposed

All of the preceding discussion has treated the charter and ancillary bills as a group, analyzing their provisions where each one fitted in best. The legislation which the Charter Commission proposes consists actually of three recommended statutes: (1) the charter, which is technically "The First Class City Law," (2) a statute creating civil service in the county offices and the courts, and (3) an amendment to the personal registration law which transfers registration matters to the county commissioners and abolishes the personal registration commission.

If any witness shall refuse to testify as to any fact within his knowledge or to produce any documents or other evidence within his possession or under his control, the mayor shall forthwith report the facts relating to such refusal to the court of common pleas of the county in which the city is situated and all questions arising upon such refusal and also upon any new evidence not included in the report of the mayor, which other testimony or documents may be offered either in behalf of or against such witness, shall at once be heard by the court. If you tear or deface or wrongly mark this ballot, return it and obtain another.

Section 209. Distribution of Ballots in Tablet Forms. The ballots shall be prepared in tablet form so that each tablet will contain an equal number of ballots from each series arranged in such combinations that two ballots of the same series will not be next to each other. The tablets of ballots prepared in the manner herein designated shall be distributed to the election districts.

Section 210. Central Collection. As soon as the polls have closed, the election officers at each polling place shall without opening it seal the ballot box used for ballots for council and send it at once as directed by the election authorities, together with a record of the number of ballots for council which have been voted in the polling place, to a central counting place designated by the election authorities.

Section 211. Counting Personnel. The election authorities shall appoint pursuant to civil service requirements a counting director as the head of the personnel for the counting of ballots for council. The counting director shall appoint pursuant to civil service requirements a sufficient staff of assistants.

Section 212. Checking Ballots in Boxes. At the central counting place the ballots found in each ballot box shall be marked so as to identify them thereafter as from that box, and shall be numbered. The total number shall be recorded and compared with the record sent from the corresponding polling place. The result of this comparison shall be made available to the public with notations setting forth corrections, changes and discrepancies. All ballots found in the ballot bax which bear no evidence of being improperly cast shall be accepted.

Section 215. Rules for Validity. If a ballot does not clearly indicate which candidate the voter prefers to all others, or if it is so marked, not in accordance with the instructions to voters printed on it or with the specific provisions for valid ballots in this section, as to be readily capable of identification, it shall not be counted and shall be invalid. Every other ballot shall be sorted according to the apparent intent of the voter so far as that can be clearly ascertained, whether or not marked according to the instructions printed on it or the specific provisions for valid ballots in this section. Any cross mark shall be disregarded except that if there is a single cross marked on a ballot on which no number 1 appears the cross mark shall be considered equivalent to the number 1. If the number 1 is omitted or if the consecutive numerical order of the numbers on a ballot is broken by the omission of one or more numbers, the smallest number marked shall be taken to indicate the first choice, the next smallest, the second choice and so on without regard to the number or numbers omitted.

Section 216. Numbering and Counting Ballots. After the sorting of ballots ,the count of valid ballots shall begin. An election district shall be drawn by lot. The ballots which each candidate receives in that election district shall be numbered consecutively and this shall proceed with the ballots of the other election districts in the order in which they have been arranged and sorted. If two or more candidates have ballots in excess of the quota, the excesses shall be transferred in the order of their sizes. The ballots taken for transfer shall be those with numbers higher than the quota except as hereinafter provided. Such ballots shall be sorted and counted each to the highest choice on it not yet elected. If a ballot shows only choices for candidates already elected, it shall be temporarily set aside until all the extra ballots of the elected candidate have been transferred. Such ballots shall then be substituted for an equal number of ballots taken from the highest numbered ballots in the quota pile of that candidate which show a choice for an unelected candidate. Whenever a candidate receives enough transferred ballots to complete his quota he shall be declared elected and no more ballots shall be transferred to him.

Section 220. Minimum Vote Requirement. After the completion of the transfers of extra ballots, every candidate credited with fewer than 1,000 ballots shall be declared defeated.

Section 221. Transfer of Ballots of Defeated Candidates. The ballots which were credited to candidates who are declared defeated shall be transferred each to the candidate indicated on it as next choice among the continuing candidates. "continuing candidate" is a candidate not yet elected or defeated. Any ballot of a defeated candidate taken for transfer which does not clearly indicate any continuing as next choice shall be set aside as exhausted. If a ballot has the same for two or more candidates, the duplicated choice shall be disregarded except as to continuing candidates. If two or more of the candidates marked with the duplicated choice are continuing and all previous choices have been elected or defeated, the ballot shall be set aside as exhausted.

Section 222. Defeat of Other Candidates. After the transfer of the ballots as provided above the candidate with the least amount of votes shall be declared defeated and each ballot credited to him shall be transferred to the continuing candidate indicated thereon as next choice. After this transfer the candidate then lowest shall be declared defeated and each ballot shall be transferred to the continuing candidate indicated thereon as next choice and so on.

Section 223. Ties. In deciding any tie a candidate shall be treated as having more votes than other if he was credited with more votes at the end of the last preceding transfer or crediting of ballots at which the numbers of their votes were different. Any tie not thus decided shall be decided by lot.

Section 224. Completion of Count. The count shall proceed with the transfer of ballots until eleven candidates have been declared elected or until the number of the continuing candidates is equal to the number of councilmen still to be elected. In either event there shall be completed the transfer of the ballots of the last candidate defeated when the successful candidates are all determined.

Section 225. Recount. Every ballot which is transferred from one candidate to another shall be so stamped or marked as to indicate the candidate or candidates to whom it has been credited. If in correcting an error or in recounting ballots for any other purpose any ballots are resorted or transferred, every ballot shall be made to take the same course which it took in the original count unless the correction of an error requires its taking a different course.

Section 226. Witnessing the Count. The following shall be entitled to witness the count:

Section 1306. Removal of Commissioners. Council may, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of its members holding office, remove any commissioner for inefficiency, neglect of duty or misconduct in office. A commissioner shall not be removed until he has been given a statement in writing of the charges against him and has been afforded, after notice of not less than ten days, an opportunity of filing a reply and of being publicly heard by council in person or by attorney. Copies of the charges, of his reply and of the findings of council shall be filed with the secretary of the commission, and they shall be matters of public record.

Section 1307. Meetings. The commission shall hold regular meetings as fixed by rule.

Section 1308. Powers and Duties of Commission.

(a) The commission shall:

1. after public hearing, adopt or change rules for the administration and enforcement of this Article, which rules shall have the force and effect of law one week after their adoption;

2. after public hearing, approve, with or without modification, such classification plans as may be recommended by the director;

3. make investigations requested by the city manager or council or may make investigations requested by any employe or by citizen, or of its own motion, concerning the enforcement and effect of this Article;

4. transmit to council and to the city manager the report of the director with comments, criticisms, or suggestions for the more effectual accomplishment of the purposes of this Article; and

5. keep complete and permanent records open to public inspection, of all actions taken at its meetings and hearings.

(b) Each member of the commission, the director and any other employe or agent authorized by the commission, shall have the power to administer oaths in matters pertaining to the work of the department. The commission shall have power to secure by subpoena the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents and other evidence. Any judge of a court of record may upon application by the commission compel the attendance of witnesses, the production of documents and other evidence and the giving of testimony before the commission by attachment for contempt or otherwise in the same manner as the production of evidence may be compelled before such court.

(c) The commission shall have the power to make arrangements and agreements with other public personnel agencies for the use and exchange of services.

Section 1309. Public Hearing. The term "public hearing" when used in this Article shall be construed to mean an opportunity, given after notice of at least five days, for any citizen or party in interest to be heard in public at reasonable length.

Section 1310. Personnel Director. A special board of examiners designated by the commission shall hold competitive tests and establish an employment list for the office of personnel director, in accordance with the testing procedure and principles prescribed in this Article. The commission shall certify to the city manager the names of the persons having the three highest grades on the list. From the names so certified the city manager shall appoint the director. Any person appointed as director shall, at the time of his appointment, be familiar with and known to be in sympathy with the application of the merit system in the public service.

Section 1311. Powers and Duties of Director. The director shall:

(a) attend all meetings of the commission, act as its secretary and record its official actions;

(b) prepare and recommend to the commission rules and amendments thereto and administer the rules adopted by the commission;

(c) appoint under the provisions of this Article an assistant director and all other employes of the department;

(d) establish and maintain in card or other suitable form, a roster of officers and employes of the city showing for each the title of his position, the rate of compensation and every change in his status, including increases and decreases in pay, changes in title, transfers, sick and annual leaves with or without pay and other facts which the director may consider pertinent;

(e) prepare a classification plan as provided in this Article;

(f) prepare a compensation plan as provided in this Article;

(g) pass upon the qualifications of applicants for appointment to, or for promotion in, the classified service; establish and maintain employment and re-employment lists of the various classes of positions; devise, install and administer service rating systems; arrange for and pass upon transfers; administer rules of the commission as to annual, sick and special leaves of absence, reinstatements and attendance; and see that layoffs, demotions, suspensions, removals, resignations, retirements and other separations are made in accordance with this Article;

(h) check and certify payrolls as provided in this Article;

(i) make on or before March 1st of each year an annual report to the commission concerning the administrative work of the department; and

(j) investigate from time to time the effects of the administration of this Article and the rules made thereunder and report his findings to the commission.

Section 1312. Legal Counsel. The city solicitor shall be the counsel for the commission. The commission may, however, whenever it deems it necessary, appoint special counsel in a particular matter. The total compensation to be paid for all such special counsel during any fiscal year shall not exceed $2,500.

Section 1313. Division of Service. The civil service of the city is hereby divided into the unclassified and classified service.

(a) The unclassified service shall comprise:

1. the city manager and all officers elected by the people,
2. the director of each department except the personel director,
3. members of boards, commissions and committees,
4. the city solicitor and the first assistant city solicitor,
5. the first deputy controller and the assistant treasurer,
6. any one employed by contract to perform a special service for the city if the civil service commission certifies that the service cannot be performed satisfactorily by persons in the classified service,
7. any one appointed in the time of public emergency as a special policeman or fireman for service not to exceed thirty days,
8. any one appointed to make a special inquiry, if the civil service commission certifies that the inquiry should not be made by any one in the classified service,
9. one clerk or secretary to the mayor, one to the city manager, and
10. the clerk of council.

(b) The classified service shall include all positions now existing or hereafter created in the service of the city not specifically included in the unclassified service. The classified service shall be divided into the labor division and the competitive division. The labor division shall comprise all positions the work of which can be satisfactorily performed by unskilled laborers. The competitive division shall include all positions in the classified service other than those in the labor division.

Section 1314. Classification Plan. The director shall, after consulting the appointing authorities, ascertain and record the duties of positions in the classified service, and establish classes giving a complete description of each class. He shall submit the plan to the commission within twelve months after his appointment. Each class in the plan shall include all positions which are sufficiently similar in respect to the duties and responsibilities thereof so that the same descriptive title may be used for each of such positions; the same requirements as to education, experience, knowledge and ability are demanded of incumbents for the proper performance of their duties; the same tests of fitness may be used in choosing qualified appointees; and the same schedule of compensation may be made to apply with equity under like working conditions to all positions in the class.

Section 1315. Adoption of Plan. After reasonable opportunity to be heard has been given to employes, appointing authorities, and the general public and after approval by the city manager the commission, after incorporating any changes it deems advantageous, shall adopt the classification plan within three months after its receipt from the director. Thereafter the class titles so established shall be used in all personnel, accounting, budget appropriation and financial records relating to payments for services.

Section 1316. Amendments to Plan. Additional classes may be established and existing classes may be changed or abolished upon recommendation of the director and approval of the commission after public hearing. Except as otherwise provided by this Article, no person shall be appointed to or employed in any position until it has been properly classified as herein provided and an appropriate employment list has been established therefor.

Section 1317. Allocation of Positions. After adoption of the classification plan the director shall allocate every position in the classified service to one of the classes established by the plan. Thereafter as new positions are created or additional classes are established or existing classes changed. the director shall make such allocations or reallocations of positions as are necessitated thereby; provided, however, that where an amendment to the classification plan requires the reallocation of an existing position, the employe holding such position shall have reasonable right to be heard before final action is taken.

Section 1318. Compensation Plan. The director shall, as soon as practicable after the adoption of the classification plan, submit to the city manager a proposed plan of compensation showing for each class of position in the classified service minimum and maximum salary rates and such intermediate rates as he deems desirable. After a reasonable opportunity to be heard has been given to employes, appointing authorities and the general public, and after incorporating changes he considers desirable, the city manager shall transmit the compensation plan to council. Council shall adopt the plan with or without modification within three months after receiving it and may at any time change the compensation plan but only in accordance with the classification plan. The city manager upon the recommendation of the director or upon his own motion may transmit to council proposed changes in compensation plans and the reasons therefor.

Section 1319 Rates of Pay. After the adoption of a compensation plan or changes in the schedule of compensation for any class, the future appropriations shall be in accordance therewith. The rate of pay for any employe upon appointment to a position in the class, shall be the minimum rate prescribed for that class, provided, however, that where the appointee is already in the classified service, his compensation after appointment shall be at the same rate as that which he received before appointment or if no such rate appears in the schedule for that class, then his compensation shall be at the next higher rate in the schedule. Increases in rates of pay shall be to the next higher rate for that class and shall be granted by the appointing authority pursuant to rules of the commission, except that the rate of pay of any employe shall not be increased unless council has appropriated funds from which the increases may lawfully be paid, nor shall the rate for any employe be increased beyond the maximum of the class.

Section 1320. Selection of Employes. Except as otherwise provided in this Article, appointments of persons to the classified service or promotions therein shall be from employment lists established as the result of examinations which are competitive, free and open to all persons, subject however to such limitations as may be specified by the director as to age, sex, citizenship, residence, health, habits and moral character, and subject to the prerequisite qualifications included in the classification plan. The director may, upon recommendation of the city manager, limit competition in promotion examinations to employes in the classified service who have served in a designated class or classes.

Section 1321. Re-employment Lists. For each class where such action is appropriate, the director shall cause to be maintained a re-employment list consisting of the names of persons who have: occupied positions in the class, and have been separated from the service without fault on their own part; taken leave of absence and are ready to return to duty when a position is open; resigned in good standing and. with the consent of the appointing authority and of the director, have withdrawn their resignations; been removed and by direction of the commission have been given an opportunity for re-employment in some unit other than that from which they have been dismissed. The names shall be arranged for each class in the order of the average service rating of the employes for the last six months of service in the class. In the absence of service ratings, the order shall be as provided by the rules of the commission. After a name has remained on a re-employment list for one year it shall be removed from the list unless retained by action of the commission before the expiration of the one-year period.

Section 1322. Employment Lists. The director shall have charge of preparing and giving examinations to establish employment lists whenever he deems such employment lists necessary. An examination may consist of a written or oral test, a demonstration of skill, or of any combination of these, and shall be of such character as fairly to test and determine the qualifications, fitness, and ability of competitors to perform the duties of the class of positions to which they seek appointment. In such examinations credit may be given for experience and education. No question in any examination shall relate to the race, religion, politics or labor opinion or affiliation of the candidate. The director may call on other persons to draw up, conduct, or mark examinations and when such persons are officers or employes of the city, it shall be deemed a part of their official duty to render such assistance without extra compensation.

Section 1323. Notice of Examinations. The director shall give public notice of all examinations at least two weeks in advance. The notice shall be posted on a bulletin board in or near the principal office of the director and in a place accessible to the public during business hours. The examinations shall be given such other publicity as the director may determine. Notices of examinations shall contain such information as may be provided by the rules of the commission.

Section 1324. Marking of Examinations. The final rating of each candidate in any examination shall be determined by weighted averages according to the weight of each test as published by the director in the notice of the examination. Honorably discharged soldiers, sailors, and marines, who have served as such in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States, or in the National Guard of the Commonwealth, shall be given full credit for their experience gained in such service, having due regard to the position for which the examination is held. Each candidate shall be sent notice by mail of his final rating and of his relative standing or of his failure to attain a place upon the list and the reason therefor. From the report of the examiners, the director shall prepare an employment list containing the names of persons arranged in order of excellence, who have been given at least such minimum rating as may be fixed in advance for the whole examination and for any one or more of the tests which make up the examination, and who are otherwise qualified.

Section 1325. Combination and Cancellation of Employment Lists. Each employment list shall continue in force for a period to be fixed by the rules of the commission. The period may vary for different classes of positions, but may not be less than one year for any class. Any period before its expiration may be extended by the commission upon recommendation of the director. A new employment list for any class shall be combined with the existing list, if any, but such combination shall not prevent the automatic cancellation of any portion of such combined lists at the end of the period fixed by such rules, unless held in force as above provided. In no case, however, shall a person continue on an employment list for a period longer than two years. The director shall examine any employment list, or any part of an employment list, which has been in effect for one year and shall take such steps as he may deem necessary to determine whether the persons on the list are still eligible and willing to accept appointment. The director with the approval of the commission may at any time correct clerical errors in the preparation of any employment list, and revise the list accordingly; but no person who has been appointed as the result of certification shall be displaced by such action. The commission shall have the power at any time after a public hearing to cancel the whole or any part of an employment list on account of illegality, mistake or fraud.

Section 1326. Tests for Labor Division. Tests for positions in the labor division shall as far as practicable conform to the tests for the competitive division, but the commission may by rule provide for the registration of ordinary unskilled laborers following such medical, physical or other tests as may be prescribed. The commission shall by rule determine the order in which the names shall be placed on the employment list and the number of names which may be certified.

Section 1327. Appointment in the Classified Service. (a) Whenever a vacancy in a permanent position in the competitive division of the classified service is to be filled, the appointing authority shall notify the director in writing. The director shall certify the names of the three persons willing to accept appointment who are highest on a list consisting of the re-employment list for that class followed by the employment list for that class. If this does not give three names to the appointing authority and if the appointing authority is not willing to choose from less than three names, the director shall promptly conduct an examination to form or add to an employment list.

(b) A position shall be deemed to be permanent when it is specifically provided for in the annual financial program or when it is established in a department or institution according to law, and is likely to be needed continuously for a period of six months or more.

Section 1328. Provisional Appointments. If the director shall fail to certify, in the manner herein provided, for an existing vacancy within thirty days after receiving a request, the appointing authority may, if necessary to prevent the stoppage of public business, but not otherwise, appoint provisionally any qualified person with or without holding any test. In all such cases the provisional appointee shall, before beginning work, fill out and forward to the director an application form. Each such appointment shall be effective only until an appropriate list has been established. Such an appointment shall not in any event continue for a total of more than sixty days. Successive provisional appointments of the same or different persons shall not be made to the same position. No credit shall be given to anyone in any examination for experience gained during a provisional appointment.

Section 1329. Appointment or Rejection of Eligibles. Unless it is found to be in the interest of the public service not to fill the vacant position, the appointing authority shall, within a reasonable time fixed by the rules of the commission, make an appointment from the names certified by the director. All shall be reported to the director. After a name has been rejected three times by an appointing authority in favor of others on the same employment list, such name shall not again be certified to that appointing authority. If an eligible shall refuse an appointment offered to him, his name shall be removed from the re-employment or employment list, if in the opinion of the director such refusal was based on improper or insufficient reasons.

Section 1330. Temporary Employes. When because of the pressure of work, a position in the classified service must be established for a period of less than six months, the appointing authority shall request the director in writing to certify the name of a qualified person. The appointing authority shall state the cause of the extra work, the probable length of employment, and unless the position has been classified, the duties which the appointee is to perform. The director may certify a qualified person with or without holding a competitive examination, for a period of employment not exceeding three months. Such temporary appointments shall not be renewed more than once. No credit shall be given in any examination for experience gained during a temporary appointment.

Section 1331. Emergency Employes. When an emergency arises such that in order to prevent loss of public property or avoid serious inconvenience to the public, one or more persons must be immediately employed without taking the time to secure proper authorization, any appointing authority or any subordinate authorized by him may appoint any qualified person during the emergency for a period not exceeding ten days. Persons thus appointed shall be known as "emergency employes." Any employment condition of which the appointing authority had previous knowledge or of which by the exercise of due diligence he might have had previous knowledge, shall not be considered an emergency. Appointing authorities shall forthwith report to the director all emergency appointments. Such appointments shall not be renewed nor shall credit be given in any examination for experience gained therefrom.

Section 1332. Probationary Period. No appointment to a position in the classified service from the employment list shall be deemed complete until after the expiration of a probationary period. The probationary period for each class of position shall be prescribed in the rules of the commission and shall in no case be less than two months nor more than six months. At the end of two months and any time thereafter until the expiration of the probationary period the appointing authority may remove any probationary employe from his position if, in the opinion of the appointing authority, the employe has shown that he is unable or unwilling to do his duties satisfactorily; provided, however, that the appointing authority shall furnish the director a statement in writing of the cause of the dismissal. In no case shall the total probationary period of successive appointees to any one position extend beyond six months from the date of the first appointment.

Section 1333. In-Service Training. The director shall make plans and co-operate with appointing authorities and other supervising officials in respect to the conduct of employe training programs to the end that the quality of service rendered by persons in the classified service may be continually improved.

Section 1334. Service Ratings. The director shall as soon as practicable after this Article takes effect, establish standards of performance and a uniform system of service ratings for each class of position. Such standards shall, as far as practicable, be based upon the quantity and quality of work done, and upon the conduct of the employe at work. Service ratings shall constitute grounds for increases and decreases in rates of compensation, for demotions and removals, and for promotions. Supervising officials shall submit to the director, upon his request, the ratings of their employes, but in no case shall a supervising official be compelled to prepare or submit such ratings oftener than once in six months.

Section 1335. Transfers of Employes. An appointing authority may at any time transfer any classified employe under his jurisdiction from one position to another position in the same class. In every such case the appointing authority shall give prior written notice of his action to the director. A transfer of an employe from one class to another class for which a higher maximum rate of compensation is prescribed, shall be a promotion and may be accomplished only as herein provided for promotions. No person shall ever be transferred from a position in the unclassified service to a position in the classified service without examination as herein provided. The transfer of an employe to a position in another class for which a lower maximum rate of compensation is prescribed or any transfer which involves a reduction in compensation shall be a demotion and may be accomplished only as herein provided for demotions. Such demotions may be made upon the recommendation of the appointing authority or upon the petition of the employe, supported by such evidence as the director may require to show that the employe is not performing satisfactorily in the position he is holding, but is able to perform the duties of the class to which it is recommended or petitioned that he be demoted.

Section 1336. Leaves of Absence. The commission shall by rules provide for annual, sick and special leaves of absence to employes, with or without pay, or with reduced pay. No employe shall be granted leave of absence except pursuant to such rules.

Section 1337. Layoffs. Where a reduction in force is necessary because of changes in organization, or because of stoppage or lack of work, the employes having the lowest service rating in the unit and in the class affected shall be laid off. In the absence of service ratings, the order of layoff shall be established by rules of the commission. The appointing authority shall promptly report to the director the name and position of any employe laid off together with the effective date of the layoff. The name of said employe shall then be placed upon the reemployment list for the appropriate class as herein provided.

Section 1338. Suspensions. An appointing authority may for good cause suspend a classified employe for disciplinary purposes without pay for not more than thirty working days in any twelve-month period. The commission shall state in its rules what shall constitute good cause for suspension, but no one shall be suspended for racial, religious or political reasons or for labor union affiliations. Every case of suspension together with the reasons therefor shall forthwith be reported to the commission in writing, and such report shall be made part of the public records of the commission.

Section 1339. Dismissal During Probationary Period. An employe dismissed during probation shall be considered permanently separated from such position, but the director may, if he considers such action appropriate, place the name of the person on the employment list of the appropriate class for future certification to other appointing authorities.

Section 1340. Resignations. The rules of the commission shall state what shall constitute resignation. Absence from duty without notice to the appointing authority for a period of three working days may be regarded by the appointing authority, pursuant to rules of the commission, as an abandonment of a position and in effect a resignation. No person who has voluntarily resigned from the service shall be reinstated within six months from the effective date of his resignation. No resignation of any person in the classified service shall be effective unless accepted within fifteen days after the actual date of the making thereof. No person in advance of or at the time of his appointment to any position in the civil service shall sign or execute a resignation, dated or undated. No resignation shall be made or shall be valid unless it bears the signature of the person resigning and the date of the resignation in his handwriting. Any person who leaves the classified service may request the commission in writing for a public hearing stating his reasons for such a request. If on investigation the commission finds that the employe has been forced to resign against his will and without just cause or that his separation from the service has been involuntary and without just cause, the commission shall grant such person at the earliest opportunity a public hearing as hereinafter provided in the case of removal or demotion and shall treat the separation as though it were a removal.

Section 1341. Dismissals and Demotions.

(a) No person in the classified service shall be dismissed, reduced in pay or demoted in position except for just cause. Race or religion or political or labor affiliation shall not constitute just cause. No person shall be dismissed, reduced or demoted except as otherwise herein specifically provided, until he shall have been furnished by the appointing authority with a written notice setting forth the reasons for such action and allowed at least ten days to file a written answer. In every case a copy of such reasons and of the answer thereto, if any, shall be promptly furnished to the commission and shall be part of its public records.

(b) Within thirty days after receiving such records, the commission may on its own initiative, and shall upon the request of the employe, if filed within ten days after his dismissal, reduction or demotion, make such investigation as it may deem advisable either sitting as a body or through one or more of its members or through the director. The investigation and any hearings on the charges shall be for the purpose of determining whether the employe involved, by reason of his act or acts as charged, and his record of service, merits continuance in the service or whether he should be dismissed, reduced or demoted or otherwise disciplined for the good of the service. In all hearings the commission shall not be required to follow established rules of evidence or court procedure, but shall seek all information and evidence bearing on the merits of the case. All such hearings shall be open to the public and the employe involved shall have opportunity to be heard in his own defense personally or through counsel. Within fifteen days after the completion of an investigation, or hearing, the commission shall make its findings and render its decision, which shall forthwith be certified to the appointing authority and forthwith enforced by him. Charges against any employe in the classified service asking for his removal for a violation of law or for a cause stated in the rules may be filed before the commission by any taxpayer. Such charges shall be investigated, determined and enforced in the manner provided in this Section, unless the commission shall decide that the charges do not warrant investigation, in which case the decision of the commission shall be made part of its public records.

Section 1342. Certification of Payrolls. No payroll check shall be issued or paid except upon warrant of the city controller. The city controller shall issue no warrant for services except upon payrolls containing the names, titles, periods for which payments are to be made and rates of pay of the persons to be paid and bearing the certificate of the personnel director that the persons on the payroll have been appointed and employed according to law and bearing the certificate of the respective department that the persons on the payroll have been present and working or have been on authorized leave with pay, for the period specified. Any sums paid contrary to the provisions of this Article and the rules thereunder may be recovered from the officer or employe who violates such provisions and rules or from their sureties. Actions for such recovery may be maintained by a taxpayer of the city. All monies recovered in an action brought under this Section shall be paid into the city treasury, except that the plaintiff shall be entitled to receive taxable costs of such action.

Section 1343. Misdemeanors. Any person who wilfully, by himself or in collusion with one or more persons, shall defeat, deceive or obstruct any person in respect to his right of examination, appointment or employment according to this Article or to any rules prescribed pursuant thereto; or who shall, wilfully or corruptly, falsely mark, grade, estimate or report upon the examination or proper standing of any person examined, or certified, pursuant to the provisions of this Article, or aid in so doing; or who shall wilfully make any false representation concerning the same or concerning the persons examined; or who shall wilfully or corruptly furnish to any person any special or secret information for the purpose of either improving or injuring the prospects or chances of any person so examined, or certified, or to be examined or certified; or who shall personate any other person, or permit or aid in any manner any other person to personate him, in connection with any examination or request to be examined or appointed; or who shall furnish any false information about himself or about any other person in connection with any application or request to be examined or appointed; or who shall make an appointment to office or select a person for employment contrary to the provisions of this Article; or who shall wilfully refuse to comply with or to perform any of the provisions of this Article; or who shall wilfully or through culpable negligence violate any of the provisions of this Article or of the rules made pursuant thereto; shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $1,000 in the discretion of the court. Any person holding a public office or position who is convicted under this Section shall be deemed to have vacated the office or position and shall be incapable of holding public office for a period of five years after the date of such conviction.

Section 1344. Prohibition of Political Activity. No officer or employe who is paid out of the city treasury other than an officer elected by the people shall be a member of, or delegate or alternate to, any political convention or participate at any such convention except in the performance of his official duties; or shall serve as a member of, or attend the meetings of any committee of any political party, or take any active part in political management or in political campaigns. No application, memorandum or other document other than registration and election records shall in any way indicate the political affiliation of any applicant to, or member of, the classified service. No appointed or elected officer or employe shall use his office to influence political movements or influence the political action of any other officer or employe of the city; or shall interfere with the conduct of any election or the preparation therefor at the polling place, or with the election officers while counting the vote or returning the ballot boxes, books and papers to the place provided by law for that purpose, or be within any polling place save only for the purpose of voting as speedily as reasonably can be done, or be within fifty feet thereof, except for purposes of ordinary travel or residence, within one hour preceding the opening of the polls for holding such election and ending when the election officers have finished counting the votes and have left the polling place for the purpose of depositing the ballot boxes and papers in the place provided by law for that purpose, excepting only police officers, who may temporarily approach or enter the polling place in order to make any arrest permitted by law or for the purpose of preserving order, and in each such case only long enough to accomplish the duties aforesaid, after which the officers shall at once withdraw.

Section 1345. Prohibition of Assessments. No person shall solicit, pay, give or receive in any public building of the city any money or valuable thing for any political purpose whatever. No person shall orally or by written or printed communication directly or indirectly demand, solicit, collect or receive; or be in any manner concerned in demanding, soliciting, collecting or receiving any money or valuable thing or any assessment, subscription or contribution, whether voluntary or involuntary, from any officer or employe in the classified service for any political purpose whatever. No person in the classified service shall orally or by written or printed communication directly or indirectly demand, solicit, collect or receive; or be in any manner concerned in demanding, soliciting, collecting or receiving any money or valuable thing for any political purpose whatever. No person in the classified service shall pay or give any money or valuable thing or make any subscription or contribution, whether voluntary or involuntary, for any political purpose whatever.

Section 1346. Dismissal and Disqualification. Any person in the service of the city who violates any of the provisions of this Article or the rules made thereunder shall be immediately separated from the service. It shall be the duty of the city manager or other appointing authority who employs the offending person to dismiss him at once. Any taxpayer may bring suit to restrain the payment of compensation or the issuing of warrants for the payment of compensation of any such officer or employe, and as an additional remedy, any taxpayer may also obtain a writ of mandamus to compel the dismissal of such offending officer or employe. Any person dismissed under this Section shall for a period of five years be ineligible for appointment to any position in the civil service.

ARTICLE XIV. DEPARTMENT OF CITY PLANNING

Section 1401. Director. There shall be a department of city planning the head of which shall be the director of city planning who shall be appointed by the planning board. The director shall appoint the assistant director and shall have charge of the appointment of the other employes of the department.

Section 1402. Planning Board. A planning board shall be attached to the department of city planning. It shall consist of seven appointed members and six members ex-officio. The mayor, the city manager and the heads of the departments of city property, public works, recreation and parks, and public utilities shall be the ex-officio members, but of these only the mayor and the city manager shall have the right to vote. The appointed members shall be appointed by the mayor for terms of seven years each, except that the term of the first seven appointees shall be one, two, three, four, five, six, and seven years, respectively, as shall be indicated by the mayor at the time of their appointment. They shall serve for their full term unless removed by the mayor for inefficiency, neglect of duty or misconduct in office. The board shall elect one of its appointed members as chairman for a term of two years. The appointed members of the board shall receive such remuneration as council may fix.

Section 1403. Purpose. The purpose of the department and of the powers and duties conferred in this Article shall be to guide and accomplish a co-ordinated, adjusted and harmonious development of the city which will, in accordance with present and future needs, tend to promote the public health, safety, morals, order, convenience, happiness, prosperity and general welfare, as well as efficiency and economy in the development of the city including without limitation adequate provision for traffic, promotion of safety from fire and other dangers, adequate provisions for light and air, promotion of a proper distribution of population, conservation and improved utilization of physical resources, promotion of good civic design and arrangement, and wise and efficient allocation of public funds for public improvements, for public services and for other public requirements.

Section 1404. Powers and Duties. The department of city planning shall:

(a) prepare and have custody of a master plan as herein described, consider all proposed ordinances or bills which will in any way change the master plan, approve or reject plans for the subdivision of land located in the city, recommend the reservation of land locations for future acquisition by the city, and make recommendations pertaining to zoning districts and zoning regulations, all as more fully provided in this Article;

(b) prepare a capital budget as more fully provided in this Act;
